PROTEST

Against High Costs, also Labor Violence, Voiced by Scientech Club.

High prices and their attendant burden continue to call forth protests and pleas for some action on the part of the government officials to relieve the situation that daily is reaching an almost unbearable tension.

The Associated Building Contractors of Indiana recently took action along the above line and now comes The Scientech Club, of Indianapolis, an organization composed of architects, technical men and scientists, to extend their sympathy and co-operation to the wage earner in an endeavor to bring about a change in existing conditions.

The sentiment of the club members is best expressed in the following resolution which was passed unanimously.

BE IT RESOLVED, By the Scientech Club, of Indianapolis, that we sympathize with the request of the raliroad labor organizations for relief from the present high cost of living, from which the entire public is now suffering at least equally with the members of such railroad organizations, and we join in asking that the government take prompt and temperate action to relieve the public as a whole from all forms of profiteering and from all increases in prices not inevitable to construction following the war, and,

BE IT RESOLVED, That, since the uninterrupted maintenance of transportation is vital to the country and far transcends any needs of railroad labor, we condemn, as un-American and as inimical to the very relief asked the attempt by railroad labor to enforce its demands and to coerce the public, the congress, and the Railroad Administration by strikes and threats to strike, whether as individual groups or as united organizations; and further,

BE IT RESOLVED, That, while we favor the voluntary organization of labor so far as economic conditions warrant, we condemn any attempt by labor to dominate and control the industry of which it forms a part, and believe that any such domination or control would be hostile and might be fatal to American institutions and even to civilization; and further,

BE IT RESOLVED, That, we particularly oppose the recent proposal on the part of railroad labor and organizations to take the railroads permanently from their private owners and operate them under so-called tripartite control, and we urge Congress and the Railroad Administration to stand firm against such proposal; and further,

BE IT RESOLVED, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the President, to the Director-General of Railroads, to the two Senators from Indiana and to the Representative from the Seventh District of Indiana.

BUILDING SURVEY

Indiana Conditions Set Forth by General Contractor.

Marion, like many other Indiana cities of similar size, is experiencing an awakening in construction work. This statement easily can be verified by trips about the state which will show a great deal of factory and other industrial building operations under way, to say nothing of residence work, alterations and additions, the total of which is no small item. Observations in the country districts will show that school house work, too, is adding its quota to the general results.

A few months ago some of the more conservative builders were predicting a dull season and even the more hopeful contractors had begun to feel rather doubtfull regarding the outcome. The present movement has largely started in the last few weeks and was somewhat of a surprise because of the quiet conditions prevailing up to that period.

BUILDING ACTIVITY GENERAL

It is necessary to look further than the immediate vicinity in order to understand the cause of this increase of building operations. Building activity is general over the country and Indiana but reflects prevailing conditions.

The improvement in the building situation is more noticeable now because there was such a lack of construction work during the past few years due to government restrictions that caused a wholesale postponement of contemplated work. Following the signing of the armistice, the lifting of the ban on building and the coming of spring and summer the pent up forces of construction began to make themselves felt, gradually and slowly at first but ever increasing in volume until the present time when, it might be said, they are in full swing. The contractors are loaded up with work, there is a dearth of labor, and, material houses are having difficulty in taking care of the inflow of orders.

ANALYTICAL STUDY REVEALS PROMISE

A clearer view of the general construction work can be obtained by a study of the building permits from any large city. For instance, the study of the building permits from Indianapolis for the years 1905, 1906, 1907 and 1908, shows that building operations were decidedly below normal. Then came a swing above normal with great activity during the years 1910 to 1913, inclusive. This leads up to the time of the start of the World War and, in 1914 and 1915, construction work fell off once more. However, industrial building operations in the country at the end of 1915, began to pick up because so many manufacturing interests entered into the manufacture of war materials. This created a rise above normal during 1916, a rise that was counterbalanced by a marked decline in 1917 and 1918, due to the fact that the United States had entered the war and people, being uncertain of financial conditions created by the war, were not inclined to invest their money in new buildings. The ban on construction work too was a big factor in this decline.

Had the natural trend not been interrupted by the war building operations would now be due for a swing above normal, counterbalancing what would naturally have been done from 1915 to 1918. This means that indications point to an improvement in building conditions to which must be added that volume of work which was postponed during the war. An observer following these facts arrives at the conclusion that the years from 1919 to 1922, and, possibly 1923, should be banner years for the building business. A close study of conditions inspires the foregoing statement. Schoolhouse work that had been postponed in Indiana for the past five years is sufficient to produce a large volume of work for the next two years which, added to other than natural residence building should make business good.

INTRINSIC VALUE, NOT COST, COUNTS

The question is frequently asked, "Aren't prices prohibitive?" There is but one answer to this question and that is to be found in the fact that, it doesn't matter what a building costs in dollars and cents, but, what does count is, does the value of the building warrant the cost? For instance, the baker, who used to get five cents for his loaf of bread, can better afford to pay $20,000 for a new building with his bread selling at ten and fifteen cents a loaf than he could $8,000 for a building when he was getting but five cents a loaf. In like manner this applies all the way down the line, in fact, the average man can better afford to build now at the present prices than he could four or five years ago at the old prices.

There is no indication to warrant the expectancy that building will be any cheaper for at least three or four years, possibly longer. By cheaper, is meant no marked reduction in prices of materials such as some have predicted. The situation in the lumber market at the present time bears out this statement. Notifications of advances in prices and warnings that lumber is going to be harder to secure are constantly being received from lumber centers.

IMPROVEMENT SHOULD CONTINUE

These observations tend to show the causes that are back of construction conditions in Indiana and indicate the reason for faith in the belief that building is going to continue to improve and that the next few years will, in all probability, show as great or even greater activity in the construction field than has ever been known heretofore. (C. C. Heinzman, General Contractor, Marion.)

NEW SCHOOLS

In Indiana Built With View to Protect the Health of Scholars.

While Indiana has no State Building Code she does possess a law that covers school house construction and the State Board of Health zealously watches all buildings of this nature, seeing to it that the plans incorporate all features that make for the good health of the growing child.

Since the passage of this law there has been a big improvement in Indiana's school buildings and the country side bristles with structures that would have done credit to the city districts a score of years ago.

The construction requirements while good could be greatly improved by incorporating the added feature of insistence upon fireproof stairs, corridors and entrances such as are required by the Ohio Building Code. This would add to the cost of the building but the protection afforded the scholars would more than make up the difference.

First considering the site, the law reads as follows:

All schoolhouse sites shall be convenient of approach from the public road or street. An elevation shall be obtained, if possible, but if the site must necessarily be low, or even level, surface drainage and subsoil drainage, and filling if needed, shall be provided.

SURROUNDINGS

The site shall not be nearer than 500 feet to any of the following conditions, to wit: Swampy ground, body of stagnant water, cemetery, slaughter-house, fertilizer reduction plant, any business or manufacturing establishment which engenders noxious odors or vapors, or anything which pollutes the surrounding atmosphere, as gases, smoke or dust, or any place of industry where disturbing noises prevail.

No school site shall have an area less than one acre, and whenever possible shall have an area of two acres or more. The school playground shall have an area of at least 30 square feet for each pupil. The playground shall be well drained, well graveled or sanded, free from depressions in which water can stand, and shall be equipped with such apparatus as will encourage and afford wholesome exercise and recreation. For the purpose of inculcating a love of the beautiful and imparting practical knowledge concerning the growth and care of plant life, that part of all school sites not occupied by buildings and playground should be laid out according to an improved plan in lawn and garden with shrubbery and shade trees.

SCHOOL BUILDING

No school building shall be constructed more than two stories above the basement.

In every building in which the lower or basement floor is below the surface of the grade surrounding such building, and is used in part or as a whole for heating and ventilating apparatus, such lower floor floor shall be considered the basement story of such building.

No study class room shall exceed 25 feet in width. The ceiling shall be not less than 12 feet nor more than 13 feet in height. Wood ceilings shall not be used. Where metal ceilings are used, they shall be of a plain stamped design with profile not greater than 7/8 inch and with accurate joints securely nailed at every nailing point. Metal ceilings shall be put upon wood strips or sheathing of not less than 7/8 inch thickness, with insulating paper of not less than 1/4 inch thickness between the joists and such strips or sheathing. The metal cove and cornice shall be of plain design and shall be securely nailed to cornice block or ground of wood at intervals not greater than 4 feet. The cornice block or ground shall be securely fastened to the side wall and ceiling. The lower part of such metal cornice shall be connected to the side wall by means of wooden ground or mold in such way as to give a smooth finish and prevent the collection and retention of dust and dirt. Metal ceilings shall be painted a neutral color with flat coat paint and with particular attention given to filling of joints. Wall paper shall not be used in any school building.

CORRIDORS AND DOORWAYS

Main corridors, passageways, hallways and exit doorways shall be equivalent in width to at least 24 inches for each one hundred, or fractional part thereof, of seating capacity of such portions of the building as will be required to use the same for exit. No corridor, passageway or hallway, shall be less than 5 feet in width, and no doorway shall be less than 3 feet in width except where two or more doors, each 2 feet 8 inches or more in width, are grouped together.

REGARDING FLOOR CONSTRUCTION

The floors of toilet rooms, basement rooms not used for class purposes, and inclosures for plumbing fixtures and steam fittings within the building shall be of nonabsorbent waterproof material with nonabsorbent waterproof base not less than 6 inches high, and nonabsorbent waterproof sanitary cove. Wherever possible, the floors of laboratory rooms, domestic science rooms and corridors, shall be of nonabsorbent waterproof material with nonabsorbent waterproof base, not less than 6 inches high, and nonabsorbent waterproof sanitary cove. Cement floors shall be constructed with a mixture of iron compound or other equally efficient material, or shall be covered with cement enamel or other efficient covering in order to render such floors watrproof and dust proof. Mattings, carpet or rugs shall not be used in any part of the school building except in superintendent's or principal's office, rest rooms, libraries and teachers' rooms. Battleship linoleum, properly laid, may be used as a floor covering.

INTERIORS

Plastering—The plastering at all angles, in all corners and at all windows and door jambs, shall be so rounded and coved as to prevent the collection and retention of dust.

Equipment Rooms—Furnace and boiler rooms shall be of a fireproof construction, with fire doors. No boiler, furnace or heater shall be located directly beneath any entrance, exit, corridor or stairway. Where new heating apparatus is installed in old buildings the ceiling floor immediately above the furnace, boiler or heater shall be made fireproof and fire doors shall be installed. Storage rooms shall be at least of slow burning construction. No storage room or storage closet shall be placed immediately under any stairway, entrance or exit.

Interior Wood Finish—All interior wood finish shall be as small as possible, and shall be so constructed and finished as to minimize or prevent the collection and retention of dust and dirt.

ENTRANCE AND EXIT DOORS

Entrance and exit doors shall be equipped with automatic opening device and with hardware of such kind as to be always unlockable from within. Revolving doors shall not be used. All doors shall open outward, and where outside double doors or storm houses are provided, the outer doors shall be devoid of fastenings and shall be held in place by spring hinges. All entrance and exit doors shall be unlocked at all times when school is in session.

That is the material from which the news columns of this publication are made.

Representatives of the RECORDER are continually calling on architects, contractors, public officials and owners in search of live, detailed construction news which is assorted under its proper head and arranged each week in a most convenient manner so that he who is interested in the Indiana Construction Industry may know at glance just what is going on in this line o endeavor that would interest him most.

These news items furnish leads unobtainable through any other news medium in the State and are invaluable to the Contractor, Manufacturer and Material-supply Man who is desirous of the opportunity of getting in direct contact with state building operations.

BRIXMENT The Perfect Cement for all kinds of Mortars

No Lime—No Bother—No Soaking—No Waste
Simply Mix With Sand and Use

BRIXMENT Is a slow-setting, plastic and smooth-working cement for masonry. It does not require soaking or any preliminary preparation. Simply mix with sand and use.

BRIXMENT Works long and buttery. Resembles lime putty in its working quality, yet has an initial set in about four hours. One part of BRIXMENT to three parts of clean, sharp sand makes a mortar which in a very short time exceeds common building brick in crushing strength.

BRIXMENT Costs no more than ordinary lime mortar in the Indiana markets. In most cases it means a decided saving. A barrel of BRIXMENT is approximately four and one-half cubic feet. Mixed one part BRIXMENT to three parts sand, it gives five-eighths yards of excellent mortar—enough to lay one thousand bricks.

BRIXMENT Makes firm friends. Indiana architects and contractors who have tried BRIXMENT, have become permanent users of this superior material. A test in actual work is sufficient proof of its merits. The dealers listed below stock BRIXMENT. Any additional information desired may be secured by writing the manufacturers—

AMENDMENT

To Indianapolis Building Law Permits Hollow Tile Foundations.

Legislation of interest to architects and contractors was passed by the Indianapolis city council this week concerning the use of hollow building tile for foundation work. The hollow tile interests have tried for years to secure the sanction of the city building authorities to permit the use of hollow tile in the construction of foundation walls, only to be balked. After five years of concentrated effort, success has been achieved and the following ordinance approved by the present building inspection department has been passed to take effect at once.

Be it ordained by the Common Council of the City of Indianapolis, that Section 349 of General Ordinance No. 12, passed by the Common Council of the City of Indianapolis February 28, 1917, and approved by the Mayor March 3, 1917, entitled, "An Ordinance Concerning the Government of the City of Indianapolis, providing penalties for its violation, and with stated exceptions, repealing all former ordinances," be amended to read as follows: "Section 349. Hollow Vitreous Tile and Brick. (a) Hollow vitreous tile, glazed or unglazed, having no less than four bearing members to each eight inches of wall thickness, may be used in foundations, basement walls, exterior and interior load-bearing walls for buildings of the third and fourth classes, provided any such foundation wall or basement wall shall not have over forty feet in its horizontal length without cross-wall or pilaster and shall be provided with proper footing. The tile used in foundation or basement walls shall be sound and unbroken, and all corners and exposed ends of such walls must be closed with tile with vertical holes, designed for that purpose. Vitreous tile to comply with the requirements of this section shall be capable of standing a compression test of 1,500 pounds per square inch of superficial area and, when used in foundation or basement walls, an absorption test of not to exceed five per cent., said test to be conducted under the direction of the commissioner of buildings as provided in Section 304 of this ordinance, and in accordance with the standard of the American Society for Testing Materials. (b) Hard burned hollow brick may be used for the inside course of walls for buildings when well bonded into the solid brick walls and may be included in the measurement of the thickness of such walls; Provided, however, that the strength of walls so built shall be sufficient to properly support the dead and live loads they may have to sustain."

Section 2. This ordinance shall take effect and shall be in full force from and after its passage.

THESE CHANGES

Might Lessen the Opposition to Architects License Law in Indiana.

Since Indiana architects for years have agitated and sought to secure the passage of an Architect's License Law the revisions made in the Illinois law of a similar nature should prove of interest.

As the Illinois law now stands it does not apply to any building, remodeling or repairing of any building or structure within the corporate limits of any city or village, where the total cost of said building, remodeling or repairing does not exceed the sum of $7,500. Nor does it relate to any building, remodeling or repairing of any building or other structure outside of the corporate limits of any city or village, where such building or structure is to be, or is used for residential or farm purposes, or for purposes of outbuildings or auxiliary buildings in connection with such residential or farm purposes.

In Illinois is it unlawful for any person to make plans or specifications for, or supervise the erection, enlargement or alteration of bulidings within the corporate limits of any city or village, where the total cost of said building, remodeling or repairing exceeds the sum of $7,500, without a certificate of registration as a registered architect.

It is also unlawful for any person, mechanic or builder to make plans or specifications for, or supervise the erection, enlargement or alteration of buildings or parts thereof, to be constructed by himself or his employes FOR ANY OTHER PERSON. A person, mechanic or builder may perform such work for buildings FOR HIS OWN USE, provided that the working drawings for such construction are signed by the authors thereof with a true statement thereon of their relation to such construction and that the makers thereof are not architects.

STANDARD FORMS

For Hollow Tile Specifications Submitted for Architects' Approval.

Following the request of several Indiana architects for a standard form of specifications to be used where hollow tile construction is required, hollow tile distributors working in Indiana have made up four forms and submitted them to the architects for approval. These specifications are general and wide open and cover the construction of foundation walls, load bearing walls for brick veneer or stucco and non-bearing partition walls.

SPECIFICATIONS

HOLLOW BUILDING TILE

Foundation Walls.

All hollow tile used in foundations, both exterior and interior basement walls, except as indicated on plans, are to be built of Heavy Duty or Load-Bearing shale tile. Such tile shall have not less than four bearing members to each eight inches of wall thickness, and be capable of standing a compression test of 1,500 pounds per square inch of superficial area, and an absorption test of not to exceed 5% moisture absorption in forty-eight hours submersion.

All tile shall be sound and unbroken, all corners and exposed ends of walls must be closed with tile, having vertical holes, designed for that purpose.

The mortar used shall be composed of a volume of not less than one part of Portland cement, to not more than three parts of clean, sharp sand, to which may be added not more than 10%, by volume, of lime mortar.

BRICK VENEER

Exterior and Interior Load-Bearing Walls.

The backing for all exterior walls and all load-bearing interior partitions throughout, except as indicated on the plans, are to be built of Heavy Duty or Load-bearing shale tile. Such tile shall have not less than four bearing members to each eight inches of wall thickness, and be capable of standing a compression test of 1,500 pounds per square inch of superficial area, and an absorption test of not to exceed 5% moisture absorption in forty-eight hours submersion.

Each tile shall be a perfect one, no cracked, chipped or damaged tile will be permitted. Particular care is to be taken to have all exposed surfaces true and plumb throughout, ready to receive the finishing material. Provide all ducts, chases, openings, etc., as indicated on the drawings, or as may be required during the progress of the work by the associated contractors. All joists or beams seated in or upon tile walls shall extend into the walls, so as to rest upon not less than two of the bearing members of the tile running parallel with the wall face.

The face brick shall be firmly bonded with the tile backing by a full brick header course, not farther apart than every sixth course of brick.

The mortar used shall be composed of a volume of not less than one part of Portland cement to not more than three parts of clean, sharp sand, to which may be added not more than 10%, by volume, of lime mortar.

STUCCO

Exterior and Interior Load-Bearing Walls.

All exterior and interior load-bearing walls throughout, except as indicated on plans, are to be built of Heavy Duty or Load-bearing shale tile. Such tile shall have not less than four bearing members to each eight inches of wall thickness, and be capable of standing a compression test of 1,500 pounds to the square inch of superficial area, and an absorption test of not to exceed 5% moisture absorption in forty-eight hours submersion.

Each tile shall be a perfect one, no chipped, cracked or damaged tile will be permitted.

Particular care is to be taken to have all exposed surfaces true and plumb throughout, ready to receive the finishing material. Provide all ducts, chases, openings, etc., as indicated on the drawings or as may be required during the progress of the work by the associated contractors. All joists or beams seated in or upon the tile walls shall extend into the wall, so as to rest upon not less than two of the bearing members of the tile running parallel with the wall face.

NON-BEARING PARTITION WALLS

Non-Bearing Partition Walls.

All non-bearing partition walls shall be laid up of standard partition tile made of shale and of sizes as shown on drawings.

Each tile shall be a perfect one, no cracked, chipped or damaged tile will be permitted. Particular care is to be taken to have all exposed surfaces true and plumb throughout, ready to receive the finishing material.

Provide all ducts, chases, openings, etc., as shown on the drawings or as may be required during the progress of the work by the associated contractors.

FURTHER PROVISOS

Of State Board of Health Regarding School House Construction.

Built upon the principle that "Prevention is better than cure," the Indiana Sanitary School House Law having first provided for the selection of advantageous sites for new school buildings and laid down regulations to insure good construction, as set forth in the Construction Recorder, August 30, proceeds further in an effort to safeguard and protect the health of the school children of the State.

The following provisions in the law seek to guard against eye strain and also to insure to the pupils perfect ventilation during the time spent in the school room.

LIGHTING AND SEATING

No window sash shall have more than four lights, except where the factory type of window with metal sash frame is used, and the tops of all windows shall be square. Where the proximity of other buildings or a portion of the same building interferes with proper lighting of a classroom, the light shall be properly projected and diffused by use of prism glass. When artificial lighting by means of electricity or gas is used, the lights shall be near the ceiling, and the light shall be properly projected and diffused by either indirect or semi-direct system of lighting. All electric wiring shall be installed in iron conduit and all wires, fittings, materials and construction work shall conform to the rules and requirements of the National Electric Code, as recommended by the National Fire Protection Association for such class of wiring. Any system of artificial lighting aside from electricity as provided above shall be approved by the Indiana State Fire Marshal.

All schoolrooms where pupils are seated for study, shall be lighted from one side only and the glass area shall be not less than one-sixth of the floor area and the windows shall extend from not less than four feet from the floor to at least one foot from the ceiling, all windows to be provided with roller or adjustable shades of neutral color, as blue, gray, slate, buff or green. Desks and desk seats shall preferably be adjustable, and at least twenty per cent. of all desks and desk seats in each room shall be adjustable, and shall be so placed that the light shall fall over the left shoulders of the pupils. For left-handed pupils desks and seats may be placed so as to permit the light to fall over the right shoulder.

HEATING AND VENTILATION

Heating and ventilating systems of all kinds shall take fresh air from outside the school building, evenly diffuse the same throughout each schoolroom during school session, and withdraw foul air from said schoolroom at a minimum rate of 1,800 cubic feet per hour for each 225 cubic feet of said schoolroom space, regarless of outside atmospheric conditions.

The State Board of Health will test the efficiency of ventilating systems in school buildings as follows: With jacketd heaters and gravity systems, the anemometer test shall be made over the foul air vents in classrooms. With plenum systems, the anemometer test shall be made over the fresh air inlet of the fresh air room and the fresh air inlet in classrooms. A deduction of 5 per cent. shall be made for a grill or register in the air opening. All tests shall be based upon the seating capacity of classrooms at 225 cubic feet of space per pupil. Before such test shall be made by the State Board of Health, the heating and ventilating contractor shall be given notice of the time when such test is to be made. The State Board of Health will make such tests upon the written request of trustees, school board, boards of school commissioners, county, city or state superintendents, or upon petition of ten or more patrons of the school.

ATTRIBUTES

That the Contractor Must Possess in this Day and Age.

There is no class of work that takes as varying qualities or so many qualities as contracting. It appeals to men who are optimistic and to those who have born in them the longing for doing things. The contractor must be a man first, and possess that most uncommon thing, common sense; and he must have physical sense, the sense that tells a man without calculating where lies the center of gravity; the sense that tells a man values without estimating; the sense that tells a man quantities without measuring. He must have magnetism in order to gather his men about him. He must have a reputation for justice in order to hold them. He must be forceful in order to inspire energy in others. He must be a lawyer and buyer. He must have the ingenuity of the inventor and the grasp of the field marshal. He must be a diplomat, and he must be a politician. He must also know when not to be a politician. He must be a financier, and, I regret to say, in these days an advertiser; and he must be a prophet. And if he is worthy he is a member of the A. G. ADVANCE

In Prices of Lumber and Hollow Tile. Other Quotations Ruling Firm.

Building material quotations continue to defy the few early spring prophets who predicted cheaper prices as the summer wore on. Many prospective builders have since regretted their action in postponing projects in the belief that the high prices would not hold after construction got into full swing again, but that there would be a marked decline about July or August. The knowing ones, architects, contractors and others interested in the construction industry, held forth no false hopes; instead, they all cautioned against delay. That they were right is borne out by subsequent events; not only have prices advanced, but so have wages. Furthermore, there is a continual growing difficulty in securing shipments, as it has been impossible for the manufacturers of building materials to produce fast enough to meet the demand. This has been mostly due to conditions that grew out of the war period. Production forces were disorganized by the men being attracted to more lucrative positions in other localities or other lines of endeavor, and many of them have failed to return to their previous occupations. Many concerns have orders booked several months in advance and cannot guarantee shipments under sixty days and, in some cases, a greater period.

These conditions offer no prospect of lower prices for some time to come, which accounts for the firm to strong tone prevailing in the building material market in Indiana.

The lumber market is the most unsettled of all, and it is difficult to keep up with the varying prices, which are as dust in a whirlwind under the constant flurry that rules in this market. Prices virtually change over night, and there is no prospect for any immediate stability.

This week there was a decided change with an advance of 15 per cent. prevailing over quotations listed last week. Rough lumber, taken as a whole, fell off 29 per cent., but all other grades showed improvement. Drop siding displayed the greatest strength, advancing 33¾ per cent.; next followed interior finish with a 29 per cent. increase. Hardwood flooring, with no quotations on oak, jumped 26 per cent., being followed in order by these lines, with their attendant advances: Bevel siding, 25 per cent.; yellow pine flooring, 17 per cent.; shingles, 12 per cent.; boards, 3.9 per cent.

Another important commodity in building that advanced recently is hollow tile, which, taken as a whole, shows an increase of 11 1/3 per cent. over the former prices.

All other lines of building material are holding firm under a strong demand, in the face of delayed shipments.

HEATING REGULATION

In Small Schools as Provided by Indiana School Law.

STOVES AND HEATERS

In small buildings where furnace or steam heat is impracticable, floor furnaces, or room heaters, of suitable size and construction surrounded by heat proof metal jacket with open top, with fresh air intake from outside the building and foul air flue or stack shall be installed. The heater shall be of sufficient capacity to secure and maintain a uniform temperature of 70 degrees F. in zero weather.

The jacket shall be made of heavy galvanized iron, black iron or other material equally durable, and shall be lined with sheet asbestos. There shall be an inner jacket of tin or other metal equally efficient with air space of not less than ¾ inch between the jackets. The jacket shall stand not less than 3 inches from the heater or floor furnace, and may extend either to the tray, floor shield or other foundation upon which the heater rests, or the lower 12 inches of the jacket may be open. If the jacket extends to the floor shield, the lower 12 inches of the jacket shall have sliding or hinged doors to open and permit of recirculation of air when necessary to heat the room quickly.

The fresh air duct shall be provided with damper with operating device in plain view and easily accessible from inside the room.

Dimensions of Flues, Fresh Air Ducts and Vent Pipes in jacketed Heaters:

Following is a table giving the size of flue, fresh air duct and vent pipe to be used in a system having the same flue for smoke and foul air. Such system can be installed only in old buildings:

Contents of room in cubical feet	8,000 or less	8,000 to 12,000	12,000 to 16,000
Cross sectional area of smoke flue not less than	64 sq. in.	96 sq. in.	144 sq. in.
Cross sectional area of vent flue not less than	189 sq. in.	525 sq. in.	651 sq. in.
Free area of foul air vent not less than	189 sq. in.	525 sq. in.	651 sq. in.
Cross sectional area of fresh air duct not less than	144 sq. in.	256 sq. in.	400 sq. in Dimensions of flues, foul air flues and fresh air ducts to be used in connection with a system having separate flues for smoke and foul air. All new buildings shall have double stacks.

TABLE II.

Contents of room in cubical feet	8,000 or less	8,000 to 12,000	12,000 to 16,000
Cross sectional area of chimney not less than	144 sq. in.	256 sq. in.	400 sq. in.
Diameter of vent pipe not less than	12 in.	16 in.	20 in.
Free area of foul air vent not less than	144 sq. in.	256 sq. in.	400 sq. in.
Cross sectional area of fresh air duct not less than	144 sq. in.	256 sq. in.	400 sq. in.

Where an old building contains a flue vent larger than that required for new buildings, the vent opening may be reduced to the minimum area required for new buildings.

Smoke Pipe—No smoke pipe connection between the heater and the smoke flue shall be more than five feet long, measuring horizontally. No metal, tile or other smoke pipe shall extend through the walls, ceiling or roof in any manner, except as prescribed in these rules.

Chimney and Ventilating Flue—Where room heaters or floor furnaces are installed in new buildings each class-room shall be provided with a masonry stack with separate flue for smoke and foul air. Whenever possible such stacks shall be constructed in inside walls, and when constructed in outside walls such stacks shall be entirely within the building, with no stack wall exposed to the outside. The dividing wall of such stacks shall not be more than four (4) inches thick, and the inside of all stack walls shall be plumb, true and finished to a smooth finish. In lieu of a dividing wall, a metal stack of not less than No. 16 guage, non-corroding metal, or stack of glazed tile of not less than one (1) inch thickness may be constructed within the masonry chimney. Such stack may be used for smoke, shall rest on the foundation of the chimney for support, shall be held in place by metal side braces, and the smoke shall enter such stack at the usual smoke pipe height.

Mixing Chamber—Where the same flue is used for both smoke and foul air, a suitable drum or mixing chamber shall be used for bringing the smoke and foul air together, in order to insure proper draft in both foul air flue or pipe, and in smoke pipe. In no case shall the cross-sectional area of the mixing chamber or of the space surrounding the smoke pipe in the drum, be less than the cross-sectional area of the flue.

Register—The bottom of register faces shall be at the floor level, and the free area of the register, after deducting five per cent. for grill, shall equal the cross-sectional area of the flue. Where the chimney projects into the room, registers may be placed on two sides in order to reduce the height of the registers. Cleanouts, accessible from the room, shall be provided for all flues and drums. A suitable damper with operating device in lain view and easily accessible from the room shall be provided so that vent flues can be shut off when not in use.

Whenever possible, the heater and chimney shall be located at the same end of the room as the entrance door.

In buildings of more than one class-room each class-room shall be provided with separate flues for both smoke and foul air.

Systems Permissible in Portable Buildings or in Old Buildings About to be Abandoned—A system with a metal smoke pipe placed within a metal vent flue extending above the highest point of the roof may be permitted in portable buildings, and in old one-story buildings, when said old building is to be used for a period of not more than two years after such system is installed. The smoke pipe used in such system shall be of extra heavy material; the elbow inside the vent flue shall be of cast iron; the smoke pipe shall be supported from the vent flue by steel supports placed at intervals of not more than three feet; the vent flue shall be provided with an asbestos lined collar, with at least one inch air space between the collar and vent flue where the same passes through the roof or ceiling, and shall be properly flashed and made water tight. Complete plans and specifications covering such system shall be submitted to, and approved by the State Board of Health before the same is installed.

PORTABLE BUILDINGS.

Portable frame buildings, not larger than 25x36 feet, and not more than one story in height, may be erected, provided the plans and location for such temporary building shall be approved by the State Board of Health, and provided such temporary building shall not be maintained on any one school site for a longer period than two years.

CONTRACT FORMS

Being Given Serious Consideration by the Indiana Contractors.

Architects and engineers have made a study of the various forms of contracts and specifications used in construction work in an endeavor to reach a definite standard that would meet all requirements, with the result that the American Institute of Architects has developed certain specified forms; the American Railway Engineering Association has adopted a uniform general contract form; a special committee of the American Society of Civil Engineers has the subject now under consideration.

CONTRACTOR AN OUTSIDER

The contractor has been an outsider in the matter, possibly because the contractors have never made a real concentrated effort along this line as a whole body. They have been invited in by the various committees and have had their say which, to a certain extent, has probably affected the drawing up of the forms, but, the voice of the contractor has been a lone one among the many.

Contractors have frequently protested against certain features as incorporated in contracts but that was about as far as they ever got.

There is no one connected with a building operation that has more at stake than the contractor, there is his financial interest, his reputation and his desire to do a good peice of work. Out of all that he puts into a job he only asks a fair return of profit.

ASSOCIATION TO STUDY CONTRACTS

The Associated Building Contractors of Indiana have taken up this contract matter in order to safeguard the interests of the general contractor and assure satisfaction to all concerned. The idea is to make clear the contractor's position on the subject of contracts. It is proposed to make a careful study of existing forms, both good and bad, of every kind and description and, in co-operation with the engineer and architect, to eliminate unfair practices and to establish clear, definite and equitable clauses in contracts under which general contractors of recognized standing will work.

Further, the Associated Building Contractors has appointed a special committee to look into and draft a standard form of contract to be used by the general contractor in his dealings with the subcontractor.

Copies of various forms of contracts are to be studied such as: unit price, lump sum, cost plus percentage, cost plus fixed fee, cost plus sliding scale, and cost plus fixed fee with adjustments. The especially good or bad features in these contracts are to be retained or eliminated as the case may be and it is hoped to reach a high standard satisfactory form of contract that will meet with the approval of the association so that it may be adopted at an early date.

NEW RECORD

Established by Indianapolis Building Permits for Month of August.

A glance over the building permit returns from over the State shows that construction work, despite the high prices of building materials, took on added activity during the month of August, returning the largest volume of business for any month this year, and, except for Gary, was far in excess of the amount of business done in August, 1918.

Indianapolis returns are the most remarkable, the total being over $2,000,000 for August. This is the largest aggregate ever recorded in one month in the history of the building inspection department, the best previous record having been made in March, 1911, when permits to the value of $1,731,514 were issued. During August, 1919, permits aggregating $565,450 were issued for new dwellings. Four large industrial building permits were issued for the sum total of $1,435,000. Fort Wayne, South Bend, Richmond and Evansville showed big gains over the figures for the same period last year.

Gary had a strike to contend with this year which retarded building and cut down her usual large volume of construction business, in fact, reduced the figures to below those of August, 1918

Following are the permits:

	August, 1919		August, 1918
City	Permits	Est. Cost	Permits	Est. Cost

No Lime—No Bother—No Soaking—No Waste
Simply Mix With Sand and Use

BRIXMENT Is a slow-setting, plastic and smooth-working cement for masonry. It does not require soaking or any preliminary preparation. Simply mix with sand and use.

BRIXMENT Works long and buttery. Resembles lime putty in its working quality, yet has an initial set in about four hours. One part of BRIXMENT to three parts of clean, sharp sand makes a mortar which in a very short time exceeds common building brick in crushing strength.

BRIXMENT Costs no more than ordinary lime mortar in the Indiana markets. In most cases it means a decided saving. A barrel of BRIXMENT is approximately four and one-half cubic feet. Mixed one part BRIXMENT to three parts sand, it gives five-eighths yards of excellent mortar—enough to lay one thousand bricks.

BRIXMENT Makes firm friends. Indiana architects and contractors who have tried BRIXMENT, have become permanent users of this superior material. A test in actual work is sufficient proof of its merits. The dealers listed below stock BRIXMENT. Any additional information desired may be secured by writing the manufacturers—

HOUSING SCHEMES

Being Considered by Indiana Cities to meet Shortage of Homes.

Housing conditions in the various Indiana cities are acute. The lack of homes to care for increased populations has retarded, to a great extent, industrial expansion. Any number of new factory projects have been proposed to Chambers of Commerce, Commercial Clubs and other organizations that work in the interest of civic expansion throughout Indiana, only to be turned down because houses were at a premium, and there was no way to care for an inflow of new workmen and their families that necessarily would follow the establishment of new industries.

GENERAL SHORTAGE OF HOUSES

There is a serious shortage of homes in Indianapolis, Kokomo, Gary, South Bend, Muncie, Frankfort; in fact, in most all the Indiana cities of any consequence a similar condition exists. High prices of building materials have had a retarding effect on individual house construction and investment home building. In order to meet the emergency some of the industrial corporations have taken up the matter of housing schemes, with a view to relieve the situation. At South Bend, the Studebaker Corporation has under contemplation a housing project that will provide modern and reasonable homes for the increased working force that will be required in the operation of the immense new plant now in course of construction.

The scarcity of dwellings in Mishawaka, not far from South Bend, which has caused much inconvenience for some time and seriously affected the industrial situation, may be relieved if the Dodge Manufacturing Company's plans carry.

The company has issued a circular to its employes in plants one, two and three, in which it says: "Owing to the scarcity of houses to rent or sell, it may be possible to interest capital in building a number of houses for sale to Dodge employes.

"The object will be to build and sell at cost, good substantial homes in desirable localities, on the easy payment plan."

In order to arrive at what is desired, the circular contains a number of questions to be answered by the employes, which answers will afford a fair idea of just how interested the workmen are in the scheme to relieve the housing situation. There are no houses for rent in the city, and any offered for sale are quickly taken up. The employers of labor are awake to the fact that something must be done quickly to provide homes that will afford contentment, if unrest is to be thwarted.

MUNCIE PLANS FOR EMERGENCY

Muncie, too, is facing a crisis in the housing situation in view of the development of a $5,000,000 factory project by the General Motors Company, the contract for which has been awarded, and on which work is to be begun at once. To meet the situation, the Muncie Home Builders has been incorporated, and expects to erect homes to meet the emergency. Prominent citizens are behind the move, and have been working for several months, devising plans whereby the civic need may be met.

This movement began after a preliminary survey of the factory employes had disclosed that the housing situation was growing critical and promised to develop a serious condition when the General Motors Company's scheme matured.

COMMERCIAL CLUB TAKES A HAND

The survey was made by the Muncie Commercial Club, and at their invitation about fifty prominent citizens of the city met at the Commercial Club to discuss what could be done. These meetings were also attended by experienced builders and town planners, and the best methods of financing, the best sort of homes to build, and the most approved and safest plan for selling homes upon terms much better than have heretofore been possible were discussed.

COMMUNICATE WITH OTHER CITIES

The Commercial Club also communicated with more than one hundred cities all over the United States which have met a similar problem successfully, and gathered an immense amount of data, a study of which has permitted the "Muncie Home Builders" to start business upon a basis which has proven eminently successful in many other cities.

The Commercial Club handled the inception of this movement just as it would handle the encouraging of a new factory to locate in Muncie.

PLAN FOR FINANCING

The building and loan companies or the banks will not loan to exceed about 65 per cent. of the appraised valuation of a home. Hence on a home appraised at $3,000 a first mortgage of $1,950 would be made by the loan companies. This would leave a balance of $1,050, and unless the builder had this amount of cash it has heretofore been impossible for him to proceed. The principal object of this company will be to bridge the gap between the loan made on the first mortgage by the building and loan companies and the amount of money made as a first payment by the purchaser or builder of the home.

For instance, if the builder of the above home did not have $1,050 in cash, he could not proceed. With the facilities of the Muncie Home Builders, if he could make a first payment of 10 per cent., or $300, and 1 per cent., or $30, per month, including interest and principal, he will now find it possible to build and own his own home and pay for it completely in between eleven and twelve years.

TAKE TITLE TO PROPERTY

It is the purpose of the company to take title to all property so dealt with and issue to the purchaser a contract of sale, retaining title until all but the amount of the first mortgage held by the building and loan company has been paid. When this time is reached, the title will then be transferred to the purchaser, who will assume the first mortgage. The deferred monthly payments will bear 6 per cent. interest, which interest will be reduced as the principal is reduced.

GARY HOME BUILDING ACTIVE

All through the summer the building of houses and flats at Gary has been brisk, which has helped to improve housing conditions in that city. The steel mills in that district have long lent encouragement to their employes to own their own homes by advancing 75 per cent. of the estimated cost of the building to the prospective owner at a reasonable rate of interest, less than the banks and loan companies would charge.

Among the smaller cities to go into the housing problem are Portland and Frankfort. The Commercial Club at the former place has taken the matter up and is pushing a scheme whereby it is hoped to be able to aid in the financing of fifty new houses for prospective home builders. While plans have not taken a definite shape at Frankfort, a number of the leading citizens are interesting themselves in a move to provide homes, as there is a shortage there, and something will have to be done if the city is to go ahead as it has been doing for the last few years.

These housing schemes all tend toward permanency, it being the idea to provide substantial modern homes that the workmen can afford without being a burden to them.

BUSINESS FEATURES

Essential to Successful Practice that Architect Often Neglects.

There are several business elements connected with the architectural profession that are important to success yet too often are they neglected and overlooked by the architect either in the desire to secure a volume of business or the inability to comprehend the importance of these features. One pertains to the securing of a signed contract between architect and the prospective builder, the other relates to a cost system that will permit him to know just what expense is entailed in producing a set of plans and specifications and superintending the construction of a building.

ARCHITECT'S SPHERE OF OPERATION BROAD.

The position of the architect is peculiar. His sphere of operation is more than professional for his duties overlap into the business world. He, through his mastery of the art of architecture, takes his position in the professional ranks but, at the same time, must possess a certain business acumen. He not only prepares plans and specifications but is called upon many times to suggest ways and means for the promotion of a project, must offer financial advice, act as counselor relative to laws as they pertain to the financing of public work, and performs the duties of a business counselor between owner, contractor and, sometimes, lessee. Throughout building operations he is the controlling factor. All of this is service, that is what he sells. He may be an artist at designing, may be thoroughly qualified in construction requirements but, in addition, he must possess business qualifications or his service falls short.

As a professional man he is frequently classed with the doctor and lawyer but the architect has more involved. He must have an organization or, if he does his own work, he must organize his own efforts and be master of the business fundamentals mentioned above.

THE PUBLIC AND THE ARCHITECT.

The public realizes a doctor endeavors to cure, that a lawyer attempts to get people out of trouble when there has been an infraction of the law; when people are sick they seek a doctor, knowing full well what his duties are; when a lawyer is needed they seek him cognizant of the fact that he is a man who can aid in legal matters, but people have a hazy conception as to the duties of an architect. A vast majority of the people knows an architect draws plans; plans, to this element, mean a piece of blue paper and white lines, that is about all. Few take into consideration the time, study, labor and expense involved to develop in the plans the individuality that the owner really desires when he seeks to build. To the average man a plan is something the architect can readily set forth on paper by means of a pencil and ruler; he does not appreciate the skill shown in the drawings that determines building operations; he fails to consider the effort expended on arrangement of rooms to attain convenience. It is this ignorance that causes a loud howl and dampens much building ardor when the architect announces the fee he desires for his services, services when faithfully performed, unexcelled in any other profssion or business.

Building committees composed of business men, individual owners and even public officials many times fail to place any value on an architect's time and can not realize, when a project is postponed or abandoned, why the architect is entitled to any monetary compensation for his trouble. They feel that when they change their minds and decide not to build that there should be no charge by the architect. They fail to realize that the architect paid draftsmen to produce the plans, that the materials used cost money, that there was the office rent to be cared for and that the architect spent railroad fare and many days in consultation with the owners in order to produce the building scheme that was wanted.

NEED OF SECURING SIGNED CONTRACTS.

Because of these things there should be distinct and well defined business features included in every architect's office. Too many architects neglect to secure signed contracts with the owner when being retained to prepare plans and specifications; too many neglect to keep a cost system. Many an architect has rued the day he failed to secure a signed contract when he agreed with an owner to prepare plans for a project. Not having a contract he has found it difficult to collect money for his labors when the owner decided not to proceed with the work in mind. Then too, the loss to architects has been great when final settlements were made because there was no definite contract and it has always proved a hard matter for a professional man to collect by court proceedings in the absence of a contract. In such instances compromises are usually effected, the architect being glad to get what he can.

Often an owner refuses to sign a contract with an architect when he desires to build and the architect fearing to lose the prospect if he insists upon a contract agrees to proceed with the work—trusting the owner to pay when the work is completed. He gambles his time and money against Fate and—hopes. It would be interesting to know just how many architects in Indiana have played Forlorn Hopes. Why, if an owner is sincere in his desire to build, should he refuse to sign a contract? Contracts should be written so as to guarantee the owner against unscrupulous architects who would promise too much then, if the architect failed to meet his promises, the owner should have recourse to law, on the other hand, the architect should be protected if he faithfully performs his duties.

The Indiana architects should all use a standard form of contract to be used between architect and owner, and, if each and every one of them would insist upon its being signed before drawing a line it wouldn't be long before it would become a regular custom of the practice in Indiana, eliminate much dissention and put the profession on a sound busines basis.

COST SYSTEMS DESIRABLE.

Another business principle that would accrue to the interest of the Indiana architectural profession would be the installation of cost systems in the various architects' offices. How many architects actually know what a commission costs them? If the architects as a whole were familiar with the actual costs involved in the production of a set of plans, specifications, and the superintendence of a project it would not be long before common sense would rule and they would realize that small percentage working bases did not pay. It is not the intention to tell an architect what he should charge, rather, to call his attention to this feature that he may analyze the situation and determine whether his practice is yielding him a fair return.

The Indiana Society of Architects contemplates going into the matter of standard contract forms for the purpose of endeavoring to educate the architect to the advisability of securing signed contracts upon being retained. Any suggestions along this line or upon cost systems from Indiana architects will be welcomed for publication by the Construction Recorder.

GARY CONTRACTORS

Make Wage Agreement with the Carpenters and Prevent Tie-up.

When the prospect of dissatisfaction among the carpenters of Gary arose, the Carpenter Contractors of that city immediately set to work to overcome the influence that threatened the construction outlook. A committee was appointed to meet with a delegation representing the carpenters and, by arbitration, a settlement was reached that saved the building situation.

Following is the agreement entered into by the Carpenter Contractors of Gary and the Carpenters' District Council of Lake county:

"An agreement entered into this day, the 15th day of August, 1919, by and between the Carpenter Contractors of Gary, Indiana, and vicinity, who will be known in this agreement as party of the first part, and the undersigned representatives of the Carpenters' District Council of Lake county and vicinity, who will be known in this agreement as party of the second part.

Article I. The party of the first part hereby agrees that the minimum scale of wages for all journeymen shall be 87½ cents per hour from date of signing of this agreement until December 1, 1919. From December 1, 1919, until April 1, 1920, the minimum scale of wages shall be for the journeymen the same as that agreed upon by and between the Chicago Contractors' Association and the Carpenters' District Council of Cook county and vicinity; but in no event shall wages be less than 87½ cents per hour.

Article II. It is further agreed by the party of the first part that the minimum scale of wages for all millmen coming under this agreement shall be 67½ cents per hour until December 1, 1919; and should there be any change in the wage scale of 1920 with the outside men as above provided, it is agreed that the millmen shall receive the same proportion of wage scale.

Article III. It is further agreed by both parties of this agreement that the by-laws and working rules of the party of the second part as now written shall become a part of this agreement. And the party of the second part shall furnish the party of the first part with copies of the by-laws and rules.

Article IV. It is further agreed that the undersigned representatives of the party of the first part will furnish a list of their membership to the party of the second part, any time when called for.

Article V. This agreement shall be in full force from date of signing until April 1, 1920, and ninety days prior to expiration of this agreement shall be opened up for any change desired by either party. Both parties hereby agree that they will appoint an agreement committee and endeavor to have a new agreement signed for the future, or this present agreement continued.

BUILDING PRICES

High Like Others for Same Causes as Mentioned Below.

"The newspapers of the United States never have had the opportunity to render a greater service to the whole nation than at the present moment.

Let them tell the people in plain English so all may understand the real causes of high living costs.

Profiteering continues, but certainly not in all lines.

Extravagance and waste are in evidence everywhere.

If living costs are so far above income of the workers, how can we account for the altogether unprecedented volume of business being done in all retail lines, especially those catering to the masses?

On railroad travel in all directions, in amusements and in many other avenues money is being expended with a lavishness and recklessness that certainly does not indicate worry over income.

The world-wide extravagance today is one of the primary causes of present living costs. It is adding to a demand already far in excess of supply.

Either we must all work harder and longer to produce more or we must exercise self-restraint, thrift and consume less.

There can be no permanent relief until production overreaches demand."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The last paragraph is a succinct statement of the present situation, than which there is no other more important national problem at this time.

The time has come to call a halt on the upward tendency of prices and costs of production.

VENTILATION

As Required by Indiana Sanitary School Law to Protect Pupils.

INSTALLATION.

No part of the machinery, shafting, or pulley arrangement of heating and ventilating apparatus or water works system shall be connected to the joist or flooring above the room in which such machinery or apparatus is installed.

ASPIRATIONS IN VENT STACKS.

All masonry flues shall start upon substantial foundation at the ground. All vent flues shall be carried through the attic and above the highest point of the roof, either as separate flues or by being combined into one or more foul air chambers in the attic. Each foul air chamber shall be provided with proper roof openings and shall be equipped with proper cowls or ventilators to prevent down-draught. Separate vent stacks shall also be provided with proper cowls or ventilators. Vent flues shall be built the same size throughout the entire flue length with inside walls plumb, true and with smooth finish. Foul air chambers in the attic shall have a cubic capacity at least equal to the combined capacity of all vent stacks connected with such chamber. A positive updraft shall be maintained in all vent stacks by blast aspiration or exhaust. In gravity systems of ventilation with steam heat foul air vent stacks shall have a minimum of twenty-seven (27) square feet of radiation in each stack for aspirating purposes.

CLOAKROOMS AND WARDROBES.

Cloakrooms or wardrobes not separated from classrooms, or separated only by skeleton doors, shall be considered as part of the classroom, and the foul air vent may be placed in the cloakroom or wardrobe. Cloakrooms or wardrobes separated from classrooms, shall be separately heated and ventilated the same as classrooms. Where suitable cloakrooms cannot be provided, sanitary lockers may be placed in the corridors or classrooms, provided that such lockers will not in any way become an obstruction to the free passageway of the corridor.

VENTILATION IN VOCATIONAL ROOMS.

Gas plates, gas stoves and burners used in domestic science or laboratory work shall be provided with suitable ventilating hoods connected to a vertical vent flue. This flue shall be separate from any other vent flue, and a positive updraft shall be maintained by blast, aspiration or exhaust.

TEMPERATURE REGULATION.

Whenever practical, temperature regulation shall be used.

Whatever system of ventilation is used, the windows in all schoolrooms should be opened whenever practical at recess periods and before the opening of the afternoon school session, in order to thoroughly change the air of the rooms.

BASEMENT AIR.

In every stairway leading from the first floor to the basement there shall be a swinging door with spring hinges, to prevent basement air from entering the classrooms and corridors above, and as a protection against fire occurring in the basement.

BRIXMENT The Perfect Cement for all kinds of Mortars

No Lime—No Bother—No Soaking—No Waste
Simply Mix With Sand and Use

BRIXMENT Is a slow-setting, plastic and smooth-working cement for masonry. It does not require soaking or any preliminary preparation. Simply mix with sand and use.

BRIXMENT Works long and buttery. Resembles lime putty in its working quality, yet has an initial set in about four hours. One part of BRIXMENT to three parts of clean, sharp sand makes a mortar which in a very short time exceeds common building brick in crushing strength.

BRIXMENT Costs no more than ordinary lime mortar in the Indiana markets. In most cases it means a decided saving. A barrel of BRIXMENT is approximately four and one-half cubic feet. Mixed one part BRIXMENT to three parts sand, it gives five-eighths yards of excellent mortar—enough to lay one thousand bricks.

BRIXMENT Makes firm friends. Indiana architects and contractors who have tried BRIXMENT, have become permanent users of this superior material. A test in actual work is sufficient proof of its merits. The dealers listed below stock BRIXMENT. Any additional information desired may be secured by writing the manufacturers—

Pozzolana has Stood the Test of over Twenty Centuries.

Pozzo is the trade mark name of a substance similar to the Italian Pozzolana, which, when added with other ingredients to Portland cement, hardens, strengthens and renders it waterproof. It is a process known only to, and owned by this company.

Pozzolana has been the standard European stucco for over 2000 years.

It is the material of which the famous Appian Way was built, and of which were constructed the ancient buildings of Rome, which stand today.

Architects from the time of Vitravius before Christ to the present time have recognized the value of it as a building material.

Pozzo has practically no porous substance as tests from the Universities of Illinois and Purdue verify.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE

Drafts Standardized Schedule of School Construction Requirements.

Having an extensive building program in contemplation, the Board of School Commissioners of Indianapolis, realized that future construction requirements should be specified along a definite line in order to guarantee to the city a most modern type of school structure. To this end a committee was appointed, consisting of E. U. Graff, Superintendent of Schools; Architect, Herbert Foltz, President of the Board, and L. A. Snider, Consulting Engineer, to formulate a standardized set of requirements for the construction of future elementary school buildings.

After much study and extensive investigations, the committee has gotten up an elaborate detailed schedule to be used in future city school construction and is now ready to present it to the Board for approval.

The committee based their conclusions on three main determining factors bearing on the subject as follows:

(a) Upon a careful study of the facilities and deficiencies revealed in various surveys of all existing Indianapolis school buildings, resulting in a proper classification of their various features as assets or liabilities and making possible a reasonably accurate estimate of requirements in the development of a new building program.

(b) Upon suggestions obtained from small scale drawings submitted by members of the Indianapolis Architects Association on invitation of the Board.

(c) Upon data secured during recent visits by the committee to thirty-seven schools in other cities, where much valuable information was obtained regarding the administration and construction of school buildings, through close observation and personal contact with school officials.

PURPOSE OF THE NEW SCHEDULE.

It is the intention of the committee to issue this schedule to the Architects that they may acquaint themselves with certain features, which are considered essential to the proper construction and administration of the modern elementary school building as an aid in determining the general arrangement and character of the building—and to guide towards a standardization of plan and construction —without in any way limiting the Architect's own architectural expression or individuality. If the experience, research or special knowledge of the Architect has placed him in possession of facts concerning materials or methods, differing from and, in his judgment, more desirable than those recommended, such information should be transmitted promptly to the Building Committee for its consideration and action.

The building is required by law for a specific purpose and as such shall be designed and executed, conformably with all laws, ordinances, rules and regulations in force in the City and State of Indiana, relating to buildings of this class. It shall be the duty of the Architect, prior to final approval of the working drawings and specifications, to give all requisite notices to public officers and secure and submit to the Board, written approval of the working drawings by all State and City Boards, and Departments having jurisdiction over any part or parts of the project. Approval by the Board of School Commissioners of the drawings and specifications will be conditional upon prior approval by all State and City Officials having jurisdiction.

While it is required that the building be dignified and architecturally correct in appearance, expressing frankly its function, it should be clearly understood that no detail in the construction of hidden or minor parts, is to be neglected, nor any sacrifice of essentials made in order that undue emphasis may be given to architectural exterior embellishment or ornamentation. Reliance shall be placed more upon proportion, a careful selection and use of materials, and harmonious grouping of the several parts, than upon minutiae of detail for the best results.

In order to make easier reference possible, the requirements are to be classified and grouped into four general divisions:

(1) Drawings, Specifications and Estimates.
(2) Educational and Administrative Requirements.
(3) Design and Construction.
(4) Interior Finish and Equipment.

As soon as approved by the Board of School Commissioners, the building schedule will be made public.

BUILDERS EXCHANGE

Advocated by South Bend Contractors to Promote Mutual Interest.

A movement is on foot at South Bend for the organization of a Builder's Exchange whereby a closer relationship and better understanding may be established among the various contractors and a mutual interest created for the advancement of the construction industry.

While still in an embryonic state, a great deal of interest has been manifested by those in the building game over the prospect of such an organization. The idea is to perfect an institution along the principles advocated by the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana, it being the purpose of the South Bend contractors to have a local body that will be able to arbitrate disputes that may arise between employe and employer thus preventing strikes, if possible, and economic waste entailed by the throwing out of employment the other crafts not concerned in the dispute. Other features to be cared for are jurisdictional disputes between the various crafts and a discouragement of unfair practices in the contracting field.

Several preliminary meetings have been held and arrangements have been perfected for the employment of a man who understands Exchange affairs to take hold of the proposition and effect a permanent organization.

INDIANA CONTRACTORS

Display Keen Interest in Formation of National Organization.

Indiana contractors came out strongly in favor of the organization of a National Association of Building Trades Employers by having a good representation in attendance at the conference held in Chicago, Sept. 23d and 24th, for the purpose of organizing just such a body. Delegations were present from the Contractors Associations of Indianapolis, Gary, Evansville, Ft. Wayne, Hammond and Terre Haute. Nor was Indiana overlooked in the election of officers, C. C. Pierson, Indianapolis, Secretary of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana being named as a member of the Board of Directors of the new national organization. Among the Indiana men present were: F. W. Jungclaus, Harrison Walters and C. C. Pierson of Indianapolis; M. L. Maxon, W. J. Stewart Hyde, L. B. Snowden, Wm. Welter, H. B. Lee and Alfred Anderson of Gary; A. J. Hoffman and G. H. Bippus of Evansville; Max Irmscher, Ft. Wayne.

Those who attended report that there were representative contractors present from all over the country who were extremely enthusiastic about the organization of a national body. No discordant note was sounded at any time during the convention, all present realizing that the time has come for a solidification of the construction interests for mutual protection to cope with the labor problem on a national scale.

The new organization is to encourage and assist in the formation of local associations of building trades employers. This is a thing that the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana have been advocating for some time and have already helped to launch such associations in several Indiana cities. Then too, the national body purposes to lend assistance to local building trades employers associations in thrashing out labor difficulties such as wage adjustments and jurisdictional disputes; promulgate uniformity, harmony and a general understanding among the employers and employes; to oppose any unlawful and unwarranted interference with the rights of contractors in the pursuit of their calling.

These officers were named for the ensuing year:
President—James R. Strong, New York.
First Vice President—Andrew Lanquist, Chicago.
Second Vice President—V. R. Gould, Omaha.
Third Vice President—Geo. Donley, Cleveland.
Treasurer—Max Bauman, New York.
Directors—C. J. Kelly, New York; E. M. Craig, Chicago; W. F. Hennessey, Cleveland; D. T. Riffle, Pittsburgh; P. M. Fogel, Kansas City; C. F. Waltz, Cincinnati; C. C. Pierson, Indianapolis; C. W. Bernhardt, Atlanta; E. J. Thomas, Memphis; G. C. Mills, Webster City, Iowa.

A directors meeting is to be held at St. Louis the latter part of October, the date to be determined later.

Indiana contractors who attended the Chicago meeting are enthusiastic for the general organization of the contracting interests of the state. A strong effort is to be made at once to build up the membership of the contractors associations in the various Indiana cities and then work in conjunction with the State Association to further the interests of the contracting industry.

A QUESTION

Why Condemn Restricted Output then Seek to Limit Labor Production?

An editorial that is timely, and certainly very much to the point, appeared recently in the New York Times. In this, a comparison is made between labor trusts and business trusts; the occasion for its publication was the suit recently brought by the United States Government against nineteen makers of Portland cement.

I believe that this point should be driven home, for we must arrange in some manner to regulate the labor trust as well as any business trust. Extracts from the editorial referred to, follow:

COMPULSORY LABOR NOT POPULAR.

"Nobody would be so daring as to suggest that in times of emergency there might be compulsory labor for public reasons, in peace as there is in war. On the contrary, the tendency is to favor the subsidization of men, women and children by various sorts of contributions in aid of an easier life. That there is a different policy toward corporations is shown by the suit in equity by the United States Government against nineteen makers of cement. They formed "an unincorporated association," like a labor union, and they intercommunicated about their business with the intention and result of reducing production and raising prices. In 1918 their capacity was 50,000,000 barrels and their output 23,000,000. . . .

CAPACITY PRODUCTION WAS UNDESIRABLE.

"We have no idea what the Cement Trust has to say for itself; but we cannot help wondering what would have been done with all the cement they could have produced if they had worked to capacity at the rate of 50,000,000 barrels during the years of notorious prostration of all peaceful industries, and the building industry in particular. Still, the raising of prices has an extremely bad look. . . .

UNEMPLOYED MEN AND PLANTS SIMILAR.

"The unemployed man and the unemployed plant are problems in modern industry. Men and plants are necessary in busy times and in emergencies. Neither can be improvised, but the men may be put to other work better than the machinery can be adopted to other uses. A surplus of labor raises questions of humanity, a surplus of plant raises questions of business expediency. Who should decide just how much capacity shall be provided or how much product shall be turned out? There are thinkers who regard this provision of surplus capacity as not entitled to any profit in the manner illustrated by the practices charged against the cement trust. All the capitalist producers ought to be allowed is the return on the cost of the mechanical plant.

DIMINISHED OUTPUT NORMALLY MEANS HIGHER PRICES.

"It is odd that these theorists do not apply their doctrines to the 'unincorporated associations' of labor, whose 'conscientious withdrawal of efficiency' rivals that of the corporations and costs the community as much. The proposal of a five-day week for labor is a matter of serious public concern, since necessarily the result must be diminished production and higher prices—just as in the cement case. If these doctrines are valid, may it not be that the community today is suffering from the failure to apply them to the more advanced of the labor thinkers, who would displace the Government in favor of themselves?"—(Issued by the Associated General Contractors of America.)

CALL TO ACTION

Architect Proposes Co-operation to Make Architects' Society Attractive.

A commendable spirit is shown by Architect A. A. Honeywell of Kokomo, one of the newly elected officers of the Indiana Society of Architects, who has sent out an appeal to the officers of the Society to bestir themselves, get together, and co-operate to make the architects' state organization a real live body, a power.

The call to action which follows, met with instant favor. Plans are now being formulated for a conference of the Society officers to map out an aggressive campaign of action that will attract and appeal to all State Architects who are vitally interested in the advancement of their profession.

"My dear Sir:

"I am sending this letter in duplicate to each officer of the Indiana Society of Architects. I have the thought that, as officers of the Society, a special obligation rests on us to make the organization more vigorous; so that it will appeal more strongly to the architects of the State. As the least important officer of the organization, I thought it would not be amiss for me to suggest that we get together in conference and plan some team work to this end. I can promise to have some definite ideas to present, and I feel sure that each one could do this. I do not specially refer to the making of the regular meetings more attractive, but to the necessity of making the organization seem more important to the Architects of the State. I realize that the different committees have in charge very many things, but also feel certain that the officers, as such, can do much without trespassing on the work of the committees to put more "pep" into the Society. I am willing to take the time to meet anywhere that is mutually satisfactory, unless the date is one that I cannot possibly meet. I take it that the Fall is the time for aggressive work, as work generally is less pressing then than in the Spring. If this suggestion meets with your approval, I shall be most happy to co-operate in any way possible.

"Sincerely yours,

"(Signed) A. A. HONEYWELL."

There are too many architects sitting around bemoaning the way things are going in architectural circles. When they set forth conditions they add, "But what can one do?" Much could be done if there was more co-operation in an effort to improve conditions, more interest shown in the efforts of the Society, and more concerted action thrown into various moves to improve the practice. The thing to do is to act.

CONSTRUCTION FORCES

Realizing Need of Co-operative Spirit to Meet Present Day Problems.

Indications point to the fact that the contracting interests of Indiana are awakening to the fact that the time has arrived for those engaged in construction, to exercise more co-operation among themselves in the pursuit of their calling. It will improve methods of practice. Then too, co-operation will afford the contracting industry a solid front to meet the demands of labor; to work in the interest of beneficial legislation; and to bring about a better understanding in the dealings between the contractors themselves.

The awakening was well illustrated at a meeting of the Contractors' Association at Evansville recently, when a prominent local contractor said, "We must get away from our isolation down here in "the Pocket" and co-operate with the contractors throughout the state in an endeavor to effect a better understanding. Through an interchange of ideas with other contractors' associations there can not help but be mutual benefit for all of us. In our dealings with labor, we must protect our interests by mutually co-operating. The contractors of the state must present a solid front in dealing with labor, but we must pursue the policy of 'Live and Let Live,' we must not antagonize labor, instead we must work together".

It is this thing that the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana is seeking to accomplish, and so far there has been a general endorsement of this policy by the contractors' associations of the various cities. At Indianapolis, Gary, Ft. Wayne, Terre Haute and Evansville, the contractors are working along this line with the intention of eventually joining the State Association to promote construction interests. South Bend and Richmond contractors are now seeking to organize local associations, and are being encouraged and aided in their endeavors by the state body.

Many architects have advocated the establishment of a state building code in order to bring about better buildings, insure the factor of safety and standardize construction in all sections of the state. Contractors have approved the idea as it would give them a clear conception of requirements. As it is now, there is no specific state building law outside of a few regulations issued by the State Fire Marshall's Office and the State Board of Health, in the various sections of the state, is governed entirely by local laws, varying according to the locality. The contractor who figures about the state, is called upon to investigate local building regulations and familiarize himself with them. This requires time and money, all of which could be saved if there was a state building code for the construction regulations would, under a state code, be the same in all cities.

Co-operation among the contractors would make such legislation possible, for, with the architects and material men to back them up, it would prove a force not to be denied. It would afford the contractor a general understanding of construction requirements any where in the state and insure to the public the best of construction.

This is but a sample of what could be accomplished by the state contracting forces working in harmony to a common end for mutual benefit. Other things in the interest of a standardization of construction, such as wage scales, methods of practice and other considerations involved in the building industry, would also be possible, if the contracting fraternity would display more effort in the direction of co-operation.

SANITARY FEATURES

Of Indiana School House Law Put Emphasis on Water Supply and Plumbing.

Having specified conditions to govern the selection of a site for new schools, providing general requirements to cover the construction of such buildings, and set forth regulations so as to guarantee adequate heating and ventilating systems, the Indiana State Board of Health rules and regulations next devote attention to the all important sanitary features of water supply and plumbing.

A ban has been placed on the old familiar school yard open well, pump and public drinking cup and upon unsightly toilet outhouses. These things have been outlawed, to be succeded by selected, analyzed water supply systems and modern sewage disposal facilities.

WATER SUPPLY

Open or dug wells, or springs, shall not be used. No well shall be within 100 feet of any privy, cesspool, or other known possible source of contamination. The water supply of every school shall be analyzed by the State Board of Health from sample submitted by the school trustee, school board, or the local health officer, whenever in the opinion of the local health officer such analysis shall be necessary, or whenever the State Board of Health shall require such analysis. It is recommended that the water supply at each school shall be analyzed once each year.

Drinking Fountains—Where pressure water supply is available, sanitary drinking fountains shall be installed. Such drinking fountains shall be of the bubbling stream type, and shall have vitreous china cup with two or more port holes so the user must drink from the bubbling stream. The construction of the sanitary head shall be such that when the finger is placed over the nozzle, the water passes to the waste through the ports provided for that purpose.

The use of open water containers and the common drinking cups in schoolrooms is prohibited by order of the State Board of ealth. Water must be kept in a closed container with bubbler attachment or with individual cups for use of the pupils or a combined pump and bubbler fountain shall be installed.

LAVATORIES

Every schoolhouse shall be provided with substantial enameled iron, porcelain or vitreous sinks or washbasins, soap and sanitary paper or individual towels. Common or roller towels shall not be used. Where wall trap lavatory with back is used, it must be all in one peice. All traps shall be cast brass with cleanout with ground joints on sewer side of fixture.

FLOOR DRAINS

The toilet rooms, washrooms, boiler and furnace rooms shall be provided with floor drains connected with a proper sewer outlet. These floor drains shall be conveniently located with the floor sloping to the drain from all parts of the room. Whenever domestic science rooms and laboratories have waterproof floors, and sewer outlet is practicable, these rooms shall also be provided with floor drains as above. In boys' toilet rooms the urinal floor trough may be used as the floor drain.

TOILETS

Flush Toilets—Where a sewer system or pressure water supply is available or practicable, water-closets to the number of one seat for each fifteen females, or fractional part there of, and one seat for each twenty-five males, or fractional part thereof, and one urinal stall for each fifteen males, or fractional part thereof, shall be installed. In estimating the number of closets to be installed, the occupants shall be divided as follows: 40 per cent. males and 60 per cent. females. Where the syphon type of closet is used, it shall be provided with seat action or approved pull flush with working parts of sufficient strength to withstand rough usage. Closets having any working parts of valve or any metal parts inside of bowl rim shall not be used. All receptacles used for water-closets and urinals, except as otherwise provided in these rules, shall be vitrified earthenware, hard natural stone, glass or cast iron porcelain enameled on the inside. If cast iron is used, it shall be enameled or painted on the outside with at least three coats of non-absorbent and non-corrosive paint.

Latrines—Where latrines are used, they shall be provided with cast iron automatic dumping tanks to hold not less than 10 gallons of water, and arranged so the closets will be flushed at intervals of not longer than 15 minutes. The entire volume of water shall be delivered at once at one end of the range, passing through the entire length of the same and discharging at the other end through the sewer trap. The bottom of the latrine shall have a depression under the center of each seat at least 1½ inches deep to retain water at all times.

Ventilation of Toilets—There shall be a ventilating opening in the back of each individual water-closet bowl and each seat of the latrine of not less than 10 square inches free area, and each urinal stall shall have a ventilating opening in top or bottom or both of not less than 8 square inches free area. These toilet ventilating openings shall be connected to a vertical brick vent flue extending above the highest point of the roof. The updraft in this flue shall be positive at all times, to be maintained by blast, aspiration or exhaust. If stack heater is used, the cross-sectional area of this toilet vent flue shall be not less than 360 square inches. If aspiration by steam, this toilet vent flue shall have not less than 36 square feet of radiation. If an exhaust fan is used, the cross-sectional area of the toilet vent flue shall be equal to the combined area of the toilet ventilating openings connected with such flue, with a minimum flue area of 144 square inches.

Urinals—All urinals shall be of the floor trough type, with local ventilation as provided above, and shall be constructed of material impervious to water. Urinals shall be divided into stalls not less than sixteen (16) inches nor more than twenty (20) inches in width. Urinal partitions as well as closet partitions shall be of waterproof material. Wood partitions are prohibited in toilet rooms.

Location of Toilets—Toilet fixtures properly ventilated may be located in the basement or on any floor of the school building. When toilets are located in the basement, they shall be completely separated as to sexes by solid, soundproof wall, and shall have separate stairways and separate pasageways leading to such toilets. Boys' toilet shall be clearly marked "Boys' Toilet," and girls' toilet shall be clearly marked "Girls' Toilet."

COMPARATIVE FIGURES

Show that Gary Contractors have Done Well by Their Men.

In looking over the wage scale paid in the various cities, we find Gary is paying a larger wage scale in the building trades than any other city in the Union.

Chicago experienced a lockout because of the fact that the Union Carpenters would not accept a wage scale of 92½ cents per hour that was offered them in compromise made at a meeting, held June 30, 1919, of the Building Construction Employers Association, to go into effect July 7th.

The general contractors employing carpenters had no further offer to make, but the Carpenters District Council refused and demanded $1.00 per hour. The previous working contract was made with the Carpenters District Council June 1, 1918, to expire May 30, 1921 at 80 cents per hour.

The bricklayers' condition in Gary is similar to the carpenters' demands in Chicago, as they are working under a new agreement, made by a Joint Arbitration Board of the Builders and Traders Exchange and the Trades Council, May 6, 1919, expiring May 1, 1920, at 90 cents per hour.

This is the equal of any wage scale paid in any of the leading cities of the United States. The unsettled condition of the Building Crafts caused by the Unions' demands for increased wage scale will work a hardship upon the public and home buyer, the contractors not being able to estimate the cost of construction, therefore, it is retarding a number of proposed improvements.

Below are given the wage scales of Carpenters and Bricklayers in other cities and including Gary. The Carpenters are now receiving 2½c in excess of scales paid in the larger cities.

The Building Contractors have been fortunate in Gary as they have had little labor trouble with which to contend which has made building operations good up to this time.

SEPTEMBER BUILDING

Continued Active Showing Big Increase Over Same Period in 1918.

Despite the threatening unrest in labor circles and prevailing high prices, building throughout Indiana continued brisk during September, all cities showing activity in construction work, according to the permit returns issued by the building inspection departments throughout the state. While there was a falling off from the August figures, which set a record in building permits issued, still, September with an estimated valuation of $2,931,039 for new buildings will stand out as one of the good months of the year. Indianapolis fell away from $2,601,497 for August to $1,179,469 for September, but other cities held up well.

Comparing the September, 1919, returns with September, 1918, figures, the gain this year is noticeable. Ft. Wayne leading with 235%, followed in order by South Bend with 204%, Indianapolis 202%, Terre Haute 201%, Gary 104%.

Reports from the building inspectors in the various cities, indicate that there is a general shortage of houses throughout the state and that this condition is being given serious consideration by public officials, business men and civic organizations in an endeavor to find a means to relieve the situation.

The steel strike has hit Gary hard, put a quietus on building and dimmed an otherwise promising building outlook. In other cities, labor is scarce and there is plenty of work to keep this element busy; but labor is restive and there is an atmosphere of uncertainty hovering around.

Contractors and building inspectors say the building outlook is good if some means may be reached to settle the unrest that is agitating labor.

SANITARY FEATURES

Of Indiana School House Law Put Emphasis On Water Supply and Plumbing.

INDOOR CREMATORY CLOSETS.

Whenever a sewer system or pressure water supply is not available or practicable, an indoor crematory sanitary closet system may be provided with the same number of seats and urinal stalls as specified for water-closets. If an indoor crematory sanitary closet is used, the vault of same shall be constructed of brick with cement floor, properly drained. The vault heater, gratings, floors and stools, shall be made of cast iron. The urinals shall be constructed of enameled iron, vitrified earthenware, slate, marble or glass, and shall have a ventilating opening both at top and bottom of not less than 8 square inches free area. The seat shall be made either of wood or aluminum, and if wood seats are used the underside of the same shall be lined with metal. The lids of the seats shall be provided with a self-closing device. Such closets shall be connected to a vent flue or stack with a free cross-sectional area of not less than 60 square inches for each closet seat and each stall of urinal, to which stack shall be connected a stack heater. Fire must be kept in both the stack heater and the vault heater at all times when school is in session, in order to maintain a positive updraft in the stack and to destroy the contents of the vault.

So-called dry closets shall not hereafter be used in any school building.

OUTDOOR SANITARY CLOSETS.

If an outdoor sanitary closet system is used, the vault receptacle and floor of such closet shall be of cement construction. Dry loamy earth, wood ashes, sifted coal ashes or slaked lime shall be thrown in the vault receptacle at least once each day when school is in session, and the contents of the vault shall be removed at least twice in each school year. All out-door closets shall be kept effectually screened and protected against flies. The interior walls of such closets shall be sided with corrugated metal sheathing, painted a drab color and sanded while the paint is still wet.

In the boys' closet a urinal of metal, cement or other non-absorbent material with stalls shall be constructed and made to discharge through a proper drain into the soil away from the closet and not nearer than 100 feet to any source of water supply.

CHEMICAL CLOSET.

In small buildings and where pressure water supply is not available chemical closets may be installed as approved by the State Board of Health.

STILL ANOTHER

Contracting Forces of Indiana Continue to Endorse Construction Recorder.

Indiana Construction Recorder,
Indianapolis, Ind.

Gentlemen:

At a meeting of our association held on October 8, 1919, a resolution was passed to adopt the Indiana Construction Recorder as the official organ of our Association.

To further show our substantial interest and appreciation of your paper, we are placing an order with you for a subscription to your paper for each of our members, a list of which is here-with enclosed together with the addresses.

Wishing you continued success and assuring you of our co-operation in anything we can do to further the interest of the construction industry, especially throughout this state, we remain.

Respectfully yours,
GENERAL CONTRACTORS ASSOCIATION
(Signed) A. J. Hoffman,
Secretary.

A CORRECTION

In quoting the wage scales from Gary last week, an error was made in reference to carpenters. They were listed as receiving $.89½ per hour, instead, the figures should have read $.87½ per hour.

CONTRACTORS ORGANIZE

Construction Men Institute Builders' Exchange At South Bend.

Arrangements have been made for the immediate organization of a Builders' & Traders' Exchange at South Bend, to include in its membership the contractors and building fraternity of that city and St. Joseph county.

Preliminary steps in that direction were instituted October 2, when a meeting of the building crafts was called. After considerable discussion, relative to the need and purpose of an Exchange at South Bend, an article of agreement was offered to incorporate such a body. It was unanimously endorsed and adopted, and the services of W. J. Stewart Hyde, secretary of the Builders' & Traders' Exchange, Gary, Indiana, were retained to aid in the organization work.

Committees were appointed on finance, organization and constitution by-laws. Adjournment was then taken. Another meeting is to be held in the near future to hear reports from the various committees and action taken on the adoption of the Constitution and By-Laws.

There are four essentials contemplated in the proposed By-Laws of the organization; (1st) bonding each member; (2nd) adoption of eight cardinal principles; (3rd) the addition to the annual dues of 2/10 of 1% on all contracts for the supports of the Exchange; (4th) an advisory committee of three to be selected from the various crafts comprising the membership.

There was a great deal of interest and enthusiasm displayed by the members of the South Bend construction industry over the prospect of the establishment of a Builders' & Traders' Exchange in that city, and the prospects are bright for a successful and active organization.

STANDARDIZED

Schedule of Construction Requirements Adopted by School Commissioners.

An innovation in prospective Indiana school construction has been inaugurated by the Board of School Commissioners of Indianapolis by the adoption of a schedule of standardized requirements to be used in the erection of future school structures. This schedule is the result of an exhaustive investigation on the part of E. U. Graff, Superintendent of Schools, Architect Herbert Foltz, President of the Board, and L. A. Snider, Consulting Engineer, who visited many cities and inspected the latest ideas in school construction as expressed by new buildings.

While the schedule applies only to Indianapolis school building, still, the data should prove of interest to architects throughout the State, to School Boards and township trustees contemplating building and to contractors engaged in school house construction.

As a means of making easier reference possible, the requirements have been classified and grouped into four general divisions:

Drawings, Specifications and Estimates.
Educational and Administrative Requirements.
Design and Construction.
Interior Finish and Equipment.

Under these headings will be found reference to certain features as "required" or "desired." Where the term "required" is used, it shall be interpreted as meaning a positive requirement; where the term "desired" is used, it shall be understood to mean that such feature is not a positive requirement, but one which, if incorporated, would result in greater efficiency in the administration or use of the building. Such "desired" features shall be so designed as to make their elimination or future installation a practical possibility.

Preliminary Studies:

The architect is to confer with the Superintendent of Schools and in conformity with the instructions and information thus received, he shall prepare and submit to the Building Committee such preliminary sketches at a uniform scale of 1/16 of an inch to the foot, together with such reports as will acquaint the Committee with the arrangement, general design, construction, cubical contents, and percentage of areas of the building. Conferences with the Building Committee shall be of such frequency as will insure the preliminary work to proceed without unnecessary interruption and the Architect's sketches and reports shall be subject to revision from time to time until they are made acceptable to the Committee.

All preliminary material shall then be submitted to the Board, which may, in its discretion, either approve or refer the matter back to the Committee and the Architect for further study and revision. When the preliminary sketches reports and estimates shall have been finally made satisfactory to the Board and are in such form as will enable the Board and the Architect to agree upon the design and maximum limit of cost as a general basis for the preparation of the working drawings and specifications, then the Board's approval, together with copies of the final preliminary sketches, reports and estimates, shall be entered in the files of the Board as a matter of record.

PROFESSIONAL DUTIES

Of the Architect to the Client and the Position He Occupies.

The Indiana Society of Architects has as its purpose, to unite in fellowship the Architects of the State, to combine their efforts to promote the artistic, scientific and practical efficiency of the profession and to bring about a more wide-spread knowledge amnog the general public of the ideals and aims of the architectural profession.

To accomplish this an effort is herewith made to set forth briefly a statement of the characteristics of professional services.

Believing that in this era of progress, when undertakings are to be executed, either great or small, the desire that they should be accomplished with seriousness and success will appeal to each individual engaged in either public or private enterprises.

All such undertakings requiring combined knowledge and experience, should be approached upon a foundation that will assure uniformity in execution, and with business integrity; with these, training, experience, organization and execution should be the elements seriously to be considered by those whose official duty or private necessity requires architectural professional services.

Professional observation has led to the belief that the majority of officials, as well as those interested in private operations, taking into consideration the conditions of our state, city and township regulations pertaining to the constructive, safety, sanitary and hygienic requirements, and the rapid progress, advancements and improvements in all branches of the building industry, will fully agree in the statement that they would prefer to be on the right and safe side in preference to the contrary.

Such being the condition, the first thing to be considered is the architect's professional position to those requiring his services.

THE ARCHITECT'S RELATION TO THE PUBLIC.

The members of the Indiana Society of Architects seek to maintain a high standard of practice and conduct on the part of its members as a safeguard of the important financial, technical and aesthetic interests entrusted to them, and offers the following advice relative to professional practice:

The profession of architecture calls for men of the highest integrity, business capacity, practical and artistic training and ability.

The Architect is entrusted with financial undertakings in which his honesty of purpose must be above suspicion, and his advice must be absolutely disinterested; he is charged with the exercise of judicial functions as between client and contractors and must act with entire impartiality; he has moral responsibilities to his professional associates and subordinates, and is engaged in a profession which carries with it grave responsibility to the public. These duties and responsibilities cannot be properly discharged unless his motives, conduct and ability are such as to command respect and confidence.

No set of rules can be framed which will particularize all the duties of the Architect in his various relations to his clients, to contractors, to his professional brethren and to the public. The following principles, however, govern the conduct of members of the profession, and serve as a guide in circumstances other than those enumerated.

The Architect's relation to his client is primarily that of professional adviser; this relation continues throughout the entire course of his service.

When, however, a contract has been executed between his client and a contractor by the terms of which the Architect becomes the official interpreter of its conditions and the judge of its performance, an additional relation is created under which it is incumbent upon the Architect to side neither with client nor contractor, but to use his powers under the contract to enforce its faithful performance by both parties.

The fact that the Architect's payment comes from the client does not invalidate his obligation to act with impartiality to both parties.

It is irregular and unprofessional for an Architect to receive any commission or any substantial service from a contractor or from any interested person other than his client.

It is irregular and unprofessional for an architect to assume any responsibility that may prevent him from giving his client disinterested advice and service, and he should not be called upon by bond or otherwise to guarantee any estimate or contract.

Architects will be responsible for any substantial errors in their drawings and specifications and will protect their clients from this source.

EFFORT TO BE MADE

By Evansville Contractors to Inspire Harmony In Construction Forces.

Since the outlook for new building in the Spring is promising, the Evansville Contractors Association is laying plans to obviate, if possible, anything that may arise to prove a hindrance to the prospects. This matter was taken up at a recent meeting and chief attention was directed to the labor question.

The consensus of opinion expressed was that labor should be paid in Evansville what is is paid to similar craftsmen in other cities of Indiana and Illinois, so that the city will not be denuded of the first class men it has in the various trades. There was no question of unionism or organization of any kind in the discussion. It was simply a plain business proposition, viewed from a business standpoint and argued in that spirit.

Among the things contemplated is to secure data upon which to base any agreements that are reached. This will be done through committees. It was noted that some of the crafts are not employed as many days in the year as others, and it was believed that the per diem compensation of those who are least employed in the crafts should be greater than those who are more regularly employed so that the annual wage will be sufficient for the craftsmen to live and support their families.

Every effort will be bent by the contractors and employers of labor in the construction industry to meet in a spirit of co-operation any demands advanced in order to create harmony and efficiency that building may not suffer.

BENEFITS DERIVED

Answers to Those Who Question Advantage Afforded by Contractors' Association.

Frequently a contractor asks what are the benefits to be derived from joining a Contractors' Association? The benefits are many, the most important being set forth by the following answers:

First: Such an organization promotes mechanical and industrial interests.

Second: It inculcates just and equitable principles of trade.

Third: Uniformity in commercial usages is established and maintained by rules and regulations.

Fourth: A better understanding is created among the contractors as a common ground is afforded upon which to meet.

Fifth: It affords the opportunity of acquiring, preserving and disseminating valuable information.

Sixth: It offers the opportunity to adjust differences and settle disputes between members or between members and others.

Seventh: It gives a contractor prestige and standing among those of the Building Trades.

Eighth: Then too, if the contractors are united it gives them a solid front to recommend to the State Legislature matters for legislation that will protect and advance the interests of the Building Industry.

Ninth: It creates a mutual interest and an incentive for all contractors to PULL TOGETHER.

STANDARDIZED

Schedule of Construction Requirements Adopted by School Commissioners.

Working Drawings and Specifications:

The Architect is to make upon the general basis of said final approved preliminary sketches and estimates, working drawings and specifications complete and in proper form to illustrate and explain all of the materials and details of construction of said building, exclusive of the heating, plumbing and wiring installations, and amply sufficient to permit any competent contractor or builder to estimate the construction cost of the building and to assure the actual carrying out of the work shown and described by said drawings and specifications. The specifications shall be issued in printed, mimeographed or typewritten form, properly arranged and indexed.

If due to an unwarranted departure from the final approved preliminary sketches, or to a needlessly extravagant or elaborate interpretation thereof in the working drawings, the lowest responsible bid for doing the work exceeds the maximum limit cost agreed upon, then the Architect, if the Board so demands, is to restudy, and if necessary revise or redraw, without extra charge, any or all of said drawings and specifications.

The Architect shall, upon the completion and final acceptance of the working drawings and specifications, deliver to the Board a complete set of blue prints on paper from the drawings and a complete set of the specifications. Copies of these drawings and specifications shall be made available in sufficient quantity to permit any bidder desiring to submit a proposal on the work to have a set, all releases of same to bidders to be made from the Architect's office.

After the contract for the building is awarded, the Architect shall deliver to the Board a set of the floor plans drawn to 1/16 inch scale with black ink on tracing cloth, one plan on each sheet 16 inches by 24 inches in size. After the completion of the building and prior to the final payment to the Architect, he shall deliver to the Board for its permanent record a complete set of the drawings printed on cloth, on which any changes or additions made during the progress of the work on the building shall be clearly shown and described.

Heating, Plumbing, Ventilation and Wiring:

These installations will be laid out, specified and supervised by Engineers employed directly by the Board and this service is to be separate and distinct from that rendered by the Architect. In order that all branches of the work may be properly related, there shall be full co-operation between the Architect and the Engineers at all times. Conferences shall be held during the preliminary stages of the work to the end that proper provision shall be made in the Architect's drawings for the accommodation of the mechanical and sanitary installations contemplated by the Engineers and an exchange of drawings on which all data and information necessary to a clear understanding of the work of each shall be so timed as not to delay the work of either, and to insure complete co-ordination of all branches of the work necessary to the completion of the building ready for occupancy.

Drawings Required:

The following working drawings are definitely required. Unless otherwise specifically mentioned, no drawing shall be made to a scale of less than ⅛ inch to the foot.

A plot plan of the propery drawn to a scale of 1/16 inch to the foot showing the outlines of the building, boundary lines, walks, driveways, playgrounds, contours, levels, alterations in levels or contours, and such additional data as shall be necessary to illustrate the actual work contemplated on the premises.

A foundation and footing plan taken at a point below the ground floor level, with such cross-sections as will make clear all construction that would be concealed after the erection of the building.

A floor plan of each story taken at a level above the respective window sills, each floor plan to contain such details, sections, diagrams, schedules, etc., as shall be necessary to make clear all work shown thereon. Should other floor plans be required to clearly illustrate any special construction or mezzanine, they shall be prepared in addition to those above enumerated.

A complete roof plan.

Elevation drawings showing every part of the exterior of the building.

Cross and longitudinal sections, together with such additional fragmentary sections as may be necessary to clearly illustrate all portions not shown by aforesaid sections, including special drawings for all stairways.

A complete set of exterior and interior details drawn to a scale of not less than ⅜ inches for elevations and 3 inches for structural sections.

Such supplementary full-size details, data, measurements, etc., within a reasonable time after the contract is awarded as shall be necessary or requested by the Contractor to insure proper execution of the work.

All figures and lettering on the drawings shall be clear and easily read. No notation shall be made with letters less than 3/32 of an inch high.

Cubage:

The following rules shall be observed in figuring cubage of the building:

For a normal foundation, the measurements shall be taken from the several ground floor levels and every cubic foot of the entire building above elevation of these floors shall be measured, including stacks, pent houses, enclosing walls, steps, balconies, outside areas, etc. In case the building has parapet walls, the measurement shall include the cubage of the section of the parapet walls.

A normal foundation shall be taken as one that extends 30 inches or less below the ground floor levels.

A separate computation in cubic yards, classified as to excavation, concrete, etc., is to be made for all foundations below normal, as defined.

A separate computation is to be made in a lump sum to cover the landscaping, outside fences, drives, walks, paving, etc.

Percentage of Areas:

The Architect's report to the Board shall include an accurate computation in percentage of the space allotted to the various parts of the building for which purpose the building shall be considered as composed of six main divisions as follows:

(a) Instruction
(b) Administration
(c) Stairs and Corridors
(d) Accessories
(e) Ventilating Flues
(f) Construction.

In estimating the allotment of space to these respective divisions, the total of the entire areas of all floors included within the confines of the outside of the building walls and projections shall be considered as represenitng 100 per cent., to which the sum of all division areas shall correspond.

In the division "Instruction" shall be included all areas used for class rooms, household arts, manual training, library, assembly room and gymnasium.

In the division "Administration" shall be included all areas used for offices, rest rooms, health supervision, toilets, coat rooms, supply rooms, janitor's rooms, the heating and ventilating equipment, and fuel storage.

In the division "Stairs and Corridors" shall be included all areas required for traffic inside the building, figuring the area occupied by each starway in each respective story in which same occurs.

In the division "Accessories" shall be included all areas used for lockers, showers, dressing rooms, play rooms, storage rooms, closets, unassigned spaces, etc., that do not have definite connection with either of the other main divisions.

In the division "Ventilating Flues" shall be included all floor areas in each story of the building required for the construction of the vertical ventilating flues. In estimating these areas, any fixed partition which is used for the back wall of a flue shall be figured as construction.

In the division "Construction" shall be included all areas required for the exterior walls and interior partitions in each story of the building.

EDUCATIONAL AND ADMINISTRATIVE REQUIREMENTS.

Class Rooms:

Each class room shall be designed to accommodate a maximum capacity of 40 pupils and its net dimensions shall be such as will meet the minimum requirement of 225 cubic feet of space per pupil according to the Indiana Sanitary Schoolhouse Law. The floor dimensions "desired" are 23 feet by 31 feet 6 inches.

The number of class rooms in the building shall be designated by the Superintendent of Schools at the time the Architect is commissioned to begin his preliminary studies .

No class room shall be located below the first story and each shall be lighted from windows placed in the outside wall on the long axis of the room, each group of windows to contain a free glass area of not less than one-sixth of the floor area with the glass 12 inches or less from the ceiling and not less than 48 inches from the floor.

Coat Rooms:

A coat room 4 feet 6 inches wide is "required" at one end of each class room, with an outside window and connection only with the class room. Two doors are "required," the width of each to be 3 feet 4 inches.

Wall rails for not less than 50 numbered coat and hat hooks shall be provided for each coat room, these to be spaced 8 inches on centers if in a single row and 9 inches on centers and staggered if in double rows.

A lavatory with hot and cold water is "desired" for each coat room.

Office:

A suite of rooms shall be provided for the principal consisting of a general office, a private office, toilet room and supply room. Entrance to the general office shall be from the corridor and to the supply room from the general office. These rooms shall be closely related to each other in plan and their location should be in the first story near a main entrance in order that outsiders may have direct and easy access to the principal's office.

It is "desired" that the principal's office be so placed as to overlook the playgrounds if possible.

STANDARD BASIS

Of Rental Rates for Equipment Under Consideration by Indiana Contractors.

A feature of the contracting business that is being considered by the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana, relates to a standardized rental schedule for contractors' equipment. Before this can actually be worked out there are many questions of policy that must be considered and decided; so that there may be a definite basis on which to work. For example, the rental rate on a steam shovel that is to be used on cost plus basis work, with a percentage paid on the rentals and current repairs charged to the job, may vary considerably from the rate at which the same shovel should be carried on the contractors' books on a lump sum contract.

EQUIPMENT POLICY OF ONE CONTRACTOR

In discussing some of the many points that inevitably come up in studying the subject of equipment rental, a member of a prominent contracting firm recently outlined the policy of his company regarding this and related matters. In most cases where equipment is rented, the work is on a cost-plus basis and the fixed fee or percentage paid the contractor does not depend upon the rentals. On some cost-plus work, however, the rental charges are included in the sum on which the percentage is paid, and in such cases, the rental rates quoted are reduced sufficiently to bring in approximately the same sum as when the profit fee is independent of the charges for use of equipment.

On lump sum contracts, no attempt is made to carry equipment rentals on the payroll for the job, but all charges against plant are handled in a separate account, and the proper share of the annual depreciation is charged to each contract. Equipment not in use is never rented to outside companies, so that no rental schedules have been prepared for that use.

VARIABLE DEPRECIATION CHARGED AGAINST PLANT

Depreciation is always a more or less uncertain element, so that the exact plan adopted for charging off depreciation is not of great importance so long as sufficient allowance is made for this item. Instead of the more common straight-line method of depreciating equipment, in which a constant percentage of the cost is charged off each year, the percentage depending upon the probable length of life of the machine, the firm referred to makes a variable allowance for depreciation from year to year.

PERCENTAGE CHARGED OFF VARIES WITH USAGE

The plan used has much to commend it, as to begin with, the percentage charged off annually is based on the book value of the piece of equipment so that normally the depreciation becomes less and less year by year, and the machine is always valued at some figured until scrapped. However, the percentage adopted for any particular year will vary with the usage to which the equipmentment has been subjected, and one year might be 30 per cent. and the next 20 per cent. A concrete mixer, then, worth $3,000 new, might be carried on the contractor's books at $2,100, after a year of hard service and at $1,680, which is $2,100 minus 20 per cent. of $2,100, a year later, if it was not used extensively the second year.

GREATEST DEPRECIATION FIRST YEAR

By this method the greatest depreciation is considered to occur the first year, provided the rate of usage is constant, and this is, of course, consistent with the fact that as soon as a new machine is used, it becomes second hand and ordinarily loses considerable of its sales value. Again, there are advocates of this method of handling depreciation on the ground that the depreciation charge plus the cost of repairs should be a constant value for each year that the piece of equipment is in use, and since repairs become heavier as the equipment becomes older, depreciation should decrease correspondingly. For the purpose of computing rental charges, however, difficulties are brought in by assuming a variable depreciation rate, since it is the average annual depreciation after all that would ordinarily be considered in fixing rentals.

CHARGE MADE FOR CALENDAR DAYS

As for the time basis on which payment is made, rental is paid for each calendar day between the date that the equipment is loaded at the storage house of the contractor and the date that it is loaded for return. Even on jobs lasting more than a year, no free time is allowed. Transportation charges both ways and all current repairs are also included in the sum paid to the contractor for the use of equipment.

With reference to small tools, the plan has been followed of charging these when new to the job, and then taking them back at a fair valuation when the contract has been completed. This was believed to be more satisfactory than charging a percentage on the payroll for the use of such tools.

Any comment, suggestion or information along the line of a detailed rental schedule for use of Indiana contractors will be welcomed.

INDUSTRIAL EXPANSION

Rounds Out a Successful Year for Michigan City Construction Forces.

How an active Chamber of Commerce, co-operation of business men, favorable labor conditions and harmony amongst the construction forces works to the advantage of a city was well demonstrated during the past year by the industrial expansion of Michigan City. The development there was as great, if not greater than any other municipality in Indiana.

An active campaign was launched a year ago to exploit the city's industrial possibilities in an endeavor to attract manufacturing concerns seeking advantageous locations. No bonuses were offered, instead, the natural facilities were advanced and the business and construction interests got behind the move and worked hard to put the campaign across to a successful conclusion.

The geographical location, lake and railroad transportation features, favorable housing facilities and harmonious labor conditions were all played up attractively, creating a strong appeal.

The result was that nine new factories have been built or, are in course of construction and will employ at least eight hundred people. There is another large project in prospect, a hundred-room hotel to cost $300,000, plans for which are now being formulated.

Construction interests early realized the possibilities of the proposed expansion and threw their efforts into the scheme with the result that contractors and craftsmen have enjoyed a good year.

ESSENTIAL

That all must Work and Co-operate if there is to be Prosperity.

Put one hundred men on an island where fish is a staple article of sustenance. Twenty-five of the men catch fish. Twenty-five others clean the fish. Twenty-five cook the fish. Twenty-five hunt fruit and vegetables.

So long as everybody works there is plenty. All hands are happy.

Ten of the allotted fish catchers stop.

Ten more dry and hide part of the fish they catch.

Five continue to catch fish, but work only part of the day at it.

Fewer fish go into the kitchen.

But the same number of men insist upon having the same amount of fish.

The fifty men who formerly cleaned and cooked the fish have less to do owing to the undersupply of fish. But they continue to demand food.

Gradually greater burdens are laid upon the fruit and vegetable hunters. These insist upon a larger share of fish in return for their larger efforts in gathering fruit and vegetables. It is denied them and soon twenty of the twenty-five quit.

But the entire one hundred men continue to insist upon their right to eat.

The daily food supply gradually shrinks. The man with two fish demands three bananas in exchange for one of them. The man with two bananas refuses to part with one for fewer than three fish.

Finally the ten men remaining at work quit in disgust. Everybody continues to eat. The hidden fish are brought to light and consumed. Comes a day when there is no food of any kind. Everybody blames everybody else.

What would seem to be the solution?

Exactly! We thought you would guess it.

For we repeat that you can't eat, buy, sell, steal, give away, hoard, wear, use, play with or gamble with what isn't.—From Chicago Herald and Examiner.

STANDARDIZED

Rest Room:

A rest room for the use of teachers shall be located where most convenient either in the first or second story, with toilet room attached. The toilet room shall contain two water closets and two lavatories. Provision shall be made for a hot plate, a cupboard for china, and wall space sufficient for one 15 inch metal locker for each ultimate class room teacher.

Health Supervision:

A suite of rooms in the first or second story for physical examinations and first aid use is "required," a location near the school office being "desired." This suite shall consist of a waiting room with entrance from the corridor and connecting with a smaller examination room and a toilet room. In the toilet room a water closet and a lavatory are to be placed and in the examination room, a special sink.

Household Arts:

Provision shall be made on the girls' side of the ground floor story for instruction in the domestic sciences, the allotment of space to this department to be equal in area to approximately three class rooms, the rooms "required" and their approximate areas to be as per the following schedule:

1 Sewing Room 1 Wardrobe and Locker Room 1 Fitting Room 1 Demonstration Bed Room "desired"	1¼ Units	3 Units
1 Lecture Room to seat 30 pupils at tablet arm chairs	½ Unit
1 Domestic Science Laboratory for 20 cooking units, with range flue 1 Wardrobe and Locker Room 1 Pantry 1 Demonstration Dining Room "desired"	1¼ Units

In this group, direct outside lighting need only be provided for the sewing, lecture, domestic science and locker rooms; indirect and artificial lighting may be used for the remaining rooms. Fireplaces, real or imitation, are "desired" for the demonstration bed and dining rooms.

Manual Training:

Provision shall be made on the boys' side of the ground floor story for instruction in manual training, the space allotment and arrangement to be similar to the household arts group, as per the following schedule:

1 Bench Room 1 Storage Room 1 Locker Room	1½ Units	3 Units
1 Lecture Room to seat 30 pupils at tablet arm chairs	½ Unit
1 Drafting Room 1 Locker Room 1 Storage Room	1 Unit

Assembly Room and Gymnasium:

A combined assembly room and gymnasium with a floor area of not less than 2,500 square feet shall be provided for every elementary school building of twelve or more class rooms, the size of this room to be so proportioned to the ultimate capacity of the building as will amply provide for seating at least 50 per cent. of the pupils in movable chairs at a single session. Adequate stage with dressing rooms, moving picture booth, and storage space for chairs and gymnasium apparatus are "required" and seating space from which spectators may witness gymnasium activities is "desired."

Separate shower, toilet, locker and dressing rooms for boys and girls connecting directly with the gymnasium are "required."

Direct exits to and entrances from the outside are "required" for this room, in addition to corresponding exits and entrances to and from the main building corridors. One of the functions of this room is to accommodate community gatherings and it should therefore be made easily accessible from the street and so arranged that it can be used independently of other parts of the building. Good vision lines and acoustic properties are "required" and special study and investigation thereof should be made by the Architect.

It should be remembered that in case the assembly room and gymnasium is not to be an integral part of the original building, its addition later shall be anticipated and it shall be so related to the building that its addition can be made without reconstruction thereof and to permit the building to be essentially complete in either form.

Library:

Space in the ground floor story equal to not less than 1½ class room units shall be reserved for library purposes, to which direct access from the outside shall be provided in addition to easy access from all parts of the main building. Separate toilet facilities for each sex in connection with this room are "desired."

Toilet Rooms:

Toilet rooms for each sex are "required" on each floor of the building.

For girls, each toilet room above the ground floor story shall contain two water closets and one lavatory; for boys, one water closet, one urinal and one lavatory. In addition to these fixtures, a slop sink shall be installed in one toilet room on each floor or, in case these toilet rooms are not centrally located, a slop sink in each.

The main toilet rooms shall be located in the ground floor story with particular reference to accessibility from the interior corridors and stairways and the outdoor playgrounds and complete segregation of the sexes. These rooms shall be well lighted and ventilated and of ample size to accommodate without crowding the installation of plumbing fixtures as prescribed by the State Board of Health, viz: one water closet for each fifteen girls or fractional part thereof; one water closet for each twenty-five boys or fractional part thereof; and one urinal for each fifteen boys or fractional part thereof. In estimating the number of water closets required, the maximum number of pupils which the building is to accommodate shall be divided 40 per cent. boys and 60 per cent. girls. In addition to the fixtures mentioned, there shall be installed in each of these toilet rooms four lavatories and one slop sink.

It should be remembered in determining the size and arrangement of the main toilet rooms that provision be made for the ultimate capacity of the building in case the plan contemplates future additions.

Play Rooms:

Such space as remains unassigned in the ground floor story and is available for the purpose shall be designated and finished as Play Rooms. Such rooms are "desired" but not "required" should the space be not available by reason of its allotment to other "required" uses.

Janitor's Room:

A janitor's supply and office room with outside window and connecting toilet, located in the ground floor story on the boy's side, is "required."

Heating and Ventilating:

Unless otherwise directed, no provision need be made in the building for special rooms for the accommodation of a mechanically operated system for the ventilation of the class rooms, as this will be accomplished by means of a direct-indirect or some other form of gravity ventilating system. A fan system may be used for the ventilation of the assembly room and gymnasium if the location of this room is such as to require it.

The boiler room and all necessary supplementary rooms shall be located in the first or original unit of the ultimate building in case future additions are contemplated and shall be of sufficient size to accommodate without crowding all equipment required for the completed building, inclusive of an assembly room and gymnasium. The floor of the boiler room shall be at a grade that will permit of direct gravity return of the condensation from the heating system.

The boiler room and service portions of the building to which admission is denied pupils shall be isolated as far as possible from those parts of the building used for instruction purposes and shall be thoroughly insulated and protected against the possibility of communicating sound, heat, dust or the possible shock of explosion to other parts of the building. Firedoors shall be provided to cut off this portion of the building from other adjacent parts. The smoke stack shall be of such height and cross-section as to insure proper draft and economical operation of the boilers.

A direct outside service entrance to the boiler room is "required," this to be of sufficient width and height to permit the entrance or removal of the largest single unit of mechanical or other equipment which may be installed in this portion of the building. Ample provision shall be made for the storage and removal of ashes and all door openings subject to heavy traffic shall be provided with cast iron sills and steel jam guards.

The fuel room shall have a capacity of not less than 100 tons of coal and shall be all or mainly below grade and covered at least in part with a concrete slab with cast iron rings and covers walled in for dumping in the coal directly from wagons or trucks.

Design and Construction.

Site and Location:

The character of the site and its surroundings shall be considered in the preliminary studies in their relation to the architectural treatment of the building and the selection of materials. Questions concerning the location of the building, grading, landscaping, play grounds, surface drainage, retaining walls, flag pole, walks, driveways, etc., shall be considered simultaneously with the preliminary studies and the Architect's recommendations covering these outside details shall be included as part of his preliminary reports to the Board.

General Building Requirements:

All new elementary school buildings, unless otherwise specially designated, shall be so designed that they can be built in units of eight, twelve and sixteen class rooms and be complete in either form. It is assumed that the assembly room and gymnasium will become a part of a building of twelve or more rooms.

In the absence of other instructions, each building shall be two stories in height above the ground floor story, the floor level of which shall in no case be more than 2 feet below the established surrounding grade, excepting only as may be necessary to accommodate the heating equipment and service portions hereinbefore mentioned.

All buildings shall be of a recognized standard type of fire proof construction throughout, with flat roofs, and exterior walls faced with brick and trimmed with Bedford stone or terra cotta.

MEETING

Of Indiana Society of Architects to be Held Early in December.

Tentative arrangements are being made for the regular semi-annual meeting of the Indiana Society of Architects at Indianapolis early in December. Invitations are to be extended to all Indiana architects to attend. The regular meeting date was to have been Dec. 27th, but since this is so near to Christmas, President E. Hill Turnock has proposed that the architects assemble on an earlier date, same to be announced in the near future.

Prest. Turnock is anxious to develop a strong architects' organization, one that will prove a real help and benefit to the profession; to that end he has urged the officers of the Society to bend their efforts for the discussion of live present day problems as they affect architectural practice.

An interesting and instructive programme that will appeal to all architects is being formulated, the main feature being to encourage co-operation and harmony amongst the Indiana architects.

Theodore Roosevelt once said, "Every man should give some of his time to the upbuilding of the profession to which he belongs." This suggestion should appeal especially to architects. If they would follow it there would be a manifestation of co-operation that would lead ultimately to a strong degree of harmony that would prove beneficial to all those of the architectural profession in Indiana. Is there an architect in the state who can not spare a little time for thought and action that would tend to the advancement of the profession?

BIG GATHERING

Of St. Joseph County Construction Forces Scheduled for South Bend.

South Bend's construction interests have been actively engaged during the past few weeks in perfecting an organization that will promote and foster the interests of that industry with the result that they secured the co-operation of one who is familiar with the various phases of the Building Industry and were successful in the establishment of an organization to be known as the Builders' and Traders' Exchange of South Bend and St. Joseph County.

The following call has been sent out to all the contractors and craftsmen of that vicinity:

"Some one must take the initiative, therefore, we are calling all the Building Industries to join with us and we are depending on you and your co-operation to make this a success.

If ever there was a time when concentration of energy combined with the strongest elements of decisive action and "Intelligent Co-operation" for the successful conduct of the Building Industry was needed, that time is "NOW."

Therefore the Chairman of the Committee on organization has been instructed to call a general meeting for the purpose of completing the organization of the Builders' and Traders' Exchange, when an informal dinner will be served at the Y. M. C. A. November 11th, at 6:30 p. m.

We have secured the following outside speakers who will speak on the necessity of Local, State and National Organizations: C. C. Pierson, Indianapolis; C. M. Craig, Chicago; O. C. Holtz, Chicago, W. J. Stewart Hyde, Gary.

As this meeting is one of vital importance to those interested in the Building Industry of South Bend and community, you are invited and urged to be present and participate in the selection of officers and appointment of Committies who are to be entrusted with the directions of the Builders' and Traders' Exchange of South Bend and St. Joseph County, Indiana."

Committee on Organization and Finance: H. C. Weaver, Hilton Hammond, C. P. Luxton, Stanley Cowles, H. L. Loehr, Frank Colip, Thomas L. Hickey.

CHANGES

In By-Laws Adopted by Gary Builders' and Traders' Exchange.

The Builders' and Trader's Exchange of Gary at a recent meeting adopted these amendments and additions to the By-Laws:

1st—Establishing the Advisory Board.
2nd—Adjustment of Fees and Dues by membership, and 2/10 of one per cent on all contracts including the time and material basis.
3rd—New form of Membership agreement.
4th—Bonding of all members.
5th—The Eight Cardinal Principles.
6th—Trade Agreements.
7th—Penalties for Violation of Wage Scale.

Since the above amendments were made the President through the advice of the members sent out the following notice:

"This is to notify you that owing to the supply and demand of building craftsmen, and since Gary is in the jurisdiction of Chicago, that the scale of wages effected by the Building Trades Employers Association of Chicago is working a hardship upon Gary contractors because the scale of wages adopted and in effect in Gary is lower than that paid in Cook County. This condition has caused a shortage of mechanics and labor in the Calumet District including Gary. In as much as such a condition prevails it has been deemed best to suspend the action on Penalties for Violation of Wage Scale under Article XXIII of the By-Laws until further notice."

BUILDERS' AND TRADERS' EXCHANGE,
By M. L. Maxon, President.

AROUND THE STATE

Charles H. Houck of Bluffton and Herbert Smenner of Muncie, have formed a partnership, and opened an architectural office, 123½ West Main St., Muncie. The new firm name will be known as Houck & Smenner.

Architects, E. E. Gault and Wilbur Kashner, Lafayette, have opened a temporary office at 104 S. 16th street. They will later open quarters in a central downtown location.

PROCEDURE

Recommended by Architects' Society when Architect's Services are Required.

The members of the Indiana Society of Architects discourage employment by competition. Unregulated competitions, free to all who happen along, do not bring out the better of the profession, as architects of standing will not, if their practice and clients require most of their attention, spend their time gratuitously or lay open their ideas which have required years to qualify and perfect.

We recommend the selection of an architect by his professional standing and qualifications, his ability to make drawings and write specifications, and is sufficiently organized in his office to give the owner the professional services for which he is commissioned.

The standing and qualifications of the architects can readily be ascertained by inquiries relative to the work they have done, and if new in the field, by their training and standing.

If the project is of such magnitude and the environments are such that it is considered advisable to have a competition for the selection of an architect, the Society recommends a regulated and professional competition as outlined in the code established by the American Institute of Architects.

The elements of this code are that a professional adviser (a disinterested architect or professor of Architecture) be employed by the Owner and a program for the project or building be made that all competing architects have the same information to work from and all competitive drawings be made uniform and submitted unsigned for examination by the Owners and professional adviser, and the one proving to be the best be selected and the architect, the author of the design, be given the commission of drawings, specification and supervision.

We do not recommend open competition to as many as may feel inclined to take a chance, but the selection of a limited number and pay each one such an amount that will justify his loss of time if not successful.

Although competitions are discouraged and much has been written to substantiate this position and argument, yet, it has been proven that regulated professional competitions have resulted satisfactorily.

Should a competition be necessary, correspondence is recommended with the secretary of the Indiana Society of Architects, Indiapolis, who will furnish such technical data that, if followed, will be acceptable to the architects willing to enter into competition.

An architect in private consultation with a prospective client may submit sketches for a given project; no other architect should be considered or permitted to submit sketches until the owner has taken definite action on the first sketches, since, as far as the second architect is concerned, a competition is established, and members of the Society knowingly doing this are violating the Canons of Ethics of the profession.

A competition exists when two or more architects prepare sketches at the same time for the same project.

The seeking out of a possible client and the offer to him of professional service on approval and without compensation, unless warranted by personal or previous business relations, tends to lower the dignity and integrity of the profession and is to be condemned.

STANDARDIZED

Schedule of Construction Requirements Adopted by School Commissioners.

General Building Requirements: (Continued)

The ground floor story height shall not be less than 12 feet; the height of the first and second stories shall be uniform throughout within the limits of 12 feet 6 inches and 13 feet and shall bear such relation to the floor area of the standard 40-pupil class room as will assure its cubical contents being at least 225 feet per pupil. All measurements shall be in the clear and projecting beams, girders or changes in ceiling levels should be concealed where possible, particularly in class rooms.

Entrances:

Entrances to the building are to be provided in number and size commensurate with its size and capacity. At least one entrance in addition to the stair entrances will be required. All step entrances shall be under cover, not more than two steps to be exposed without covering in any case. No entrance doors shall be exposed directly to the weather, protection in some form to be provided against sun and rain.

Special entrances shall be provided as hereinbefore mentioned to the assembly room and gymnasium, the library, and the service rooms.

Main entrances and exits shall not be of less width than the stairways or corridors which they serve. Double sets of doors the full width of entrance corridor, forming vestibule, are to be provided for each entrance to the first story.

Corridors:

The general arrangement of the corridors shall be such as to insure direct means of entrance and exit to and from all parts of the building without involved or intricate circulation.

A minimum width of 12 feet for a main corridor is "required" and this width shall be increased at stairways or other points where congestion might be anticipated or where a greater width may be necessary or desirable to properly proportion the corridor to the number of rooms which it is designed to serve. Narrow branch corridors are to be avoided where possible so to do.

All main corridors should have direct outside light at least to such extent as not to require artificial light under normal conditions.

Stairways:

Stairways should be separated as widely as the plan of the building permits and serve as centrally as possible a given unit or section of the building with the longest line of travel from any class room to a stairway not more than 50 feet. The number of stairways shall be governed by the size and shape of the building but at least one stairway for each group of six class rooms or fractional part thereof per floor shall be provided.

The width of all stairways shall be 5 feet or multiples of 5 feet and they shall be constructed in two runs to each story with platforms not less in width than the width of the stairs. Stairs with open wells are preferred where possible.

All stair construction shall be of reinforced concrete, steel or iron with terrazzo, slate or marble finish. No riser shall be over 6½ inches and the sum of the riser and tread shall not be less than 18 inches nor more than 20 inches. Balustrades may be either solid with molded wood caps or open of plain design in steel. The height of the balustrades shall be 3 feet 7 inches measured in line with the face of riser and on all balustrades and stair walls, including platforms, a 2 inch handrail 2 feet 3 inches above steps measured in line with the risers shall be provided.

Doors:

Main entrance doors are "required" to be in pairs, single acting and to swing out. These doors should be 1¾ inches thick and within the limits of 2 feet 8 inches and 3 feet 2 inches in width and 7 feet and 7 feet 6 inches in height. Stiles should be not less than 6 inches wide with 30 inch bottom rails. Glass should be ¼ inch polished wire glass set in wood muntins not to exceed 16 inches by 24 inches for any single light of glass. Pine, cypress or other stock not requiring veneers shall be used for all exterior exposed doors and the top and bottom edges shall be equipped with automatic exit devices in such manner that the doors cannot be locked on the inside.

One corridor door for each class room shall be provided, hung to swing into corridor clear of all projections. These doors shall be 1¾ inches by 3 feet 4 inches by 7 feet 0 inches of same stock as the interior wood finish, with polished wire glass panels set in wood muntins with stops screwed on, the glass to begin not nearer than 3 feet from the floor. Stationary transoms above these doors shall be used only if necessary to provide additional indirect lighting for the adjacent corridors.

Each class room door shall be equipped with 3 butts, one holding door check, one heavy pull and a cylinder lock on the corridor side, and a push plate and thumb latch on the room side.

Windows:

Excepting as may be necessary to make provision in certain buildings for fresh air rooms or when, in the judgment of the Board, windows of another type may be considered preferable, in which cases special directions will be given the architect, all windows shall be constructed with standard box frames for double-hung molded wood sash. All window openings inside shall have rounded plastered jambs and heads and the sills shall be of glazed brick, slate, terra cotta or other impervious material.

INTERIOR FINISH AND EQUIPMENT.

Floors:

Finished floors of a clear grade of white maple will be "required" for all class rooms, coat rooms, and other rooms throughout the first and second stories not otherwise designated. Similar floors shall be provided for the assembly room and gymnasium and in the ground floor story throughout the household arts and manual training units.

Finished floors of terrazzo or domestic quarry tile will be "required" for all corridors, including such corridors in the ground floor story as are used by the pupils. Similar floors of terrazzo or vitreous tile are "required" for all toilet rooms. These floors shall be finished with a 2 inch cove base where adjacent to glazed brick wainscoting and with a 6 inch sanitary base of same material where adjacent to plastered walls.

Cement finished floors and 6 inch sanitary base are "required" for all remaining portions of the ground floor story not otherwise designated, including the library, these to be treated with an approved liquid hardener or surfacer.

Walls:

The interior walls and partitions of all rooms and corridors throughout the building used for instruction or administrative purposes shall be plastered, excepting only where wainscots or other finish are designated. All door and window jambs and heads shall be rounded to a radius of 1½ inches and plastered.

Ceilings:

Preference will be given to stamped steel ceilings in all rooms and corridors used for instruction and administrative purposes. Plastering may be used elsewhere. In both cases, all ceiling angles shall be finished with coves of same material of not less than 6 inches radius.

Interior Brick Finish:

Salt glazed bricks are "required" for the following places:

Wainscots 4 feet 6 inches high for all corridors, entrances, stairways, and the pupils' toilet rooms in first and second stories.

PREPAREDNESS.

Unity, Object of Evansville Contractors that Spring Problems May Be Met.

Evansville's general contractors are keenly alive to the unsettled building conditions and are actively engaged in laying plans for the perfection of arrangements to meet the opening of the building season next Spring.

At a recent meeting of the General Contractors' Association there was a pervading atmosphere of optimism as regards the future. The prospects for a big year next season are bright, there being many large industrial and commercial projects in contemplation, plans for which, in some instances, have been started. Several large contracts have been awarded in the past few weeks and there is enough work under way to make a busy winter, weather permitting. If labor conditions are settled and prices stay within reason, there is the prospect for much home building next year.

The contractors in Evansville took up the idea of organization early for mutual protection and have established a strong and harmonious association. The matter of organization came up for discussion and President G. H. Bippus went into it in detail, setting forth the contractors' and builders' position and reason for organizing.

He said, "There has grown up a belief and that belief has been given impetus by unknowing people, that the contractors' association was organized for an ulterior purpose. This is not true of the contractors any more than of the Chamber of Commerce, the Retail Merchants' association, the Credit Men's association, or any other organizations of business men in the city. We are organized on the broadest possible lines, and for the exact purpose of harmonizing the craft of the city and being in harmony with the craftsmen. The Evansville contractor is aware that Evansville is growing rapidly, and if work is to be well done the contractor must have the best of skilled labor."

WORKING FOR HARMONY.

"If we are to have this skilled labor we will have to pay the price. For that reason this organization is broadening out to include every connection with the building trades so that when the next arrangement of the schedule of wages comes we can act concertedly, not only in our own interests but in the interests of the craftsmen. We expect to have the schedules of prices paid in the cities of the size of Evansville, and also of larger size, and when we sit down with the craftsmen we can show what we have, and he will have opportunity to confirm the figures we show. We are doing this in the interest of harmony, so that we can proceed along the lines of least resistance. We have never been together until now, and we believe that our employes as well as the public will see that we are on the right track."

ALL MUST AID

That General Spirit of Co-operation May Prevail in State Architects' Ranks.

Too long has a certain element amongst the Indiana architects shown a disposition to regard an architects ' association as an autocratic body composed of a few architects who set themselves up to dictate to the rest of the profession in the state. The result has been that the practice has drifted along with no concerted effort directed, by the architects as a whole, toward a general advancement of the profession. A few have sought to accomplish things only to find that their efforts had been in vain because they were not backed up solidly by the main body of architects.

There has been too much of an individualistic tendency exerted by the architects. Many have practiced solely with the idea of securing work regardless of the dignity and prestige that should attach to their calling. A prominent architect said recently, "The reason the architects are unable to accomplish anything collectively or get anywhere is because there is too much jealousy and selfishness in the ranks, each one is afraid the other will get 'the edge' on him."

That which is needed is co-operation and there can not be co-operation until selfishness is eliminated.

President E. Hill Turnock of the Indiana Society of Architects is awake to the requirements for the advancement of the profession in this state. He is desirous of eliminating the petty jealousy that exists in order that a community of interest may be established. He is anxious for all Indiana architects to exert an extra effort in an endeavor to attend the semi-annual meeting of the Society to be held in Indianapolis, Tuesday, Dec. 9th. Dinner will be served at the Chamber of Commerce at 12.30 p. m., to be followed by the meeting during the afternoon.

He regards the approaching meeting as of vital importance to the profession and desires to see a new interest created in the Society that will eventually redound to the benefit of each and every Indiana architect. Let every architect feel that it is his Society and come prepared to offer suggestions that will tend toward the upbuilding of the profession and the perfection of a strong organization, an organization that will back up the earnest, sincere architect in an honorable practice and second him when he raises his voice when public matters are discussed. Such an organization is not a selfish one for it deals with the factor of safety in construction, protects the public, and, if a live, active body, can educate the public to regard the architects as a necessity rather than a luxury.

The afternoon is to be given over to a discussion of live, present- day topics such as affect the profession. Among the subjects to be brought up are: Organization, Co-operation and Harmony, The Admitting of Draftsmen to Membership in the Society, The Compiling of a List of Draftsmen Throughout the State and Their Qualifications, (this list to be used by architects when in need of help) Harmony between Architect and Contractor, Legislative Suggestions, Business Methods, and Other Matters of Interest.

ENTHUSIASM

Over Organization Idea Shown at Meeting of South Bend Contractors.

Each week brings forth the evidence that Indiana contractors are rapidly realizing the need for organization, in order to create a harmonious atmosphere in contracting circles that will work for the protection of these interests.

Indianapolis, Evansville, Fort Wayne, Gary, Hammond, Terre Haute and Vincennes instituted contractors' associations and now comes South Bend and St. Joseph County with a promising organization to join the list.

There was a large and enthusiastic outpouring of St. Joseph County construction men at South Bend, November 11th in response to a call for a dinner and "get-together" meeting at the Y. M. C. A. for the purpose of completing the organization of a Builders' & Traders' Exchange, the adoption of a constitution and By-Laws, the election of officers and the appointment of various committees.

The main discussions of the evening dealt with the necessity for organization by contractors. They were led by C. M. Craig, of the National Association of Building Trades Employers, and O. C. Holtz, both of Chicago, who spoke along the lines of national organization; C. C. Pierson, Indianapolis, secy. of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana, who dwelt upon the state organization of contractors and W. J. Stewart Hyde, secy. of the Gary Builders & Traders' Exchange, who touched upon the advantage of local organization.

BUILDING OPERATIONS

Continue Active as Evidenced by Permit Returns from over the State.

Reports from the building inspection offices of six of Indiana's larger cities reveal the fact that construction work for the month of October still maintained the impetus gained earlier in the season. Despite the steel strike, the volume of business exceeded that of September, while the total estimated valuation was considerably in excess of the figures returned for the same period. There was a large gain over both the volume of business and valuations recorded in October, 1918, 100% more permits being issued in October 1919, while the estimated valuations showed a gain of over 700%.

LIVE TOPICS

To Succeed Stereotyped Discussions at Indiana Achitects' Meeting.

Indiana architects, if you have any grievances relative to the practice of architecture as pursued in Indiana or have been fostering some suggestion that might tend toward its improvement and advancement, prepare to visit Indianapolis, December 9th, to attend the semi-annual meeting of the Indiana Society of Architects and air your opinions. Any and all topics along this line will be welcomed.

The approaching meeting is not to be restricted to the membership of the Society, instead, it is to be open to all Indiana architects. It is to be a "get-together" meeting for the purpose of ironing out misunderstandings and establishing a broad all incorporating spirit of harmony and co-operation such as is indulged in and practiced by other professional organizations, medical, legal and engineering societies.

AIM OF PRESIDENT

President E. Hill Turnock writes: "We want all the architects of Indiana at this meeting if it is possible to get them together. I deem this meeting of vital importance and am arranging for a discussion of live, present-day, topics that a new virile spirit may be instilled into the Society that it may become an aggressive body in which the Architects will have faith and to which they can look for support and inspiration in the pursuit of honorable practice.

"Ethics has been an overworked subject and should have a rest, therefore, let us get down to real, live stuff from which we have to make our living."

That is the spirit and aim of the President of the Indiana Society of Architects and all State architects who have the interest of the profession at heart, owe it to themselves and the profession to encourage him and lend their aid for the accomplishment of this high, yet commonsense purpose.

Give a little time to the upbuilding of the architectural practice, meet your fellow architects in the cause of a mutual interest, perfect a real organization based upon a clear understanding, inspire the other fellows's faith, stand together. In the end fees, ethics, service, methods of practice and all such pother, to which so much attention has been directed to little avail, will readjust and take care of itself.

There must and always will be competition among the architects. That is as it should be to bring out the best there is. It encourages and makes for progress, but let it be honorable competition, not a handicap affair. Don't belittle or ignore the embryo or struggling architect, encourage him to strive for higher levels, create in him a respect for his profession. Many a young architect has started out with high resolves only to be sorely disappointed on learning later that some of the architects, in whom he had placed an idealistic faith, were not living up to the doctrines that they preached.

BUILD FOR RESPECT AND POWER

Why not wash the slate clean and make a new beginning December 9th? Build up a real organization, one that will command respect, one whose voice will demand attention when raised in public councils. Eliminate the idea that now prevails among certain architects that a caste has been created by a few self-appointed architects. If there is to be selfishness, deceit, discord and caste in architectural circles in Indiana, the Indiana Society of Architects can get nowhere, it will be an organization in name only, rather than an organic whole with the power to accomplish things.

Each Indiana architect should contribute his share to the furthering of his calling; protect his interest by protecting and encouraging the interest of the whole body of architects.

The time has come to give thought to organization that the interests of the architect may be preserved. Doctors, lawyers, engineers, in fact, all the professions have organized for advancement, a closer understanding, and mutual protection. In the construction field, the craftsmen have been organized for years and now the contractors are forming associations of local, state and national scope. Why not the architect?

PURPOSE AND SCOPE

Of Organization Among Contractors Outlined at South Bend.

Though the contracting industry is one of the largest in the United States, it is one of the least organized. Such was the assertion of O. C. Holtz, of Chicago, who spoke along the lines of national organization of contractors to the members of the newly established Builders' & Traders' Exchange at South Bend.

He said all the craftsmen were organized and had been for years as a means of protection, yet the contractors have gone along blindly playing lone hands and fighting their battles individually or in little isolated groups. The time has come for the contracting interests to join hands and effect an organization that will work to the mutual benefit of the industry. Such a formation, he pointed out, was not for the purpose of opposing or antagonizing the Unions, but for collective bargaining that the two might deal mutually and thus preserve the interests of each to the best advantage.

To be effective, all members of such an organization must make up their minds to take an active part in its advancement. Its object is mutuality and the contractor who fails to recognize this fact and says he can not afford to join had better quit contracting and go back to the tools where he can make money these days.

A national organization of contractors is to the individual contractor what the National Government is to the individual citizen. A State association is as the State government to the citizen. The citizen looks to his State for protection and liberty, and the State looks to the National Government for force and counsel when needed. Just so works the State and National organizations of contractors, both of which are rapidly growing.

LOCAL ORGANIZATION

The workings of local contractors organizations were elaborated upon by W. J. Stewart Hyde, secretary of the Builders' & Traders' Exchange of Gary. He sought to impress upon the South Bend contractors, who have just organized, that they must continually work for a purpose in order to accomplish things. The purpose must be based on the principle of mutuality and they must pull hard for the best means to advance the common interest. In order to attain their goal, all members must put their shoulders to the wheel and push, for the individual will get no more from the organization than he puts in to it. Mr. Hyde here referred to the colored parson who dropped a quarter into the contribution box and when it came back his quarter was all that was in it. As he put the quarter in his pocket a little colored boy said, "Pahson, you should have put a half dollah or a dollah in that box then you would have got more out of it."

Mr. Hyde told the contractors there was hard work before them, that to get anywhere would require much action, lots of red-blood and a leader with ideas.

It was pointed out to those present that the local association bore the same relation to the contractor as did the city government to the individual citizen. The former protects the latter and looks to the State for backing when needed. Thus the local association backs up the contractor, the State association backs up the local and the National organization of contractors throws its support behind them all.

PUBLICITY

Publicity as a means for an interchange of ideas and keeping in touch with the workings of other contractors' associations about the State was explained to the Exchange members by John H. Owens, district news manager of the Indiana Construction Recorder. He set forth the aim and purpose of the publication, how, by its close relationship to the various contractors' associations through its office as official organ, it was enabled to disseminate information pertaining to moves made by and advocated by the construction forces all over the State. Through its column the building interests can keep in touch with the construction organizations and activities in all sections of the State, keep posted on new building laws and regulations, material market quotations, wage scales and send out messages for the improvement of the industry.

This was the first called meeting of the new South Bend Exchange and eighty contractors responded, entering enthusiastically upon the new venture. The constitution and by-laws were adopted and the following officers elected: President, Hilton Hammon; Vice-President, Thomas L. Hickey; Secretary, O. D. Davis; Treasurer, C. P. Luxton.

Dinner was served at the Y. M. C. A., at which John A. Lungstrum acted as toastmaster. Among the guests of the evening were L. B. Snowden, treasurer of the Gary Builders' & Traders' Exchange and Joseph Ruffin, also of Gary.

IMPORTANT

All architects contemplating attending Meeting of the Indiana Society of Architects, Indianapolis, December 9th, please notify Architect Merritt Harrison, 500 Board of Trade Bldg., Indianapolis, so that dinner reservations can be made accordingly.

INFORMATION SOUGHT

Contemplating Spring Wage Demands, Contractors Desire Scale Data.

Realizing that the different craftsmen are preparing to make new wage demands next Spring, members of the Evansville Contractors' Association have decided to secure data from the various cities of Indiana as to wages paid the building trades about the State.

The object is to be in a position to gauge the reasonableness of the demands made upon the employers. Heretofore the contractors have gone into wage discussions more or less blindly and at a disadvantage. Now it is the intention of the contractors to ask all parties to lay their cards on the table and a bargain struck from that angle.

Following is the letter sent out:

Dear Sir:

The Evansville contractors and sub-contractors have appointed a committee to secure information on which to base an agreement with the different trade organizations for 1920.

All our existing agreements between contractors and journeymen expire Jan. 1st and April 1st, 1920.

We are not looking for information with which to fight the unions, but information that will enable us to make an agreement that will not only be satisfactory to the unions and ourselves locally, but equally fair to our neighboring communities.

With this in mind we have attached a questionaire asking for certain information which we hope you can and will contribute. If, in return, we can be of any help, we shall be very glad to do so.

We thank you in advance for any information you may send. Yours truly,

GENERAL CONTRACTORS ASSOCIATION.
(Signed) A. J. Hoffman, Secretary.

EXEMPLIFIED

How Co-operation Operates when Architect and Contractor are in Harmony.

An incident recently came to our attention relative to a building operation in Indiana that fully illustrates just to what extent harmonious relations between the architect and contractor may operate and the possibilities for the mutual development of interests in a cultivation of such relations.

For obvious reasons neither names of the persons involved, or the locality can be mentioned. The details of the transaction were mentioned with no idea of its being given general publicity. However, there was a latent value in the recitation that was too good to be covered up, it merited repetition for the benefit it might implant in other localities.

There was a large new school house up for consideration. A local architect called upon the Board of Education, a body which included in its membership a doctor, a lawyer and a banker. He was told that they did not mean to disparage his ability but they considered the project beyond him and were contemplating the employment of an architectural firm from a large city who made a specialty of school house construction. No argument availed the architect, though he had built any number of large structures. The Board seemed set on employing a firm with a national reputation.

By chance, the architect, on his way home, met several general contractors in a group, and in his disappointment, unburdened himself. Then things happened. The contractors knew the firm of architects contemplated for employment and realized they would call in contractors from the large city for figures which in all probability would entail subcontractors from outside. This would leave little for the local men if the outside contractors were successful in bidding off the work.

The contractors took the matter up with their local contractors' association who saw the light and sent a delegation to call on the School Board. The professional gentlemen and banker were informed that the building fraternity, to a certain degree, had at various times contributed to their incomes, that as taxpayers the architects and contractors had an interest in the new school building and a right to have a voice in the matter. It was called to the attention of the Board that there were plenty of architects in Indiana fully competent to handle this building and that it was not necessary to go outside of the State to secure architectural services. Furthermore, there were competent architects in the county who could prepare such plans as were desired, and the city in question possessed architects fully up to the requirements. The contractors made it plain that they were not trying to designate any particular architect for selection, but, they insisted upon the employment of an Indiana architect.

What was the result? The Board reconsidered the matter and looked over the local field, to at last call in the architect they had politely turned down. After they had looked over his work, and investigated his practice, they employed him. He acknowledged he was surprised at their reversal of action and it was not till some weeks later that he learned the cause for it. He had been left in the dark relative to the workings of the contractors' association.

Several of the contractors, when approached on the subject said all they desired was consideration for the local building interests, feeling they deserved first call.

Plans for the school are now under way and everyone seems satisfied; the architect, because he secured the commission; the contractors, for they have the utmost faith in the architect retained owing to previous dealings with him; the Board, for it made a thorough investigation and is convinced of the competency of the local architect.

This is a concrete sample of how harmony works between the architect and contractor. Each has his own sphere, yet, their interests commingle and can be furthered by co-operation.

WHY?

Reasons Enumerated for Contractor Joining Builders' Organization.

It is easily understandable why Hammond has a live contractors' association for E. E. Cole, Secretary, not only impresses with his arguments but believes in sending them home. To this end he not only employs upon his business card an introduction, but also eight good reasons why a contractor should become a member of the Building Trades Employers' Association.

They are these:

1. To provide an accurate record of men engaged in the contracting business, who are truly representatives and further to protect them against disreputable contractors.
2. To provide united action through a central body for collective bargaining between employers and employes.
3. To arrange trade agreements that will insure no stoppage of work during the building season.
4. To prevent strikes and lockouts and adjust all trade disputes by arbitration.
5. To insist in the keeping of all trade agreements, both in letter and spirit.
6. To provide just and equitable relationship between employers and employes.
7. To discourage unfair methods of taking and letting contracts, thereby insuring a square deal to all members.
8. To inculcate better fellowship and a more co-operative spirit between all contractors who are members.

CO-OPERATION

Sought Between Architect and Contractor by Architects' Society.

An endeavor to create a better understanding, a broader harmony and a more co-operative spirit between the architect and the contractor in the state is to be made by the Indiana Society of Architects that these two important elements in the building industry may be drawn closer together in the interest of greater efficiency.

The need for such action has been apparent for some time to President E. Hill Turnock of the Society and is to be made one of the features of the architects' meeting at Indianapolis, December 9.

That the contractors endorse the "get together" proposal and are willing to meet the architects half way is evidenced by the following correspondence that passed between the presidents of the Architects' Society and the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana.

Elkhart, Ind., Nov. 13, 1919.

Mr. A. J. Hoffman, President,
Associated Building Contractors of Indiana,
Evansville, Ind.

Dear Sir—The Indiana Society of Architects will hold its semi-annual meeting at Indianapolis on the 9th of December and it is my policy to endeavor to make this meeting as practical as possible. With this idea in mind I shall be very pleased if you could attend this meeting, as our guest, and give us a little talk on the relations between contractors and architects; not one that glosses over the difficulties, but a talk straight from the shoulder hitting these points hard.

In the practice of architecture there are many inconsistencies that creep in, demanding much from the contractor in the execution of his work that is not just, and that cause dissention. There is always a right way to settle these matters; can you not point out the way from the contractor's viewpoint?

If, for any reason, it should not be possible for you to be with us, will you not extend this invitation to any one of the officers or prominent members of your association who will handle this subject before us without gloves? While I am president of our society, it is my earnest endeavor to bring about complete harmony and co-operation between your association and our society so as to eliminate many of the misunderstandings that exist.

Trusting that I may have the pleasure of a personal acquaintance and friendship with you, I am,

Yours very truly,
(Signed) E. HILL TURNOCK,
President, Indiana Society of Architects.

Mr. Hoffman's Reply:

Evansville, Ind., Nov. 15, 1919.

Mr. E. Hill Turnock, President,
Indiana Society of Architects,
Elkhart, Ind.

Dear Sir—Beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter of Nov. 13, and in reply wish to state that I shall be very pleased to accept your invitation to meet the members of your society at their semi-annual meeting in Indianapolis, Dec. 9.

It will indeed be a pleasure to have the opportunity of making a few remarks before your body at that time and I shall be glad to avail myself of this opportunity of giving the contractors' viewpoint in relationship to the architect.

I am very much impressed with that part of your letter in which you express a desire to bring about complete harmony and co-operation between the members of your association and those of our association, and anything that our association or its officers can do to further promote a more co-operative spirit between us will surely be a pleasure.

Thanking you very kindly for this invitation and trusting to have the honor of meeting yourself and the other members of your society at that time with whom I am not acquainted personally, I beg to remain,

Respectfully yours,
(Signed) A. J. HOFFMAN,
President, Asso. Bldg. Contrs. of Ind.

This is a new tact by the society and should prove of interest to all Indiana architects. It is only one of the innovations that President Turnock proposes to introduce into the workings of the architects' organization in order to get down to a live working basis, one that will inspire a real interest among those of the profession and create the impression that the society has a real mission to perform for the architect.

LUMBER PRICES

Show Slight Flurry With Declines Ruling on Some Grades.

Quite a few changes in lumber quotations in the Indianapolis market are to be noted this week in comparison with recent prices listed in the Recorder. All grades are affected, more or less. Rough lumber held steady with but one variation.

Prices quoted on boards, bevel siding and maple flooring ruled stronger as a whole though certain grades showed slight declines. Yellow pine drop-siding, finish and flooring eased up, a downward trend being noticeable. Cypress, ruling strong, displays sharp price advances on all grades with lath considerably higher and almost unobtainable.

Dealers still refuse to quote any prices on oak flooring owing to depleted stocks, uncertain deliveries and the inability to secure definite information as to when the mills will be able to handle orders.

EFFORT MADE

To Accomodate State Architects Who are Limited for Time

In making arrangements for the semi-annual meeting of the Indiana Society of Architects, the officers endeavored to plan things so that all architects of the state could attend and return to their various homes that night, if need be. It was figured that all architects could reach Indianapolis in time for dinner at 12:30 P. M., at the Chamber of Commerce. Following the dinner the meeting is to be called to order immediately so that all business can be transacted and cleared up in time for the visiting architects to catch evening trains home if they so desire.

President Turnock, in a recent letter to the management of the Recorder, said: "In your calls upon architects, who are not members of the society, impress upon them that we WANT them to come to the meeting, that we must have them, one and all, upon our rolls in order to make this organization have any weight and influence in the state."

If you are an architect in Indiana and really are interested in the welfare of your profession you should visit Indianapolis, Dec. 9, if possible, and lend your influence to make the Architects' Society a real live organization that will encourage better edifices, better building laws and regulations and better conditions in the construction field.

FRAUD

Practiced on Indiana Architect Whose Sympathy is Aroused.

That other Indiana architects may not be imposed upon and may be on their guard against a certain sob-story that has been used by a stranger, working in the state, who claims to be a draftsman, we have been asked to issue a warning.

A man about 40 years old, emaciated, called upon a certain Terre Haute architect and asked for employment. He gave the name of Harry Barton, said he had been an architectural draftsman but had quit to join a Canadian Aviation Unit when the war broke out. Then followed a description of the service seen in France in which he was wounded and gassed.

When he had been sent back to this country, upon recovery, he set forth for the West, seeking to get away from the hurly-burly of the larger Eastern cities. According to his story, his travels led to Indianapolis where he claimed to have been employed by a prominent architectural firm, but he said the strain and noise was too much for him, that was why he moved on to a smaller place.

His story was so straight-forward and vivid that the Terre Haute architect was eager to extend a helping hand to the supposedly unfortunate soldier and offered him a position. He seemed delighted and said he would notify his wife who was still in Indianapolis. He suggested that he have her join him and requested financial assistance for that purpose. Twenty dollars was advanced, following which action he hurried away and has not been heard of since. All this occured several weeks ago.

Subsequent investigation has revealed the fact that no Harry Barton had ever been employed by the Indianapolis architectural firm mentioned by the stranger. A man of similar description had called at the Indianapolis office, told the same story and was offered a position immediately. However, he claimed he could not go to work at once as his wife was ill and needed his attention that afternoon. He asked for some financial assistance as a temporary loan. The Indianapolis firm said they were not accustomed to such a practice but would make arrangements for him and his wife at one of the best hotels so they both would have shelter and meals and need not worry. This did not seem to suit, the applicant hurried out and had not been heard of since until the Terre Haute incident was mentioned.

CALL ISSUED

For Board Meeting of Associated Building Contractors of Indiana.

There will be an important meeting of the Board of Directors of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana at Indianapolis, December 9, a call for which has just been issued by Secretary C. C. Pierson.

Reports are to be made on the success, so far attained, relative to the organization of local contractors' associations. Plans are also to be taken up for increasing the membership of the State A. B. C. The associations at Indianapolis, Evansville, Vincennes and Muncie are enrolled in the State Association, while Hammond, Gary, South Bend and Terre Haute are planning to join the larger body in the near future.

At the approaching board meeting tentative plans are to be discussed for the purpose of making arrangements for the annual convention of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana which is scheduled for Indianapolis in January, the date not having, at this time, been definitely decided.

President A. J. Hoffman of the State Association has been invited to address the semi-annual meeting of the Indiana Society of Architects at Indianapolis next week. He will speak from the viewpoint of the contractor in discussing the relations between the contractors and architects.

An effort is being made to bring the architects and contractors closer together that harmony may be created and many of the prevailing, annoying, misunderstandings may be eliminated.

ALL READY

Final Plans Announced for Assemblage of State Architects' Society.

Arrangements have been completed, after much effort and consultation on the part of the officers of the Indiana Society of Architects, for the meeting of the Indiana architects at Indianapolis, December 9, that should go far toward making this the most interesting gathering ever held by the members of the profession.

President Turnock and his executive staff are eager to interest all Indiana architects in the organization, to convince them, one and all, that the society has a mission and is in the field to do, not merely to propose and talk. To that end a diversified program has been mapped out covering topics of vital interest to the architect.

The meeting, which is to be held at the Chamber of Commerce, is to be preceded by dinner, to be served at 12:30 p. m., for which the following menu is announced:

Blue Points
Celery and Olives
Petit Roast Pig with Entourage
Cranberry Sauce. Candied Yams
Mashed Potatoes
New String Beans
Head Lettuce Salad with Thousand Island Dressing Brick Ice Cream Cake
Cigars and Cigarettes

Dinner over, President Turnock will call the meeting to order and the remainder of the afternoon will be devoted to the following:

Program of Meeting

President's Address, E. Hill Turnock.

Relations between Architects and Contractors, A. J. Hoffman, President, Associated Building Contractors of Indiana.

The War Memorial, Scott Brewer.

Uniform Cost and Bookkeeping System for the Architect, Merritt Harrison.

Report on Indiana Society Handbook, F. F. Haskell.

Heating and Ventilating, L. A. Snider.

Quantity Survey as Relative to Mill and Lumber, George Maas.

Regular order of business of the I. S. A.

All Indiana architects are urged to be present. Never was there a more propitious time for the architects to come to a mutual understanding and agreement relative to methods of practice and a ways and means to promote the advancement of the profession.

The Spring with a tremendous building prospect looms in the offing and now has the moment arrived for the architects to get together, talk things over, and prepare for the handling of the heavy volume of business that will descend upon them in the next few months.

It seems most apropos of the occasion to insert these lines taken from the Monthly Bulletin of the Illinois Society of Architects:

CO-OPERATE
On Principle.

Only by sticking together in every Possible way may we Each obtain the benefit bound to Result from United effort.
Always keep in mind
The fact that no one is Entirely independent.

WORKING BASIS

Recently Adopted by the Gary Builders' and Traders' Exchange.

The Eight Cardinal Principles upon which the Gary Builders' and Traders' Exchange operates are as follows:

1. There that there shall be no limitation as to the amount of work a man shall perform during his working day.

2. That there shall be no restriction of the use of machinery or tools.

3. That there shall be no restriction of any raw or manufactured material except prison made.

4. That no person shall have the right to interfere with workingmen during working hours.

5. That the use of apprentices shall not be prohibited.

6. That the foreman shall be selected by and be the agent of the employer.

7. That all workmen are at liberty to work for whomsoever they see fit.

8. That all employers are at liberty to employ and discharge whomsoever they see fit. (Adopted Oct. 21, 1919.)

ACTIVITY

In Indiana Construction Field Slows Up According to Permits Returns.

The customary late season building let up makes itself apparent in the permits returns for November, from the various building inspection departments of the larger cities about Indiana. When compared with the October figures for the same territory, quite a decrease is noticeable, the total from six cities barely overtopping the estimated valuation turned in in October by Indianapolis alone.

However, this is but a natural slump due to the closing in of winter and the hesitancy of owners to begin new projects late in the Fall, they preferring to lay the work over and start operations in the early Spring. Especially is this true, with regard to residence and apartment construction. The uncertainty attached to the securing of materials owing to decreased production has had a retarding effect, otherwise, the probability is that all building would have continued active because of the great demand for housing facilities, all sections reporting a great scarcity. High prices for a time held things back but people had reached the point where they seemed to realize that there was no hope for relief in that direction soon, and quite a few projects held up earlier in the season were finally started at even higher prices than prevailed a few months previously.

Industrial work has held up well, in fact, it is this class of work that has made it possible to keep the building crafts busy. In November, Indianapolis, Gary, Ft. Wayne, Evansville and South Bend all came through with many new factories or extensive additions.

Even with a falling off of new work started in November this year, the permits issued far exceeded those issued for the same period in 1918, while the total estimated valuation reported in 1919 more than doubled the figures recorded last year.

The comparative figures for November 1918 and 1919 follow:

City	Permits	Valuation	Permits	Valuation
Evansville	79	$ 70,386	23	$ 6,913
Gary	44	219,230	95	383,800
Indianapolis	472	600,718	246	203,702
Richmond	17	65,756	15	7,600
South Bend	192	382,439	44	53,380
Terre Haute	38	83,350	28	15,940

NEW FEATURE

Along Social Lines Under Consideration by Indianapolis Architects' Association.

A scheme has been proposed at Indianapolis in architectural circles that, if it materializes, should work for co-ordination and create a strong spirit of co-ordination in this sphere of endeavor. Philadelphia has her famous Square Club where architects and draftsmen meet and mingle on the level, are inspired by a common interest and where has grown up a great fraternal spirit that has worked to the good of the profession.

Similar in scope is the move now under contemplation by the Indianapolis Architects' Association. A committee composed of Wilson B. Parker, Herman Scherrer and Fermor S. Cannon has been appointed to formulate plans and report at the January meeting on the advisability of the proposition.

It has been proposed to reorganize the old Indianapolis Architectural Club composed of the draftsmen employed in Indianapolis architects' offices and have its members meet every other month, beginning in February, with the Architects' Association for a social sesion.

The idea, when broached met with instant favor and enthusiasm. The committee was appointed to arrange details and report on the matter at the next meeting.

At the annual election of officers of the Indianapolis Architects' Association, the following were named:

Wilson B. Parker, President.
Herbert Foltz, Vice-President.
Wilbur Shook, Secretary.

And in addition to the above, H. Scherrer and Fermor S. Cannon, members of the Board of Governors.

There was an enthusiastic meeting of the Indiana Society of Architects at Indianapolis, Tuesday, and much was proposed that should lead to more united action by the architects for the advancement of the profession.

President E. Hill Turnock advocated many new moves looking to the welfare of the Society and the extension of its influence. This policy of expansion and activity was well received by the large number of architects from all over the State who were in attendance.

Owing to the effort to conserve fuel which necessitated restrictions on industrial activities we were forced to go to press early and were unable to give a detailed report of the meeting this week. However, we shall do so in the issue of December 20.

BUILDING MEN

To Meet in Annual National Convention at Indianapolis in January.

While the Indianapolis Building Contractors' Association, formerly known as a Builders' Exchange, is the only organization in Indiana affiliated with the National Association of Builders' Exchanges, nevertheless, there will be much of interest to the Indiana construction industry to be transacted at the annual convention of the national body to be held at Indianapolis, January 13, 14 and 15.

It will be one of the most important conventions ever held by the National Association of Building Exchanges, and a large attendance of delegates from all over the country is expected in view of the fact that the various and complex problems facing the builders today will come up before the convention.

Besides the regular committee reports there will be reports of the national board of jurisdictional awards, and discussions on legislative and financial matters. There will also be a comprehensive report on the move inaugurated to establish a National Association of Building Trade Employers.

The secretaries of associations affiliated with National Association of Builders Exchanges will hold a conference.

Group conferences of the various co-related interests will also be held.

The time for co-ordinated effort is at hand.

The building industry, which is second only to agriculture, must continue its efforts to obtain maximum results.

This convention will be a meeting of business men to transact business and discuss business.

In addition to the regular business sessions, there are to be various social and entertainment diversions.

Indianapolis is preparing for a large gathering and is arranging a splendid program for the entertainment of her guests.

NOTICE

To Members of the Builders and Traders Exchange of Gary.

You are earnestly invited and requested to attend an informal dinner to be given by the members of the BUILDERS' and TRADERS' EXCHANGE at the hour of 6:30 P. M., Tuesday, December 16th. Please call the Secretary, telephone 1479 at once, and make reservation at the Exchange Rooms, as same must be secured not later than December 13th.

There are important matters to be discussed at this meeting and a full attendance of members of the Exchange is desired. One of the chief items of interest to be considered relates to the action of the revised and amended By-Laws adopted October 21st, whereby the Exchange is to be operated under the management of an Advisory Board, the membership of which is made up of men from the different crafts within the EXCHANGE.

AROUND THE STATE

Architects J. Elder Blackledge and Edward H. Wigham have formed an architectural partnership and opened offices at 422 Indiana Pythian Building, Indianapolis. Both are graduates of the University of Pennsylvania. Mr. Blackledge was connected with Philadelphia architectural firms and was also employed in various Indianapolis architects' offices. Mr. Wigham was formerly with Mellor, Meigs and Howe, Philadelphia, high-class residence architects. This is the class of work to which the new firm will cater and are desirous of securing building material catalogues and samples.

Construction Employers Adopt Recorder as Official Organ.

Anxious to keep in touch with the construction organizations and activities about Indiana and to keep its members posted along those lines, the Board of Directors of the Building Trades Employers Association of the Calumet District, Hammond, Ind., unanimously adopted the Indiana Construction Recorder, as its official organ and backed up its action by sending in subscriptions to include every member of the Association.

The jurisdiction of the organization embraces Hammond, Whiting, East Chicago and Indiana Harbor and hereafter the Recorder will print a separate Hammond page that each week will carry all official notices and news of the Association relative to meetings and organization activities.

When the Association was conceived it attracted the attention of the various BIG building men of the Calumet District who realized the strength of union. They took hold of the proposition with a will and worked hard that it might materialize into a great benefit to the building interests. They realized the advantage of harmony, of organizing for protection, of presenting a solid front to meet the problems that were continually arising. Nor has the effort been in vain; from a mere handful of men the membership has grown to over a hundred and the end it not yet for those of the Association are still working, continually extending the influence of the organization. They are working along definite lines from a plan, as it were, and they will not be satisfied until their membership roll registers 100% of those employers engaged in the construction industry in that section of Indiana.

The Association has a strong constitution and set of By-Laws, is imbued with enthusiasm, is financially strong and through the untiring efforts of its officers is one of the foremost organizations in the State. It brooks no injustice, is fair in its dealings with labor, in fact, protects all interests impartially.

It is just another example what a definite plan, a determined purpose and fair play can accomplish.

BUILDING BY PLAN

Hammond Follows Construction Idea in Upbuilding of City.

Suppose a manufacturer desired to build a plant would he say to a contractor—

"Get busy and order your brick, steel and cement. I am going to build a factory. How big I don't know; I will settle that after you start the work. The excavating will be started next week. You need not let that stand in your way—put in your order for material."

Would he say to the carpenter contractor—

"Order your lumber, window and door frames, I am about to begin to get ready to build a factory. How much lumber and what kind?"

"That makes no difference, I will settle that afterwards."

Would he say to the plumber—

"You look after the heating and water system. Order material now. I can't give you specifications but that makes no difference—order?"

Would he order electrical supplies on the same basis? Would he hire painters and decorators, if he could not specify what they were to do?

No!—On your life he would not. He would first make a plan.

God made the world after a plan. We are creatures of nature's plan. All things must be fashioned after a plan. You can't build a factory until you first know where every I-beam is to be placed. Whether the structure is to be of concrete, wood or steel.

The mason, the plumber, the electrician, the painter, must all follow a plan. The units must fit or the work is for no purpose.

Like the building of a factory, there must be a plan and a purpose behind the building of a city, lest there be confusion, much hanging, tearing down, shifting about, at a tremendous loss of time and energy and a woeful waste of money.

In northern Indiana there is a city being built on a plan, a scheme that hinges on co-ordination. It is Hammond. Home, church, organization activities, building, business, press, city government all are considered as parts of the whole for the whole.

NEW ERA

Should Dawn for Indiana Architects as a Result of State Meeting.

If attendance and spirit count for anything, there should be a re-awakening in Indiana architectural circles. Never before in the history of the Indiana Society of Architects has there been such a strong state representation of the members of the profession as turned out December 9th to attend the semi-annual meeting of the organization at Indianapolis. They came from all directions, even from the farthermost parts of the State and showed a keen interest in the effort to effect a better understanding beween the individual architects.

Those who had been practicing for years were afforded the opportunity of meeting co-laborers in the profession of whom they had known but vaguely or not at all. There was a spirit of fraternalism that was contagious, sparing none as it enveloped the assemblage gathered together about the tables at the Chamber of Commerce to partake of a sumptuous dinner served at 12:30 P. M.

President E. Hill Turnock, quick to appreciate the value of the prevailing conditions, had the situation well in hand, opening the meeting immediately at the conclusion of the meal as there was much to be discussed and the time was limited. In his opening address, which follows, he dealt not with the past but the future, and did not mince words in setting forth his conception of what was most required to inspire an active working organization. He criticised unsparingly those things that had retarded and limited the scope of the profession in Indiana; he pleaded for co-operation of all the building interests, and proposed movements that, if carried out by concerted effort, will work to the advantage of the public, the contractor and the architect.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

"It is indeed gratifying that it becomes my privilege to welcome the Architects of our State to this semi-annual meeting. There are with us a number of Architects who have honored us with their presence whom we hope to have associated with us in all our future councils; for it is our purpose to make this Society of such practical use and benefit to you that, we feel sure, you will become enthusiastic supporters, and will join with us in a fraternal sympathy and helpfulness, which is so essential to the successful practice of our profession.

We have also with us a number of friends who are closely identified with our interests. To all of you we extend a most hearty welcome and trust that this meeting may be of some permanent value to each of you.

ARCHITECTS CONFRONTED BY NEW PROBLEMS.

Architects as a rule are very busy men and are not prone to leave their offices and labors without some good reason. We believe we have a reason and one that is vital to the interests of the Architects of this state. The number of persons attending this meeting is significant of the interest manifested in the work of our association. This period of uncertainty and reconstruction, which is now upon us, has brough many problems to the Architect that he has never heretofore faced, and which must be solved before he can feel that his feet are on solid ground. What we want and must have is a thorough going live organization, that is alert to all problems that affect his business interests. His ethical ideals will be expressed in his business methods and therefore we need not dwell strongly upon them. A moral code is a precious part of a man's conscience and which is of no importance unless reflected in his business methods and in his conduct with those with whom he has to deal. Architecture is a profession, but it is also a business and demands all the qualities that a commercial business requires to be successful. It is very probable that the general public judges the work of an Architect by his business ability, fully as much as by his artistic attainments, however, these qualifications should not conflict; they should be nicely balanced so as to render the most efficient service to his clientele.

The only excuse that a Society can offer to its members for its existence is a distinct service, something that will assist him to solve problems that cannot be solved by his unaided efforts. But it must be remembered that each individual member must give generously of his own experience and personality. Each of us has traveled a pathway in his professional career that is quite unique, many have had rough sledding, some few have struck the flower beds, but whether the one or the other it was intensely human and therefore of absorbing interest. What we must all do is throw all our experiences into the pot for the general good.

BUILDING PROFESSIONS MUST CO-OPERATE.

At this point I want to say a few words regarding co-operation with the Contractors. I consider this matter of most vital importance to our profession. It is a tender subject and doubtless all of you have very pronounced ideas on this subject. The whole world is ripped and torn by revolt and revolution and it has affected everything from individuals to nations. It is our duty to see that the building industry is re-adjusted to the new conditions, which were brought on us by the war, in an orderly manner. Co-operation by those interested in the various lines of building industry will accomplish this readjustment in a very short time. The Architect, Engineer, Contractor and Material man are all essential to construction and to this extent are all workmen. What is most essential to co-operation, is confidence in each other so that harmony prevails. My years of observation and experience tell me that one of the serious difficulties between Architects and Builders is that the Builder views an Architect as judge, jury and executioner, that he frequently specifies materials that he himself is not familiar with; his grades are mixed; he is dictatorial in his manner; he covers much of his ignorance with some paragraph, that is like the old Mother Hubbard dress that covers everything and touches nothing. He will specify how large a boiler shall be and how much radiation shall be used and then demands a guarantee of a certain temperature from the contractor. He will make drawings showing carefully the thickness of concrete and amount of reinforcement and then puts a clause in his specification demanding a guarantee of a certain strength, by the Builder. These inconsistencies should be eliminated from the Architects' specifications as it puts him in an indefensible position in the eyes of the Builder.

The Architect has himself largely to blame for differences which occur between the Builder and himself. These differences can be eliminated if the Architect will thoroughly acquaint himself with all the materials which enter into the construction of the building, or, if that is impossible, get in touch with a contractor who is familiar with grades and qualities. Any reputable contractor will be most willing to give such information. The Architect has many faults to rectify and doubtless the builders would confess to many imperfections, but I believe if these matters can be spoken of freely and frankly in a spirit of concession a large amount of disputacious matter would be settled and buried.

Building construction under any conditions is a task and is greatly aggravated by present conditions; it is really a man-size job, if his work is done conscientiously, and if we can get together, each party recognizing that he has something to learn and something that is better to forget. This spirit of co-operation being uppermost in mind, the dove of peace will perch close beside the Architect and the Builder.

MORE SERVICE DEMANDED OF ARCHITECT.

With the advent of the Cost Plus method of doing business, the Contractor has taken an entirely different position in the community, and a much more pretentious one since the competitive letting of contracts has largely passed out of use. It behooves the Architect to look well to his laurels as I am sure that, in the near future, more careful and conscientious service will be demanded of him, or much work will be done without an Architect's assistance. I am speaking now of utilitarian buildings that require no special artistic expression. It is highly important to our profession that Architects recognize the difficulties, disadvantages, and many troublesome problems that the Contractor faces and give him the advantage of your best efforts and thought in helping him solve them.

The Architect has a certain and distinct service to render his client, that is to design and supervise the building; nothing else. He does not attempt to build, he does not usurp the province of the builder in any particular. It is essential to a mutual and lasting co-operation between the Builder and the Architect that the Builder recognizes this fact and does not infringe on the functions of an Architect.

Every Architect in the State of Indiana should be a working member of this Society and use his influence in his own community to further building interests and harmonize all differences with contractors and material men. I am creditably informed that one of the reasons why our License Laws have been repeatedly killed in the Indiana State Legislature, was on account of the Builders' objections. Why? Because of want of co-operation, want of mutual respect, because when the bill was drawn up his interests were not sufficiently considered. There should be no clash in our business relations; the Architect designs and supervises and the Contractor constructs the building; there should be no division of thought, no reason for any differences unless unfair and inadequate drawings are furnished or the specifications are vague. We are again brought face to face with this problem of efficient service. No ambiguities in either drawings or specifications should be tolerated. There should be no blanket clauses in specifications which may be interpreted in different ways depending on the condition of the Architect's stomach. Fairness in drawing up contracts should be exercised; see that the interests of the Builder are as safely guarded as the clients; see that certificates are issued promptly and of fair and just amounts. If there have been extras pay fairly for them. If some of these extras are the fault of yourselves; tell the owner so. He will think more of you for it, because the average man knows that mistakes and omissions will occur. It is the dangerous man who never makes a mistake. He would not know how to correct them. He has no experience along these lines. The great lessons of life are learned by experience and many of these experiences are mistakes. Mr. William LeBaron Jenney, the great Chicago Architect, with whom I was fortunate enough to be with for a number of years said, that a man should not practice Architecture until he was eighty years old, and after making that statment, he said, "I think he would learn something next day." So you can judge what a tough job you are up against. It means something to live up to the standard of a clean, just, conscientious Architect. As the Scotchman said in testifying in court as to what an Architect was, he said, "He must know everything and be a gentleman." This is a big order but let us all try our utmost to fill the bill.

ENDORSES EFFORTS OF CONSTRUCTION RECORDER.

At this point I wish to take the opportunity to say that the Architects of this State are particularly fortunate in being so ably represented in our Indiana Construction Recorder. This paper it seems to me is a vital necessity, and the Architects and Builders cannot too fully appreciate its good work. Mr. Owens, whom we all know, is considerate, courteous and assiduous in the collection of building news. The editorials printed in the paper inspire practical co-operation in the different departments of Building Industries. It seems that we could do no better than to use their medium to help the Architects get together and what is more important, to keep them together. I think it is the prime duty of every Architect to give these gentlemen every assistance in gathering this news, remembering that this is our paper.

ADVOCATES REGIONAL CLUBS OF BUILDING MEN.

I would like to suggest to this convention the propriety and feasibility of what you might call "Regional Clubs" made up of Architects, Draughtsmen, Builders, and material men. The State could be divided up into ten or more regions, in which it would be easy for those interested in building to get together often. These local organizations would keep up the interest and work of our larger meetings. There could be discussions and papers, prizes offered for best sketches and many matters of interest to the community could be brought up for discussion. I have in mind something of the sort that was done a number of years ago in South Bend, with LaPorte, Elkhart, Mishawaka, etc., contributing. Much good was accomplished at these meetings. It developed a mutual respect for each other and materially aided in recognizing each other's ability and softened the usually harsh scramble after jobs, besides giving all a good enjoyable time.

PLEA FOR STATE BUILDING CODE.

I am still of the opinion that second to none of the four objects, should be the establishment of a Building Code for Indiana. The Indiana Society of Architects is the proper body to espouse the enactment of legislation along this line, and I feel sure that we will be assured the full co-operation of all State officials. Fire Underwriters and Building Inspectors and all others interested in safe buildings throughout the State.

BOARD OF BUILDING INTERESTS SUGGESTED.

In conclusion, I wish to set forth an idea, that I deem to be one of the most important steps to be considered at this convention; that is, for the Architects of Indiana to suggest and work for the establishment of a Board of United Building Interests of Indiana, made up of duly appointed representatives from the membership of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana and the Indiana Society of Architects with possibly representatives from the Indiana Engineering Society. The purpose and function of this Board would be to bring about complete co-operation between the different departments of the Building Interests, in all matters, pass upon uniform contract forms, promote legislation necessary to the welfare of the building praternity and any number of matters that might be referred to it by the Associations represented in it.

The men constituting this committee must be of large caliber and commanding influence and of extended vision, who are able to devote all necessary time to the problems that will come up for consideration. It will require some careful thought in selecting these men taking into consideration their ability and willingness to serve their profession. The building interests of the entire State must be represented in a comprehensive manner. There will be expense entailed and this should be met as far as possible by funds derived from our Handbook, and also, if necessary, from increased dues to be used jointly by this Board. Nothing can be done unless you are willing to pay for it. The Architects must be willing to tax themselves generously for a service that is so vitally important to their own interests."

His words were well received and, from comments made later by those attending, the indications are that he has aroused a new spirit that will go far to make the achievement of his ideals a reality.

A new order was inaugurated by the Society in calling upon A. J. Hoffman of Evansville, President of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana, to speak to the architects on "The Relations Between Architects and Contractors." Mr. Hoffman went right to the bottom of things setting forth conditions, striking straight from the shoulder as may be gleaned from the following:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen:

"It was certainly a very agreeable surprise to receive a letter from Mr. Turnock extending an invitation to meet with you today. The letter was very pointed and requested that we arrange for some one of the Associated Building Contractors to come here and give you our side of the struggle in the building business.

"It was gratifying to see such a spirit displayed by your Society and its officers. To say that our business is a struggle these days is expressing it mildly and anything that can be done to ameliorate conditions is surely a commendable effort.

"Our Association is young but we feel proud that we have some splendid accomplishments to our credit. A good many people, and unfortunately among them are some architects, look with suspicion on a Contractors' Organization, still these same business men belong to the Chamber of Commerce, the Retail Merchants' Association, the Manufacturers' Association and many other similar business organizations. We have nothing more to be ashamed of in our association work than they have. We have been forced to organize for self protection and self preservation, and I assure you we are conducting our affairs in a manner as conscientiously as you are yours.

FREQUENT CAUSE OF DISSENTION.

"The architect is an interested third party to a contract between the owner and the contractor, and by the virtue of this position he is an arbitrator on any matters of controversy between the contracting parties and an interpreter of his own plans and specifications. This is a most peculiar situation and one that is responsible for so much misunderstanding. If the contractor on the least pretense asks for redress from the architect's decision on the grounds that he has been unfair, and the architect is likely to get the idea that the contractor is unscrupulous, that it requires unusual precaution to protect his client from being robbed.

"In nearly every case such as this, the trouble is that one side has the wrong impression of the other. If a little more charity was practiced, most of these petty differences could be eliminated.

"There are, no doubt, some dishonest contractors in the business and we will offer no defense for them, but most of us are trying to conduct a legitimate business and only ask fair play.

"It is doubtful if there is any other commercial business that is as hazardous or beset with so much risk or complications as the building contracting business. The contractor takes all the chances on the elements in signing a time limit contract. He is confronted with all kinds of contingencies in view of the present unstable material market and labor situation, and is perhaps the least compensated of any mercantile business man in existence today.

CONTRACT PROTECTION INEQUITABLE.

"The owner is usually provided with a bond from some reliable source to guarantee to him that the contractor will faithfully fulfill his obligations, and, in addition, he is the purchaser who is not obliged to pay for his goods until after delivery is made and same are thoroughly inspected. In the face of this, what assurance does the contractor have that he will receive his payments promptly and that the owner will fulfill his part of the obligation? There is no reason why the contractor should not be given every possible protection to safeguard his interests, but if he should request a surety bond from the owner he would be severely criticised."

There are some injustices to the contractor that could easily be removed through the effort of the architect. For instance, some specifications have a clause that in excavating for foundations, if it is found necessary, in the judgment of the owner or his superintendent, to go deeper for solid earth, the expense of this work is to be borne by the contractor. One of our men recently asked an architect why he embodied such a clause in his specification when he knew it was an injustice to the contractor, and his reply was that he wanted no extras against the owner on this contract. Is this even fair to the owner himself? No engineer in the world could estimate accurately on such specifications even though he should take test borings every few feet over the site of the proposed building because he or no one else could fathom the idea of the architect, or the whim of the superintendent in this regard. Consequently, if the contractor is alert enough to catch such a clause before submitting his bid, he will add a sufficient amount to his estimate to care for such additional work and the owner is obliged to pay for something that he may not receive.

SPECIFICATION CLAUSES TOO ARBITRARY.

Here is another customary clause in the general conditions: "Everything is to be done whether specifically shown on the plans or called for in the specifications to the entire satisfaction of the owner." And another clause will read: "Anything that is not done satisfactory to the owner is to be removed at the expense of the contractor." All such things put the contractor at the mercy of the owner and if he so desires he can make matters very unpleasant for the contractor.

Our company attorney has told me any number of times that most of the contracts we sign are not even fair, however, what good does it do for one individual contractor to object?

Referring to the matter of inspection, this is one of the worst abuses in our business. The contractor is very often placed in the unique position of being obliged to work to the fancies of some one as inspector who is wholly incompetent. The averaged architect is honest and wants to deal fairly with the contractor, but the trouble comes when he employs some one to represent him for supervising the work. Sometimes the inspection turns out to be more of a persecution than anything else. Some of the inspectors seem to think that their job depends upon their ability to work hardships upon the contractor.

There are circumstances that frequently arise on the job where it is impractical to literally carry out the terms of the specifications. In such cases the incompetent inspector knows nothing of common practice and customary usage and insists upon blindly following the terms of the specifications. In many such instances, this is even detrimental to the best interest of the work. Let us try a little more of the "Give and Take Policy."

Put a man on his honor and you can expect fairer treatment from him than otherwise. If you watch him too closely, he will feel that you mistrust him, and very often he will take undue advantage of you. This is human nature.

HONOR COUNTS AMONGST CONTRACTORS.

Just such a case happened in our company recently. Last year we completed a job in Illinois and had several cars of sand and gravel left which we could not sell, so we stored it in on a lot. This summer a local contractor in that city secured a contract close to this storage lot and we wrote him a letter, asking him to buy this sand and gravel from us. He seemed to have an ill feeling toward us for coming in his home city and taking the first contract away from him so he ignored our letter. One day, I called him on the telephone and asked him if he could not use that material. He said, possibly so, but that he couldn't afford to pay us very much for same. I told him to simply go ahead and use the material and when he was through he could send us a check for whatever he felt it was worth to him. Some weeks later we received his check and much to our surprise it was 20 per cent. more than what we had the material invoiced at on our books. He felt he was put on his honor and this prevented him from taking advantage of us.

Just recently an architect said to me: It seems as though the present policy of the contractors is to put us out of business. I replied that he was wrong for the average contractor has no desire to get into the architectural business, but they may be forced into it if they do not get the proper co-operation from the architect.

REGARDING PRELIMINARY ESTIMATES.

There is one other feature of which I should like to speak, it deals with estimates that are named by the architects to prospective owners when they contemplate building. Many architects in their eagerness to secure work, fearing to lose a prospect, will quote estimates that are too low. Then when bids are received they far exceed the preliminary estimate; the owner is disappointed and the contractors are put in a bad light as the owner conceives the idea that there has been connivance among the contractors to hold him up. More care should be exercised by the architects in quoting preliminary estimates, especially in these days of uncertainty due to labor conditions and changing material prices.

I want to thank you for your consideration toward our Association and I hope that this will be the opening of a very pleasant relationship between us; to foster and increase this evidence of co-operation on your part, it is a pleasure to me, as president of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana, to extend to your Society an invitation to have a representative present at the Annual State Convention of our Organization at Indianapolis, February 3 and 4."

Other speakers were:

L. A. Snider, heating engineer, "Heating and Ventilating;" George Maas, "Quantity Survey as Relative to Mill and Lumber;" Scott Brewer, "The War Memorial;" Merritt Harrison, "Uniform Cost and Bookkeeping System for the Architect;" John H. Owens, "Organization;" F. F. Haskell, "Report on Hand Book;" Donald Campbell, "News Gathering and Publicity;" H. A. Shonle, "Daylight Savings."

At the conclusion of the various addresses there was an informal discussion of those things vital to the Society and the architectural profession.

One of the most pertinent points brought up came from Architect J. W. Gaddis, Vincennes. He advocated a stronger organization on the part of the architects, dwelling upon the fact that now is the time for action since so many new problems face the architect under the present changing conditions. He pointed to the fact that contractors, material supply men and craftsmen are organized into strong groups for self protection, while the architects can hardly be said to be so. He warned the architects that if they are not alive to the necessity of progression they will lose their identity. He counseled a getting together on an Architects' License Law for Indiana and advocated that a committee be appointed at once to begin work on such a bill that it might be thoroughly approved and ready for introduction at the next session of the legislature. He attributed the defeat of the last bill of this nature in the legislature to its half baked condition, to procrastination, then, haste and a lack of united support on the part of the architects. The work accomplished by the Illinois Architecets was referred to as an example of what can be achieved by united effort. The license law there has been in operation for years and proved its worth; it has elevated the profession to the status where it is called upon for consultation in all matters pertaining to proposed legislation relative to construction work.

Architect Robert Frost Daggett, Indianapolis, said that the contemplated War Memorial to be erected at Indianapolis, by the American Legion would, at its completion, become a building of International interest and was of vital importance to all Indianians. He suggested that the Architects' Society should appoint a committee at once and offer any preliminary suggestions as an aid to those back of the memorial work.

It was also the sense of the meeting that President Turnock's proposal of a State Building Code should be encouraged. Such a code would entail much work and expense in compilation, and this it was thought should be done by the state government. However, this matter is of such vital importance to the safety of the public that the architects believe that action for the securing of such legislation should be begun now.

Architects present were:

President E. Hill Turnock, Elkhart; First Vice-President A. A. Honeywell, Kokomo; Secretary Merritt Harrison, and Treasurer George Bass, both of Indianapolis; L. L. Johnson, Attica; Everett H. Brown, Bluffton; H. M. Griffin, Connersville; Oscar Hoffman, Decatur; Karl D. Norris, East Chicago; L. A. Turnock, Elkhart; Frank Fowler, Evansville; Guy Mahurin, Fort Wayne; Joseph M. LeVee, A. F. Owens and Donald Campbell, latter seven all of Indianapolis.

THREE CONVENTIONS

Of Importance to Contracting Interests Focus Attention on Indiana.

Indiana construction men are awaiting with interest the convening of three important meetings scheduled to occur within the next few weeks at Indianapolis. Two of the gatherings are national in their scope and will attract contractors from all over the country, to mark the greatest organization activities of construction interests ever held in the State.

Starting January 12 and 13 will be the first annual convention of the National Association of Building Trades Employers, a body organized at Chicago in September. Next will follow the annual convention of the National Association of Builders' Exchanges, January 13, 14 and 15. And on February 2 and 3, the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana will hold their second annual convention.

While the first two organizations are vitally interested in the construction industry, still, their functions are entirely separate, each having its own distinct field of operations. The exchange idea was instituted many years ago incorporating in its activities contractors, material supply men, architects and other affiliated building interests. It promoted beneficial ideas and encouraged working agreements between these various elements but never went into the labor problem. Of later years this latter feature became an annoying one; the various crafts were organized solidly while the contractors were not and had to meet increasing wage demands individually or in groups banded together for self protection.

Many of the contracting employers of labor advocated a stronger unification, but not till September of this year was anything definitely accomplished along this line. A call was issued nationally for a gathering at Chicago to perfect a national organization of Building Trades' Employers, whereby a solidarity might be effected to encourage a greater co-operative spirit among the employers in this field deavor, afford more collective and equitable protection to general and sub-contractors, handle jurisdictional disputes and create a broader spirit of harmony and understanding between employee and employer.

There was an enthusiastic response to the proposal, and construction men from all over the country gathered at the La Salle Hotel, Chicago, eager to perfect just such an organization. A Constitution and By-Laws was drafted, adopted and the following officers elected:

President—James R. Strong, New York.
First Vice President—Andrew Lanquist, Chicago.
Second Vice President—V. R. Gould, Omaha.
Third Vice President—Geo. Donley, Cleveland.
Treasurer—Max Bauman, New York.

Directors—C. J. Kelly, New York; E. M. Craig, Chicago; W. F. Hennessey, Cleveland; D. T. Riffle, Pittsburgh; P. M. Fogel, Kansas City; C. F. Waltz, Cincinnati; C. C. Pierson, Indianapolis; C. W. Bernhardt, Atlanta; E. J. Thomas, Memphis; G. C. Mills, Webster City, Iowa.

Since its inception, the organization has grown rapidly and a large attendance is looked for at the annual convention scheduled in January.

Many of those who attend this assemblage will remain over for the Building Exchanges' meeting, and these added to the regular delegates will make up one of the largest gatherings ever held by construction men in the central west.

While not so far reaching in its influence, nevertheless, the convention of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana in Feb. naturally holds more in common for the Indiana contractor. There it is that the many problems that confront him will be taken up and thrashed out and plans made for the institution of comprehensive innovations for his and the contracting business' protection and benefit.

The State association is encouraging the formation of various local contractors' organizations in the cities throughout the State, and is at present affiliated with the associations in most of Indiana's larger cities. All contractors employing men in the field are eligible to membership in the Associated Building Contractors' organization through affiliation with local associations and it is the aim of the officers to launch a membership campaign in the hope of enrolling all building contractors in Indiana.

The purpose of the association is to protect the building industry and the improvement of building conditions in the State of Indiana, through co-operation of employers connected with the industry; by advocating helpful legislation, regulations and rules; by inculcating principles of justice and equity to govern dealings between contractors and architects, dealers, unions, the general public and other contractors and between members themselves; by striving for fair uniform methods of practice in the business of industry, and by organizing those engaged in the building business in the State of Indiana, so that a full knowledge of conditions and a strong, sympathetic bond of fellowship may be established, thereby securing unity of action and effort in the accomplishment of a common purpose. But no action shall be taken by this Association to control or in any way deal with prices or the restrictions of competition.

INTEREST AROUSED

At Anderson by Effort to Perfect Strong Body of Associated Contractors.

Another demonstration of the receptive attitude of contractors to the organization idea was evidenced at Anderson, December 19, the occasion being a specially called meeting of the Building Contractors' Association to discuss fully the need for and the functions of a more closely united body of the various contractors engaged in the building field. Anderson has had a builders' association for some time but it didn't seem to possess the right spirit to get anywhere. President Ross Eshelman realized the truth and set about to effect a reorganization, to instill more interest in it, to make it an aggressive insitution for the mutual protection and advancement of the building industry. To this end an invitation was extended to C. C. Pierson, Indianapolis Secretary of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana, who journeyed to Anderson to set forth the object and advantages of organization and to show what had been accomplished through this means by the State Association.

Mr. Eshelman briefly outlined the history of the local body and said the time had arrived for the allied building contractors in Anderson to take an active interest in the affairs of the organization. He said that, due to the abnormal conditions prevailing, many vital and serious problems were constantly arising to confront the contractor and the only way to meet and solve them was through a closer spirit of co-operation on the part of those engaged in construction work. He pleaded for more harmony between the varied building interests, a harmony that would lead to mutual understandings and ultimately result in a strong bond of fellowship working to the advantage of all concerned.

At this juncture Mr. Pierson was introduced and proceeded to explain the essentials and purposes of banding together for the common good of the contracting interests. He said in part:

"To begin with, there are three prime requisites necessary to the accomplishment of a working organization if it is to get anywhere, unselfishness, faith and co-operation. Selfishness has been the snag that has wrecked many a good intentioned organization. It has to be eliminated and a big, broad spirit of unselfishness substituted by means of which every member forgoes individuality and institutes a comprehensive interest that makes for the benefit of the whole. This creates faith and faith inspires cooperation. Many think that this latter quality is easy of attainment, but, it isn't; it is hard, selfishness is inclined to creep in, it requires constant effort to hold it in restraint.

"The present condition of affairs in this country is the result of intoxication, an intoxication of power that has come to those who know not how to manage it. It is now time for sobriety; a getting together of all interests mutually affected in an endeavor to put things on a sound equitable basis. Never was there more urgent need for organization of associated building contractors. They are hemmed in on all sides by organization; all material is put out under the direction of organized forces; the financial phase of building is more or less influenced by organization as the banking forces are organized; then there is labor which is strongly united and, in its so being, its strength is emphasized. It is virile and backed up by the force of unity. There are to be wage demands in the near future and to meet them the contractors must stand solidly together for protection.

"The contracting forces require protection as much as any of these other interests and there is but one way to secure it, that is through organization. The day is past and gone when a man can say he can go it alone and do better than with the aid of an association behind him.

"However, it requires finances to perfect an organization and maintain it. Every member must be prepared to do his share. He must not expect financial emoluments at once, must not demand $2 for the $1 he put in, rather, must he realize that he can go his way secure in the knowledge that when the time arrives for protection and assistance in combating negative forces and injustices his organization is there to back him to the limit."

At the conclusion of his remarks, Mr. Pierson, in behalf of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana, extended an invitation to the Anderson contractors to attend the annual convention of the State Association at Indianapolis early in February, and said he hoped to meet them all there.

Other speakers of the evening were J. H. Owens, field representative of the Indiana Construction Recorder and D. Campbell, editor of the same publication. Mr. Owens told of what had been accomplished by the contractors' organizations at Gary, Hammond, Evansville and South Bend and the efforts being made in other Indiana cities along those lines. Mr. Campbell discussed the advantages and functions of publicity and the aim of the Recorder to keep the building industry of the state posted on current activities and those things of vital interest to the contractor.

An informal discussion followed the banquet at the Grand Hotel at which many of the local contractors voiced the need for an active organization in Anderson. W. E. Thompson reviewed the history of a former contractors' association and said it went to pieces because of jealousy, selfishness and a lack of co-operation on the part of the members. He advised those present to heed Mr. Pierson's words and said he hoped that Anderson would develop one of the staunchest contractors' associations in Indiana. Several contractors recited instances of how they had been aided by the actions of the present organization. Robert Babcock and L. H. Dorste both advanced arguments for immediate action for the crystalization of the varied construction interests into a strong body for mutual protection and benefit.

Anderson contractors present were David Eshelman, Ross Eshelman, C. H. Wells, J. A. Reed, Glen A. Gardner, Jack Longaker, B. F. Wright, J. H. Achey, W. E. Thompson and son, David Durbin, Powell and Dorste, L. H. Dorste, Harry Thomas, W. H. Conner, Robert G. Babcock, V. H. Osborn, Scott Mead, M. J. Downey and Lex Balfour.

ANALYTICAL STUDY

Showing Influences that Instigated Early Types of American Architecture.

ARCHITECT FERMON S. CANNON.

Conditions of climate, materials and the civilization of the inhabitants of a country determine the type or style of architecture that will be applied to human habitations. This is true of architectural styles evolved in North America. In our own case, the early designers brought with them impressions of details and construction in use in the country from which they journeyed.

In New England we have all the background of English Rennaisance detail. The craftsman who built the early houses gave expression to the graceful and refined classic elements which were a common sight in English towns. They absorbed all the well defined proportions and in translating them into wood gave us results that we all agree are completely satisfying to our eyes. This background has made possible a keen appreciation today of the so-called "Colonial style."

Around New York City and Philadelphia we find a different influence at work. In new Amsterdam, the old New York, the early Dutch pioneer built for us the quaint brick and stone houses with the gambrel roof. Holland, a land of few trees and towns of brick houses, was the picture in the builder's mind as he laid the foundations of his "New World" home. He knew brick work and with brick built the greater part of his house. The new country, with all its wealth of wood, induced him to introduce a wooden second story covered with wide clap boards. The result is a most interesting combination entirely due to his new environment.

In the older settled parts of New Jersey and Pennsylvania we are fascinated by the beautiful stone walls of the old houses, due to the influence of contemporary English style. This style of designing has made the suburbs of Philadelphia delightful to the eye, as we see them today.

The valleys of the Potomac and James rivers and throughout Virginia are beautiful examples of Southern Colonial. In this part of the country the wealthy English planter lived, bringing with him the elements of English country life and architecture. The warm climate of the south afforded opportunity to develop an open plan in which the elements of hospitality dominated. The charm of red brick walls of English brick, white columns and moldings glowing under soft southern sunshine, make a picture that stirs the imagination of anyone who has the opportunity of seeing these monuments of American architecture.

The last great division of American architectural style is to be found in New Orleans in the country stretching west to the Pacific coast. Here we find the Spanish and French influences in New Orleans and throughout the remote districts of New Spain, the Spanish mission style. Mellow stucco walls and soft red tiles covering the low roofs, with here and there a delicate iron grille, are distinct elements of this style. From low, rambling mission structures grouped around a court or patio has been evolved our bungalow style of house, built in most cases without any charm in choice of materials or design.

We have a wealth of historic background for our residence architecture in the United States. These elements discussed represent American style. It remains for us to use them with due respect in designing our homes now and in the future.

BUILDING ACTIVITIES

Of Gary Reviewed by Mayor Hodges who Built First Permanent House.

Gary builders, members of the Builders and Traders Exchange, than which there is no more active or co-operative body of contracting men in Indiana, turned out in force December 16, to attend a meeting called for the taking of action on the revised and amended by-laws under which the Exchange is to operate under the management of an Advisory Board, and to listen to topics of moment to those interested in construction. The new order of management was favorably received. President M. L. Maxon announced that the annual election of officers will be held January 20. In talking over the affairs of the Exchange he said that while most of the leading building and material men of Gary were enrolled as members a few others remained without the fold and a membership drive is to be instituted in an endeavor to line up every building man in Gary.

Secretary Hyde gave a brief history of the workings of the organization and showed how, by its influence, the building contractors had been saved a lump sum of from $70,000 to $85,000 during the past twelve months.

At the conclusion of the business session dinner was served at Rothchild's, there being close to one hundred men gathered about the tables.

One of the most interesting features of the evening was a talk by Mayor William J. Hodges, a contractor himself, who was introduced by Toastmaster Henry Hall, who called attention to the fast that the Mayor built the first permanent house in Gary back in 1907.

The Mayor recounted Gary's construction record beginning with the early days when real houses were unthought of, property owners erecting only hurried shacks in which to live. This ocassioned cheap construction and Mr. Hodges said he hoped the day was fast approaching when modern building construction would bring about the razing of the eyesores that marked Gary's beginning. He said in part:

"Gary is behind in housing facilities due to the fact that the expansion and growth of the city has been so rapid. It will require almost superhuman efforts on the part of you building men to come anywhere near supplying houses to meet the demand.

"Building prospects were never better than those held out to us by 1920. It is up to you construction men to do all in your power to keep building costs down in order that property owners may be encouraged to procede with projects despite the high material prices.

"In spite of our many troubles during the past year we of Gary spent $5,000,000 on new homes, next season we should exceed that amount.

"Contractors must co-operate in following the State and local building laws. They were established for the benefit of all concerned and in the long run their benefits will make themselves apparent. Builders who seek to evade the laws must be discouraged."

Next Henry G. Hay of the Gary State Bank was introduced and explained the banker's relations with the contractor and the construction industry.

He mentioned the present high cost of materials, stating that in many cases it appeared that prices were being upheld by profiteering methods, on the part of the producers and middle men. Hardwood for instance, he said, was at its highest cost at the present time, while in Michigan, where much of this wood is produced, it is a drug on the market.

Other speakers of the evening were Homer J. Carr, member of the park board and Mr. J. H. Owens, representing the Indiana Construction Recorder.

Mr. Owens extended an invitation to the Gary Exchange members to attend the state convention of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana, which will be held in Indianapolis on February 3 and 4.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

Members of the Building Trades Employers' Association please take notice that hereafter all official communications will be found on this page.

How do you like the Building Trades Employers' Page? Help make in newsy.

The nomination of officers will be held on Tuesday, January 13th, 1920. Any members in good standing may be nominated. The By-Laws, Section 1, Article 4, provide that members ninety (90) days in arrears are not entitled to vote or hold office. The Association is entering the second year of its existence. It has been able to accomplish many things of benefit to the members, which many may not realize not having come in contact with the benefit of the results. In order to make the coming year successful the members should take a personal interest in the building up of the Association as only by concerted action may results be had. The Secretary and Board of Directors have been untiring in their efforts to enlarge the usefulness of the association to its members. In the near future the National Association will be in a position to materially assist the smaller organizations and through affiliation with the National body a wider scope and greater benefit will be derived. Let us all rally to the support of our organization by personal interest, by prompt payment of our dues, by boosting, by telling your associates about it, by keeping in touch with what is being done, by selecting good and efficient men for the officers for the coming year.

Building is picking up again since the weather has moderated some.

The Secretary was in East Chicago and Indiana Harbor, Friday, calling on our members. The Association is arranging for something grand for the membership about the middle of January. Watch for it.

John F. Wilhelm has fitted up a fine office at his material yard on Calumet avenue.

Our Architects say they have more business on the boards for the next year than they ever had before at this time of the year.

There is a rumor that something is going to turn up in the Labor circles in the near future that will interest our contractors.

We haven't been able to get any agreement between the crafts interested in the Bishopric Board and Roll Roofing controversy. They have agreed to take the question up with the Jurisdictional Claim Board, but no results have been obtained so far.

Hoping you all had a very merry Christmas and will have a happy and prosperous New Year.

UNCERTAINTY

Befogging Building Outlook Lends Importance to Indianapolis Convention.

Owing to the fact that 1920 promises to the construction interests of the country greater building activities than ever before, the Ninth Annual Convention of the National Association of Builders Exchanges to be held at Indianapolis, Jan. 13th, 14th and 15th, is possessed of more genuine importance than any other previous like assemblage. It will afford an opportunity for everyone connected with the building business to secure timely information of great value to them.

The complex and unsettled conditions that have arisen to confront the contractor, sub-contractor and material man demand serious consideration in view of the volume of business with which the future appears to be laden. A call has been sent broadcast over the country by the National Officers to the various Exchanges to arrange to send delegations to Indianapolis prepared to grapple with the problems to be settled, and to attend with the idea of working hard clear through the entire session in order to reach solutions.

Reservations are pouring in from all sections, forecasting one of the largest conventions in the history of the Association.

It is to be strictly a business meeting. Three special topics have been selected for the main addresses, "Organization," "Legislation," and "Americanism." NEW ORGANIZATION

Of Building Trades Employers Promises to Get Away to a Good Start.

A new force has arisen in the construction employment field and much interest is being manifested in the approaching First Annual Convention, at Indianapolis, Jan. 12th, of the National Building Trades Employers Association.

There will be a special meeting of the Executive Committee of the Association at 11 A. M., Jan. 11, at the Claypool Hotel to discuss a revision of the Constitution and By-Laws and make other plans relative to the convention to be held the following day.

Efforts are being made to round up strong delegations in order that the new organization may be completely organized and some constructive work begun for the benefit of the contractors about the country before the 1920 building season opens.

PURIFYING EFFECT

Expected in Indiana Building Field as a Result of Lien Law Ruling.

Contractors, architects and material supply men have received with satisfaction the recent ruling handed down by the Supreme Court whereby the lien law can be negatived by contract. The higher court held that if a person or firm makes a contract with contractor, specifying that no mechanic's lien proceedings can be brought against the property, the contract is binding on all parties.

The decision is regarded as far-reaching and of vast importance to the construction industry in Indiana because of the effect it will have on future building operations and the workings of the lien law. The concensus of opinion among those interested in building work is that the recent interpretation of the law will have a purifying tendency on construction activities as it will drive to cover the irresponsible contractor.

Responsible contractors who have reputations at stake welcome the new ruling for the beneficial tendency it will have on the contracting business but outside of that feature are not greatly affected by the decision. In discussing the situation, C. C. Pierson, Secy. of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana said that a new order of things would be created that would have a most important bearing on the State Construction Industry, putting the business on a firmer basis. He does not figure that it will materially effect big work, rather, that it will apply more to home building in which operation the small owner, heretofore, has not had the facilities to ascertain the financial responsibility of his contractor and in many instances was made the prey of the unscrupulous contractor. This type of builder was always able to obtain extensive credit for material from supply houses because the latter were able to secure themselves through the operation of the lien law, it subjecting the property as a guarantee in case the contractor failed to meet his obligations.

Both A. J. Hoffman, Evansville, President of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana and Fred W. Jungclaus, Indianapolis, President of the Building Contractors Association of that city backed up the reasoning of Mr. Pierson and expressed the opinion that the new ruling was a good thing.

Supply men hereafter will be more chary about sending out material to a project at the slightest beck and call of the contractor. They will first demand to see the contract between owner and builder and, if the no lien clause has been inserted there probably will be a different story from that of days gone by. At least, credits are bound to be restricted and owners will be safer in building operations.

While the architect is not vitally affected, still, indirectly he is for he is obligated morally to safeguard the interests of his client. Orders for payments are drawn on him, and frequently in the past he has been called upon to check up and run down payments when questions of a lien arose. Hereafter, by incorporating the no lien clause in his contracts, he can rest assured that his client is protected and will not have to pay double for his building because some contractor neglected to settle his account with a supply house.

OFFICES OPENED

South Bend Builders' Exchange Perfected. State Charter Granted.

The members of the recently organized Builders and Traders Exchange of South Bend and St. Joseph County gathered at the G. A. R. Memorial Hall, South Bend, December 11, in business session at which the new by-laws were presented and adopted. The charter authorizing organization has been granted by the state and been received. Offices and rooms for the Exchange have been rented and opened at the corner of Wayne and Lafayette Sts.

Much interest has been aroused by the new organization as South Bend has long needed such a body to bring the allied building trades together. The membership is growing rapidly bidding fair to make the new association one of the largest and most effective local contractors' bodies in Indiana.

Following the meeting an informal dinner of sixty-eight covers was served by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the G. A. R. A musical program was rendered by the Westminster Quartet.

Among the most important things discussed was "The Relation between the Banker and Contractor and the Establishment of Credit." W. J. Stewart Hyde, Secretary of the Gary Builders and Traders Exchange, dilated upon the advantages offered by The Exchange and cautioned the members not to imagine, now that they had an organization, that it would run itself. He exhorted each member to take an active interest in the affairs of the Exchange, to throw personal effort into its upbuilding that the achievement of the goal for which it was established might be attained.

REQUIREMENTS

Demanded of Architect to Fully Render Service to Client.

In the preparation of drawings and working details, they should be executed with integrity and so fully complete as to show each and every particular part of the building that contractors estimating the quantities of material and labor would have no difficulty in comprehending the exact conditions and requirements.

The drawings consist of the plans, elevations, sections and working details to give the competent builder a clear understanding of all structural conditions.

SPECIFICATIONS

The specifications are documents designed to clarify the drawings and to establish standards of the material to be used. They should be logically and intelligently worded, accurately punctuated, and should reflect the architect's knowledge of construction, building material and costs.

Specifications ambiguously written result in higher estimates, and open a way for costly mistakes.

The specifications contain the statement of all the material entering into the construction, the quantity, the quality and the character of the workmanship.

When the drawings require intrepretation, all answers should be found in the specifications, which should be so arranged that they can be found immediately.

ARCHITECTURAL SUPERVISION

The supervision of the architect means the inspection of the work during its progress to ascertain if it is in conformity with the drawings and specifications.

Continuous personal superintendence of the architect is not included in professional supervision, but in many cases upon large works the architect will maintain a deputy or superintendent, continuously or at those periods when important parts of the work are in construction.

The supervision of an architect (as distinguished from the continuous personal superintendence which may be secured by the employment of a clerk of the works or inspector of construction) means such inspection, by the architect or his deputy, of the work in studios and shops, or the building or other work in process of erection, completion or alteration, that he finds necessary to ascertain whether it is being executed in general conformity with his drawings and specifications or directions.

The architect assumes no responsibility as to the efficiency of the contractors or their ability to execute work within a certain specified time.

CLERK OF WORKS

On large and important buildings where constant supervision is required, a clerk of works or inspector for the owner is recommended to be maintained, subject to the approval and in subordination to the architect, to be paid for by the Owner.

AROUND THE STATE

Architects Lawrence W. George and Wm. H. MacLucas, Indianapolis, have moved into their new offices at 1153-55 Lemcke Annex.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

Members of the Building Trades Employers' Association please take notice that hereafter all official communications will be found on this page.

Don't forget NOMINATION NIGHT. Put a red mark on the calendar around the date, Jan. 6th.

It would be well for all contractors to keep in mind the recent ruling by the Supreme Court regarding the lien law.

George Bates and G. Lavin are pushing the work on the building on the old packing house site for the Wolf Manufacturing Company, Plumbing Supply House.

John W. Reed is remodeling some of the old Packing House buildings for the Continental Seed Company. They are going to erect several new buildings in the near future.

G. A. Johnson has the Betz garage opposite the City Hall about completed and has Judge Reiter's house under roof.

Representative Will R. Wood has introduced a bill in Congress to enlarge and remodel the United States Postoffice and Court building in Hammond, Indiana, to the extent of $150,000.

Architects A. C. Berry & Company are working on the preliminary drawings for the new unit school building. They want to have them completed by the 15th of January, 1920.

Owing to several matters of importance coming up that require the attention of the Association, the Board of Directors at their meeting Tuesday, December 23rd, decided to change the date of the meeting for the nomination of officers, to Tuesday, January 6th, 1920, instead of the 13th. So please keep this in mind and be sure to come to that meeting, as it is important that good men be selected to look after the business of the Association for the coming year.

Architect Mac Turner has let the heating in the Harry Gordon $70,000 apartment store building in Whiting to the Whiting Plumbing Shop. The general contract will be let soon after the first of the new year.

A brick building is being erected by the United Boiler Heating & Foundry Company, on Calumet Avenue, south of Gostlin street. This building is to be occupied by Dempsey, the Battery Man, as a garage and battery station. White Bros., have the contract.

The architect has not yet been selected for drawing the plans for the new addition to the Masonic Temple. There are several in competition for this job and the commission will be awarded in the near future.

The architects of East Chicago and Indiana Harbor say the outlook for a good building season the coming year was never better.

Frozen ground don't stop C. S. Rhoads from getting foundations in when he goes at it. Some hustler, Charley.

M. A. Dickover is making nice progress on the Emerling Building. He has the side walls up and the roof partly on.

It looks like some one else had caught the Spirit of Unrest from the number of towns that are declaring for the Open Shop.

STAGE SET

Everything in Readiness for Convention of National Assn., of Builders Exchanges.

Attention of the building construction interests of the country will center on Indiana next week. Beginning Monday, January 12th, and extending over a period of four days, the First Annual Convention of the National Association of Building Trades Employers and the Ninth Annual gathering of the National Association of Building Exchanges will be held at Indianapolis.

Delegates from the North, South, East and West, in large numbers, are prepared to make the Capital of the Hoosier State the Mecca of one of the most important pilgrimages ever undertaken by the members of the building construction industry. The reconstruction period has brought the contractor and material supply man face to face with difficult and complex problems that must be thrashed out to a satisfactory conclusion in order to effect a safe, sound readjustment, a readjustment that will tend to dispel the cloud of uncertainty that envelops the future, or, at least, will afford an opportunity to combat it.

The time has arrived for organization to demonstarte its power, and in effecting such a demonstration, co-operation to its fullest extent must be exercised by those allied in this great industry if the promise of Spring construction activity, held forth at the dawn of the New Year, is to be fulfilled.

The stage is set. Officers of the National Association in conjunction with the Indianapolis Building Contractors Association have completed details, arranged a broad, all encompassing program and the arrival of the delegates is all that is necessary to the lifting of the curtain for the procedure of one of the most important conventions in building construction history in this country.

One of the big features of the program is the series of group luncheons to be held each day at noon. Arrangements have been made whereby groups made up of men of the same interests may gather to discuss and analyze conditions and plan presentations for discussion on the floor of the convention. These discussions will afford an interchange of ideas and a line on what is being done throughout the country in building construction circles with regards to business methods and practices.

While prevailing conditions demand strenuous business sessions daily, an attractive entertainment program has been arranged for the visitors between times. Monday evening there is to be a smoker and "get together" meeting at the Chamber of Commerce. Tuesday, while the men are busy at the convention, arrangements have been made to convey visiting delegates' wives on an automobile tour of the city winding up at the Independent Athletic Club where luncheon will be served, to be followed by a card party. That evening there will be a theatre party for all visitors. Wednesday afternoon another theatre party will be given for the ladies and at 6:30 P. M. a dinner dance will be held at the Claypool Hotel. Special entertainment will be provided Thursday night for all that remain over in Indianapolis.

ACHIEVEMENT

Marked Efforts of Indianapolis Building Contractors Association in 1919.

Reports of the various committees of the Indianapolis Building Contractors Association show that 1919 was one of the best in the history of the organization in the matter of achievement for the advancement of the construction industry. Many threatening labor difficulties were amicably adjusted, several strikes settled and misunderstandings between bosses smoothed out.

At the annual election of officers these men were named for the ensuing year:

President, Harrison Walters.
1st Vice-President, E. C. Strathmann.
2nd Vice-President, C. M. McElwaine.
3rd Vice-President, Arthur Sanford.
4th Vice-President, Frank G. Johnson.
Treasurer, Walter W. Wise.

A special meeting of the various committee chairmen was held Friday. All old business was cleaned up and things squared away to meet the large prospective business of the coming Spring as indicated by appearances.

COLONIAL ARCHITECTURE

Origin and Use of the New England Colonial Style.

FERMOR S. CANNON

Americans traveling in Europe, become acquainted with the various national styles of architecture typified by existing buildings, and their impressions have influenced the introduction of many European innovations—both good and bad—in our own architectural designs. A few years ago, a famous English novelist—Arnold Bennett—took a flying trip through our country and noted his trite observations, along many lines, in his book, "Your United States." Visiting New England, he found there an entirely new, and very satisfactory, style of architectural development in the Colonial houses and buildings. He says, "The typical Cambridge house, as I saw it, persists in my recollection as being the most characteristic and comfortable of real American phenomena." But, later, in speaking of Indianapolis, "Architecturally the houses represent a declension from the purity of earlier Cambridge. Scarcely one is beautiful * * * The style is debased."

This is pretty severe criticism but, unfortunately, it is warranted to a marked degree throughout the Middle West. We have failed to apply the nice principles of proportion and form handed down by the early builders. We have no defense to make except that of ignorance and a lack of the proper demand on the part of the building public, which has long allowed itself to suffer through carelessness of our modern designers. For example, a "bungalow book" is a scrap-heap of designs, and many so-called "Colonial styles" are more like California bungalows painted white.

The elements of Colonial architecture were derived from details of the English Renaissance, or Georgian, period—the classic architecture of glorious Greece and Rome forming a firm background for all developments for both styles. Our early builders simplified and adapted the Georgian designs, making a style distinctively their own—the Colonial becoming purely American, while the Georgian remained the prevailing style of English architecture of the same period. Thus, a modern designer may not use Georgian details on a Colonial building without badly mixing the result—the style being neither Colonial nor Georgian.

The roof construction of the houses and public buildings of the Colonial period is the dominating feature. It is the element of greatest charm, observed, either in the simple cozy lines of the roof over a Cape Cod cottage, or in the gambrel, and hipped construction of more pretentious houses. The story-heights are usually quite low—about eight feet—and the overhang on the roof is very slight.

The great massive chimney of brick is another characteristic of the Colonial—one type of clustered chimneys suggesting a good form of English cottage chimney construction. The chimney in the earliest houses fills the center space, the whole structure containing as many as five fire places and a large brick oven as well. At a later period, the typical location is at either end of the house or on either side of the central hall.

The panes of glass in Colonial windows are quite definite in proportion and usually small in size. The casings on the outside are narrow and shutters are not so generally utilized as popularly supposed—but if used, are slatted and painted green, or blue. The exterior of the Colonial house in New England is covered with clapboard siding. This siding is similar to our beveled-drop siding. It is narrow and not much more than three inches is exposed to the elements.

The Colonial builder used his finest art on the entrance of the house. All mouldings were carefully drawn and then skillfully made by hand. One finds many beautiful curves in this old work that can never be reproduced by modern machinery. The entrances are formal in treatment and even the humblest cottage often displays a dignified classic doorway with fluted pilasters and moulded cornice encircling a leaded-glass fan light of intricate design. The door is always beautifully paneled. Inside, the builder did not hide the elements of real construction. The corner posts of the house are dressed smooth and a similar treatment is given the cross beam which supports the ceiling and divides it into two parts. This beam (called the "summer beam") usually rests on the huge chimney and carries the ceiling, or floor, beams. Delicate mouldings are found in the corners of these beams and posts. A simple low wainscoting, often runs around the base of the walls. The inside window casings are narrow and finely moulded. Due to the thick walls of these old houses, there are many examples of deep-set windows, with either plain, or paneled, jamb casings. These features coupled with quaint two-paneled doors with beveled panels, and the huge fireplace with its fire-irons and crane, made a fascinatingly romantic background for the simple sturdy life our ancestors lived in New England.

To characterize the Colonial type of architecture briefly: It is based on simplicity; the proportions are not complicated; nothing is overdone, but rather, the ornament represents essentials in their simplest form. For further proof of this statement, look into the books of designs used by the old builders themselves—such as, "Books of Asher Benjamin" reproduced by Amyer Embary, 2d. Asher Benjamin was a representative architect of Colonial days and one who had an important influence on the development of the style so much admired today.—(NOTE: This is the second of a series of five articles on American Architecture, by Mr. Cannon.)

CONTINUED GAINS

Over Corresponding Period in 1918 Shown by December Building Permits.

December held its own against previous months of 1919 in regard to building operations in Indiana, turning in a total estimated valuation of $1,902,407 on building permits issued in the State's largest cities. This was one of the best showings ever made by the fag end month of the year and far outstripped December 1918's total.

Evansville, with several new industrial projects, made a tremendous gain over the figures returned for the corresponding period in 1918. Indianapolis and South Bend displayed big increases, while Gary, Ft. Wayne, Terre Haute, and Richmond advanced well over the valuations of 1918.

The year just closed marked one of the greatest construction periods ever experienced by Indiana. Indianapolis far exceeded any other year in her history in regard to money spent on building, the total for the twelve months being, estimated valuation, $12,794,550, while 686 more permits were issued in 1919 than in any other previous year.

Word from the building inspectors about the state is fraught with optimism for the future, each one expressing the opinion that Spring should usher in the greatest building year ever known.

CONTRACTING FIRM

Encourages Spirit of Co-peration and Interchange of Ideas.

Large contracting firms, like mercantile and other commercial concerns have awakened to the need of personal efficiency and co-operation within their forces. The M. J. Hoffman Construction Co., Evansville, to encourage this spirit gave a banquet at the Vendome Hotel where the officers, directors, department heads, field representatives, superintendents and stockholders gathered to review the year's activities, interchange suggestions and encourage ideas that would aid the entire organization in meeting the future building situation.

M. J. Hoffman, head of the company, expressed his wishes for a happy and proseprous new year to all and made a brief talk.

A. J. Hoffman, who presided at the meeting which followed the dinner, made a talk, in which he praised the spirit of co-operation in the company's organization. He gave credit to the minor as well as the chief executives for the good showing.

Other speakers were B. H. Diehl, secretary; W. C. Erier, E. R. Steeg and J. H. Iglehart.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

Members of the Building Trades Employers' Association please take notice that hereafter all official communications will be found on this page.

The Calumet District is face to face with the biggest and most promising year in its history, one that indicates industrial expansion on a vast scale, employment of thousands of more men, and additions to housing facilities that will make for large increases in population.

The cold spell has practically stopped all building operation until the weather moderates some.

J. K. Doppler is doing some wonderful concrete work in tanks and retainers for the International Lead Refinery Company at East Chicago.

Anyone desiring to get a correct knowledge of the wonderful progress and what is contemplated for the near future and vast possiblities of the Calumet District, can get a splendid statement of facts by writing to the Lake County Times, Hammond, for their issue of December 31st, 1919.

George Bates can hardly be approached since he got his new Chandler. Some bus!

The International Hod Carriers Buildng and Common Laborers Union is sending out to employers of labor an agreement which they are asking them to sign for a new scale of wages for 1920. Plaster labor, 85 cents per hour; Hod carriers, building and cement, sewer, plumbers, tile roofers, sewer and street laborers, 75 cents for all common labor; excavating and county laborers, 65 cents per hour. This is a matter that will have to be taken up by the committee appointed for that purpose and an agreement arrived at.

During the year 1919 despite the unrest and unsettled conditions a vast amount of building was done and if conditions had been more favorable, material and labor prices more reasonable, a greater amount of building would have been done. Let us hope the coming year will be better, that the unrest and unstable conditions will pass, and that the employer and employes will get together in a better understanding. When this is done better conditions will be had for all concerned. When Capital and Labor both realize that each has a right to participate in the returns and that each have rights which should be respected and that only by justice, co-operation and fair dealing can good and settled conditions prevail, then will ideal conditions prevail.

G. A. Johnson has received many compliments for the manner in which he has pushed the work on Judge Reiter's residence.

The Gordon job at Whiting has not been let at this writing.

In the early part of 1920 the new filtration plant at East Chicago, will be completed. Nearly one-half million dollars will be spent on park development, including the possible improvement of a lake front bathing beach. The sum of $350,000 at least will be used to increase schoolhouse facilities, another fire station will be built, the park system beautified, and a hospital project will be carried out. Besides industrial and civic projects many individual citizens contemplate the erection of new homes.

CONVENTION

Of Builders' Exchanges at Indianapolis Fraught With Interest.

Summed up, boiled down, elaborated upon or analyzed, the proceedings of the Ninth Annual Convention of the National Association of Builders Exchanges, held at Indianapolis, Jan. 13th, 14th and 15th, reveal one predominating feature and that deals with the necessity for a fast and firm organization of builders the country over. The vital business of the assemblage hinged about that one element; from it radiated most of the action. At times the discussions differentiated to other channels only to revert to those things that, in their possibilities, would insure and perfect a more thorough organization, redounding to the benefit of the Building Industry. This latter does not mean contracting alone, rather is it used in its broadest sense, for, while contracting interests stand forth prominently, nevertheless, the scope of action extended farther embracing the welfare of the building mechanic, Labor as a whole, the owner and the Public.

Prevailing uncertain conditions called for more than mere discussions, they demanded action, action that would offset the hazards that now confront the building world, or, at least, might offer a possible remedy to obviate them and work to the salvation of all concerned.

DAYS' PROBLEMS CALLED FOR SERIOUS CONSIDERATION

It was one of the most momentous and spirited conventions ever held by the National Association, and that which was proposed or done marked a long forward step in the progress of the National body. Never once was the purpose for which this organization was formed lost sight of.

The delegates were constantly reminded of the value of co-operation and organization by those who took the floor. Prest. Charles William Bernhardt, Atlanta, Ga., called the attention of those of the convention to the seriousness of present day conditions and to the fact that many of the delegates had traveled hundreds of miles, not for the purpose of merely attending a convention but to transact business, business of a vital nature. Nor were his words unheeded; every delegate buckled down to work, threw his soul, as it were, into the proceedings and no time was wasted in delving into the various problems that arose in an effort to provide a means whereby some satisfactory solution might be reached that would lead out into the light of a Land of Promise, a land of stable business conditions and fair dealings on all sides.

Many and varied were the discussions, in the main, dealing with the Labor situation, Legislation, Jurisdictional Awards, various Relations of the Contractor, Ethical Practices and Financing, all focusing on the one underlying idea, Organization and its perfection for the greatest common good. Long will the memories of the deliberations of the 1920 convention linger with those who were favored by Fortune to attend this gathering at Indianapolis. They were afforded the privilege of imbibing information of inestimable value, one that will imbue with an inspiration that will go back with them to their home cities to accrue to the benefit of the numerous local Exchanges and all those who are connected therewith.

It is safe to say that those who visited Indianapolis will carry home a new conception of what Americanism really is, the import of the word, its tendency to strip a man of total selfishness and place within his breast, instead, a new spirit, a new conception of duty, counting not the cost in the ceaseless vigil it requires to protect the sacred institution of freedom for which our government stands. Radicalism, Bolshevism, I. W. W. operations and all Un-American demonstrations that have arisen under the head of the Red Agitation to disrupt, to tear down, to wreck, were flayed unmericifully during the sessions, not once, but countless times to make the red blood of auditors course faster and inspire a determination to fight these evils to the last ditch. Truly it was a great convention.

OPENING OF THE CONVENTION

Proceedings began Tuesday morning January 13, in the assembly room at the Claypool Hotel, Charles Wm. Bernhardt, calling the convention to order. Mayor Charles W. Jewett welcomed the visitors to Indianapolis agreeing to turn over the keys of the city but asked casually, "What is there to unlock these days?" Harrison Walters, President of the Indianapolis Building Contractors Association and Builders Exchange, in behalf of the local organization, also welcomed the delegates. Dan Carey, Atlanta, Ga., secretary of the National Association, responded. The remainder of the day was given over to reports of officers and various committees. Other speakers on the convention program were Governor James Goodrich, "Organization"; Ex. U. S. Senator Albert J. Beveridge, "Americanism"; Judge Solon J. Carter, "Legislation."

Wednesday morning the delegates got down to real business and for two days there was a busy time.

Among other things discussed was the relation of the contractor to the sub contractor. Those present were admonished to play fair in all their dealings and never to forget that when trouble arose between employer and employe resulting in strikes it is the Public who really suffers most. The obligation of a contract should be inviolate as should be the working agreements. If such applies to the contractor so also does it apply to Labor and both should be compelled to respect their part of the obligation. The building men were admonished to eliminate selfishness and work in co-operation and full accord with all those engaged in the industry.

SEEK TO COMBAT SCARCITY OF LABOR

The need for the development of skilled labor to meet the growing scarcity of such and the heavy demand for same came up for consideration. It was acknowledged that the National Association of Builders Exchanges had neglected this matter and it was advocated that the National body take an active interest in an effort to educate apprentices that they may become more efficient; vocational training was recognized as a means to that end and all Exchanges are to be urged to encourage such education not only that the boys may be made proficient along mechanical lines but may be placed in the position of having a trade at their command when they start out to make a living. It was also urged that a committee be appointed to treat with Labor Unions to have the age limit on apprentices removed so that more and older boys may be inducted into the building trades to circumvent the labor shortage.

DISCUSSION OF FINANCES

A matter of interest that aroused considerable discussion pertained to a refinancing of the National Association. Some favored a raising of the dues of local exchanges for membership in the National to $2.50 per capita but since many of the delegates were not empowered to vote on such a proposition it was decided to have the various secretaries return home and secure an opinion from their constituents relative to this matter.

INTERCHANGE OF CORRESPONDENCE ADVOCATED

It was considered advisable to have the secretaries of the various local exchanges interchange letters as to the workings of their exchanges and also to communicate once a month with the National secretary that he might better have a clearer conception of what was being accomplished about the country.

ATTITUDE OF LABOR DISCUSSED

There was no more interesting or stirring period during the entire session than those hours when the attitude of Labor was up for discussion. The radicalism that has crept into Labor's ranks was condemned without stint or equivocation and it was the sense of those present that the National Association of Builders Exchanges work unceasingly with the American Federation of Labor to eliminate the cancer that has fastened its tentacles upon the great American Labor Organization to disrupt and destroy its efficiency for good. The Federation to save itself and the American workman must stamp out the evil; it must thoroughly Americanize its personnel and rid itself of the Foreign taint that has done so much to call down maledictions upon the Federation. Some expressed a preference for a scarcity of labor rather than an influx of undesirable aliens to fill the breach. Bills to restrict immigration were favored to the extent that a stricter vigil be placed upon immigrants and unless it was their intention to declare for American citizenship they should be prevented from entering the country. Those of the convention favored America offering asylum to Foreigners of good intention seeking to escape the oppression of their own lands but took the stand for the absolute exclusion of all of the Bolshevistic or Soviet type. Quite a few delegates held to the argument that many of the American Federation favored a closed door as applied to Foreign labor simply for a selfish motive as a means to limit the labor supply and thus force up wages. The restrictions placed on laboring men as to the amount of work they shall perform in a given time was bemoaned as a slowing up of production since one of the best ways to overcome the high cost of living is to speed up production. Labor must broaden its vision and be made to realize that it must produce in proportion to the wage paid, that that which holds the employer liable likewise binds labor to its side of the bargain.

Savannah, Ga., was selected as the meeting place of the convention next year.

There was no contest when the annual election of officers was called it being unanimously agreed to continue the present incumbents in office for the coming year, except that Secretary Dan Carey, Atlanta, Ga., resigned for business reasons and his successor it to be appointed later. The officers are:

Chas. Wm. Bernhardt, Atlanta, Ga., president; C. A. Dubel, Sioux City, Ia., first vice president; Wm. F. Chew, Baltimore, Md., second vice president; B. M. Freeman, Columbus, O., treasurer.

REPRESENTATIVES

Of Building Material Manufacturers Organize on National Scale.

One of the outgrowths of the convention of the National Association of Builders Exchanges at Indianapolis during the past week was the formation of the National Association of Building Material and Contractors Equipment Representatives.

The organization bee alighted in the midst of the various representatives as above named who were in attendance at the Builders' meeting and steps were taken to perfect a permanent association. J. N. Davis, Savannah, Ga., was named president and Merlin Thomson, Savannah, secretary. The following committee was appointed to draw up a constitution and by-laws: W. N. Harding, Jr., chairman; W. M. Kurman, George Moring, Thomas Murray, Paul Jordan and C. B. Mayer, all of Indianapolis. The new association will meet at Savannah next year at the same time the National Association of Builders Exchanges holds its national convention.

SPIRITED DISCUSSIONS

Mark Progress of Building Trades Employers' First Annual Meeting.

Americanism, in all those ramifications, that tend toward a complete development of forces for an efficiency that will counteract the retarding effects imposed upon the construction industry by present day conditions and problems, was the keynote sounded at the First Annual Convention of the NATIONAL BUILDING TRADES' EMPLOYERS ASSOCIATION held in Indianapolis, January 12th.

There was a strong representative gathering of building trades' employers from all over the country in attendance who came prepared for action, ready to tackle the various complex phases that have arisen to confuse and restrict their business operations.

The growth of the new association has been rapid and the spirit and strength it has acquired places it in a position as a power with which to be reckoned in the near future.

Unsettled conditions lent promise to the association in its incipiency. There was a mission for such a body, a felt want for it, in that its function offered the opportunity for a restitution of individual freedom to the employer. The new organization can now go forth as a virile missionary of organization and co-operation in the cause of the establishment of mutuality among the employers of building labor, as one of the main tenets is a fair deal to all, both employer and employe.

Just a year ago a committee was appointed by the National Association of Builders Exchanges at Milwaukee to form a Building Trades Employers Organization, the purpose being to unite all building contractors under one head for protection, to fight for their rights against the continued demands of the Unions.

The committee found the time propitious for the formation of the proposed association and after months of preliminary work called a meeting in September at Chicago where a constitution and by-laws were adopted and officers elected. The scheme met with instant favor and immediately requests for information relative to membership began to pour in. Success depended upon all cities working together and all effort has been made to create a body that will work in the interest of the whole building contracting industry rather than in the interest of individual localities. The local organizations must be strong enough to cope with local labor situations if possible and at the same time be prepared to work with the National body as a whole so that Labor problems, arising in the Building Industry the country over, may be met and solved for the benefit of all.

GREAT NEED FOR ORGANIZATION FELT

The crying need for strong organization that will inculcate co-operation and fair dealing between employers themselves, also between employer and employee, and encourage practices that will lead to a general harmonius atmosphere in the building construction field, stood forth as the big feature for consideration throughout the proceedings. It is only by the accomplishment of the above that petty jealousies and irritating misunderstandings, so long a disturbing element in this field of endeavor, can be eliminated.

That the time for constructive action has arrived, to supersede agitation and confusion, seemed to be the inspirational motive that moved those in attendance when they took the floor to voice an opinion. Attorney H. C. Fenton, Indianapolis, who delivered the address of welcome to the visiting delegates clearly defined the way that lies before the contractor. He said in part: "In these days of Red agitation, when the country has been sorely disturbed and tried it has devolved upon the employer to offer a remedy, a surcease for the evil. It is the duty of the Contracting Employers, Constructors, to hold the country together, to rebuild that which has been damaged or torn down. Labor offers a solution by its great organization, and the contractor must organize. He must organize for protection and appoint competent officers to deal collectively with the problems that arise.

"The day of individuality is past; the time has arrived for organization; the questions to be met are greater and there must be a centralized head to meet and handle them. It is a significant fact that you building trades employers have met here at Indianapolis, a strong Union Headquarters, to crystalize upon an organization to counter-balance the power wielded by these Unions. Unity of purpose and action for protection is a great thing and I am glad to see you getting together on this organization idea; it is a thing that has been delayed too long."

SHORTAGE OF LABOR UNIVERSAL

Organized in the main for the purpose of dealing chiefly with the labor question as it affects the building industry the new association has found a big problem before it. Everywhere has arisen the cry of a shortage of labor and those interested in the National Building Trades Employers Association have been quick to realize the seriousness of the situation. Delegates to the Indianapolis convention from all sections of the country, from Boston to St. Louis and Duluth to Savannah, deprecated the lack of skilled mechanics. Every man who arose to participate in discussions on the convention floor bemoaned the scarcity of labor and stated that one of the besetting evils of the building industry today was the restriction placed on apprentices which limited the supply of craftsmen and prevented a full development of the one force that would provide sufficient and competent men to meet the shortage that yearly is growing to hamper building operations and activities.

PLEAS FOR EDUCATION OF APPRENTICES

Many potent arguments were advanced at the convention to deal with this feature of the labor situation and encourage a means whereby it might be negatived. Mr. John Griffith of Chicago, moved that the association encourage the various labor unions to take all the apprentices available. He further advised that efforts be made to encourage the education of these apprentices that their skill might be enhanced. To illustrate his contention he recited the fact that the employers had banded together and had succeeded in making arrangements with the Board of Education whereby hundreds of working apprentices in his city are now availing themselves of the opportunity to attend technical schools of the city one-half day each week in order to perfect themselves in mechanical educational branches.

Along the same line delegates from Washington, D. C., told of how the building employers were seeking to establish a trade school for apprentices. They said the move had been favorably received by the labor unions, financial interests and the various employers of the building crafts. The crafts had accepted the proposition as a demonstration of the fairness which the employers wished to exert in dealing with their men.

STATE TRADE SCHOOLS URGED

As a means to facilitate the education of apprentices and encourage such action for the development of full-fledged, competent workmen, Mr. E. Bohn, Cleveland, O., called attention of the convention to the Smith-Hughes Act which was recently made a National Law. This measure, which was heartily endorsed by the American Federation of Labor, provides that the Government appropriate dollar for dollar as appropriated by each State for the establishment of trade schools. He appealed to the delegates to take into consideration this legislation and exert their efforts for the passage of State laws to provide such funds by the individual States that such schools may become a reality. Action to this end, he contended, would materially aid in increasing the efficiency of the employe.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED

In the matter of resolutions, the following were introduced and adopted:

The NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF BUILDING TRADES EMPLOYERS in addition to the objects specificially declared in its Constitution, hereby declares the purposes for which it stands, and the objects it shall work for accomplishment, are:

We stand for the complete elimination of jurisdictional disputes, and in this behalf, we insist upon the proper revison of present jurisdictional decisions and awards to eliminate overlapping and conflicting claims. We further insist upon the right of the employers of building mechanics to participate in the revision of jurisdictional decisions and awards, and that all future jursdictional questions and claims shall be decided by a properly constituted Board made up of representatives of this Organization and its employees, and we demand that pending the disposition of a jurisdictional claim by the Board to be so created, there shall be no cessation or stoppage of work, and that the contractor shall use whatever mechanics he may desire for the erection of work in dispute until a final decision is rendered, and that when a final decision shall have been made, all parties must conform to and abide thereby.

The promulgation of a Uniform National Agreement with respect to the terms and conditions of employment; wages and hours to be determined by a zone system.

To require by an Agreement between the members of this Organization and their employees, the settlement of all disputes of every kind and charactre by arbitration without any cessation or stoppage of work.

To organize associations of contractors in every industrial community of importance throughout the country to the end that, in the shortest possible time, this Association, through the affiliation of National, State and Local Organizations, shall become representative of and have jurisdiction over the greatest possible number of contractors.

We further declare that this Association is not organized as an instrument of oppression for either employer or employee, but that its purpose shall be to promote the best interests of employers, employees and the public.

We further declare that the Association stands for fair dealing and for a full measure of respect for the equitable rights and privileges of all parties concerned, and for the promotion of the policies of this Association, and the consummation at the earliest possible moment of its Objects, we ask for the earnest, enthusiastic and loyal co-operation and support of good citizens of every trade in general, and from contractors and building mechanics in particular.

RESOLVED, That it is the sense of this meeting that overtime work is detrimental to the best interests of the building industry and that every effort possible should be made by contractors in all parts of the country to discourage the practice, except in emergency cases where life and property are in jeopardy.

RESOLVED, That it is the sense of this meeting that the practice of using the word "minimum" in connection with the agreed wage scale is detrimental to the industry and should be abandoned.

RESOLVED, That the National Association of Building Trades Employers recommend to the members that on account of the unsettled conditions wherever or whenever lump sum estimates are requested or submitted for contract work, the bidder shall protect himself by inserting in his proposition a paragraph substantially to this effect:

> "The above proposition is based upon the cost of labor and materials as of this date, as per schedule hereto attached. If increase or decrease in cost of material and labor occurs on this work, the owner will be charged or credited for such increase or decrease over or under prices which existed at date of contract."

And such paragraph ought to be inserted in all lump sum contracts for the protection of the contractor, and

RESOLVED, That it is recommended that should any lump sum proposal or contract provide that any work shall be performed at any other time than the regular working day or eight hours, the extra expense incurred by the contractor doing such work shall be added to the original sum stipulated in the contract.

WHEREAS, The lack of apprentices in the building trades is being seriously felt at the present time on account of scarcity of competent mechanics to do building construction work, and

WHEREAS, The necessity of providing for mechanics is apparent to those engaged in the industry and should receive the early and serious consideration of all contractors, be it

RESOLVED, That members of this Association be instructed to use every means possible to encourage the young men in their respective localities to enter apprenticeships in the numerous building trades.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

These officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Andrew Lanquist of Chicago, president; George Donelly, Cleveland, O., first vice president; V. R. Gould, Omaha, Neb., second vice president; E. J. Thomas, Memphis, Tenn., third vice president; Max Bauman, New York, treasurer, and the following were chosen as members of the executive committee: C. J. Kelley, New York; D. T. NAMES DESIRED

Sec'y Harrison Requests Information As to Committee Appointments.

That plans for active organizations may be formulated for the coming year, the officers of the Indiana Society of Architects desire all committee chairmen to get busy at once and name their committee personnel. Letters were sent to all the chairmen of the standing committees but only A. F. Wickes, W. D. Miller, O. C. Brubaker and Charles Brossman have replied. It is important that all committee memberships be filled immediately and replies are requested by Secretary Merritt Harrison, Indianapolis, not later than January 24th.

While it is impossible to announce the committees at present, the following architects have been recommended for committee work: D. B. Shourds, Terre Haute; Rodney W. Leonard, Frankfort; Everett Brown, Bluffton; J. M. Le Vee, Gary; Guy Mahurin, Fort Wayne; L. A. Turnock, Elkhart; C. E. Bacon, W. H. Garns, E. D. Pierre, Robert Frost Daggett, Indianapolis.

There will be a meeting of the directors of the Society at Indianapolis, Februray 3rd, at which a full representation is desired as there are important matters to be decided.

BUILDERS' EXCHANGE

At Ft. Wayne to Contribute Regular Weekly Page as Recorder Feature.

At a recent meeting of the Ft. Wayne Builders Exchange the Board of Directors voted to endorse the Indiana Construction Recorder and make it the official organ of that association.

Beginning January 24th, there will be a regular Ft. Wayne page each week upon which will appear all official notices of the Builders Exchange of that city, also current and personal news relative to the Exchange and its members.

At the Executive Board meeting it was decided to have every Association affiliated with the Exchange send a representative to the State meeting of the Associated Contractors of Indiana at Indianapolis on Feb. 3 and 4. This will afford Ft. Wayne a strong representative delegation.

The Sheet Metal Contractors Association was organized on Friday night, Jan. 9, into a permanent organization. Constitution and by-laws were adopted. The election of officers resulted in the following being named: Henry F. Aumann, President; John C. Kreidt, Vice-President; M. A. Rundell, Secretary and Charles Welch, Treasurer.

The regular meeting night is the second Friday of each month. The next meeting will be held on Friday Feb. 13.

Meetings for the month:

Monday evening January 19—Builders Association.

Tuesday evening, Jan. 20—Ft. Wayne Society of Sanitary Engineers.

Wednesday evening, Jan. 21—Master House Painters and Decorators Association.

Thursday evening, Jan. 22—Plastering Contractors Association.

QUANTITY SURVEY

Advantages and Merits Elaborated Upon by Prominent Mill Man.

Were is not for the plans and specifications for a building as prepared by the Architect uniformity of requirements would not be possible in the minds of able bidders. In spite of the existence of plans and specifications which are passed down the line by a general bidder, Architect or owner, for estimating purposes, there develops a vast difference in figures in the totals arrived at by the general bidder and the estimated cost quoted the owner.

That the basic cost Per varies but slightly from experiences honestly arrived at is an established fact, known to the observant wide awake affiliating in crafts. In spite of favorable comparisons as to cost there appear many times somewhere down the line great differences, generally the fault of error in quantities. At this time there should be no difference between the person calling the attention of the grocer to the fact that he has made an error and about to cheat himself out of ten cents and the general contractor who is about to let a certain subcontractor cheat himself through error, or an architect or owner who is about to take advantage of an error by a general contractor. Differences are generally found to be in "quantities."

ADVANTAGES TO BE GAINED

"Quantity Survey" would do away with "Guess to making" and then only if used by all; when it would eliminate uncertainty and conditions of mind that too often condemn, either mentally or verbally, stamping business men as fools, skinners or get-rich quick merchants, and, above all, the ignorant and incapable. In these times of new level there is no reason for estimating in the dark, risking errors both in quantity and in price by reason of gross ignorance in not keeping up on cost data. During the last few weeks a good demonstration materialized where one general contractor of a certain community ranged lowest bidder on four jobs in size of about $100,000.00 to a little less than $300,000.00 on the largest one. The developed differences were from 30 to 40% between bids and the highest which was less than 10% higher than the fourth highest bidder's prices.

I believe if a Quantity Survey for each craft were made on these jobs this General Contractor's prices bids would stand relatively different.

UNFAIR TO CAPITALIZE ERRORS

I believe some architects, when large differences show up, start an investigation and analyze, and when convinced the figures do show errors try to bring about corrections. I also believe there are architects who can hardly wait to hook a victim. There are owners in the same boat.

Such cases become generally known and the evils of the present system of bidding should be eliminated to improve the personnel of the various crafts. Common sense will teach any one that great variations in bids on the same work are truly errors. Any one knows that if one painter figured a job according to specifications and arrived at a bid of say $5000.00 and another figured the same job at $2700.-00 that one or the other made an error. To use the low men's prices before one is satisfied that the high man is wrong is not good business. It is not fair to rob Peter to pay Paul or even worse, break a firm by snapping up an error.

ASSOCIATE SURVEY BOARD SUGGESTED

A Quantity Survey would stop such breaks. Even though one prefers to make his own, he has a medium to compare by.

Whether this Survey be done by agents of the Architect or by those of contracting bidders is a matter of detail. The latter to my mind is preferable because, through association or affiliation, quarters may be arranged for for as many quantity surveyors as are demanded by the various crafts, several of whom may use the same surveyor when the crafts are closely allied. A working board of directors, one from each craft and one from the local association of Architects could manage such an enterprise very satisfactorily.

However a survey by the Architects' expert would be much the easier and perhaps the more economical providing this expert or experts are sufficiently acquainted with terms, method of listing, etc., which is a necessity in estimating values. From experience I find that in the planing mill end of it a listed bill must have many descriptions along with figures and names that are essential to proper price fixing.

This is perhaps true in other crafts' lists, and especially those having to figure placed items on 1st floor and so on till same items near the roof enter into list at greater cost placed.

Some planing mills in our city have and are jointly paying the upkeep of a survey bureau. It has been a great help in many ways, the most important being that it is able to take care of the overflow. I am saying this as being the most important because instead of entire co-operation only about five or six contribute and these use it only if caught with too much estimating at one time. However it is a great time-saver and while the cost is nominal each of us would have to carry an extra estimator on the payroll at a considerable expense.

ASSURED OF CORRECT QUANTITIES

The real good is that any millwork bill from that source is the same in quantity to those calling for a copy on the same job and if no other figures the job than those using a Survey bill the totals will not be much apart on account of quantity.

When the estimators at the plant prices the items set forth on the Quantity Surveyor's bill he has before him the plans as a guide, the details are referred to and so on. As he goes on through the bill pricing each item he also checks the work step by step and in that way catches errors if any were made by the Quantity Surveyor. If he finds any he notes them and notifies the Surveyor's office who in turn notifies any others, using the bill, of the corrections.

If I may express my opinion, it is this:

Plan a meeting of represetative contractors, subcontractors of all crafts entering into the building of your creations, to meet with your committee for expressions of a scheme to manage a survey bureau. Get answers to the two questions of Survey by the Crafts or Survey by the Architects as part of Plans and Specifications. There are many angles to the question and from interviews I have had since your worthy Secretary wished this subject upon me, I find that the scheme will be slow growing in the minds of some and eagerly supported by others.

I have read Mr. William Graves Smith's reports to a Committee on Methods. I have read Mr. H. W. Nelson's Statement to the same committee. This latter report submitting "The Nelson Form," etc., is good material to consider along with the Quantity Survey Subject. The Kelly System is also interesting.

These are worthy reading and enlightening and should be a great influence in studying the questions of Reform in the Building and Contracting Business, from Architect to the Sub-Contractor.—Address delivered before the Indiana Society of Architects by George Maas, Indianapolis.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

Members of the Building Trades Employers' Association please take notice that hereafter all official communications will be found on this page.

We are glad to hear that our page is receiving favorable comment throughout the state.

The members will be furnished a list of the nominees for the different offices in the near future. The election will be Tuesday evening, January 20. Mark the date.

Those of our members that failed to attend the meeting last Tuesday evening on account of the snow, missed an interesting meeting.

There will be a special meeting called in the near future to consider the demands of the Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers.

R. G. Smith & Company, of Chicago, Architects, were selected by the building committee to draw the plans for the $300,000 addition to the Masonic Temple.

The Board of Directors are planning an entertainment and supper January 27, for the members and representatives of the Building Trades Unions. Good speakers, good entertainers and, best of all, good eats will be provided. Don't forget.

The members of the S. J. Gregory Theatrical Company who have the 99 year lease on the Kleihege property, and are improving it by erecting thereon a $250,000 modern theater building, have secured a like lease on the Hohman property, corner State and Hohman streets. They will erect a modern building to replace the present building some time within the next five years.

Architect Mac Turner is preparing plans for Mr. Kedzik of Indiana Harbor for a theatre building on Fir street, to cost about $70,000 also for Ed Simon for a second story addition to his cigar factory in Hohman street, Hammond, to cost about $10,000; and a brick store building to cost about $10,000 for Mr. B. Pollock, of Whiting.

Frank G. Wall, who is erecting two large buildings at the George Lambert plant at East Chicago, is handicapped by the shortage of laborers.

John F. Rahn, of East Chicago, is building an addition to the Marks Steel Plant, Indiana Harbor.

There is considerable difference of opinion regarding the Supreme Court's decision on the lien law. Some say it will have a tendency to knock out the small contractor.

The Calumet Lumber Company will soon be ready to move to their new yards near the Canal.

L. E. Granger and E. E. Cole were the delegates from the Calumet District in attendance at the Ninth Annual Convention of the National Association of Builders Exchanges at Indianapolis, Jan. 12th to 15th inclusive. They were sent as representatives of the Building Trades Employer's Association.

Architects say the cold spell has put a crimp in business.

POSSIBILITIES

Offered as Outgrowth of A. B. C. Convention Draw Attention of Indiana Contractors.

An affair of interest to the State Construction Industry, and one worthy of due consideration on the part of every Indiana general and sub-contractor is fast approaching. It is the Second Annual Convention of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana to be held at Indianapolis, February 3rd and 4th.

Never before has there been a gathering of State building construction forces of such vital importance or one filled with such latent possibilities for the advancement of the building industry.

The cry has arisen, to echo throughout the country, calling for more co-operative endeavor amongst those engaged in the construction field. Everyone seems to realize that the day of individual prowess is past, that there must be organized effort on the part of the whole if there is to be protection; advancement and achievement. This was the sentiment expressed throughout the Conventions of the National Association of Builders Exchanges and the National Association of the Building Trades Employers held at Indianapolis last week, and what is true nationally holds good for both state and local interests.

It is the object of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana to encourage and foster local organizations throughout the state and act as a co-ordinating force for the welfare of the entire state building industry. Such an organization will eliminate selfishness, inspire a broad spirit of co-operation and create harmonious business relationships among all concerned.

The Associated Building Contractors of Indiana came into existence in 1918, the need for such an organization being felt by many of the contractors about the state. The first annual convention was held at Fort Wayne at which an organization was perfected, a constitution and by-laws was adopted and officers and an executive board elected. Little do the contractors of Indiana realize how this pioneer band of organizers set to work to safeguard the contracting interests; the things they accomplished and through their efforts attained material benefits. They watched legislation that came up at Indianapolis for enactment into laws and fought hard against those bills that might jeopardize the contractors' interests. They stood off encroachments of labor and were instrumental in holding down compensation insurance rates. This is one of the big functions of the state organization, to scrutenize legislation pertaining to the construction industry, and be able to muster forces that can oppose that which is vicious or harmful and further that which would accrue to the benefit of those engaged in construction work.

Then, too, the state association has been active in matters relating to the relations between employer and employe. Labor, strongly organized, has recognized the A. B. C. and worked in harmony with the new body. By this means the officers of the A. B. C. have been enabled to smoothe out numerous labor difficulties, settle jurisdictional disputes and also adjust misunderstandings between bosses. All this, and the work is just begun.

At the convention there will be brought up matters for discussion and elucidation touching on Legislation, Labor, the Relationship between Contractors, Finance, Uniform Contract Adoption, and the Relationship between Architect and Contractor.

President A. J. Hoffman, Evansville, upon invitation from the Architects stated the contractors' side of the case at the semi-annual meeting of the Indiana Society of Architects and has extended the following invitation to E. Hill Turnock, Elkhart, Indiana, President of the Architects' Society to speak to the contractors of the state in February.

Mr. E. Hill Turnock, Pres.
Indiana Society of Architects,
Elkhart, Indiana.
Dear Sir:—

It was indeed a pleasure to the writer to have had the opportunity of attending the semi-annual meeting of your Society in Indianapolis last month. There is no doubt but what a great deal of good can be expected as a result of such co-operation between our Associations.

On February 3rd and 4th we will hold our Annual Convention in the city of Indianapolis and it is the wish of our Executive Committee that we extend to you an invitation to come before our Association and give us the Architect's viewpoint on "The Relationship Between Architects and Contractors." We are looking forward with a great deal of interest to this occasion and will ask that you try to arrange to favor us by permitting us to place your name on the program for this address in the afternoon of February 4th.

Kindly let us hear from you so that our program can be definitely arranged for that event. I might add that it will be a great disappointment to us if you cannot arrange to be present at this meeting, however, if not, we trust that you can extend this invitation to some other member of your Society who will favor us with such an address.

Again thanking you for the opportunity of being present at your meeting last month and looking forward with a great deal of pleasure in anticipating having you with us at our next meeting, and with kindest personal regards from the writer, I beg to remain

Respectfully yours,

ASSOCIATED BUILDING CONTRACTORS OF INDIANA.
Per A. J. Hoffman, Pres.

Mr. Turnock's acceptance:
Mr. A. J. Hoffman,
Evansville, Ind.
My Dear Mr. Hoffman:—

I received with pleasure you invitation to speak at your meeting, the afternoon of the 4th of February next.

I will do my best to be with you and say a little something to you all that may be mutually beneficial.

Yours cordially,
E. H. TURNOCK.

Word has been received from the local contractors' organizations at Anderson, Evansville, Fort Wayne, Gary, Hammond, Muncie, South Bend, Terre Haute and Vincennes that they will send delegations to the convention while many individual contractors in the smaller cities have signified their intention of attending. The convention has also aroused the interest of the material men about the state who are also contemplating taking in the proceedings.

It is as Charles Wm. Bernhardt, Atlanta, Georgia, President of the National Association of Builders Exchanges said, "The welfare of all those interested in the erection of a building is identical, irrespective of the part they play in its erection. Each in turn is dependent on the other for his success. This would seem to be conclusive in itself and should justify active endeavor in a broad spirit, so that these interests, which are so inseparably linked together, may reap a benefit from a closer affiliation."

CONTRACTORS ELECT

The Anderson Contractors Association at their annual meeting, January 20, elected the following officers for the coming year: Ross Eshelman, President;W. E. Thompson, Vice President; Harry Thomas, Treasurer; Blythe Johnson, Secretary and M. J. Downey, Trustee. It was one of the most enthusiastic meetings ever held by the members of the organization and the outlook is good for a big year for the Association.

Just to take the kinks out of their arms and limber up a wee bit after hours spent over drafting boards, several of the draftsmen from Indianapolis architects' offices have formed a bowling team. They are known as the Triangles and are scattering the pins right and left in a local bowling league.

The members of the team are: Captain, Fred Smith, of C. E. Bacon's office; W. D. Leonard, of Rubush & Hunter's; John Hagel, of Wm. E. Russ'; J. E. Woodward, of Charles Byfield's; Associate members are C. E. Bacon, C. B. Mayer, C. McIlwaine.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

Members of the Building Trades Employers' Association please take notice that hereafter all official communications will be found on this page.

The concensus of opinion at the Indianapolis convention was that the coming season will be the greatest known in the building industry if prices on labor and material become settled.

Norris & Kraft, architects, are preparing plans for a $50,000 fire station to be built at Calumet, East Chicago, this spring.

The Secretary and Chairman of the Board of Directors attended the Convention of the National Builders Exchange at Indianapolis Jan. 13th. It was a very interesting meeting.

Fort Wayne builders know a good thing when they see it. They are going to have a page of their own in the Indiana Construction Recorder.

Talk about keynotes, Maloney, the Plumber, of Gary, is some little keynoter himself. He made a ripping good speech at the Convention, Tuesday. He certainly brought out the facts in the case.

That surely was a mean trick played on banker P. W. Wewn, who had his new Buick limousine only one day when he drove to Chicago, stopped at the Auto Club for lunch and someone copped the machine. The next time he will drive the "Lizzie."

Don't forget the supper the 27th.

John O. Donaldson, the hustling Sibley street Plumber, has landed the contract for 25 houses on the South Side.

Some village is Indianapolis. If they would spend a few dollars for sidewalks on some of the main streets it would be nearly as good as HAMMOND.

Rufus Danner is rushing the foundation work on the theatre building on Hohman street and the remodeling of the front of the old Kleihege Building, regardless of the cold weather.

The contractors on the Paxton Building on Hohman street have finished the setting of the terra cotta on the front. Too bad Mr. Paxton could not be persuaded to add another story. Where is his civic pride?

We are assured that the long talked about seven story hotel at the corner of State and Hohman streets, Hammond, will be built this year and work will be started in the spring.

Frank G. Wall has the second story of the Bank Building at East Chicago about ready for the interior trim. When he gets it done this time it ought to be a pretty good building as it has been remodeled only three times.

The American Saving & Trust Bank has taken over the Lash Building on State street, which was partly destroyed by fire a few days ago, and will remodel it for a home for the bank.

The Secretary is going on a strike if you don't send in your news items. If you want to make the page a success, HELP.

FACTORS

Bearing on Indiana Building Conditions to be Analyzed at Builders' Convention.

Much hinges on the interest taken in and the outcome of the Second Annual Convention of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana at Indianapolis, February 3rd and 4th.

This gathering of builders from all sections of Indiana promises to develop features of more than ordinary interest to every one engaged in the contracting business. General discussions of fundamental concern are to have a prominent place in the proceedings that advanced ideas may be brought out as how best to protect and advance the interests of the State Construction Industry as a whole, thus necessarily benefiting the individual contractor.

Invitations to attend have been extended to all the various local contractors' associations, also to the individual members, and, in addition, the contractors in the smaller cities and towns of Indiana have been notified that their presence is desired at the convention. By this broad and extended participation it is hoped to instill into the minds of the State contractors the fact that the basic motive of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana is to create harmony and a hearty co-operation between the various forces engaged in the allied branches of the contracting Industry.

The Association was conceived for the purpose of improving construction conditions in the Indiana field. It is hoped to co-ordinate the local city associations and other forces that go to make up the State Construction Industry.

To promote close co-operative relations between contractors, architects, engineers and employer and employe.

To develop and preserve satisfactory conditions in the relationship of the State Industry to the Public, including the State Government, Labor and the Owner.

In cases of common interest to the Industry in general, to take the initiative in investigation, policy, legislation and in such other ways as will prove of benefit to the Industry;

To provide a united organization which will mobilize the entire strength and experience of the State Construction Industry.

The Convention will afford timely opportunity for the consideration of the questions that now confront the Industry as a whole. Conditions are unsettled, more or less chaotic; some claim a crisis is brewing, others maintain it is at hand; Labor is restless and preparing to make new demands; certain legislation features should be given thought and preparations made to safe-guard the Industry in this direction; the matter of contracts has long been a mooted subject and attention is to be devoted to the adoption of the uniform contract which already has been approved by the American Institute of Architects and other co-related interests in the Building field.

Taking into consideration the foregoing facts, special attention was devoted to the time for holding this important assemblage, the most important ever held by the contracting interests of Indiana. The dawn of what promises to be the greatest building year in Indiana's history is at hand and the officers and Executive Board of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana are anxious to find a possible solution to meet the perplexing conditions that now lie before the contracting Industry that a program on concentrated action may be formulated to cope with the situation when the promised flood of new building projects descends.

Every man in the building profession knows the seriousness of conditions; think them over again and arrange to visit Indianapolis February 3rd and 4th, prepared with suggestions that will tend to the perpetuation of a live, strong State contractor's association through which these conditions may be combatted and ameliorated.

FUNCTION

Of Co-operation Readily Adaptable to Relations Existing in Building Field.

One of the most important lessons taught us by the war relates to the value of co-operation.

The successful outcome of the conflict was due largely to the result of the most complete co-operation. Irrespective of race, color, or creed, the allied forces worked, fought, suffered and died side by side. The kinship of humanity came to be understood as never before; common danger, common toil and common suffering developed a spirit of Brotherhood.

As we so oppose ourselves to the problems that confront us, just so we may expect that measure of success in their solution in so far as we continue to be animated by the spirit of co-operation and Brotherhood.

The hope of the future lies in the perpetuation of that spirit, and only through the efforts of those imbued with it will it be possible to establish conditions whereby co-operation may be achieved.

In no other field is this more true than in the Building Industry, since it touches so many elements of personal contact.

It is therefore the duty of every one engaged in this field of endeavor to do all in his power to improve and aid in bringing about conditions that will be conducive to a mutuality. It has frequently been maintained that organized Labor and Employers Associations must necessarily be hostile and antagonistic to each other. But gradually the light is dawning that the opposite is true; they are not enemies, but partners, they have a common interest. Moreover, success cannot be attained through the assumption by any one party of a position of dominance and arbitrary control, rather, it is dependent upon the co-operation of all.

It is regretted that there are employers who regard Labor as their legitimate prey, from whom they feel justified in getting all they can for as little as possible. On the other hand, it is equally as deplorable that some employees often foster a feeling that they are justified in cheating the employers by giving as little in return as possible. This attitude constitutes selfishness which is the great burden of the day.

This condition on the part of one faction or the other resolves the whole thing into a mere matter of effort for money regardless of value rendered and assumes the equivalent of dishonesty; the employer seeking as much labor as possible for a minimum financial outlay; the employe seeking to secure as much money as he can for as little effort as possible. Such types are equally dishonest, one personality being as low as the other.

No business man in the world pays his employe for his labor. Labor and work ought to identify but they do not.

Labor is mere effort; nobody pays a cent for it. Since work constitutes the accomplishment of something it is entitled to wage, salary of fortune. One does not pay wages in order that the employes may put in so many hours; wages and salaries are based on the proportion of value secured during the day, month or year.

Employes are not always practical and sane in their demands on the employer. Their notion of justice often lacks the sense of equity. They see their own case but fail to appreciate the other side's position.

Hence, the question that arises to confront is, how can a relationship be established between the employer and employe that will work to the mutual interest of all? The solution is not veiled of questionable, but absolutely clear and unmistakable. It is through the adequate representation of both factions in council.

Just what part, in such a plan, these two factions can best take remains to be worked out, but it is certain that some method should be devised from the experience and the leadership of both groups, that will prove of inestimable profit to those interests affected. That there should be provision for adequate means for uncovering grievances and promptly adjusting them is of fundamental importance to the success of both factions.

The application of right principle never fails to effect right relations. Men are rapidly coming to see that human life is of greater value than material wealth; that health, happiness and well being of the individual, however humble, is not be sacrificed to the selfish aggrandizement of the more fortunate or more powerful. Whether men work with brain or brawn, they are human beings and are much alike in their cravings, their aspirations, their hatreds, and their capacities for suffering and enjoyment.

Never was there such a need as exists today for leaders, leaders with clear vision and broad sympathy, to establish a foundation for co-operation and solidarity in the Building Industry. This cannot be accomplished with the one faction organized and the other not. Therefore, it is the duty of every employer engaged in the building industry to become a member of an organization with a purpose of meeting Organized Labor on a just and equitable basis. It is imperative that no labor organization be permitted to dictate to the Second Greatest Industry in the country. Through a co-operative effort on the part of builders' organizations and that of Labor, the two should meet in council and demand that which stands for fairness and justice, demand equity, and remember all are dependent one upon the other.

REORGANIZATION

Under Consideration by Evansville Contractors. Want Stronger Ties.

The associated building contractors and allied interests at Evansville have felt the need of a stronger and more binding organization in order to inspire a more equitable and co-operative spirit. At a recent meeting of the Evansville Contractors Association a new constitution and by-laws was introduced for consideration and was favorably received. The matter was taken under advisement and is to be brought up again in the near future for official action.

Much that rules the Hammond Building Trades Employers Association, than which there is no stronger organization in Indiana, has appealed to the contractors of Evansville who hope to model after that flourishing and stable association in northern Indiana.

It is proposed to re-finance the Evansville organization and create more interest in the body that it may become a power and authority for good in the local construction field and encourage practices and methods that will advance the interests of the building industry.

That benefit has been derived from the efforts put forth by the contractors to organize is attested by the fact that the committees appointed to treat with the various Labor crafts over the wage agreements have, in several instances, reached satisfactory conclusions. It was a well known fact that Labor was preparing to make new demands this coming Spring. In order to be prepared, committees were selected by the contractors to secure wage data from the various cities of the State so that some reasonable basis might be reached upon which to negotiate. The data was forthcoming and the contractors went into the Labor conferences fully prepared to play card for card with Labor. Heretofore they had negotiated blindly while Labor had all the facts. The new order that prevailed this year was harmonious and Labor showed a spirit to co-operate rather than demand.

While the new figures are not available for publication at this time it is announced they are satisfactory to both factions and will insure to Evansville skilled mechanics as they are not likely to be lured to some neighboring city by the prospect of better pay. Evansville in times past has suffered from this cause and the prospect is that the Contractors' Association had remedied the evil.

RECENT ACTION

Of Manufacturers' Representatives in Organizing Arouses Interest.

A great deal of interest has been aroused among the building material manufacturers' representatives by the recent organization at Indianapolis of a National Association, the personnel of which is to be made up of material men.

Inquiries are coming in daily asking for full particulars regarding the new organization and the conditions required for membership. Several prominent building material men of Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland and other large cities have written the charter members at Indianapolis, signifying their intention of personally visiting Indianapolis to get the data on the association.

The organization was launched by the material men in attendance at the recent convention of the National Association of Builders' Exchanges at Indianapolis. A constitution and by-laws was adopted and the following officers elected: Prest., John N. Davis, Savannah, Ga.; First Vice Prest., Thomas F. Murray; Second Vice Prest., Wm. Kurman, both of Indianapolis; Third Vice Prest., B. M. Freeman, Columbus, O.; Fourth Vice Prest., J. A. Boland, Jr., Chicago; Secretary, Meldrim Thompson, Savannah, Ga.; Board of Directors, Paul R. Jordan, H. K. Whitney, Wm. H. Harding, Jr., all of Indianapolis; J. W. Rawlings, Detroit, Mich., and B. M. Freeman, Columbus, Ohio.

Meetings for the Week of February 2, 1920.

Monday evening at eight o'clock the Builders' Association will hold their regular meeting. This will be a very important meeting, every member should be present.

The annual meeting of the Builder's Association will be held on Monday evening, February 16. There will be the election of officers and the annual reports of the Association will be made.

Tuesday evning, February 3, the Fort Wayne Society of Sanitary Engineers.

Wednesday evening, February 4, the Master House Painters and Decorators' Association.

Thursday evening, February 5, the Electrical Contractors' Association.

Thursday evening, February 5, the Plasterer Contractors' Association.

The housing proposition started by the Chamber of Commerce, should receive the support of every member of the Exchange, therefore, when the solicitor calls on you for your small donation, make the donation large so that they will not have any trouble in raising the desired amount by February 5.

Fort Wayne must keep pace with other growing cities in this respect. An organized effort must be put forth. If other cities can build homes, certainly Fort Wayne can. Get in and help organize.

The old Bash Packing building, which has stood adjacent to the Wayne Oil Tank and Pump Co. works, has been razed and some other small buildings have been moved or torn down preparatory to the erection of a large building for the Wayne Oil Tank and Pumps Company, to be used as a heavy metal tank shop. This structure will be constructed of concrete and steel, and will practically double the size of the factory. Max Irmscher & Sons have the contract for the new building.

Fort Wayne in 1919 experienced one of her best building years, and if a fair proportion of the prospects now under contemplation materialize the 1920 volume of construction business should outstrip last year's figures.

Fort Wayne contractors realize that each contractor must have a certain amount of work if he is to keep his organization together, and they are working in harmony to furnish continuous employment to their men. Under such conditions workmen are content to abide by the scale agreed upon, and in this way much is accomplished toward stabalizing building costs. The wage scale is decided upon, and then each contractor lives up to it without bidding against his competitors for men.

All crafts are unionized, but in the main are controlled by leaders who recognize an agreement as binding; while naturally not averse to accepting a voluntary increase such as was given them recently by the contractors, they do not demand higher wages than are authorized. While the scale paid labor is lower than in many places in the country, Fort Wayne has had very few strikes, and production is satisfactory.

As an example of the co-operative spirit among the contractors, one of the larger firms recently sublet a good contract to a member of the association without profit, although the former company did assume responsibility for the faithful performance of the contract. This enabled the smaller contractor to maintain his organization and to realize a good profit.

Secretary Eph Dailey, of the Fort Wayne Builder's Exchange, forsook his duties in the local construction field long enough to run down to Indianapolis to attend the special session of the State Legislature when the Women's Suffrage Measure came up for passage.

An omen that augurs well for new building and should mean much to local contractors is the interest taken by the Chamber of Commerce to reach a ways and means to lend encouragement to new factories desiring to locate here.

Quite a few local contractors and building men are planning to visit Indianapolis next week, the attraction being the Second Annual Convention of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana.

Looks as if everybody ought to be good and busy by the time the roses bloom.

Then too, have you ever stopped to consider what the number of large substantial projects, such as hospital, office, bank and lodge buildings means to local construction interests?

Recalling the Indianapolis convention February 3rd and 4th, don't forget the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana got their start at Fort Wayne. Just a year ago the first annual convention was held here and the organization perfected. Max Irmscher was one of the prime movers in the organization's inception.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

Members of the Building Trades Employers' Association please take notice that hereafter all official communications will be found on this page.

The election of officers Tuesday evening, the 20th, brought out a good representative attendance and resulted in the election for the coming year of the following officers:

John G. Meyers, President.
Geo. P. Pearson, First Vice President.
M. G. Lavene, Second Vice President.
J. W. Beckman, Treasurer.
C. S. Rhoades, Secretary.
Max Kline, Jos. K. Doppler, Directors.

Someone announced that lunch was ready—AND SURE—Roy See moved we adjourn; motion carried.

A notice for the Convention to be held at Indianapolis, February 3-4, was received but further action was deferred until further information could be secured by the secretary.

Geo. P. Pearson and son have secured the contract for the 100x100 ft. addition to the W. S. Conkey plant, to cost $10,000, and have started work on the foundation.

Peter Tanis, Jr., has the parsonage for the Christian Reform Church at Lansing, Ill., ready for the interior finish.

The General American Tank Car Co., let a large contract for electrical work to a Chicago firm without giving any local contractor a chance to figure it. The foreign contractor boosted the wages 25 per cent above the union scale paid in this district in order to get electricians away from their regular employers. This works a hardship on the local contractors and causes dissatisfaction among the crafts.

James A. Campbell, head of the Campbell Construction Co., and Campbell Plumbing Co., died very suddenly. The funeral was held January 23rd. He was buried at Oakwood cemetery, Chicago.

Carl Frisk has the contract for the excavating and the Chicago Construction Company, the contract for the buildings for the Pratt Food Company.

Frank G. Wall is repairing the damage done by the boiler explosion at the Interstate Steel Mill, East Chicago, Monday morning, and is rushing the work that the plant may resume operation with the least possible delay.

There will be a convention of the Associated General Contractors at Chicago, February 18-19. From the prospectus sent out it should be a very interesting meeting. The contractors all over the country are beginning to realize the necessity of organization.

The East Chicago Chamber of Commerce sent some staggering statistics to Will R. Wood, Representative, in their efforts to secure a new Federal Building:

Taxable valuation of $87,000,000; Forty industries with pay roll of $1,000,000 a week; Population of 45,000; Four and one-half miles of deep waterway dockage; Postoffice receipts in 1919 $66,367.36, and several others that we haven't room to mention. This report surely ought to bring down the plum.

BRIXMENT The Perfect Cement for all kinds of Mortars

No Lime—No Bother—No Soaking—No Waste
Simply Mix With Sand and Use

BRIXMENT is a slow- setting, plastic and smooth-working cement for masonry. It does not require soaking or any preliminary preparation. Simply mix with sand and use.

BRIXMENT Works long and buttery. Resembles lime putty in its working quality, yet has an initial set in about four hours. One part of BRIXMENT to three parts of clean, sharp sand makes a mortar which in a very short time exceeds common building brick in crushing strength.

BRIXMENT Costs no more than ordinary lime mortar in the Indiana market. In most cases it means a decided saving. A barrel of BRIXMENT is approximately four and one-half cubic feet. Mixed one part BRIXMENT to three parts sand, it gives five-eights yards of excellent mortar—enough to lay one thousand bricks.

BRIXMENT Makes firm friends. A test in actual work is sufficient proof of its merits. The dealers listed below stock BRIXMENT. Any additional information desired may be secured b ywriting the manufacturers—

BUILDERS

From All Sections of Indiana Display Eager Interest in A. B. C. Convention.

The response with which the contractors of the State answered the call of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana for the Second Annual Convention at Indianapolis, February 3rd and 4th was indeed gratifying to the officers of the association, and a direct tribute to their untiring efforts of a year to perfect a state wide builders' organization. Delegates arrived early from all directions displaying a keen interest in the occasion. Every one seemed to be imbued with the idea of the need for organization in the building field and eagerly awaited the hour for convening.

Invitations had been extended to local contractors' bodies not affiliated with the State association and these delegates had not been on the scene long before they made up their minds to join. They had come to size up the situation, found a clean cut co-operative spirit in the atmosphere and early reached a conclusion as to their duty to those back home. That the appeal was strong was evidenced by those from Terre Haute. They got their heads together, decided to disband, reorganize and join the State organization as one body. Other cities who made application for membership and were accepted were Hammond, Anderson and South Bend.

Registration was handled expediently and all was ready when President A. J. Hoffman, Evansville, called the convention to order and welcomed the visiting delegates.

OPENING ADDRESS

"The opening of this meeting marks the passing of the second mile-stone of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana. It means the close of the first successful year of the State Organization of Contractors in Indiana. To measure the success of our efforts in the past year we need only compare the small but enthusiastic meeting of last January with the large delegation of contractors present here today. This manifestation of interest in our Association work sure is a great encouragement to your officers and members of the executive committee and in their behalf I wish to express our sincere thanks for your co-operation and support.

As every business man finds it essential to the success of his business to close up his books and compile a statement of the business at the close of every year, likewise is it necessary that our Association review the result of our accomplishments of the past year.

When a new business is started the Board of Directors usually maps out a definite plan of educational work for their sales organization and vast sums of money are appropriated for an extensive advertising campaign. This likewise has been the great feature of our work in the year just passed.

Our convention of last year had scarcely adjourned when our attention was directed to the Legislative Bodies of this State whose bi-ennial session convened for the purpose of making and revising laws affecting our business affairs. The responsibility for looking after the interests of our members according to the By-Laws rested upon the Executive Board. If we had nothing else to place on our balance sheet but the result of our efforts on this legislative work, we could look with pride over this statement and feel highly gratified.

ASSOCIATION EARLY ASSUMES INITIATIVE

The members of our Executive Board were quick to respond to a call to come here for the purpose of conferring upon action necessary to protect our interests and they all worked tirelessly in this connection. Prior to that time no one had ever represented the contracting interests before the Legislative Bodies and as a result the Labor Organizations and other bodies whose interests are sometimes contrary to ours had no opposition whatever in gaining favor on their pet bills. Things were somewhat different last year, for, when we made ourselves known before the members of the Legislature and Senate we immediately received recognition and our desires and wishes were respected.

Officers of State Contractors Ass'n.

Our fraternity represents the largest single industry in the State employing more men than even the Manufacturers' Association and this fact alone accounts for the effective results in our legislative work. The other interests are always alert and working incessantly for legislation favorable to them and it behooves us to constantly have some one in the watch tower to prevent anything being enacted inimical to our interests.

Some of you may think that this is superfluous effort. However, I can relate to you some of the conditions as we found them when we commenced our work that would astonish you. It is safe to say that we have saved immense sums of money by preventing the enactment of some vicious legislation that was slated for passage in the last session of the legislature. As near as I can figure, ti would have cost our company more than $3,000.00 for the last year to meet some of the conditions of those bills.

EFFECTS FRIENDLY UNION RELATIONS

Another valuable asset we have to our credit is the establishment of a friendly relationship with the officials of the various trade unions. No one can appreciate this more than our esteemed secretary whose work has brought him in constant communication with the differents union's officers. We are beyond that state where we could refuse to deal with unions representing our employees so anything we expect to gain ourselves in our dealings with them must come from our negotiations with them through our organizations. A forcible illustration of this occured last year when we succeeded in securing a conference with some of the International and State Officers of Unions whose headquarters are here in Indianapolis. These men actually came into our secretary's private committee room and without much effort on our part, compromised on a proposition affecting both our interests in a material way. This, gentlemen, was absolutely impossible before the organization of our State Association, representing between 500 and 600 contractors in this State.

ARCHITECTS WILLING TO CO-OPERATE

Another great advantage we have gained is the recognition we have received from our close business associates, the State Society of Architects. Last December I was granted the honor of attending and addressing the semi-annual convention of this society and as a result of my invitation to their president, Mr. E. Hill Turnock, we will be honored by an address from him at this convention. Great good can be expected as the result of this friendly spirit between these association and I hope that some tangible results will follow before this convention adjourns.

I feel certain that all of you realize the value of organization or you would not be here today, so for that reason it is useless to dwell any more on the necessity for continuing the good work we have started. Our attention should now be directed to the vast amount of work that lies before us.

NEED FOR RE-FINANCING

The most important thing before us is the necessity to change our By-Laws to provide sufficient funds to carry on our work. The present method of financing our organization is entirely inadequate and some other means to raise money must be found. To date most of the necessary funds have been furnished through voluntary subscriptions of the Officers and Executive Board and it is not fair to expect a few to carry the financial burden in addition to doing all of the work of the association. It has been suggested in our board meetings that a system of collecting a small percentage based on the volume of work done by each of us would more equitably distribute the burden on those who do the large bulk of the work.

It has also been found necessary to secure the added services of an assistant to our secretary and we have induced Donald Campbell to accept this task. In addition we have effected a very satisfactory arrangement with John H. Owens to act as our Field Representative to assist the Organization Committee.

In conclusion I want to thank the members of our Executive Committee for their loyal support and untiring efforts in an endeavor to assure success to the effort. With only a few exceptions each of them was always ready to come to our meetings and assume any duties the officers saw fit to impose upon them. Our secretary deserves a great deal of praise and we owe a debt of gratitude to Attorney Harry A. Fenton, who so ably assisted us in our legal work. Last but not least our Official Organ, the Indiana Construction Recorder, deserves more than a passing recognition. It has continually assisted in keeping alive and creating new interest in our work and a great deal of our success is due to its efforts."

Next followed the presentation of resolutions.

RESOLVED, That an apprentice system for all mechanics in the building industry be encouraged by this Association and that we solicit the co-operation of the various Unions in working to this end. ADOPTED.

RESOLVED, That all local associations in the various towns in Indiana try and have put into operation a building code and that this State Association encourage and give them its assistance in this matter for the purpose of protecting the general public. ADOPTED.

Since the Indiana Construction Recorder has been adopted as the Official Organ of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana, it is the logical medium for the distribution of news pertaining to the organization.

THEREFORE, Be it resolved that all official notices relative to the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana be inserted therein;

FURTHER, Be it resolved that a Publicity Bureau be established and that John H. Owens and Donald Campbell be made members of said bureau, the office of which will be to promote organization news so that a greater interest may accrue to the benefit of a strong, state-wide association of builders;

AND FURTHER, That the Indiana Construction Recorder be instructed to publish all wage scales in the various cities of Indiana. ADOPTED.

RESOLVED, That some effort be made to induce Indiana material men, in so far as possible, to care for the wants of Indiana Contractors before those contractors outside of the state. ADOPTED.

RESOLVED, That the discrimination against the shipment of building materials now practiced by the railroads is hereby disapproved, and that an effort should be made to require them to give the same amount of attention toward speedy delivery that is given other lines of business of less relative importance. And is suggested that the Executive Board be given the power to bring this to the attention of the proper authorities. ADOPTED.

The feature of the afternoon and one awaited for eagerly was a discussion of "The Effect of the Recent Lien Law Decision" by Attorney Harry A. Fenton. He reviewed the recent ruling of the Indiana Supreme Court in the lien proceedings of the Edward Hines Lumber Company against the Baldwin Locomotive Company in which it was held that if there was a no lien agreement in the contract between contractor and owner it negatived the right to resort to the lien law for recovery.

He said in part:

"Mr. President and Gentlemen of the State Association:

"It gives me pleasure to glance over this assemblage today and I am glad to be with you. A year ago I became actively engaged in the workings of your organization and I assure you the showing it has made today by attracting so many of your contractors to Indianapolis is most gratifying to me and all of those personally interested in the association's welfare. I have enjoyed the labor that I have been called upon to perform that the contractors might have a state body. I have been interested in the building business for years and have many friends who are builders.

"The Supreme Court of Indiana in January handed down a decision that has caused a great hue and cry among material men and contractors. A question that is of interest to this convention has arisen as to the effect of this decision and whether it will abrogate the right of the Lien Law.

"In order to understand the decision one must understand the case."

At this point Mr. Fenton referred to the syllabus of the case and read at length setting forth the various situations as they arose.

"All liens have a long way to travel and in this instance the lien went from the Lake County Superior Court to the Supreme Court where the judgment was affirmed June 27, 1917. Nearly two years later it reappears in the Supreme Court more alive than ever and December 18, 1919 this court reversed its former decision.

"There were two questions that arose in this case; First: Is a material man who furnishes lumber or other material used in the construction of a building entitled to a lien despite the fact that the contract entered into between the original contractor and the owner provided that no contractor or material man should have the right to file any mechanic's lien against the property; Second: Does lumber used in erecting forms for concrete work constitute material?

"The courts have held that sub-contractors and material men are bound to know what is in the principal contract and that it contains a direct and positive clause against liens. How many sub-contractors ever take the trouble to read the original contract? Right here in Indianapolis we have experienced this and it has cost many contractors dearly.

"Every sub-contractor should see the danger sign here just as at a railroad crossing and should stop, look and listen. Because this is not done contractors wade right into trouble with their eyes open. The stipulation is plain.

"Studying the effect of the recent decision, it is not general, it does not set aside the right of the law, the same conditions prevail. There is no greater risk if the contractor will only exercise care in signing his contract and familiarize himself with the provisions included therein. Many a contractor never thinks of looking into his contract until trouble is afoot.

"Right here I should like to say I consider the adoption of Uniform Contract Form a good move and should like for you gentlemen to give it serious consideration. Get a contract that by which you can live and keep out of the courts, courts, cost money and gum up the machinery of business.

"Again I say, Stop, Look and Listen. Don't turn yourself out of doors by signing a contract that you have not thoroughly investigated."

DISCUSSION RELATIVE TO LIENS

A general discussion followed the foregoing remarks and many good points were brought out to safeguard the contractor. Max Irmscher, Ft. Wayne, related how he waived his right to a lien but at the same time compelled the owner to furnish a bond guaranteeing payment. This was considered by the contractors as a good piece of business.

Many contended that if the owner demands a bond of the contractor for a faithful performance of duty he too should provide one for the contractor to insure payment. Others contended if the right of the lien law was annulled the material man would not be so free to furnish material to irresponsible contractors and it would eliminate this element from the field and add prestige to the contracting business. It was set forth that with the honest contractor there is no need of such a law but that many material firms rely on it allowing it to safeguard their business while they sell right and left and ask no questions.

Eph Dailey, Ft. Wayne, member of the State Legislature opposed action against the law saying that the moment a hand is raised in that direction the Material and Labor Interests unite one hundred per cent strong to defend the act.

Chas. Morrow, Muncie, advised that nobody seemed to know where he was on this lien law matter and that the contractors' association should get together for some definite action along this line. He contended that it affected so many varied interests they all ought to unite and straighten things out counciling the contractors to be there at the finish.

ORGANIZATION TO THE FORE

Passing on, C. C. Pierson, secretary of the Indianapolis Building Contractors' Association, made the delegates sit up when he told of the attempt that was being made to unionize the local structural steel fabricating shops and how the structural steel workers were backing up the effort by refusing to handle any steel from the shops in question. He said the association refused to countenance the union move and called upon the Building Trades Council considering it the supreme power in the territory and refusing to deal with the union direct. The Council declined to act and the Association is determined to fight the thing to a finish. He appealed to the power of organization and the delegates unanimously endorsed the action of the Indianapolis contractors.

RESOLVED, That the stand now being taken by the local body of Indianapolis Contractors, weherein they are against the Unionizing of structural steel shops, is hereby approved and that this state body endorse and lend all possible support to the local body in its stand, and that the Executive Board be empowered to take such action as is necessary to render such aid. ADOPTED.

Mr. Fenton spoke of the meeting when the Indianapolis contractors one hundred per cent strong, decided to stand together on the issue. He said this attempt to unionize was but a reflex action of the steel strike, a round about way for the defeated steel mill workers to get back at the mill owners. He said it was but a starter and might extend to other crafts. He admonished the contractors to get their hands together and hold tight otherwise they would lose control and there was no telling what the end might be. Since the structural steel workers' headquarters are at Indaianpolis many were inclined to attach significance to the fact that new move had appeared there first.

UNCERTAINTY CLOUDS THE OUTLOOK

The impending trouble at Indianapolis drew the attention of the delegates to a discussion of general conditions as they effect the Building Industry. Opinions expressed implied that prospects were never better and yet conditions were so uncertain that the future was very doubtful. High prices of materials were discussed and some doubt was expressed as to their being warranted, even charges of profiteering being hinted. The car shortage and delayed shipments were bemoaned but the outstanding feature related to Labor's greedy attitude as expressed by demands already made and those threatened. Every delegate who arose whether from Gary, Ft. Wayne, or any of the other numerous cities represented enumerated figures indicating that Labor is preparing for new scales some of which appear to be beyond all reason.

WEDNESDAY'S SESSION

Deeply impressed by the start made Tuesday and eager to accomplish as much, if not more, before the hour of adjournment arrived, the delegates to the convention were on the scene early for the second day's session.

President Hoffman opened the proceedings by introducing Mr. E. Hill Turnock, Elkhart, Ind., Prest. of the Indiana Society of Architects, who said:

Mr. President and Gentlemen:

"I wish to thank you in the name of The Indiana Society of Architects for your cordial invitation to address you on the subject of "The Relationship Between Architects and Contractors." Last December your president, Mr. Hoffman, and myself spoke before the Architects on this same subject, and while I consider the topic inexhaustable, I will ask you the privilege of departing somewhat from the subject you have assigned to me. It is, and I hope always will be, our constant endeavor to make our business relations to accord with the principles of equity and justice, and to smooth out in the spirit of co-operation any discord that occurs in our closely related business. Not that I think that contractors and architects are more quarrelsome than any other class of men, but the close association and infinite intricacies and complication of the business require a high order of intelligence, patience and forebearance in adjusting the many details that necessarily enter into the construction of buildings. The architect is dependent on the intelligent co-operation of the contractor for the success of his enterprise and, I believe that the reverse is likewise true. The object of your association and those of our society is identical in all essential matters. We both aim to improve building conditions and construction; we both wish the closest co-operation to exist between all those connected with the building industry; we both are anxious to bring about better legislation, regulations and uniform rules governing buildings. We belive with you that the principles of justice and equity shall govern all of our dealings and that uniform methods of practice shall be the foundation of our business, and further, that a helpful and sympathetic bond of fellowship shall be established so that we may secure unity of effort to accomplish these principles, and serve in the most honorable and intelligent manner the building interests of the people of our state, and further, that you repudiate any action to control prices or limit competition. This is a splendid charter, and to carry out these principles faithfully will require the best elements of character of which we are capable. There is nothing in the principles of your association (and I am sure none in ours), which in the least cramp individual effort, but on the contrary will always encourage and be an incentive for your best efforts and ideals. Each of us are qualified along certain lines of endeavor and the longer the service the more developed are those qualifications; this, I think, is a part of the personal element that each of us have to offer to the public. And it is the public's privilege to award its honors to either you or your co-worker on their estimate of your qualifications of service. It is the judge, jury and executioner. I believe that, if, for example, an architect places a lower value on his services than that which is accepted standard, it is exceedingly doubtful if his services are worth as much to his client as he has asked for, he of all others should be the best judge of such value. The proper method is to charge a fair and honorable price for his service and then deliver the goods. I don't know of any one thing in our business that undermines mutual regard for each other than this business of cutting prices. It leads at once to inattention and incompetence of service and the party who gets the brick and pays the bill is the dear public. I think you will agree with me that there is little difference between a good Republican and a good Democrat. They are both loyal patriots and think only of the good of our country. I beg to make a parallel and say there is no difference between a good contractor and a good architect; they have a common object, that is the best obtainable design and construction in our buildings.

ADVOCATES FIRE-RESISTING CONSTRUCTION

I believe that all buildings used for public purposes and where people congregate for any purpose should be built of fire-resisting materials. I use the term fire-resisting advisedly and in preference to fire-proof because the latter term in deception and almost impossible of attainment. This old world of ours learns its great lessons slowly and dearly. We had a horrible lesson brought home to us in the shape of the great Iroquois Theater fire in Chicago, and the Collinwood, Ohio, school house calamity. These calamities had to occur in order to force reform of the building laws relating to this class of buildings. Theaters are now built fire-resisting and schools in Ohio are built under very stringent laws. Do we have to learn the lesson in the same way that Illinois and Ohio has learned hers? Why should the contractors and architects not get busy at once and start this Indiana Building Code; one that will prevent such calamities and without paying such price in lives. We are a wealthy nation and the people only need be advised and instructed in the importance of safe building to willingly pay the price. You all know that it is the good buildings that deteriorate the least and are by far the best investment, all things considered. When we consider that it costs one-half of the total expense of new construction to pay our fire loss, some idea is given of the monumental bill we are paying; over a quarter of a billion dollars each years—thirty thousand dollars every hour in the year. I think that contractors and architects are not doing their full duty unless they work for the education of the general public, to guide them along the way, to construct their buildings of fire resisting materials. We could do the public no better service than by conserving much of this useless fire loss. I believe that a good reasonable Building Code put in operation for eight or ten years would reduce our fire loss over one-half and the insurance cost in like ratio; here's one way to hit the common enemy, H. C. L. I trust you will pardon this disgression from the text you gave me to speak on; there are so many problems that present themselves that we are apt to wander at times, and further I begin to feel that the difficulties between builders and architects are getting beautifully less and our relations are rapidly approaching a love feast.

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION ONLY NATURAL

There are no disputes in graveyards, conflicts of opinion are not to be seriously condemned, especially if conducted in a proper spirit every person has temperment and points of view, etc., and contractors and architects are no exception to the rule. It would seem to me that a red-blooded man would do some hollowing when he is asked by an architect to give one intelligent bid on work covered in the specifications by a clause something like this: "Contractors will examine all parts of the drawing and specifications and will call the architect's attention to all errors before signing the contract. Any work erected according to the errors in plans or omissions in the specifications shall be replaced at Contractor's expense." Such clauses as the above force contractors to look for a remedy and protection and he will try in his future work to have drawings and specifications made under his own control or at least by an architect who will not be guilty of such absurdities. It is the desire of all just contractors to do -00 per cent. of what he has agreed, and prefers to co-operate and work harmoniously with the architect. The architect is being paid by the owner to make plans and specifications which are accurate and workable and on accepting the omission to make such drawings must necessarily claim ability to do so, and it is no more the province of contractor to pay for mistakes or omissions occuring in plans than it would be the architect's duty to pay for any mistakes made by the contractor. A more thorough and intimate co-operation between us will eliminate such trouble making clauses.

CONTRACTOR PLAYS WITH CHANCE

The contractor has his troubles after signing the contract. He has to gamble in many cases and take all the chances. He gambles on soil, on weather, on labor and on materials, and many others, even when the architect is fair and thorough in the preparation of the drawings and specifications, and just on the supervision of the work. If architects would consider such unknown quantities as the above, it would lead him to be much more considerate in his dealings. It is a little like the old story of the bargain between the Indian and the white man regarding to divide the spoils of the hunt. They shot a buzzard and a turkey. The white man told the Indian that he was anxious to be quite fair about the division and it made no difference to him whether the Indian gave him the turkey and kept the buzzard or the Indian took the buzzard and gave the white man the turkey. It is not difficult to tell who gets the buzzard. The war has upset all the established methods of letting contracts in the most bewildering manner, and I believe that much of this change will be for the best interests of the business.

OLD LETTING METHODS UNCERTAIN

The old competition plan of letting work has become quite uncertain and unreliable for all parties and is practically abandoned. As it is very wasteful method under the present disturbed condition of labor and materials. Take for instance there is a reasonably large job to be let at some considerable distance and say a dozen contractors figure on the work, and after the bidding is over, they estimate the money loss. Traveling and office expense for each will easily be $300.00, making about $3,600.00 that must be paid by the building public. It is an economic loss because all the bidders but one lose all the money they spent on it, and they have to rob Peter to pay Paul. Very frequently a good job is spoiled for a good contractor by some mistake or unintelligent bid, and the owner is sore because he does not receive that for which he pays.

Until the labor and material market is down to a more normal condition, it seems poor wisdom to encourage this method of letting contracts.

I may say that the architect is also a great sufferer under this competition plan. There are many architects who feel that they must rush to the owner with elaborately prepared drawings and offer their wares such as a peddler offers his wares when he opens his pack. This is an exact duplicate of the contractor's position as mentioned above. It tends to destroy add dignity that should attach to any profession. It is well to discourage such methods as it will save money, worry and time and that is good business.

COST PLUS CONTRACT ENDORSED

The cost plus per cent. is an excellent method of letting contracts and commends itself to careful owners and competent contractors. The cost plus a definite fee method commends itself to certain persons who want to know definitely the charge that contractor is to receive and the principal thought in the owner's mind is that the contractor will have no monetary interest in making the cost of construction any higher than absolutely necessary. This theory is based, I think, on a wrong presumption, for, I believe, the most reliable contractors will work for the interest of the owner under all circumstances and the other thought is not fair to their integrity.

The war has demonstrated that this cost plus per cent. is feasible economic and of mutual advantage. It is proper that the owner pay for what he receives and that the contractor's services are worth. He should receive a certain per cent. of the cost. The contractor should not take all the chances in its construction with this method of letting work, he owner and architect have the full advantage of his advice and experience without the usual suspicion that he is interested personally in offering such advice. It puts the building industry on a good sound business basis for all parties interested.

QUANTITY SURVEY SCHEME QUESTIONABLE

There is another system of letting contracts that is receiving some attention, that of quantity surveying, in which special firms prepare quantity schedules for contracts to bid on. It is very doubtful if this method will be adopted except in very large and important enterprises and then only when special trained men can be organized as a part of the architects or contractor's staff or by a separate company. This would make for more complication which is not desirable. It is a fact that the war hos done more to break down the old barriers and misunderstandings between the various building interests so that you may expect many innovations. I think one of the most pressing questions that presents itself today is labor. The cost of production in all lines has increased largely. This applies to materials as well as labor. The worker must receive wages which not only permits him to clothe, feed and house himself and family, but enables him to lay away something for the future—but labor also has a duty to perform and must realize that high wages can not be maintained unless high production is also maintained. To restrict production is the worst policy possible and will, undoubtedly, react on labor.

PLEAS FOR CO-OPERATION

A closer co-operation between contractor, architect and labor should be made and will be of much benefit as it will give to contractor and architect a clearer insight into the problems of the worker. The H. C. L. is several laps ahead of the worker's ability to pay, and consequently he is sitting up nights to figure out where he can get the next boost, and he is looking square at the contractor while he is doing his figuring."

All through the address the assembled builders displayed a deep interest in Mr. Turnock's remarks and unstintedly applauded him at the conclusion. Mr. Hoffman in a few well chosen words expressed to Mr. Turnock the feeling of honor that was entertained by the contractors in being permitted the pleasure of his presence and said he felt sure that the policy of co-operation advanced by Mr. Turnock would lead to great good both for architect and contractor.

The next number on the program called for a consideration of the uniform contract which was reviewed and analyzed by Attorney Harry A. Fenton, Indianapolis. When he had finished the following resolution was introduced and unanimously adopted.

RESOLVED, That the Association adopt and use the last edition of the uniform contract as presented to this Association at this meeting and the Associated Building Contractors furnish all members and architects with copies of this uniform contract and insist upon them being used by all members. ADOPTED.

At this juncture Mr. Hoffman called the attention of the delegates to a proposal that had been made by Mr. Turnock at the architect's semi-annual meeting wherein he advocated the establishment of a Board of United Building Interest of Indiana, whose function it would be to pass on uniform contract forms and other matters of vital interest to the architect and conractor. The idea met with favor and was the subject of much interesting comment.

A discussion Tuesday of a move to establish a uniform wage scale led Wednesday to the introduction of this report by the temporary labor committee of which Walter Fassnacht, South Bend, was the chairman:

"This committee recommends that a permanent committee be established to be known as the State Labor Committee to be composed of a member of this association from each city represented. The purpose of this committee would be to keep in constant touch with wage scales and the general conditions about the state. The members of the committee by an interchange of communication and with the help of the Indiana Construction Recorder can keep in touch with each other and fully protect the other members of the association.

"This committee further recommends that an effort be made to have all wage scale contracts expire on the same date and suggests, as that date, April 1st. Notice of changes in scale to be made ninety days in advance."

Motion was made, seconded and duly carried that it be recommended that we do not at this time try to enforce a uniform wage scale because apparently prevailing conditions do not warrant such a move.

The committee recommends that each local association have a written agreement with the local unions covering wage scales and working conditions and that certain standardized paragraphs be inserted by the permanent labor committee and that those agreements then be ratified by the International Union Organization.

A motion was made, seconded and duly carried that an effort be made by the permanent labor committee to require outside contractors coming into a town to deposit their credentials from their own organization and work under the rules and jurisdiction of the local organization so long as operating in that town.

It is recommended that this permanent labor committee be selected today and start immediately in-as-much as the time of year and present conditions appear to present urgent demand for action.

All names and addresses of the members of the permanent labor committee to be printed regularly in the Indiana Construction Recorder, the official organ of this association.

This committee wishes to go on record as being unanimously opposed to overtime and bonuses, except in cases of extreme emergency and that the contractor shall notify his local association at the first opportunity.

The report of the temporary labor committee was seconded and adopted and the following permanent labor committee appointed: Walter Fassnaucht, South Bend; H. P. Lee, Gary; J. Wesley Reed, Hammond; Walter Wise, Indianapolis; H. P. Veach, Evansville; Eph P. Dailey, Fort Wayne; Ross Eshelman, Anderson; A. O. Toelle, Terre Haute; J. A. Gallivan, Muncie; J. W. Goodall, Peru; Jacob Behrick, Mt. Vernon; A. E. Kemmer, Lafayette; Wallace Haworth, Attica; C. C. Heinzman, Marion S. L. Kirk, Vincennes.

Next followed the election of officers for the ensuing year, these men being named: President, A. J. Hoffman, Evansville; 1st Vice-President, Max Irmscher, Ft. Wayne; 2nd Vice-President, Charles Morrow, Muncie; 3rd Vice-President, O. A. Toelle, Terre Haute; Secretary, C. C. Pierson, Indianapolis; Executive Board (appointed), Ross Eshelman, Anderson; A. J. NATIONAL NECESSITIES

Traceable in Type of Architecture Known as Dutch Colonial.

FERMOR S. CANNON

Here and there, in some half-forgotten part of modern New York, the student of early architecture can still observe and admire the quaint houses of that nearly obscure period when the town of New Amsterdam ruled the approaches to the majestic Hudson. The Dutch settlement consisted of a small cluster of houses and public buildings in the district bounded by Wall Street on the north, the Battery on the south, Hudson River on the west, and East River on the east. Wall Street was in those times the site of a wooden stockade, which, like the Great Wall of China, kept back the savage hordes.

The hardy Dutch traders brought most of their building materials from Holland—hand-made red brick for the walls, and slate and tile for the roofs, of their houses. The very early buildings were reproductions of the stern dignified town houses of Holland, but of these nothing remains—the rapid nervous growth of this most fascinating city of our country has swept away all trace of them.

The elements of architecture in Holland at the time New Amsterdam was settled can be traced to national necessities.

Stepped gables and wrought-iron detail and small windows of leaded glass are typical details. The result was an interesting use of brick and stone. Brick was largely used, for wood was only obtained in quantities through trade with England, and other countries, fortunate in having forests. Tile was a common building material—used for floors, decorations on walls, around the fireplace, to make stoves, and for roof material. The familiar white tile with landscape painted in blue is representative of their decorative art. Quaint wooden shutters with solid panels were always provided for the lower story windows. These various details were used by the Dutch colonists in their early work.

It is only in the farm houses of this period that we find examples of Dutch Colonial architecture preserved in this country. Today these old manor houses still exist on the hillsides of the northern end of Manhattan, on both banks of the Hudson, and in the farm land of Long Island. They are built of brick with low-gabled roofs, and those of a later time are built of square blocks of native stone for the first story and wide clap board siding to finish off the gable. It is not unusual to find the ends of brick or stone and the sides covered with clap boards. We also find lovely old houses constructed entirely of clap board siding and with gabled, or gambrel, roofs. The chimneys are always features of the design, the typical location being at either end of the house. The shingles covering the roof have in many cases remained in place until they are moss-green, due to the actual growth of the fungus. The beauty of the picture puts to shame the craze for searching out, so-called, up-to-date effects that so often result in the hideous.

The roof of Dutch Colonial houses is simple and interesting. The lines are low but the use of the gambrel, or two-pitched, type gives the maximum amount of space. It is often carried out over the porch which runs the long way of the house. Little dormer windows pierce the sides of the roof and add a decided touch of picturesqueness to the whole. The treatment forms quite a contrast to the formal lines of the New England Colonial even though the same elements are used.

The general plan of the house consists of a center hall with the living, or common, room (and perhaps a bedroom back of it) opening on one side, and on the other, the kitchen and ovens together with a store-room built in the form of a projecting wing. The bedrooms are usually located at the head of a steep stairway, with a balustrade of turned spindles and a turned newel post.

The fireplace, instead of being built with brick around the opening and wood paneling above, as in the New England Colonial, often has the space around the fire opening decorated with quaint tile, and these are sometimes carried around the inside. A small iron, or brass, angle usually covers the corner of the tile next to the opening, while a wood mantle and shelf frame the fireplace. Wainscoted rooms and paneled doors are also characteristic of this style. The ceilings frequently show exposed beams which lend a comfortable feeling of security to the whole interior.

When the modern householder looks at the small Colonial windows with narrow rectangular panes of glass, he often thinks them odd and impractical, but the early builders had good reason for their use—glass was hard to obtain and was likewise expensive. The Dutch Colonial windows are no exception to the rule for small panes.

The porches of these farm houses are quite a distinct feature, and one that is not generally found in New England as a part of the early house. When small, they have an interesting roof supported by sturdy columns forming an attractive entrance, while the larger porches are covered by a projection of the main roof. The typical entrance door is of two parts—an upper and lower. The upper part can be opened, giving the interior of the house light and air, while the closed lower-half is a protection against an ordinary intruder. Fan lights and side lights are to be seen in some of the later work.

The Dutch Colonial style is essentially domestic. The lines of both exterior and interior of these houses suggest comfort and good solid ideals. Decoration and color are to be found but they are used in the best possible way and with regard to their particular values. The Colonial architecture is "real American," and there can be no better expression of American ideals in architecture than by the use of some phase of this style.

A word might be said here about the other interesting examples of Colonial architecture in New York and the neighborhood. These are all of a later period and are typified by the same details found in Boston and Philadelphia. In them can be traced the influences of the English ideas which gradually absorbed the earlier Dutch characteristics. New Amsterdam was a very small village when the British fleet passed the narrows and captured it, and from this significant event, begins the history of New York as we know it today—the change in name being indicative of greater changes in living and building. City Hall, Faunce's Tavern, Trinity Church, and many other old buildings in lower New York, are types of this later development of style, and show the hand of the British conquerors to the exclusion of Dutch detail.

UNSELFISHNESS

The Big Requirement of the Hour so Contractors are Told.

Speaking to the delegates at the National Association of Builders Exchanges Convention at Indianapolis, Judge Solon Carter elaborated upon the need for unselfishness in our treatment of and relationships with our fellow man. He called upon the contractors to eliminate selfishness; to play fair; to live up to their obligations imposed by contract.

France and the war taught him the necessity for co-operation, the grandness of unselfishness, he said.

"I took boys boys from here to France. Boys upon whom many of us looked down because they had not had the advantages some of us had had. Many of them were rough, some positively uncouth, and yet, today I respect them, the war was a common leveler and those boys proved to be men, real men.

"I have seen them, these common laborers to which some of us, at times, are prone to think ourselves superior, in the United States service lying wounded but ready to fight because they wanted to be left so that their place in an ambulance could be filled by their pal. I have seen these men when had to be kept in a dugout with a .45 caliber revolver because they insisted on going out into almost certain death in an effort to rescue other men. They forgot their selfish interests and they are capable of forgetting selfish interests again. We must forget our selfish interests and for the time being both labor and capital be loyal to the interest of the American people.

"We have a labor group and a capital group and then we have 90 per cent of the people in a public group and these always are the goat. Unless labor and capital can now acknowledge this duty to the public and perform it in a truly American spirit, we will have serious revolt in this country. We need a revival of Americanism—the same Americanism which made it possible fo rus to do our part in the war, the same Americanism which inspired these men to go out and do what they did at one dollar a day."

BACKED PRINCIPLE

For Good of the Organization Despite His Personal Interests.

As a demonstration of what organization can accomplish when a principle is involved and the loyalty it invokes regardless of self interest, we beg to mention an incident that occurred recently in Indiana.

A resolution was introduced at a meeting of a local contractors' association that materially affected the interests of those of the organization. It had to do with the wage scale and its purport was against contractors paying in excess of the prevailing scale. One prominent contractor of the city declared that the time for such action was not ripe. He contended that, owing to the scarcity of labor, neighboring cities were paying more and if restrictions were placed locally on increased wages the men would be attracted to other localities by the promise of better remuneration. As a result of his stand heated arguments developed, the issue hanging in the balance. Finally, to reach a settlement a vote was taken, the result being 16 to 9 in favor of the resolution.

Following its adoption the opposing contractor arose in his defeat and said, "Gentlemen, I am heartily against the action taken tonight, but, you can depend upon me and my firm abiding by your decision. I, or those associated with me, have never been known not to observe the rulings of this body, when the majority favored them. That is the principle upon which our association is founded, so be it, we stand together."

Needless to say the applause that followed his remarks was vociferous.

Say, that was some supper. The Association had been planning for some time to have an entertainment and supper, and invite the representatives of the different Building Crafts. Finally arrangements were completed and the supper and entertainment was held Tuesday evening, the 27th, and although there happened to be an epidemic of "flu" and bad colds, there was a good attendance and we believe a great deal of good was accomplished, both to the contractors, the journeymen, and the public, and whatever the outcome of any differences between Capital and Labor the public is one factor that has to be considered. During the supper three acts, furnished by the Orpheum theatre manager were put on and proved to be very good being enthusiastically applauded by the diners. When the cigars arrived the founts of oratory were opened and speeches and talks were given by the Mayor, the President of the Chamber of Commerce, and men representing Labor, Contractors, Capital and the public. A great many things were brought out the the other fellow had not thought about and we believe that a much better understanding by both sides now prevails. It is only by such get-together meetings that men can solve the problems that now confront them.

The yearly report of the Building Inspection Department compiled by Inspector Henry Vis and submitted to the mayor contains interesting data to show that Hammond made forward strides in building betokening a steady and healthy growth. The total expended on building operations was $2,225,818 split up as follows: Dwellings, $1,210,948.00; Dwellings remodeled and repaired, $104,385.00; Business buildings, $679,320.00; Business buildings remodeled and repaired, $58,600; Garages $142,575.00; Churches, $30,000.00. Total permits issued 749. May with a total estimated cost of $184,725.00 on permits issued was the banner month of the year while December with $39,500.00 marked the low water mark in building activities.

We have quit talking in thousands about buildings and now talk in millions.

Mr. Owens, road manager of the Indiana Construction Recorder and Field Representative of the Indiana Contractors Association took in the supper and paid a visit to the Secretary. Come again.

M. G. Lavene and George Bates are going some on the Wolf Manufacturing storage building, regardless of the weather.

East Chicago and Indiana Harbor were not as well represented at the supper as they should have been. But Jimmie Johnston did his part. It's sure good to see that smile.

Joseph T. Hutton & Son have prepared plans for a $225,000 addition to one of East Chicago's school buildings. Bids will be opened February 18th, at 8:00 P. M.

M. A. Dickover has the front about completed on Emerling's garage and undertaking building. It will be quite an improvement to south Hohman street when completed.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

Members of the Builders Exchange please take notice that hereafter all official communications and notices relative to the Exchange will be found on this page.

MEETINGS FOR THE WEEK

Monday night, Feburary 9th, Mason Contractors regular meeting. Very important that every member should be present.

Tuesday evening, February 10th, Fort Wayne Sanitary Engineers.

Wednesday evening, February 11th, the Master House Painters and Decorators Association.

Thursday evening, February 12th, Electrical Contractors Association.

Special attention of the members of the Executive Board of the Builders Exchange is called to the fact that the February meeting will be held Tuesday, February 10th, at 4 p. m. Every member should so arrange his affairs that he can attend without fail.

The new Ft. Wayne Builders Exchange Page that cropped out in the Construction Recorder, Jan. 31st, attracted favorable notice and drew forth much favorable comment.

Builders and all the associated building interests should lend their full co-operation to the Chamber of Commerce in its endeavor to attract new enterprises to Ft. Wayne. Such expansion means much to the building fraternity and offers an opportunity for you, Mr. Contractor and Mr. Material Man, to demonstrate your civic spirit.

All architects hereabouts are busy on new work and, from indications, local contractors won't have much time next summer to stand around and argue politics.

No organization can do all things at one time, but concentrated effort on the part of all members means that eventually the goal that is set may be attained. Let all those of the Builders Exchange put their shoulders to the wheel and push for those things that will create harmony between the interests engaged in the Ft. Wayne construction field.

Now is a good time to set the house in order. Attend the Exchange meetings; take an active part in is affairs; if you have an idea of how its function may be broadened don't be backward in speaking up. Many times you may hold the key to the situation without realizing it.

If you know something that would look good on THE PAGE, hand it in at headquarters. Every little bit helps.

Active committees are a blessing to an organization. The Evansville General Contractors' Association has been able to accomplish much through such channels. Stir up your own committee.

Gary has followed the example set by Ft. Wayne and Hammond and has decided on a page in the Recorder. Have you seen it? Look about, it made its first appearance this week.

Few cities in the state ever have put on a more extended new school construction program than the local Board of Education has mapped out for the coming season.

STATE PAINTERS ENTERTAINED

Indiana's Association of Master House Painters and Decorators met yesterday afternoon in the Builders' Exchange rooms in the People's Trust building. Louis J. Brunner, of this city, president of the state association, presided.

The meeting, called primarily to make arrangements for the holding of the next annual state convention, transacted little other business.

Executive members of the board who were in favor of holding the convention in the city of Fort Wayne were outnumbered by those who thought a lake convention preferable. The Fort Wayne association will, however, be hosts to the state association. Sylvan Lake, Rome City, was chosen as the convention spot and the dates chosen, August 9 to 13, inclusive, were those generally favored by the committee. The Fort Wayne association, Mr. Brunner said, would start definite program plans for the convention almost immediately.

Master Plumbers' Assn., meets first and third Thursday of each month at headquarters.

The Sheet-Metal and Roofers meet every Monday at headquarters.

The Cement, Tile and Marble Contractors hold their meetings the first and last Tuesday of each month at 3:00 p. m.

The Electrical Contractors Association will hold its next meeting Feb. 10th, at 3:30 p. m., at the Exchange Rooms. Don't forget the date.

NOTICE

All members of the Builders and Traders Exchange please note that the Indiana Construction Recorder has been made the Official Bulletin of this Exchange. Each week there will be a page devoted xclusively to announcements and meetings of this Exchange, also news items relative to same. Each member is requested to send in all news items pertaining to the interest of the Exchange not later than Friday of each week.

Keep your eye on this page for meeting notices as they are to be published hereon and no other announcements will be given.

Secretary L. F. Bowers of the South Bend Builders and Traders Exchange writes in that their Exchange registers 50 qualified members and that it is hoped to make it 100% strong before the building season sets in. It is exceedingly gratifying to know that the South Bend contractors are exerting their efforts in the direction of co-operation.

Joseph P. Grantham contemplates constructing a colonial residence at Seventh and Johnson streets, to cost in the neighborhood of $12,000.

Messrs. Harry Hall and H. B. Lee, members of this Exchange, attended a dinner at Hammond given by the Building Trades Employers Association, Jan. 28th, and report that it was a most enjoyable affair. Many things of vital importance to the building industry in that territory was discussed.

A recommendation was made and seconded by a majority of the members of the Builders and Traders Exchange that a joint arrangement be made with the Calumet District outside of Gary fixing the wage scale to conform with the uniform rate. The Executive Committee of the Board of Directors was empowered to negotiate with the Building Trades Employers Association of the Calumet District which includes Hammond, East Chicago, Whiting and Indiana Harbor.

At the last meeting of the local Exchange a resolution was passed unanimously not to increase the wage scale from the present figures.

Indications are that construction operations will boom in Gary as soon as the weather permits. At this date there are prospects for at least $200,000 of home building activities.

CAPITALIST

Real Identity of the Mysterious Stranger Revealed by Prominent Banker.

"I esteem it an honor as well as great pleasure to be a party to this most important gathering of men. "The Attitude of Capital Toward the Present High Cost of Building Operations," is the subject that has been assigned to me and in attempting to discuss it I deem it proper that I first seek to reveal to you the secret as to who this Mysterious Being is whom we call "The Capitalist," from whom we are going to try to extract the million or so dollars which we wish to invest in homes in this city this season.

Is he among the dozen or so men in this city who are credited with being worth from $250,000 to, say, $300,000? Is he among the fifty men in this city who are credited with being worth from $50,000 to $150,000 each? Is he among the numerous individuals supposed to be worth from $10,000 to $25,000 each? No! In but a few instances does he belong to any of these classes, for most of these are borrowers themselves in conducting their own business enterprises or have their means invested in business buildings, homes, vacant property or personal property more suitable with them mortgage investments are not popular for various reasons.

Is it the Marshall Field estate, the Rockefeller interest, or others of this class who are seeking to invest their surplus in Hammond mortgages? No! relief cannot come to us from this class for with them mortgage loan investments are not popular for the reason that each individual case requires close scrutiny together with other natural objections which are self-evident.

Then, who is this capitalist from whose bulging purse must flow this torrent of money to meet our increased building requirements for this and the years to follow? Who is this mysterious bloated money bag?

REVEALING THE REAL MONEYED POWER

I will tell you who he is. You know him well; you have rubbed elbows with him; you have shared your lunch with him in the factory shop or railway yards. You meet him daily as a clerk in the office or shop. You see him selling newspapers on the street. He belongs to that army of plain people whom Lincoln said 'God must have loved for He made so many of them.'

How is it possible that such as he could meet the city's vast building requirements this year?

There are probably ten thousand wage earners in this city with an average annual income under present conditions of probably $900.00 each or an aggregate of $9,000,000. Now eleven per cent of this vast sum equals $100.00 per year for each person or in the sum total of $1,000,000, and this about equals the sum which annually goes into the savings accounts of the Banks and Building & Loan Associations and thence to the building of homes in Hammond.

Now I concede that my exposition of the personnel of the party who is going to spent a $1,000,000 in building homes in Hammond this season, will not conform to the picture show or dime novel display of the greedy, heartless, Shylock, who is about to eject the widow and her illy-clad children from the home upon which she has paid all but a few dollars, and at last is to be the victim of the mortgage shark, then at this critical moment the hero, usually an escaped convict, delivers a well timed blow and there are no mourners at the mortgage holder's funeral instead there is loud acclaim for the hero convict.

I also have a well founded suspicion that popular heroes are not often called from among those following my line of business. I well know that Bankers, in general, are about as popular as the "flu" is in Hammond today, and to be frank with you, there is some justification for this, for like most occupations, there is some bluff to the Banking business. For instance, you will see in the display "ad" of some bank this statement, "Total Assets—So many millions of dollars." If you will pardon me, I will use the bank with which I am connected as an illustration. The First National Bank has a capital and surplus, $350,000, with total assets of $4,500,000. The former figures represent the actual money put in the stock and the earnings for a period of thirty years, which stock is owned by some thirty people, so you see the stockholders own less than ten per cent of the Bank while ninety per cent of the total assets belongs to the depositors. It is true that the stockholders are liable for a sum equal to the amount of their stock but the fact remains that the Banker who boasts of the bank's total assets is bragging about the size of his obligations, a thing that most modest and sensitive individuals seek to keep in the background.

In the bank of which I speak there are about five thousand depositors with an average individual balance of about $800.00 each ranging in amount from $1.00 up to $100,000 and more, and the total amount of the accounts above $5,000.00 would not equal more than $1,000,000. So you will see that the moderate or small depositor has the largest interest in the Bank.

The average banker is given undue credit for wealth not his and for which he is simply charged with the sacred duty of safeguarding. I suggest that we all, as Bankers, avoid misleading impressions.

A POWERFUL FACTOR IN BUILDING OPERATIONS

The local Building & Loan Associations have in the past and will in the future prove to be the bulwark of our city's physical growth, the most powerful factor in the building of Hammond. We greet you, Building & Loan Association, as a child might greet his mother. You knew us when others knew us not. You gave us credit when all others denied us credit. You taught us how to save our first dollar and then to wisely use our accumulation in a home. It was our first home, true, it was a modest one, from which we heard the sound of the voice of our first born now grown to loyal and patriotic manhood and womanhood, worthy frugal citizens of our beloved city.

From that home we have never heard the mutterings of those not in sympathy with the land christened by George Washington and maintained by Lincoln and his gallant army, and sustained during the greatest of all wars by that splendid army of doughboys who carried our flag across the sea and brought it back untarnished and with added luster.

The Building & Loan Associations are mutual affairs, entirely owned and managed by the five thousand or more thrifty people of this city who lay aside enough from their weekly wage to meet an annual expenditure for new building of more than $500,000.

Having disclosed the identity of the Capitalist who is to advance the money for our city building budget this season, I turn to him and ask his view as to the wisdom of building this year with the high cost of material and labor.

ARE PEOPLE WILLING TO LOAN?

I turn to you, Mr. Capitalist, you man with the dinner pail, you newsboy, you girl doing housework, I ask you how much of your money do you want us to loan on a new building this season? You, having in mind that the loan required is twenty-five per cent in excess of the pre-war sale value of like property, you, having in mind that the tide of prosperity has been coming in for some time, forced by a gale, the fierceness of which was heretofore unknown to the oldest pioneer.

May I anticipate the reply of the laboring man capitalist, who is considering loaning money to the laboring man who wishes to build a home? My conception of this dual capitalist and working man, this Jekyll-Hyde individual, is that he is not easily frightened. He did not hear nor heed the panic gossip during the dark days of our City's history when our first and only industry left. Having been provident, he was prepared to wait for other industries to come, and he did not have to wait long for they were only too anxious to locate where thrift prevailed.

ONLY SQUARE DEAL ASKED

I fancy, Mr. Capitalist-Laboring man's reply to his friend, the laboring man who wants to build will be, "Go to it, I will let you have the money, provided, however, that the material men do not take advantage of the present shortage and demand excessive profits and provided, further, that Mr. Contractor will be content with a reasonable profit sufficient to insure him against loss, and provided, further, that the various crafts who are to perform the labor on his home will furnish eight hours of honest labor for eight hours' pay." If Mr. Laboring Man is going to loan his money, he being in full sympathy with labor, wants to pay the Union scale but his sympathy for his fellow-laboring man on his job does not go to the extent that he is willing to loan sixty or seventy-five per cent on a ten dollar labor bill when a five dollar labor bill should do the work. Regardless of his sympathy for labor, he will not want to jeopardize his money and have it hung up in mid-air because of some unwarranted strike and Mr. Laboring Man, the borrower, is equally interested in not burdening himself with an excessive load. In short, both the borrower and the lender ask for a fair deal and no more. They are willing to take a reasonable chance even under these abnormal times from which may come a receding wave which may wash away his margin of safety and cause his investment to exceed its value—he is willing to take a chance but he wants no soldiering on his job.

INSURANCE BANQUET TO A. B. C. DELEGATES

RESORTS TO RETROSPECTION

How long will this era of unprecedented prosperity continue, I do not know. I do not think any human being knows. I would not claim any insight or foresight withheld from you, save what I may have gained by longer experience than most of you, and I assure you that I do not altogether enjoy this famine in expectancy in tenure of life. Old Man Experience is a wonderful teacher. He has all the schools and books of learning backed off the boards. This fact may justify me in turning back the pages of my uneventful life.

The nation-wide depression of 1873 is quite fresh in my memory and from those who were active in affairs preceding this time, I conclude that there was some similarity between the times from 65 to 73, to the present. The products from the farm and such industries as then existed were in good demand at advancing prices. The demand for labor was in excess of the supply. Most prosperous times prevailed and it was generally believed that the country had entered upon a new era which it would not recede.

But like thunder from a clear sky, conditions changed and those who had not been provident, those who had not made hay in the sunshine of that golden era from 65 to 73 were uncomfortable to say the least. The man who could give employment to a laborer regardless of how little the wage, was looked upon as a philanthropist and as a result the country stood still for several years.

Many of you recall the depression of 1893 when a $10.00 bill looked larger than $100.00 now.

FRUGALITY COUNSELED

Let us hope the present era of prosperity is here to stay in which event if we have provided for the reverses, we will be the gainer, but would it not be the part of wisdom, in the event history should repeat itself nothing would do more towards warding off the impending danger than to prepare for that danger, supposing all the people of this country would perform the same team work so nobly done during the war. By so doing we would increase our production ten per cent and decrease a like per cent in consumption. This would mean that we could keep alive a starving world.

England, the Mother of Countries, with her standard of value, the pound, sterling, quoted on our market at a 25% discount, which means if she buys our product, she must pay the prevailing price to which she must add expensive transportation and then pay 25% exchange. Can she continue to buy at such exorbitant prices. I fear not. With France on the verge of insolvency, Germany with total assets, $5,000,000,000 less than her liabilities, with Austria totally bankrupt, Russia in the throes of despair, with practically all the countries save our own favored land uncertain as to what tomorrow has in store for them, shall we not, the heirs and legatees of our honored forefathers, make sacrifices as did they that the government so established on this continent shall continue as a land where free men may live and prosper.

I have no new remedy to offer, no cure-all plan withheld from all of us. I simply offer the time-worn proven remedy, namely, to spread the gospel of co-operation, of increased production, and of economy—to the end that we may in fact, better ourselves, our Country, and our community. —(Address delivered before the Building Trades Employers Association, Calumet District, by Mr. A. M. Turner, Prest. First National Bank, Hammond, Ind.)

STILL GOING

South Bend Builders' Exchange Continues Organization Offensive.

Those back of the Builders and Traders Exchange of South Bend and St. Joseph county, not satisfied with the enthusiasm with which the new organization sprang into being, are working hard to make it one of the livest contractors' bodies in Indiana. To that end S. F. Bowers has been retained as secretary, commodious quarters have been rented and a drive is on to interest every building man that the membership may represent 100% of the building interests of the section.

Preparations are in progress to make the opening meeting, Monday or Wednesday, a red letter affair in South Bend construction annals. Several hundred invitations have been sent out to members and prospective members, the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium has been arranged for the affair and a most interesting program has been arranged. Walter Wise, Chairman of the Permanent Labor Commiittee of the Associate dBuilding Contractors of Indiana will be the speaker of the evening.

Since South Bend is looking forward to a big building season the officers of the South Bend Builders and Traders Exchange are anxious to get their organization perfected before the work begins that cut-throat methods, peddling of bids, and unfair practices may be eliminated. The new organization has adopted the slogan "Co-operation plus Service" and everybody is working to that goal. Other such meetings as the approaching one are planned and it is hoped thereby to instill the idea of the necessity for organization and attract that element that has stood aloof to such moves heretofore.

Reports are to be made of the convention of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana held at Indianapolis and the purposes and mission of the state Association set forth that all may see and know clearly what a centralized body will mean and how it will act as a co-ordinating force for all local contractros' associations.

ARCHITECTS

At Indianapolis Include Draftsmen in Association Membership.

In an endeavor to create a greater interest in the draftsmen's work and instill a broader feeling of harmony between them and the architects the Indianapolis Architects Association has voted to take the draftsmen into the organization as associate members. They will be privileged to take part in the alternate meetings of the Association which will be of a social nature and tend to create a mutual understanding between all those of the fraternity in Indianapolis.

At the regular meeting Thursday these architects were elected to membership: Phil Bartlett, W. O. Morck, J. Elder Blackledge, Edw. H. Wigham, A. A. Honeywell and Clarence Myers.

An interesting feature of the evening was a presentation of the drawings of the new Liberal Arts Building to be built at the Technical High School. Mr. Otto Mueller of the firm of Vonnegut Bohn and Mueller who prepared the plans elaborated upon the details explaining the various features incorporated therein.

The meeting was preceded by an informal dinner at the Columbia Club.

GARY PHILOSOPHY

As a Sage of Northern Indiana Interprets the Situation.

1. DON'T BELIEVE the man who tells you the organization is run by and for the "BIG FELLOWS." If you will examine the accomplishments of it you will find that more has been done for the "LITTLE FELLOWS" than the "BIG FELLOWS."

2. YOU CAN'T possibly negotiate effectually when you stand alone against LABOR UNIONS. The organization can negotiate for you.

3. YOU have had some benefit, without being a member of the organization because it has "HELD THE UMBRELLA" over you. Why not help hold the umbrella yourself?

4. IT'S A GOOD THING. It is working for your interests. It is made up of your kind of folks. It has done you some good on the outside and it will do more good on the inside. So if you are not a member JOIN NOW and it will bring you all of these ADVANTAGES.

5. To adjust differences and settle disputes between members, or between members and others, and to have every one interested directly and indirectly in the Building Industry Pull TOGETHER.

6. To acquire the credit and standing of those dealing in the Building Trades purchasing material and labor.

MEETINGS FOR THE WEEK

Monday February 16th, Annual meeting of the Builders Association. We will have at this meeting not only the annual reports of the Secretary and Treasurer but a report of the delegates to the State Convention of Building Contractors. The President has promised to furnish the "smokes" of course that's about all you can furnish these "dry" times.

Tuesday Februray 17, the Fort Wayne Sanitary Engineers regular meeting.

Wednesday, Februray 18, Master House Painters & Decorators Association.

Thursday evening, February 19, the Plasterer Contractors Association regular meeting. Every member should be present as matters of interest to you will be discussed and some action taken.

Friday evening, February 20, the Sheet-Metal Contractors will meet. The regular monthly meeting.

The Fort Wayne delegation is in favor of adopting an iron-clad rule at the next state convention, "That Charles Morrow, of Muncie, be put to bed each night promptly at nine o'clock, the door locked and the key turned over to the President to be opened up next morning at seven A. M."

Mr. Contractor you should get behind the Chamber of Commerce on the Housing Campaign and help it along all you can, as you Mr. Builders are the first to receive the direct benefits from this advertising campaign. 1000 Homes to be built in 1920.

President Hoffman of the State Association, is some presiding officer. He kept the convention going along in a business-like manner and a wonderful lot of good work was done in the two days of the convention. It shows that he surely has given it a great deal of time and forethought.

The buildings erected during the year 1919 were only those needed because of expansion and extension of business. The great need for this year is apartment houses and new homes. There has been a dearth of homes during the past year, but few have ventured to erect a house for rent during these times. It is almost a certainty that there will be more homes erected during this year, otherwise it would be absolutely impossible to take care of the increase in population.

Nothing was more strongly emphasized by experience last year than the futility of Contractors bidding against each other for labor, and the harmful effect of employers in one city endeavoring to draw workmen from another by advertising higher wages. Thank goodness we believe the state convention has shown the contractors of Indiana that the spirit of co-operation among the different cities will stop this practice.

Pay your dues promptly—send in your reports at once.

We will have a complete report of the Exchange at the annual meeting of the Executive Board meeting in March. So don't let your name appear on the delinquent list.

All kinds of rumors are floating around about what wages are going to be—attend your Association meeting and have a direct hand in helping to make them and you will feel better also know more.

Do not be a pessimist about your Association. Get back of it and its officers and boost it all the time. Tell your fellow contractors it is a good thing and urge them to join at once.

Walter Wise, of Indianapolis, reports to us that he is coming to Fort Wayne this week—and that he wants a place to sleep. President Max Irmscher has agreed to take him in. Mr. Wise is president of the Mason Contractors Association of Indianapolis and was President of the National Mason Contractors Association last year. Come on Walter—welcome to our city.

If some of us would spend as much time trying to get business ourselves as we do trying to figure out how the other fellow gets it, we might find that we had answered our own question.

Let's hear from you fellows on the labor committee.

Max Irmscher says anyone wanting to know what was done in Indianapolis at the A. B. C. convention can find the full proceedings in the A. B. C. number of the INDIANA CONSTRUCTION RECORDER.

Meeting Nights

General Contractors meet second and fourth Monday of each month.

Master Plasterers' Assn., meets Thursday of each week at the EXCHANGE Rooms, 7.30 P. M.

Master Plumbers' Assn., meets first and third Thursday of each month at headquarters.

The Sheet-Metal and Roofers meet every Monday at headquarters.

The Cement, Tile and Marble Contractors hold their meetings the first and last Tuesday of each month at 3:00 p. m.

Special meeting of the members of the Builders & Traders Exchange will be held at the EXCHANGE rooms Monday, February 16th, at 7:30 p. m. It is important that every member be present as consideration of the wage scale is to be taken up. DO NOT FORGET THE DATE.

Both Messrs. Lee and Snowden were loud in their praise of the way the convention was handled and extend their thanks to the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana for the courtesies extended to them.

The Board of Directors of the Gary Builders and Traders Exchange at a meeting Feb. 7th, passed a resoluation to endorse the Indiana Construction Recorder and to adopt it as the official organ of the Gary Exchange. An exclusive Gary page is to be issued weekly, being conducted by the local organization as the official bulletin. It will contain news relative to the local exchange, meetings, action taken, personal comment and activities in the Gary construction field.

The clarion voice of C. H. Maloney was missing at the Indianapolis convention last week. What was the matter, Charles? You should have taken some time off to tell the Indiana contractors what you told those who gathered at the National Convention of the National Builders Exchanges.

L. B. Snowden, member of the Executive Board of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana, and H. B. Lee, both of this city, who attended the contractor's convention at Indianapolis last week returned home full of enthusiasm over the proceedings that transpired down there. They made a very lengthy and fovorable report to the Board of Directors of the Exchange Saturday night Feb. 7th. From what they said, the whole affair must have been full of "pep".

H. P. Lee made a good representative for the local Exchange at the Indianapolis convention. He was right in the midst of all discussions at all times and did not hesitate to let Indiana contractors know how they do things at Gary.

Armour & Co., have taken out a permit for $50,000 for reconstruction work at the local storage plant at Ninth and Broadway. It is said that $100,000 will be spent on the work before all is finished. Manager C. P. Lee claims that the rapid growth of Gary has necessitated the extensive improvements in order to handle the local business.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

Members of the Building Trades Employers' Association please take notice that hereafter all official communications will be found on this page.

NOTICE TO ALL MEMBERS. There will be a special meeting of the Association on Tuesday evening, February 17th, to take up the laborers demand and decide what action will be taken. All members are urged to be present as this is a matter that must be decided at once. Please keep in mind the date, February 17th.

Jos. K. Doppler, of Indiana Harbor, was in Hammond, Monday, looking for carpenters for his work at the International Lead Co. Although the Calumet District is paying the highest wages, $1.00 per hour for all skilled workmen, there is still a shortage of building craftsmen and building laborers.

Jas. Harbaugh, of Indiana Harbor, has about completed the building for the Prest-o-Lite Company.

Rufus Danner has the old building wrecked and the walls for the new theatre are growing steadily. He had the misfortune Monday morning of having his pump and tool house burn.

J. Wesley Reed, the delegate from this Association to the convention of the Associated Contractors of Indiana, held at Indianapolis, February 3rd and 4th, reports a very interesting meeting and matters of great importance to the contractors of the state were taken up. Steps were taken to make the State Association a live organization and a great help to the local organizations. He will make a detailed report at our next meeting.

On account of the high cost of building and the danger of future depreciation the banks and building and loan companies are curtailing the amount of their loans on building and when banks and loan companies begin to hedge is would be well for some people to heed "the hand-writing on the wall."

The journeymen Plumbers are asking the city council to pass an ordinance creating the office of Plumbing Inspector separate from the building inspector and charge a fee of $1.00 per fixture for inspection, also to raise the master plumbers license from $50.00 to $100.00 per year.

Norris & Kraft, architects, of East Chicago, are preparing plans for a brick store building 25x80 feet for Barney Charneskat, East Chicago; two residences at Spring Brook, near South Bend.

Plans will be completed and ready for bids soon on a residence for City Attorney M. E. Crites, 1428 Grapevine street, Indiana Harbor.

The outlook for the landing of several manufacturing plants that are seeking locations outside of Chicago is very good. In fact one of the large steel concerns has closed a deal for a location, and if some of our labor leaders would only realize that the condition of the building industry is such that it cannot stand for any great increase in the cost of labor but that by any exorbitant demands they are liable to retard building and oftentimes discourage prospective builders.

INDIANA CONTRACTORS IN ATTENDAN

INCREASED EFFICIENCY

Expected in Brick-laying Craft as a Result of New Apprentice School.

The announcement of an innovation in the form of school for brick layers' apprentices, instituted at Indianapolis by the Building Contractors Association, has caused quite a stir in State construction circles and the result will be watched with interest.

Such schools were advocated strongly by the delegates attending the National Convention of the National Association of Builders Exchanges as a means of increasing the efficiency of the brick laying craft. The attention of the delegates was called by Mr. Bohn, of Cleveland, to the Smith-Hughes Act passed by Congress whereby the Federal Government will give financial aid to States wishing to institute such schools. The American Federation of Labor backed the bill and Union officials have shown hearty accord toward the measure. Tennessee has already taken advantage of the law and several cities such as Chicago, Philadelphia, Washington and others are organizing trade schools to encourage boys to enter the building trades.

Walter Wise, of Indianapolis, formerly president of the Brick Contractors Association at a recent convention learned upon inquiry of Union officials that the deaths in the ranks of the bricklayers union exceeded the number of apprentices taken in each year. He broached the trade school idea to the Union official with whom he was talking and was assured that the Union would encourage any such move.

When the subject was placed before the Indianapolis Contractors Association the members at once endorsed the scheme and plans were immediately instituted to secure a school for Indianapolis. The matter was discussed with the Board of Education and the Union officials and approved. It has taken considerable work to plan it all but arrangements have been completed for the opening of the school immediately at the Technical High School.

To begin with there will be a class of twenty pupils who will finish out the present school year and then resume the course next fall for a term of six months. They are to be paid, while learning, at the rate of $9.00 per week the first six months, $12.00 per week the second six months, after that they will report for regular work and receive a certain per cent of the then prevailing wage scale, this per cent to be regulated by the Union.

There are fifteen brick contractors in the Indianapolis association and one student is to be allotted to each contractor, the other five to be assigned to five contractors outside the association. They are to report to their respective contractors each Saturday, stay on the work and receive their pay through the contractor. When the school year is up he is to report to the contractor to whom he is assigned and go to work. In computing his term of apprenticeship he will be accredited with the time he spent in the trade school.

The Contractors' Association pays the boys' wage at the regular apprentice rate and will assign each boy to a contractor as was done during the school term. Each boy will be furnished with a complete set of tools as follows: Brick set, plumb rule, hammer and rule.

During the school term the student will spend six hours at practical bricklaying and two hours at geometry. By this method it is expected to produce workmen who are practical and at the same time can read a set of plans with intelligence.

That there is entire co-operation between the contractors, Union and School Board is evidenced by the fact that the School Board has agreed to pay the instructor's salary, the instructor to be selected from the Bricklayers' Union while the contractors pay the boys' salaries.

The school was opened this week under the short term provisions but later it is proposed to extend the course over a two year period.

TWO BY FOURS

They must get up exceedingly early at Muncie. Ask some committee member and he'll tell you Charley Morrow is an early riser. They say at the next convention they are going to lock Charley in his room and throw the key away.

Ross Eshelman, President of the Anderson Contractors' Association was on the scene early absorbing ideas on organization to take back home.

No time is wasted when A. J. Hoffman wields the convention gavel. He surely kept things moving.

They are busy in Lafayette but A. E. Kemmer sneaked away long enough to say "Hello" all around.

Leave it to "Chi" to see that the convention machinery is all oiled and ready for action. Where would a convention be without him?

Some one said Terre Haute was sending some delegates. Indeed she did, nineteen of them, the best representation from any of the outside Indiana cities.

That must have been some story J. Wesley Reed, Hammond, carried back home. Every time any one spoke J. Wesley jotted down some more notes.

Fort Wayne was there with the bells on. Irmscher, Dailey, Rump, Busching and Aumann didn't let anything get by them.

That smiling visage and resonant voice of Harry Fenton's added much to the convention not to mention his legal opinions.

He don't say much, but he can work. Who? Joe Goodall.

He slipped in quietly but it wasn't long before everyone knew South Bend was among those present. Walter Fassnacht immediately jumped into the fray.

Much favorable comment filtered through the hall following the broad policy advocated by E. Hill Turnock, President of the Indiana Society of Architects.

The Evansville crowd said "all work and no play, etc." Did you and your crowd find a good show, Larry?

"What's the fare to Marion?" was the query around the convention after C. C. Heinzmann made the admission that they had had no Labor trouble there.

Surely times have changed. It was not so very far back that had we seen two competing contractors hobnobbing together and talking over business methods we would have concluded our eyesight was bad or our senses were departing.

Even the smaller cities have heard the call. Here and there in the crowd could be seen Jake Behrich, Mt. Vernon; Walter Haworth, Attica; J. M. Cutshall, Brazil; S. L. Kirk, Vincennes and J. Fred Beggs, Scottsburg.

Regarding the Outlook for a Record Breaking Building Season.

Take CEMENT For Example:

Do You Know that some mills are sold up on their output for 1920 already?

that others are not running to capacity because of car shortage?

that the demand is far in excess of the visible supply?

that many other material manufacturers are experiencing similar conditions?

The building outlook for the coming season is the most promising in years, for volume of business, limited only by the possibility of obtaining materials.

The problem this year is going to be one of "delivering the goods."

Your own job will reflect the seriousness of the delivery problem, unless you have unusual storage facilities, an advantage that only few jobs can afford.

We have foreseen the conditions and we have set about to do our best to relieve the situation by means of reserve stock.

All our warehouses have been enlarged and are now filled to capacity as rapidly as they are completed.

Car load business handled by us gives you satisfaction in the assurance that even if shipments are delayed your job can be kept going from our stocks.

Call and let our salesmen tell you some other arrangements we have made for your convenience.

BRIXMENT The Perfect Cement for all kinds of Mortars

No Lime—No Bother—No Soaking—No Waste
Simply Mix With Sand and Use

BRIXMENT is a slow- setting, plastic and smooth-working cement for masonry. It does not require soaking or any preliminary preparation. Simply mix with sand and use.

BRIXMENT Works long and buttery. Resembles lime putty in its working quality, yet has an initial set in about four hours. One part of BRIXMENT to three parts of clean, sharp sand makes a mortar which in a very short time exceeds common building brick in crushing strength.

BRIXMENT Costs no more than ordinary lime mortar in the Indiana market. In most cases it means a decided saving. A barrel of BRIXMENT is approximately four and one-half cubic feet. Mixed one part BRIXMENT to three parts sand, it gives five-eighths yards of excellent mortar—enough to lay one thousand bricks.

BRIXMENT Makes firm friends. A test in actual work is sufficient proof of its merits. The dealers listed below stock BRIXMENT. Any additional information desired may be secured b ywriting the manufacturers—

PRICE CUTTING

To Secure Work a Bad Practice and a Serious Menace to Building.

Competition should be based upon service and value and not upon prices. In the building field the prospects are bright, anywhere one goes in Indiana he will find promising contemplated projects that should develop into a good volume of business a little later. When this work materializes will the old desire to obtain it develop to such a degree that there will be the customary price slashing as in springs of yore?

While prices have reached a high level and a natural decline is to be desired that building may be encouraged, at the same time, unwarranted price cutting should not be tolerated. Oftentimes contractors in the early spring, in their eagerness to secure work, exercise little discretion, they figure closely, load up, and later rue the day their avarice got the best of them.

Shaving figures is frequently due to inaccurate cost accounting. There is a desire to chance it and —hope. Such practice today in order to secure work, when the markets are so unstable, is a crime against the building industry, it is unreasonable, unbusinesslike and might be termed suicidal.

To figure at a sufficient price so as to include a practical working profit is the first law of the contracting business. An intimate knowledge of costs is essential, the more so now days, due to the uncertain conditions.

There is no telling just what the future holds; prices in the material market are ruling strong to firm; Labor unquestionably is preparing to make demands for increased wage scales and contractors should not be stampeded into meeting competitive bids without being absolutely sure of their positions. This is the season of temptation, and discretion should be exercised as never before, in figuring, this spring.

The prospective builder may far better afford to pay a dependable price for his work rather than to accept a bid whose only attractiveness is price. The former means certainty, service, value received when the building is completed.

There are contractors who do not know actually their operating costs, yet they enter the lists against the ones who know exactly where they stand at all times. They are a menace to the contracting industry and themselves because the lowness of their bids attracts a certain class of owners who are ignorant of that which is involved in a building operation. They accept work and proceed thinking they are making money only to discover later that they, somehow, figured below cost. Then the trouble begins, the work drags, the architect has his troubles and the owner becomes dissatisfied with the whole proceedings.

The price slashing contractor, under the prevailing conditions today, not only jeopardizes his own affairs but also the interests of those associated with him in a building project. The owner may at the start revel in the low price he secured but it is never able to offset the bitterness of poor service.

OLD FABLE

Applicable to Conditions as They Exist in Building Circles.

Every day one hears in building circles the same repeated lamentations concerning the inability of manufacturers to supply the demand for materials, advancing prices and the inclination of Labor to demand increasing wage scales. This condition does not exist only in Indiana but all over the country as was attested by delegates who attended a recent National Convention of builders held at Indianapolis. In short, production does not seem to count with the employe engaged in the building industry, instead, he has his mind set on only one thing, more money regardless of the effort expended to produce it or from whence the money is to come.

Manufacturers at their wits ends to secure labor are forced to run along on short production, and at the same time meet, as best they can, the increased cost of same. Contracting employers will also have to meet increased wage scales this spring. The question is, will the prospective builder, when the building season opens, consent to foot the bill?

Admitted, prices are high. Will the attitude, on the part of the wage earner, "I won't deliver until I am paid," help the situation? Cut down the supply and the demand increases with a subsequent increase in cost; increase the cost of production and the raise appears in the final quotation to be passed all along the line, the final outcome being a situation similar to what it was when a start upward was made.

Considering everything, how many in clamoring for increased wages, particularly in the building industry stop to think what effect this increase will have on future building costs? How many stop to recall the fable of "The Goose That Laid the Golden Egg?" If the old tale is given any thought, the individual tendency is to let the moral apply to the other fellow. Most people seem to be content to proceed with their own method of scant production and carefree spending expecting the other fellow to derive comfort from the fable above mentioned.

Unless production increases there can be no hope of indefinitely satisfying the demand for increased wages. Wages are limited to production. The current tendency is a hopeless reversal of the principle. Wages mount because employers take hope as security against the future. Hope failing, work ceases.

Slack production holds a latent economic threat. The theory that workers should shirk that more jobs may be provided can have but one result—no jobs at all.

BIG INCREASE

Over Corresponding Period Last Year Shown By Building Permits.

The new year started off with promising activity as regards building operations in Indiana. Returns from the building inspection departments of the eight leading cities show, that while the number of permits issued were fewer in January, 1920, than for the corresponding period in 1919, at the same time, the estimated valuation far exceeded the figures reported last year, a gain of 341 per cent being apparent.

Relative to the building outlook about the State the building inspectors say:

"In Hammond there are prospects for a large number of business buildings but we don't look for much house construction owing to high prices and the uncertainty of loans. From appearances building operations in this section in 1920 should far surpass those of the last two years."—Henry Vis.

"The building situation in Fort Wayne looks very good there being a number of large projects in contemplation that promise an early maturity. The Chamber of Commerce is promoting quite an extensive housing project, which has met with favor and should do much to increase the volume of home building this season."—Gustave Lindemann.

"Building prospects in Richmond are favorable. Labor in all lines of business scarce and hard to obtain."—John Pinnick.

Following are the building permits for January:

Evansville	32	$ 45,245	26	$ 14,480
Fort Wayne	22	119,080	19	22,625

OFFICIAL NOTICE

Members of the Building Trades Employers' Association please take notice that hereafter all official communications will be found on this page.

The meeting held Tuesday, February 10th was well attended. Separate meetings were held by the Plaster contractors, lathers contractors, cement block manufacturers and team owners, after which the general and mason contractors and material men held their meeting. A committee was apppointed to attend the meeting of the Gary Exchange, Monday evening, February 16th.

Mr. Gorman, of Crawfordsville, who will superintend the erection of the eight story reinforced concrete elevator for the Continental Seed Company, called on the Secretary, Friday, to get in touch with the labor conditions, also arranged to meet a number of the representatives of the local labor organizations some time the first of the coming week.

The Fort Wayne and Gary pages certainly add interest to the Recorder and we hope to see other towns take up the good work. Also we want to congratulate Mr. Owen for his effort to make the Recorder the best paper for contractors and to interest the contractors of the state in organization and co-operation. Some hustler!

George P. Pearson and Son are remodeling the residence of Mr. John F. Hughey, corner of Kenwood and Blaine Avenues, Hammond, Indiana.

The Texico Oil Company have purchased a site and will erect a large storage building on Summer street, east of the Malleable Iron Company. Work to start early in the spring.

At the last meeting of the city council the new plumbing ordinance was laid on the table, thereby defeating the passage for the time being.

The Journeymen lathers are demanding $1.25 per hour. $1.31¼ for foremen, 1500 laths for a day's work. If they carry the lath, 29 bundles, 1st floor; 28 bundles second floor; 27 bundles third floor. Master lathers to pay $100.00 for the privilege of using tools. The master lathers do not feel very favorable to their demands.

From present indications it will be necessary to hold a meeting every Tuesday evening if not oftener. The members should be sure to attend the meetings as matters of importance are coming up that will effect the entire membership and will be of vital importance and on which will depend the success or failure of the Building Industry for the coming season.

On Friday evening, February 6th, a committee from the Association paid a visit to the Building Trades Council at their headquarters. They were courteously received and a profitable hour was spent in exchanging opinions and getting better acquainted. Several matters of importance were discussed by members of both organizations.

News is rather scarce; the weather rather gloomy; and a little more of the beautiful snow. We would be willing to tip the weather man if he would give us a better grade of weather.

MEETINGS FOR THE WEEK

Monday evening February 23.—The Masons Contractors regular meeting.

Tuesday evening February 24.—Fort Wayne Society of Sanitary Engineers will hold a special meeting. They are arranging for the State meeting which will be held at Richmond some time next month.

Wednesday evening, February 25.—The Master Painters and Decorators Association will meet. This is to be a very important meeting and the smiling new president wants every member present.

Thursday evening, February 26.—The Electrical Contractors Association. President John is also asking for a one hundred per cent meeting. So Electro-Cons., take notice and be at this meeting.

Thursday evening February 26.—The Sheet Metal Contractors have a special called meeting to take up some important matters. President Aumann asks that you prevail upon those to attend who were not at the last meeting.

The annual meeting of the Builders Association was held on Monday evening. After hearing the reports of the officers the association proceeded with the election of officers: Ernest Fuhrman was elected President; Theo. Buesching, Vice-President; Henry Hockemeyer, Treasurer and Eph P. Daily, Secretary. Board of directors: Tom Snook, Theo. Buesching, Fred Grote, Fred J. Rump, Wm. Wefel. Arbitration Board: Ernest Fuhrman, Fred J. Rump, Chas. Rodenbeck, Harry Offutt and Wm. S. Sims. Delegates to the Builders Exchange: Henry Hockemeyer, Harry Offutt, Tom Snook.

Every effort was made to have Mr. Rump accept the presidency for a third term but he was forced to decline because of the pressure of business cares. He expressed his willingness to serve on the two very important committees, Arbitration and Executive.

A vote of appreciation was tendered Ex-President Rump for his signal service in guiding the association through the war period and keeping the splendid spirit of co-opertion in all the building industry.

The Executive Board at their last meeting decided to make the quarterly meeting of the entire Exchange, to be held Tuesday, March 16, a "get-together" meeting. A six o'clock dinner is carded as one of the features of the evening. We have a number of new members and this will be a good chance to get acquainted. We are arranging, in connection with what business we have, to have some good speakers who will be announced later.

Circle March 16th on your calendar to remind you daily that you are going to the Contractors dinner. You will hear from us later.

Send in your reports and a check for your dues.

The Sanitary Engineers at their last regular meeting decided by unanimous vote that every member belonging to the Society should hold membership in the Exchange.

Officers were elected for the year as follows:
Jos. P. Martin, President.
Wm. Sthair, Vice-President.
E. H. Witte, Treasurer.
E. F. Oelschleager, Secretary.
Delegates to the Builders Exchange: Harry Hattersly, E. F. Oelschleager and Jos. P. Martin.

We hope when the live wires from over the State in the plumbing business meet in Richmond next month, in annual convention, they will wake up the old Quaker City. This was the only city of any size that was not represented at the State meeting of Contractors.

Sanitary engineers, when you arrive there, show the Quakers what can be accomplished by organization.

Tell them what's doing in the outside world.

The Electrical Contractors at their regular meeting held February 13, passed a similar resolution as the Sanitary Engineers did at their meeting, "that every member in the Electrical Contractors Association must hold membership in the Builders Exchange."

The Sheet Metal Contractors have a good live organization at present and a set of officers that are going to do things for their Association. At their meeting February 13, many things were brought up and action was taken along lines to elevate their trade.

Meeting Nights

General Contractors meet second and fourth Monday of each month.

Master Plumbers' Assn., meets first and third Thursday of each month at headquarters.

The Sheet-Metal and Roofers meet every Monday at headquarters.

The Cement, Tile and Marble Contractors hold their meetings the first and last Tuesday of each month at 3:00 p. m.

Stop! Look! Listen!

Before digging into your bills or bids, post your Membership Certificate.

Before you worry over your bids today, the high cost of living, or whether we have better or harder times after the coming presidential election, hang your certificate of Membership in a prominent place in your office.

Put it out in the open where everybody coming and going can see it.

Be proud of it and be proud to post it conspicuously, if you have not already done so.

Try your best to get the other fellow to become a member and tell him to join now. If you have not your certificate see the Secretary and secure it. Also don't forget your 2/10 of 1% on contracts. WE NEED THE MONEY.

Please take note that there will be an informal dinner of Exchange members at the Commercial Club, Monday, 7:30 p. m. This is to be a "get-together" assemblage and it is desired that everybody turn out. Efforts are being made to secure speakers from Chicago and Indianapolis. There will also be representatives from the new South Bend Exchange. Please secure reservations at once from the Secretary, W. J. Stewart Hyde.

Our worthy and ever smiling Joseph Ruffin has indicated that he is going to take a vacation for a couple of weeks in the southern clime. We hope you will have a good time Joseph. Look out you are not married and it's leap year.

We are in receipt of a communication from our esteemed member, A. F. Wickes. He seems in the mood of criticizing the actions of this EXCHANGE for laxity on certain subjects he presented. Would it not be better if your have a complaint to make, to make it known on the floor of the EXCHANGE? There are none of us that do not make mistakes and we are always ready and willing that any member, who exercises sufficient interest, bring them before the EXCHANGE and correct them. It is a well known fact that no man is so BIG and MIGHTY that he can stand alone. Each and every one of us needs the co-opertion of his fellow co-workers. No organization can do all things at one time but concentrated effort on the part of all members means eventually the goal set will be attained.

A Correction

Master Plasterers hold their meetings the 1st and 3rd Wednesday of each month.

BRIXMENT The Perfect Cement for all kinds of Mortars

No Lime—No Bother—No Soaking—No Waste
Simply Mix With Sand and Use

BRIXMENT Is a slow- setting, plastic and smooth-working cement for masonry. It does not require soaking or any preliminary preparation. Simply mix with sand and use.

BRIXMENT Works long and buttery. Resembles lime putty in its working quality, yet has an initial set in about four hours. One part of BRIXMENT to three parts of clean, sharp sand makes a mortar which in a very short time exceeds common building brick in crushing strength.

BRIXMENT Costs no more than ordinary lime mortar in the Indiana market. In most cases it means a decided saving. A barrel of BRIXMENT is approximately four and one-half cubic feet. Mixed one part BRIXMENT to three parts sand, it gives five-eights yards of excellent mortar—enough to lay one thousand bricks.

BRIXMENT Makes firm friends. A test in actual work is sufficient proof of its merits. The dealers listed below stock BRIXMENT. Any additional information desired may be secured b ywriting the manufacturers—

STEPS TAKEN

To Immediately Organize United Board of Building Interests of Indiana.

A progressive move that bears much promise for the future of Indiana's allied building interests is rapidly developing and it is not too much to expect early and beneficial results from it. The idea was advanced at recent conventions held at Indianapolis, meeting with instant favor, and is the outgrowth of efforts to bring about a practical working spirit of co-operation amongst those engaged in building operations. It relates to the establishment of a Board of United Building Interests of Indiana and is a distinctive innovation in this state. The purpose of the Board is to handle problems dealing with the relations between architects and contractors, standard and equitable contract forms, legislation as it affects and furthers the advancement of construction affairs, and, last but not least, to promote a spirit of fair dealing that a thorough spirit of justice and equity may be inspired.

This matter was first broached by Mr. E. Hill Turnock, President of the Indiana Society of Architects, at the architects' semi-annual meeting in December, and again by him in an address before the convention of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana. Both architects and contractors espoused the idea, realizing the possibilities for good in such a scheme. Each organization took active steps in an endeavor to perfect the formation of a board as outlined.

Believing that more could be accomplished by distributing the representation on the new board about the state, and that the personnel should be made up of men who lived in close proximity to each other in the various sections so that they could confer easily, that method of procedure was followed with the tentative result as set forth in Mr. Turnock's letter to Mr. Hoffman.

Elkhart, Ind., Feb. 19, 1920.

Mr. A. J. Hoffman, Pres.,
Associated Contractors of Indiana,
Evansville, Indiana.

Dear Mr. Hoffman:

I wish, first of all, to thank you and your fellow Contractors for the kindly reception which you were pleased to accord me at your last meeting at Indianapolis. The enthusiasm which was manifested at that meeting spoke volumes for our future cooperative plans. I believe it absolutely assured, and that your Association is doing its full share.

Regarding the larger view of our plans, that of the "Board of United Building Interests of Indiana," as I understand the matter you have decided upon three members to represent your Association; you as President representing the Southern district, Mr. H. G. Cristman of South Bend in the Northern district, and Mr. C. C. Pierson from Indianapolis. I have no doubt these three will make an excellent trio.

Now as to the Architects; I presume inasmuch as you have honored this committee by acting on it yourself, it would not seem presumptious for me to act in conjunction with Mr. Cristman. I think that Mr. Herbert Foltz would be a splendid man to act in the Central district and Mr. Frank Fowler of Evansville whom I feel confident will well represent the Architects in a credible manner in the Southern part of the state.

In conclusion I wish to say that I think we should include the Engineering profession and then at our preliminary meeting of organization of the Board, we can take up the important question as to whether other interests should be included in the membership of the Board. I think that as soon as we have our Board formed as complete as possible it would be well for us to meet and formulate a line of action. What do you say?

Awaiting your reply, I assure you of our closest co-operation.

Yours cordially,

E. HILL TURNOCK.

Arrangements are in course of preparattion to hold a very important meeting at Indianapolis, March 9, it being the intention to call sessions of the Executive Boards of both the Architects' Society and the Associated Building Contractors. Steps will then be taken toward the formation of the proposed United Board. On the same date it is planned to have representatives of the Permanent Labor Committee of the A. B. C. meet and advise with the new board on the labor problem. It is the aim of those instrumental in organizing this new department in the state construction field to get things started at once so as to be in a position to secure early action when debatable questions, or those demanding co-operative effort, arise.

PROGRESSIVE ACTION

Started by the New Permanent Labor Committee of the A. B. C.

It will be of interest to those of the A. B. C. to learn that the Permanent Labor Committee appointed at the recent State Convention at Indianapolis has gotten down to serious business and is making rapid strides in the work outlined for its attention. Mr. Walter Wise, Chairman, states that while the Committee is not in a position to announce the result of its deliberations or accomplishments, most satisfactory progress has been made.

Data from all over the State relative to wage scales and the labor situation has come into the possession of the committee and is being compiled so that this body will be in a position to meet any wage exigencies that may arise this spring.

Information from Evansville is to the effect that the General Contractors' Association followed the suggestions as outlined by the A. B. C. Labor Committee and has reached and signed a satisfactory wage agreement with Local Union No. 90, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners. This agreement is to date from April 1, 1920, to April 1, 1921. It is the first agreement to be reached of which the Labor Committee has any knowledge. Furthermore, it is stated that there was every display at co-operative effort on the part of the Contractors' Committee and those representing labor with the result that the agreement was reached and signed under most amicable conditions.

AROUND THE STATE

Architect C. M. Thomas, formerly of Clinton, has formed a partnership with Archt. Charles Allen. They have opened an office at 25½ S. 5th St., Terre Haute and desire catalogs and building material samples.

Last week in mentioning new members who had been admitted to the Indianapolis Architects' Association two names were omitted, those of J. E. Woodward and W. K. Eldridge.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

Members of the Association please take notice that hereafter all official communications and notices relative to the Association will be found on this page each week.

SPECIAL ATTENTION

There will be an important meeting of the Association March 1. All members should attend as there are matters of vital interest to the welfare of this body to be discussed. The Executive Board will report on the wage scale, the annual election of officers will be held and the matter of changing the By-Laws will be up for consideration.

TO ALL MEMBERS

Resolved, That the members of this Association pay as dues at the rate of $1.25 on each thousand dollars to be based on the volume of business done, with a minimum fee of $1.00 per month, payable monthly in advance. Payment to be made to the secretary. This resolution changes Section Four of the By-Laws.

The time has arrived for a serious consideration of the Building Code. Opposition to it has sprung up and it is just possible that some drastic action will have to be taken to meet this. The institution of a building code in Muncie will be a good thing for the public and the construction interests and the Association should work for its installation.

The Master Plumbers meet every Wednesday. All members should make it a point to attend.

We understand that Contractor Jungclaus, Indianapolis, is doing some figuring in Muncie. Go to it, Fred. We are not a bit miffed. You are welcome to all you can grab off in this city.

Muncie had nothing to be ashamed of at the State Convention, considering her size the local delegation compared favorably in numbers with the representations from some of the larger cities.

Members of the Building Trades Employers' Association please take notice that hereafter all official communications will be found on this page.

NOTICE TO ALL MEMBERS

There will be a regular meeting of the Building Trades Employers' Association on Tuesday evening, March 2. All members are urged to be present as matters of very great importance to the membership are to be taken up. The question of wage scales will also be taken up.

The members of the Organized Labor are not backward in their demands. If all they are asking for was granted the business agent's salary would soon equal the salary of a railroad president. They had better stop a moment and think "They might accidently kill the goose that lays the golden egg."

Mr. Gorham who will superintend the erection of the eight-story reinforced concrete elevator for the Continental Seed Company was in town Wednesday and Thursday, the 18th and 19th, getting in touch with the labor conditions and generally looking the ground over.

The Pratt Food Company is planning to erect a nine-story building at their plant in addition to other lesser buildings. We understand the Chicago Construction Company will do the work.

The Board of Directors held a meeting with the Board of Directors of the Gary Exchange Saturday, February 21, at 3:00 P. M. at Gary. Several matters of importance, looking to a closer working arrangement between the two organizations, were discussed.

Plaster Contractor Harry Potts left Saturday for Macon, Ga. He will spend a month in the South.

Architects A. C. Berry and Company have prepared plans for the Elk's Club House. Bids to be in the 22nd of March. To cost about $70,000.00. The plans for the new industrial school will be ready to go to the contractors March 1.

The weather has moderated some allowing the contractors to proceed with the outside work. Perhaps our promise of a tip to the weather man got results.

Some of the buildings that were on the boards for spring building may not materialize if the prices of material and labor continue to rise. The contractors too are not inclined to load up with many large contracts until conditions become more settled.

We wish to congratulate the Indiana Construction Recorder on its splendid report of the proceedings of the Indiana Building Contractors' Convention at Indianapolis, February 3 and 4.

Architect Mac Turner has let the Gordon Building, at Whiting, to Rufus Danner of Hammond.

Dallas, Texas, Chamber of Commerce and Builders have organized an Association called the Open Shop Square Deal Association.

Don't forget the meeting March 2.

MEETINGS FOR THE WEEK

Monday evening, March 1, Builders' Association. This is a regular meeting, the new contract will be up for discussion.

Wednesday evening, March 3, Master House Painters and Decorators' Association.

Thursday evening, March 4, Plastering Contractors' Association.

Special Attention, Members of Executive Board

The annual meeting of the Executive Board of the Builders' Exchange will meet Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Be prompt as we have some important matters that need the attention of the entire board.

The Sheet Metal Contractors are bound to make their organization one hundred per cent. strong. The present officers are full of "pep" and all the members are taking a very active interest in the affairs of the Association. Henry Aumann was compelled to furnish the smokes. Of course, you know Henry is the president.

In the very near future we are going to publish a complete list of the members of the Exchange and same will be mailed to each member so you will know "who is who."

There will be some new faces on the Executive Board of the Exchange this year. Some of the Associations have already selected their delegates.

The Indiana Engineering and Construction Co. has been awarded the general contract for the new sales room for the Steinhart Auto Co., to be built at the corner of Fairfield and Washington Streets. Work will be started at once.

The next quarterly meeting of the Builders' Exchange will be a six-thirty dinner, meeting place to be announced later, the time will be March 16. Write this date down as you will want to be there. Some of the State A. B. C. Officers have promised to be present.

Two essentials to the success of any organization are the full co-operation of its members and a prompt payment of dues. With these valuable assets, an organization can fully protect its members and do things that will benefit the members and the industry it represents.

REMEMBER, the Exchange is open every day and the Secretary is on the job. You will receive the Indiana Construction Recorder every week by mail. So if you have anytihng that is of interest to your fellow contractors, tell Eph and he will see that same is published.

The Indiana Engineer and Construction Company have moved from 528 Lincoln Life Building to the Gaunt Building, corner of Berry and Webster streets.

Architect R. J. Aurentz has moved his office from 401 to 308 Bass Block.

M. J. Stock, who was with Mahurin and Mahurin for a number of years has accepted a position in Kansas City Missouri, and has moved there.

AN AFTERGLOW

It is such a rare thing, such an unusual thing, for a set of Indiana Contractors to congregate in open meeting and display even an average degree of harhony, that the recent assemblage of a goodly number of Indiana Contractors in State Convention at Indianapolis must be recognized as a long step forward by the contracting forces.

This effort at co-operation and the manifestation of the realization of the necessity for organization means the dawn of a tomorrow. Every contractor should lend impetus to the new order that the good work may be continued until the whole State, especially those interested in construction, shall come to realize that a community of interests has been established that will work to the benefit of all.

Meeting Nights

General Contractors meet second and fourth Monday of each month.

Master Plasterers hold their meetings the 1st and 3rd Wednesday of each month.

Master Plumbers' Assn., meets first and third Thursday of each month at headquarters.

The Sheet-Metal and Roofers meet every Monday at headquarters.

The Cement, Tile and Marble Contractors hold their meetings the first and last Tuesday of each month at 3:00 p. m.

A meeting of the members was held February 16 and we were glad to have a representation of the Building Trades Employers' Association from Hammond present, nine of their members attending. There seems to be considerable co-operative disposition on the part of the Exchange for the betterment of the working conditions in the Calumet District including Gary.

Mr. E. Y. Baaba, one of the Mason Contractors, keeps busy laying brick on the Lincoln Street houses for Robert R. Cenek. It takes more thar frost to stop Baaba.

H. B. Lee and W. J. Stewart Hyde attended the opening of the convention of the National Association of General Contractors of America and they were well paid for their attendance as there were several questions brought before the convention which were exceedingly profitable. They also visited the National Convention of the Concrete House Convention at the Auditorium.

There was a meeting of the joint executive board of the Gary Exchange and the Building Trades Employers' Association at the Exchange rooms February 21, to arrange for a joint conference to fix and regulate a working agreement with the various unions representing the various crafts.

We have extended an invitation for speakers to a representative of South Bend, to C. C. Pierson of Indianapolis; E. M. Craig, Andrew Lanquist and John J. Sullivan, all of Chicago; Mayor Hodges of Gary; H. S. Norton, Agent of the Gary Land Company, and H. G. Hay, President of the Gary State Bank.

The Exchange was exceedingly disappointed in not being able to send representatives to the "Get-to-gether" meeting of the South Bend Exchange which was held February 18. We will try to do better next time as the notice arrived too late to make arrangements to that end.

L. B. Snowden, Alfred Anderson, H. B. Lee, Chas. H. Maloney, Wm. Welter participated in the Hammond regular meeting of the Building Trades Employers' Association and reported an arousing good time and wished to extend a thanks to the Hammond Association for the treament extended to them. They reported that that organization seems to be endowed with considerable pep and we hope it may reach over to Gary.

BRIXMENT The Perfect Cement for all kinds of Mortars

No Lime—No Bother—No Soaking—No Waste
Simply Mix With Sand and Use

BRIXMENT Is a slow- setting, plastic and smooth-working cement for masonry. It does not require soaking or any preliminary preparation. Simply mix with sand and use.

BRIXMENT Works long and buttery. Resembles lime putty in its working quality, yet has an initial set in about four hours. One part of BRIXMENT to three parts of clean, sharp sand makes a mortar which in a very short time exceeds common building brick in crushing strength.

BRIXMENT Costs no more than ordinary lime mortar in the Indiana market. In most cases it means a decided saving. A barrel of BRIXMENT is approximately four and one-half cubic feet. Mixed one part BRIXMENT to three parts sand, it gives five-eights yards of excellent mortar—enough to lay one thousand bricks.

BRIXMENT Makes firm friends. A test in actual work is sufficient proof of its merits. The dealers listed below stock BRIXMENT. Any additional information desired may be secured b ywriting the manufacturers—

NEW VIEW

Taken by Architects and Contractors as to Necessity for Conciliatory Spirit

There is no gain-saying the fact that certain developments have cropped out in construction circles in Indiana of late years tending toward the creation of better relations between the various interests involved. In no branch of the industry is this feature better exemplified than that which pertains to the dealing between the architect and contractor. There seems to be a desire on the part of both to bring about a harmonious working atmosphere that will breathe of fair dealing, more efficiency and a less cause for misunderstanding.

Time was when these two forces were bitterly antagonistic; the architect, assuming the position of jury, judge and executioner, insisted on putting the contractor on the defensive from the start of a building operation and the contractor fought back with all the strength and cunning at his command when placed in such a perdicament. The result was dissatisfaction, acrimonious contentions, lost action and not infrequently law suits. That some of the architects realized the injustice of such practices is attested by the fact that several years ago an Indianapolis architect took the matter up at a meeting and championed the cause of the honest, fair contractor and demanded that he be treated human. He went so far as to say that if the architect abandoned his arbitrary attitude he would find the reputable contractors more willing to do the right thing. The talk did not set well with some of the architects and every effort was made to put the quietus on it.

Since then a more conciliatory attitude has seized upon the architect and he has come to realize the need for the exercising of a more co-operative spirit. The Indiana Society of Architects since its reorganization has shown a marked tendency to develop this spirit. At its semi-annual meeting in December A. J. Hoffman, Evansville, President of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana was invited in and made an adress covering the "Relations Between the Contractor and Architect from the Contractor's Viewpoint." In return, President E. Hill Turnock, Elkhart, set forth the Architect's position in an address at the State Convention of Contractors at Indianapolis recently.

The salient point of both talks hinged upon contract forms and carried a plea for the adoption of the Uniform Contract as advocated by the American Institute of Architects and various contracting parties. As President Turnock said, "This adoption would create a better sense of equity."

In speaking of the Uniform Contract Attorney Harry A. Fenton, for the contractors, said he was sure Mr. Turnock's reference to the word equity would sink into the hearts, into the very souls of the contractors as an evidence of a desire for fair play. He called the attention of the contractors present to the aim of the Architect's Society in its organizing along co-operative lines similar to the ones mapped out by the contractors' association. Both, he said, were doing a great educational work and could be of great assistance to each other.

The architects' law was mentioned and it was proposed that the contractors' organization lend its assistance to the passage of such a measure for the good influence it would have upon state construction work. In return the contractors would demand of the architects a like display of reciprocity in matters of mutual benefit.

It was brought out that many architects demanded of contractors certain things it was impossible to meet and that many contractors had been ruined by the unscrupulous methods pursued by some architects. By a greater exertion toward co-operation along reasonable lines it was contended that much hitherto ill feeling and "bad blood" between architect and contractor can be eliminated.

Much of the trouble and debates that have arisen between contractors and architects were due to pet clauses which the architect has seen fit to insert into his contracts. All sorts of contracts have been devised providing for certain conditions many of which were of unknown quantity. The thing to do is for the architect and contractor to agree on a standard form and use it all over the state instituting a general uniformity. Precendent rules in most cases and it should here. It is not proper, it is not the time to draft something, sign it and later look around and examine it after trouble bobs up. Everything should be clearly set forth and read into the contract without any reservation.

Mr. Fenton said he had carefully examined the Uniform Contract as advocated by the A. I. A. and found it as perfect as it was possible to make such an instrument. By its use neither the architect or the contractor is taking a chance; there is nothing equal to it in the building field and the contractors were advised that by adopting it they would make one of the biggest moves of the convention.

At the conclusion of the discussion the delegates voted unanimously to adopt the Uniform Contract and further agreed to use their influence with the architects all over the state to employ it in their dealings.

With four different towns in competition for the plant, the La Salle Steel Company decided to locate in Hammond on account of better railroad facilities and labor conditions. Now who can say, "Hammond isn't a "Go-Getter?"

A tract of approximately 31 acres on the North Side was purchased. Construction will begin immediately upon an enormous steel, glass and concrete plant the three units of which will contain over 800,000 square feet of floor space, and employ 1000 men.

Preparations for removal in anticipation of the new 3,000 capacity theatre at the corner of State and Hohman have already begun. Leases expiring between now and May 1 will not be renewed.

The new theatre will knock out several antiquated buildings. The alley between Hohman St. and Plummer Ave. will be closed to accommodate the new building. It is said that all available space in the proposed structure has been rented. This new addition to Hamond's loop will change the looks considerably and is looked forward to with a great deal of eagerness.

There is a very well authenticated rumor that something big will soon be on the boards in the building line. They can't do better than come to Hammond.

Guy Young is placing the interior finish in the new apartment building being erected for Martin Linz, on Sibley street. He also has the Diamond Building on State street about completed. We understand The Legion of Honor has leased the second floor.

Stephens & Crossman, Engineers, Transportation Building, Chicago, have charge of the erection of the buildings for the new plant of the Pratt Food Co., on the old Packing House site.

What is probably the largest housing project ever undertaken in Indiana and which will involve the expenditure of $10,000,000 to $12,000,000, will be the erection of 1,500 or more dwellings by the Indiana Harbor Homes Company. This project includes the laying out of streets, building of sewers, sidewalks, installation of lights, mains and phones; parks and playgrounds. In all it will cover 66 city blocks in the southeast part of Indiana Harbor.

It is interesting to note that Building Supply Men in Chicago have been cleared of the charge of plot. They were indicted on charges brought by the Carpenters' Union as an outgrowth of the recent strike. The decision also released about fifty contractors who were to answer to the same charges.

MEETING NIGHTS

General Contractors meet second and fourth Monday of each month.

Master Plasterers hold their meetings the 1st and 3rd Wednesday of each month.

Master Plumbers' Assn., meets first and third Thursday of each month at headquarters.

The Cement, Tile and Marble Contractors hold their meetings the first and last Tuesday of each month at 3:00 p. m.

An enthusiastic gathering of Exchange members was held at the Commercial Club Monday at which the various conditions ruling in the construction filed were gone into at length and discussed from all angles. The meeting was preceded by an informal dinner, sixty-five members being assembled around the festive board.

The function of an Exchange and what it means to the builders of a community was elaborated upon by Secretary W. J. Stewart Hyde, who opened the oratorical feature of the evening. Next on the speakers list came Secretary E. E. Cole, of the Building Trades Employers Association of the Calumet District, to be followed by L. J. Granger, Hammond, a director of the same association. He dwelt upon the necessity for co-operation among builders and fidelity to the organization to which they belong, setting forth that which can be accomplished when all members work in harmony.

C. M. Craig, Secretary of the Employers' Association, Chicago, the main speaker of the evening, dilated on the Chicago building situation as illustrative of conditions as they prevail about the country. The contractors, he said, were doing all in their power in an endeavor to seek to stabilize things. His account was not glowing owing to the fact that the agitation of the craftsmen for increased wages is having a retarding effect on prospective work. There was a ray of hope in his reference to the activity of the conservative element in Union circles which favors a continuance of the present wage scales or a compromise that will be favorable to the progress of the Building Industry.

The Gary Exchange members were pleased at the acceptance of their invitation to the Executive Board of the Building Trades Employers Association, to participate in the big meeting and hope that this is but the beginning of an exchange of courtesies that will lead to a better acquaintanceship.

Many thanks, Harry, for the finished way in which you conducted the office of toastmaster at our "get-to-gether" dinner.

It is with pleasure that we announce that Harry Hawke, a member of this Exchange, who has been ill, is back on the job with the Calumet Supply Co.

Fort Wayne Sanitary Engineers—Second and third Tuesday of month.

Master House Painters and Decorators Association —Second and third Wednesday of the month.

Electrical Contractors Association—Second and third Thursday of month.

Plasterer Contractors Association—First and third Thursday of month.

Sheet Metal Contractors Association—Second Friday of each month.

Attention!! Members of the Executive Board of the Exchange

The annual meeting of the Executive Board of the Exchange will be held Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock, March 9th. Every member should be present.

The sketches are out for the new Masonic Temple which will be built on East Washington street, between the Y. M. C. A. building and the Scottish Rite Cathedral. The proposed building will be 100x150 and seven or eight stories high.

"Business With Members Preferred"

The above title is our motto, and well may be it, as it is the very essence of that which makes our Builders Exchange the biggest and best organization for the betterment of the building industry in our city.

We find, however, that our motto is often forgotten and our members have not always received the consideration which should exist between member and member.

Just remember we have all the best men in every line of the building industry as members, therefore, there is plenty of opportunity for competition.

Contractors Must Encourage Apprentices

Increase of wages are being sought by all the crafts in the building industry. The arbitration committees of every craft are meeting with the various labor unions to hear their demands.

Some of the trades received increases on January 1st, last We believe it is the duty of every member who is engaged in the building industry to employ as many apprentices as his trade agreement will permit. Make a special effort along this line. You can rest assured that the unions are not interested in this, and if anything is to be done, it will surely have to be done by the contractor.

Let every Association affiliated with this Exchange make this the subject for discussion at some meeting and formulate some plan, then let every member get to work and carry it out to a finish.

The Quarterly Meeting of the Exchange will be held on the 23rd of March, instead of the 16th, just one week later, to be preceded by a 6:30 dinner at Wolf & Dessauer's Dining Room.

Every member of the Exchange should be present. We are going to make the invitation broad and we want every member of the firm present, as we want every one to hear Harry Fenton and Walter Wise, of Indianapolis. Mark this date on your calendar as a "most important event."

We hope to report at the next meeting of the Executive Board one of the greatest increases in membership the Exchange has ever had. The list will appear in next week's issue. The membership committee has done wonders. So if you run on to some one who has not been seen by them, just bring him up to the Exchange and we'll sign him up.

The delegates from Fort Wayne to the State meeting of the Plumbers to be held at Richmond the coming week have been named by the Society are as follows: Wm. Sthair, Harry Hattersley, A. H. Witte and Ed. F. Oelschlaeger. This is a good bunch of live wires and we believe they will wake up "Old Sleepy Richmond" as to what the other part of the State is doing along the line of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana. No doubt we will see Richmond in the A. B. C. band wagon at the next state meeting with a good delegation. Some of the old guys know what we thought of Terre Haute one year ago. Oh! boy! They surely came up strong at the last State meeting.

Start this agitation going about apprentices.

GREAT CARE

Should be Exercised When Question of Interior Electrical Construction Arises

M. K. FOXWORTHY, Indianapolis
Electrical and Central Station Expert

Wonderful developments have been made in recent years in the installation of electrical equipment within buildings from the standpoint of serviceable and safe equipment.

A very few years ago it was not uncommon to see very poorly insulated wires fastened to wood cleats, strung along the ceiling and side walls, connected to very crude protecting devices which in themselves were a protection to the service and afforded no protection, and in fact created a hazard from the standpoint of fire.

INCREASED HAZARDS CALL FOR REGULATIONS

Realizing that the growth of the electrical business and the increased hazards to life and property from improper installations, the fire underwriters in consultation with manufacturers, contractors and Fire Boards conceived the formulating of standard rules applying to the installation of electric wires and electrical equipment within buildings.

After careful observation of installations of different types and laboratory tests on different types of protecting devices, through a process of elimination, a very complete set of rules known as the Rules of the National Board of Fire Underwriters has been formulated and local offices in all large cities established for advising and directing the proper materials to be used and methods of installation.

NECESSITY FOR STANDARD RULES MISUNDERSTOOD

Due probably to a lack of understanding of the principles of electricity and their applications many people are inclined to feel that the rules governing electrical installations are unnecessary and unfair, when as a matter of fact, a general rule applying to any particular part of an installation must of necessity be general, as the code is applicable, from one coast to another in the United States, and it stands to reason that special cases may permit of special interpretation, and for that reason a slight variation in the rules may be found to exist in one district over another, depending largely upon the view-point and judgment of the inspector enforcing the rules in the particular territory.

Enough care is not exercised upon the part of the purchaser of electrical installations, in the entrusting of the installation of a thorough competent and responsible person, who is capable of determining the correct and serviceable, as well as the most economical system of installation, apparatus or equipment to be used.

SERVICE, NOT PRICE SHOULD COUNT

Oftimes a purchaser in letting a contract for an electrical installation is influenced by price into the letting of a contract to the lowest bidder, when as a matter of fact, if he were capable of judging, or had he employed an Electrical Engineer to judge for him, the advisability of letting a contract to the lower bidder, after careful consideration of all terms and conditions of the proposal, he might easily have saved many times the fee for the engineering services by having given the contract to the highest bidder.

This is not particularly true of electrical construction any more so than other business with which the ordinary purchaser is more familiar, but for the reason that the purchaser's limited knowledge of the electrical materials and the application of electricity to the device in which it is to be used, leaves him, more or less, in a hopeless position to judge for himself, whether or not the proposition suggested is the proper one, and the most economical of operation in the end.

Therefore, it is advisable in the most minor of electrical installations to insist upon having the work performed, according to the standards as set out by the National Electric Code, and the installation made by a thoroughly competent and reliable concern, and in the larger installations to employe the services of the best Electrical Engineers available.

WELL DESIGNED INSTALLATIONS ESSENTIAL

From the central station viewpoint, they are particularly interested in seeing a well designed and mechanical installation for the reason, that all imperfections or troubles arising in the electrical equipment within the building is most likely to be charged against the Utility serving the customer. As a matter of fact, the service rendered to the point of entrance to the building by the utility may be beyond question, and the troubles experienced by the customer are wholly within his building and directly traceable to faulty construction or equipment.

Therefore the placing of electrical construction work in the hands of thoroughly competent and capable concerns cannot be too strongly recommended.

EXECUTIVE BOARD

Of State Contractors' Association Meets and Plans Active Steps

An interesting meeting of the Executive Board of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana was held at Indianapolis, March 9th, at which encouraging reports, relative to the active development of the association throughout the State, were made by the members in attendance. There is every evidence that the contractors of Indiana are alive to the fact that the uncertainty in the air demands a closer co-operative spirit amongst the building fraternity if the individual contractor would protect his interests.

When Prest. A. J. Hoffman, Evansville, opened the meeting the following responded to the roll call: C. C. Pierson, Secy., Indianapolis; A. E. Kemmer, Lafayette; C. C. Heinzmann, Marion; Charles Morrow, Muncie; J. W. Goodall, Peru; H. G. Christman, South Bend; J. Fred Beggs, Scottsburg; O. E. Toelle, Terre Haute; T. Frank Willis, Vincennes, and Walter Wise, chairman of the Labor Committee, Indianapolis.

No time was wasted in getting down to business. The members reviewed the action taken at the recent State Convention and discussed fully the resolutions passed with the view of mapping out a definite plan of activity for the organization.

Especial attention was devoted to the encouragement of the increasing of the employment of apprentices. Mr. Wise was called upon to make a report on the progress that had been made by the recently established class for brick layers' apprentices. He said an active interest had been displayed by the students and that there was every indication pointing to the success of the venture. Mr. Morrow said the matter of establishing building trades classes in the Muncie schools had been taken up with the Board of Education and had met with approval. It was moved and seconded that a committee be appointed by the State Association to draft letters to be sent to the various Boards of Education in the larger Indiana cities encouraging the establishment of building trades apprentice classes.

The resolution to encourage the institution of up to date building codes in all Indiana cities of fair size was heartily endorsed and it was recommended that a committee be appointed to confer with the State Fire Marshall, the State Board of Health, and the Industrial Inspection Bureau with a view to eventually secure legislation that would make a uniform State Building Code possible.

Relative to the resolution passed to take up the matter of securing better shipping facilities for building materials from the railroads, it was moved and seconded that this be tabled for the present due to the uncertainty of the railroad situation.

Next for consideration came the subject pertaining to the change in the by-laws permitting a refinancing of the organization whereby all local contractors' bodies shall pay into the State Association a certain per cent to be based on the volume of business done during the year, same to date from Jan. 1st, to Jan. 1st. The report of the Budget Committee was approved and the Secretary was instructed to take the necessary steps to arrange for the refinancing. Report forms for this purpose together with explanatory letters are to be sent to all local secretaries as soon as details can be completed.

Enthusiasm greeted the announcement that the contractors of Marion had organized under the name of the Associated Building Contractors of Marion and had applied for membership in the State Association. A unanimous vote of approval and encouragement was extended, through Mr. Heinzmann, to the Marion contractors with the assurance that they could expect at all times co-operation from the State organization. The Board then adjourned to meet again sometime in April.

PURPOSE

Of Organization Among Contractors and It's Function Discussed

Organization among contractors, its purpose to effect protection for its members, handle problems that vitally interest the Industry, and bring about harmonious relations between employer and employe, all as a means for bettering conditions in the Indiana building field, was the substance of an address by Walter W. Wise, Indianapolis, Chairman of the Labor Committee of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana, before the members of the South Bend Builders and Traders Exchange at a dinner held at the Chamber of Commerce.

It was the largest gathering of the building interests ever held in South Bend, more than a hundred contractors and material men attending the meeting which was presided over by Walter Fassnacht.

Manager F. J. Green, of the Chamber of Commerce, was the first speaker of the evening, laying emphasis upon the need for organization among the local building men in order to cope successfully with the promised volume of construction work that will be brought about by the industrial development of the city within the next few years.

NOT ANTAGONISTIC TO LABOR.

He was followed by Mr. Wise, who, at the beginning of his address, stated that neither he nor the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana were antagonistic to Organized Labor. The purpose of organization among the building trades employers is to bring about better working conditions by creating a mutual understanding between employer and employe, afford individual protection, and expose unfair methods as employed by unscrupulous builders.

To illustrate his arguments, Mr. Wise outlined the plan of organization as pursued by the Building Contractors of Indianapolis, bringing out the point that the organization made it practically impossible for a contractor to substitute poor workmanship and inferior materials for those stipulated in his contract. Such methods, he said, mean loss of membership in the organization and practical elimination from the local building field. The organization also keeps the contractor in touch with national movements as they affect the builder relative to wage scales, material prices and legislation.

FORBIDS WAGE BIDDING PRACTICE.

He touched on the subject of employers bidding for the services of workers, stating that the organization practically eliminated this practice by not allowing one contractor to raise the wage scale for a certain job over that of other contractors. Such competitive bidding, he stated, was detrimental to contractors, builders and owners, through the fact that it shifted labor rapidly from one job to another, made the scale unstable and tended to reduce the caliber of any contractors' organization, thereby hurting the quality of workmanship and affecting building.

CREATION OF LABOR COMMITTEE IMPORTANT.

Referring to the relations between the employer and employe, Mr. Wise said he was opposed to strikes and was in favor of arbitration when the wage question or other matters arose. The contractors by organizing can thus treat collectively with the Labor Unions rather than as individuals. He spoke of the Labor Committee recently created by the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana and of its efforts to secure data regarding the wage scales about the State. This Committee, though but a few weeks old has accomplished much and promises to prove one of the best moves ever taken by the Indiana contractors. Through it efforts will be made to establish uniform wage scales in the cities of relative size and labor conditions and information along that line will be compiled for distribution among the members of the association. By this means wage scales can be agreed upon mutually by Contractors and Labor Unions and will be held inviolate in the cities where such methods are practiced.

RECOGNITION

Given Architecture in Naming State Memorial Art Commission

Ever so often evidence develops that the architectural profession is more and more gaining recognition in an advisory and consultation capacity relative to public work. The latest manifestation of this fact lies in the appointment of Architect Ernest W. Young, of South Bend, by Governor Goodrich, to serve on the recently created State Memorial Art Commission.

This body is the result of a law passed by the last legislature providing for the establishment of a commission, the duty of which will be to pass upon the artistic qualities of plans for proposed public memorials, further, it is made mandatory that no memorial plans shall be decided upon and selected without first submitting them to the commission for approval.

Those appointed to serve with Architect Young are: Evans Woolen, Prest., Herron Art Institute, and Myra Reynolds Richard, sculptress, both of Indianapolis; Mrs. M. F. Johnston, Director, Richmond Art Institute; C. A. Spanley, Ft. Wayne; Dr. G. C. Johnson, Evansville.

SUGGESTIONS WELCOMED

Remember the Board of Directors meets every Tuesday evening, at 7:30 P. M. Be sure and bring up any matters of importance or suggestions for the betterment of the Association. They will be glad to have your co-operation.

That surely was some blizzard Thursday. The weather man ought to be fired for giving us that kind of weather just when we were ready to nestle in the lap of Spring.

ORGANIZATION MOVE GROWING

Mr. Owens, of the Recorder, made us a pleasant visit Thursday. He reports that contractors down state are realizing that Organization is the only solution of their difficulties and that many new contractors associations are being formed. Let the good work go on.

IT'S THE EARLY BIRD—

That man Marrow from Muncie must be a hustler. Think of it! To get the members of his committee up at 3 A. M. to hear him read the resolutions he had prepared. No wonder they wanted to lock his door.

The members that failed to attend the meeting last Tuesday, missed a profitable evening. Don't forget to watch this page for notice of meetings.

WAITING

Not much to report in the building line this week Everybody is waiting to see what the outcome of the present agitation is going to be. It will have to come to a show down before long. If the crafts are successful in getting all they demand it will mean the shelving of a lot of contemplated building.

The Secretary called on the lumber and material men in East Chicago and Indiana Harbor Friday. They report that business is very slack in their lines at the present time.

PAINTERS MEET

The painting contractors held a get-together meeting, Friday evening, March 5th.

STILL DICKERING

The Joint Board of Directors of the Gary and Hammond Associations held a meeting with the Lather Contractors and journeymen lathers, Monday, March 1st, but arrived at no definite decision.

The joint conferences of the Directors of the Gary and Hammond contractors organizations are progressing nicely relative to the question of wage scales.

Master House Painters Association, Wednesday, March 17th.

Plasterer Contractors Association, Thursday, March 18th.

Special Attention to All Members of the Exchange.

The date of the quarterly meeting of the Exchange has been changed to TUESDAY, MARCH 23rd instead of the 16th. It will be a 6:30 dinner at Wolf & Dessauer's dining room. If you don't come you will miss a rare treat. Not only that, you should be present to get acquainted with the new members. Right now! mark your calendar with a big black circle around TUESDAY, MARCH 23—that's the day and the time is 6:30 and remember if you come late all the good places will be taken and the soup will be cold.

We are herewith publishing a complete list of the members of the Exchange.

Plasterer Contractors Association—Charles E. Altenau, Roy P. Ehinger, W. H. Siples & Son, Frank J. Schramm, Burns & Palmer, J. R. Kennedy, Harry L. Siples, Otto Blombach.

At a special called meeting of the Executive Board held on March the second the Secretary presented 23 applications for membership in the Exchange—who were voted in as members. Some of them are old timers and it took some time for them to see the light.

Now, if you know some one who should belong to your association and the Exchange—don't wait till you come to a meeting and get up and say "John Doe or Bill Smith ought to belong"—the thing to do is to go get him, sign him up and bring him to the meeting.

A contractor who is already IN is best able to tell WHY he is a member and WHY the other fellow SHOULD BE.

Some of you older fellows can remember when it was a "dollar a day"—why that was only back in 1894 and now it goes by the hour—but who wants to go back?

The Electrical Contractors of the northern part of Indiana and Ohio held a very interesting meeting in Fort Wayne on March 4th. Mr. William L. Goodwin, of New York, and Mr. Chase, of Pittsburgh, were the important speakers at the meeting—it certainly was a good get-together meeting. Our local President of the Electrical Contractors Association, John Grodrian, was a very busy man.

MEETING NIGHTS

General Contractors meet second and fourth Monday of each month.

Master Plasterers hold their meetings the 1st and 3rd Wednesday of each month.

Master Plumbers' Assn., meets first and third Thursday of each month at headquarters.

The Cement, Tile and Marble Contractors hold their meetings the first and last Tuesday of each month at 3:00 p. m.

We are very glad to welcome a new member to the Exchange in the person of J. J. Wenglarz, of the South Side Electric Company. Let the good work go on. There is always room for more.

The Exchange members were exceedingly pleased to welcome back to our midst our esteemed president, M. L. Maxon. His stay was short, however, as he has had to return to Watertown, Wisconsin, to complete some contract work now under construction. He reports no labor trouble, nor demands made for increased wage scales. How different from Indiana!

The Electrical contractors of Lake County met at the Exchange rooms at 7:30 p. m., March 8th, to discuss local conditions and prospects.

The General contracting Division of the Exchange met at the Exchange Monday, March 8th, there being a good attendance.

The Teamsters' and Excavators' Division of the Exchange appointed a committee of three to meet with the Light Committee of Hammond, East Chicago, Indiana Harbor and Whiting to arrange a general conference to consider the demands made for increased wages by the teamsters.

A. B. Harris, Chairman of the Electrical Contractors and Dealers went to Fort Wayne to the convention, together with Messrs. Snowden and Lorenz.

It is good to be a member of the Exchange. One of our members reported that he desired 3,000 feet of three-eighths red oak flooring at a price quoted to him at $230.00, F. O. B. Wisconsin. The fact of his being a member of the Exchange was the means of his securing the same flooring in Indiana at $200.00 per thousand, F. O. B. Indiana. Some saving!

We have missed our congenial member, Frank Hall, who has left with his wife for Florida for three weeks vacation. We sincerely hope they will have a good time.

A store and flat building to cost $25,000 will be erected by a Chicago firm at 801 Virginia street. The walls will be of pressed brick and the building will contain two store rooms with three apartments above.

Associated Building Contractors Muncie

Member of State A. B. C.

J. A. Gallivan, Secy. 314 Main Street

OFFICIAL NOTICE

Members of the Association please take notice that hereafter all official communications and notices relative to the Association will be found on this page each week.

Please note, there will be a special meeting of the Muncie A. B. C., Monday, March 22. All members are urged to be present as some important business will be up for consideration. Chief among the features to be taken up and discussed will be a resolution to change the by-laws; attention will also be directed to matters pertaining to the wage scales.

PUBLIC MEETING PLANNED

A movement is about to be inaugurated for the purpose of calling a general public meeting for a thorough discussion of the merits of the new Building Code. Several of the State officials who are interested in the factor of safety as regards modern construction have signified their willingness to participate in such a meeting as is proposed.

WHAT MORE ESSENTIAL?

Muncie is not doing things in a small town way. She is a real city now and, as such, must act accordingly. What is more essential to the proper upbuilding of a city, the welfare and safety of its citizens, than a strict regulation of construction requirements?

No move of progress was ever launched that did not produce a crop of obstructionists.

Don't fail to attend the special meeting March 22nd, as there are matters to be taken up that will be of interest to every member of the Association.

The Master painters, also the sheet metal men are going to wake up some day and wonder what hit them.

If anyone desires a nice little scrap or argument just say to some of our contractors, "This is very nice weather."

Concerning the above, however, the plumbers seem to be contented and as happy as an ice man reveling in the July heat.

Nor does the weather deter Contractor Stoolman, who is making nice progress on the new hotel, all things considered.

AGREEMENT REACHED

Between Contractors and Workers Ending Indianapolis Steel Strike

After many trying weeks spent at arbitration, the fabricating steel workers' strike and lock-out of structural steel workers at Indianapolis has been settled. The advantage of contractors standing together on a principle has been demonstrated and organization has triumphed.

Members of the structural steel and the fabricating steel workers' unions who have been out for weeks have returned to work under the terms of an agreement reached between the Building Contractors Association of Indianapolis and the Building Trades Council. The fabricating men struck early in January and the structural steel workers were locked out in February because they refused to handle any steel that came from non-union shops about which the dispute arose. More than three hundred men were affected.

An amicable understanding was reached and an agreement signed after many conferences, both sides making concessions to end the tieup which was delaying much construction work. The contractors, although not recognizing the union of the fabricating steel workers, agreed to met with committees of their own employes to adjust working conditions, and not to discriminate against members of the union. The structural workers agreed to handle products from the three fabricating plants concerned, the Central States Bridge Company, Hetherington & Berner and the Insley Iron Works. The lockout order issued by the Contractors' Association against the structural men was then withdrawn.

MORE CONTRACTORS

Join Hands, the A. B. C., of Marion, Being the Latest to Organize

It is a long way that has no turning. The contractors of Marion, after numerous futile attempts, have at last gotten together and perfected an organization to be known as the Associated Building Contractors of Marion. The work was accomplished Monday evening under the most propitious conditions.

Realizing that malevolent forces have arisen to obstruct the onward progress of construction activities, and that they must be combatted with a solid front if the local industry is to be protected, the contractors buried all previous differences and decided on a united stand for the good of the whole. Representatives of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana were present to lend aid in the establishment of a local organization. A draft of a constitution and by-laws that had proved its worth and practicability in other Indiana cities was introduced and readily adopted, reservations being made to meet local conditions.

Temporary officers were elected as follows: C. C. Heinzmann, Prest.; Dee Bowman, Secy. & Treas.; F. M. Bowman, G. W. Heinzmann and Samuel Plato, Directors.

There was a keen interest shown in the proceedings and an apparent realization that the crying need of the hour in the building field is a strict co-operation between those therein engaged. The session wound up with a delightful dinner served at the Elks' Cafe.

The Perfect Cement for All Kinds of Mortars

NO LIME—NO BOTHER—NO WASTE—NO SOAKING

SIMPLY MIX WITH SAND AND USE

Brixment—Is a slow-setting, plastic and smooth-working cement for masonry. It does not require soaking or any preliminary preparation. Simply mix with sand and use.

Brixment—Works long and buttery. Resembles lime putty in its working quality, yet has an initial set in about four hours. One part of BRIXMENT to three parts of clean, sharp sand makes a mortar which in a very short time exceeds common building brick in crushing strength.

Brixment—Costs no more than ordinary lime mortar in the Indiana market. In most cases it means a decided saving. A barrel of BRIXMENT is approximately four and one-half cubic feet. Mixed with one part Brixment to three parts sand, it gives five-eighths yards of excellent mortar—enough to lay one thousand bricks.

Brixment—Makes firm friends. A test in actual work is sufficient proof of its merits. The dealers listed below stock BRIXMENT. Any additional information desired may be secured by writing the manufacturers.

CHICAGO SCHEME

Of Zoning Could Be Employed to Advantage in Indiana

All indications point to extensive industrial expansions, public building enterprises, housing projects and boulevard and park improvements in Indiana within the next few years, and to provide for the future all citizens, especially those in the larger cities should take cognizance of the actions that have been taken and are being taken in other cities in sister States along the lines of zoning, or, the working out of schemes for city planning.

Such matters are of particular interest to architects and Indiana architects would do well to start missionary work in such a movement in their respective communities. Chicago has passed a "Zoning Law" and the Illinois Chapter, A. I. A., has gotten behind the move solidly.

MOST CITIES JUST GROW

Indiana cities, similar to those in other states, have just "growed" like Topsy. Somehow, they sprang into being to mature without a guiding hand, spreading out everywhere along no definite, far-sighted plan governing the disposition of areas assigned to particular uses and the proper distribution and development of essential functions.

Had there been a definite scheme, some symmetry, at the start there would not be, today, the haphazard city arrangments we see on all sides; factories, houses, garages, hospitals, warehouses, churches, etc., all mixed up much as dice thrown from a box. According to the modern idea, the function of each would have been considered and proper allocation made according to the effect on economy, efficiency, congestion of population, and there would not have been an intrusion of manufacturing enterprises and other business establishments of an undesirable nature in the home districts. It all means, in the end, the city's house in order, with a resultant gain to industry and the citizenry, for, there would be a place for every type of building according to its function, and everything would be in its place. Even the transportation features would be taken care of to the best advantage of all.

TIME TO CORRECT EVIL

If a mistake has been made so far in allowing cities to grow unrestrictedly, why, when this truth is realized, should steps not be taken to rectify matters and safeguard against the future?

It is a big problem and will require a vast amount of work to gather needed data for study to plan according to the best interests of the whole. However, the time is ripe for a readjustment and there is no one better qualified than the architect to start the ball rolling.

The Illinois Chapter, A. I. A., has passed a set of resolutions which, summed up, recommend the appointment, by the city of Chicago, of a commission to be composed of the best obtainable staff of city planners, social experts, engineers, architects and draftsmen to make a complete survey of the local situation and create a zoning plan, submit it to the citizens for approval and then have the city council put the stamp of authority upon it that the health, comfort and general welfare of all citizens may be conserved.

INSPIRATION

Derived from State Convention Manifest in Contractors' Activities

Nothing heretofore has created such an interest in construction affairs about the state as did the recent convention of the Associated Building Contractors of Indiana. The time and effort spent by the men who labored to perfect the organization is beginning to bear results. There is evidence throughout Indiana of renewed activity amongst the contractors to build up strong local organizations for the protection of the associated contracting interests, to creat a harmonious working atmosphere, bring about conditions that will guarantee fairness and equity to all, provide a solidity of forces and afford a united means for handling labor problems.

The prevailing custom in the past was to go it alone, fight one's own battles and let the other fellow do the same. The idea of a community of interest seemed a thing unknown or, if realized, was either disregarded or crowded out by selfishness.

Today a new order prevails; those identified with building operations have come to realize that they stand not alone in their relations to the industry but that each is dependent upon the other; the reailzation has dawned that there is a community of interest and with the dawn has come an awakening that promises much for the future of the construction business.

An omen of what was to follow made itself apparent at the State Convention. Many contractors attended out of curiosity. They were skeptical as to what could be accomplished; they wanted to see just what steps were to be taken toward a permancy of organization and to be shown the possibilities of the move. Practically every section of the state was represented in the attendance. The convention had not been in progress long before a deep interest was manifested and contractors present were soon in the midst of the discussions. While some opinions expressed were at variance, still, a vast majority of ideas brought out bore a certain similarity and it was easily discernable that the main one hinged about the felt need for organization.

Now that the delegates have returned home it is very evident that the State Convention was not in vain. At Evansville the General Contractors' Association is in process of reorganization, a permanent secretary is to be employed to handle the affairs of the organization, new and permanent quarters are to be established and the scope of activity is to be broadened.

South Bend's new Builders and Traders' Exchange is bending its efforts toward increased membership and it is hoped to interest most, if not all, of the associated building trades in the new body. This is the baby organization of them all but it is growing rapidly, showing much life and bears promise of making its voice heard in construction circle councils from now on.

Gary and Hammond Exchanges have both held big meetings since the state gathering and displayed evidence of a quickened spirit among the members

Those at Fort Wayne are busily engaged in creating a new interest along organization lines and have planned for a big "Get-to-gether" Dinner to be followed by speeches by prominent out of town contractors, also general discussions pertaining to how best to protect and advance the building interests in that locality.

A new contractors' association is about to develop in Terre Haute where there is a keen desire for organization. The men from Terre Haute who visited the A. B. C. Convention were right on the job all the time and have worked hard since returning home to impress upon their fellow co-workers the absolute need for an association.

When one considers that the contractors from that city were not organized into a central body, yet nineteen of them attended the convention, a certain significance must necessarily attach to that fact.

Last but not least, both Muncie and Anderson are perfecting their associations and increasing their membership.

All of these associations have applied for enrollment in the state organization which is fast becoming a recognized force, and in the near future will be a real power to further contracting affairs and advance the industry. Its aim is not to regulate activity or control prices, but to assure justice and equity to all those engaged in construction work and effect amicable relations amongst all the associated building interests.

HOUSING DEMAND

Necessitates Curtailment of Road Building, Says Federal Official

As a matter of conserving material, especially cement, that it may be available for building construction, Federal authorities are proposing that new road building under consideration be curtailed this season. The argument advanced is that the housing situation in cities is most acute and that cement and other materials that enter into road construction are badly needed for the erection of homes.

While the Highway Commissions in several states are said to have postponed the letting of contracts on new road construction, it is hardly probable that the proposal put up to the Indiana Highway Commission will have much effect on the local cement supply as no new contracts are contemplated this season owing to a lack of funds. There are many miles of concrete roads that were contracted last fall and the members of the Commission do not favor delaying this construction as the materials have all been bought by the contractors.

NEW PLANT IN PROSPECT

Another new plant in sight for Hammond. There is a company negotiating with the city for a tract of land on Summer Street, which was purchased by the city several years ago for a site for a pest-house but the section has built up so that the site is no longer isolated enough for the purpose it was purchased for. The plant will employ from 700 to 1,000 men.

The Illinois Car & Manufacturing Company has plans out for a $100,000 building at their plant on the north side.

G. A. Johnson has been awarded the contract for the carpenter work on the Pratt Food Company's buildings, which consist of a nine story building, 82x45 with a wing 65x122, 6 stories high. The building complete to cost approximately $150,000.00.

Norris & Kraft, architects, have the plans ready to receive bids on the Bunnell Garage on Forsythe Ave., East Chicago. One story brick building 70x75. Bids to be opened March 31st.

LABOR INSISTENT IN DEMANDS

A meeting of the Joint Board of Directors of the Building Associations of Gary and Hammond and the representatives of the crafts composing the Building Trades Council was held Thursday evening at the Chamber of Commerce rooms, Hammond, but no definite results were arrived at. The majority of the crafts demanded the $1.25 per hour.

DECISION HOPED FOR

The National Board of Awards on Jurisdictional Claims are in session at Washington, endeavoring to adjust the many tangles caused by contending claims of the Unions as to who shall erect certain kinds of construction on buildings. Let us hope they will be successful as Jurisdictional disputes are the cause of great expense and delays to contractors.

TO INVESTIGATE BUILDING SITUATION

The Chamber of Commerce is at last taking an interest in the Building situation and have appointed Committees to take up and investigate conditions and see what can be done. It is certainly time that the public became interested as they are the ones that have to finally foot the bills.

We are glad to hear that the Marion contractors have heard the call for organization and co-operation. Success to you, boys.

When the Executive Board of the State A. B. C. squares away for action, things happen. They surely put over a rousing convention and now are mapping out an active campaign for the advancement of the Industry.

MEETINGS FOR THE WEEK

SPECIAL ATTENTION

TUESDAY, MARCH 23—SIX-THIRTY DINNER AT WOLF & DESSAUER, OF THE ENTIRE EXCHANGE.

EVERYBODY WILL BE THERE. OF COURSE YOU HAVE YOUR TICKET.

You know the entrance to the dining room after hours is on Washington Street.

Wednesday, March 24—Master House Painters & Decorators Association.

Thursday, March 25—Electrical Contractors Association.

Thursday, March 25—The Plasterer Contractors Association.

Inside Co-operation—Do you want the other fellow to do all your thinking? No! Well then attend your association meeting and take a hand in it—even if you only sit and listen. You'll be the gainer.

BRICK MASONS ACT

The Mason Contractors at their meeting thoroughly discussed the question of apprentices in their craft and have taken steps to put into effect a number of ideas expressed at the meeting.

A committee consisting of one contractor, one bricklayer and the Secretary of the Exchange are to confer with J. J. Ritter of the vocational school, in an effort to commence a class in bricklaying in the school. We trust that every contractor will do a little thinking along this line. It is really up to you to supply the apprentices for this class. If each contractor will supply at least one student for this school, and a little work on the part of the Bricklayers Union we are confident that in time your craft will be so increased, that the present labor shortage will be solved.

CLEARING DECKS FOR ACTION

The rooms of the Exchange are a very busy place these days with afternoon and evening meetings. We are trying to get all of the agreements out of the way just as soon as possible. This month should see everything out of the way so when the sun shines the decks will be clear for action in the building industry.

It is no use to urge you to be at the Quarterly Meeting on March 23—as we believe you all are fully intending to be present. However, we just want to say that you know we have a lot of new members, and you want to meet them and they want to meet you.

NOBODY WALKS ANYMORE

In one of the cities of the Middle West a demand was made upon the contractor that he either furnish a place for the mechanics to park their automobiles or a watchman while they are working. This must be in Muncie where they stay up so late.

BOOST THE APPRENTICE AGITATION

Every city in the state is in a similar condition to Fort Wayne; plenty of work in sight and a general shortage of labor to do it. That surely will interest you in securing more apprentices. Get busy on this every where. The craftsmen will travel around you know.

The dinner on the 23rd of March will be a "dry-banquet" unless we find a key to someone's callar. We bet if Chas. Marrow, of Muncie, lived here—something sure would happen.

A good member—is one who attends the meetings of his association and PAYS HIS DUES PROMPTLY. Why don't some of you fellows be good members and thus save a lot of work now occasioned by writing you several letters?

THE PROPER SPIRIT

The architects are thoroughly in accord with the contractors of Indiana—so if you have arguments with the architect this office will assist you in adjusting the difficulty. Call on us.

Every city in the country is asking for information relative to new wage scales—so let's get busy and get them settled at once.

MEETING NIGHTS

General Contractors meet second and fourth Monday of each month.

Master Plasterers hold their meetings the 1st and 3rd Wednesday of each month.

Master Plumbers' Assn., meets first and third Thursday of each month at headquarters.

The Cement, Tile and Marble Contractors hold their meetings the first and last Tuesday of each month at 3:00 p. m.

Charles Maloney and A. F. Henderson were delegates representing the MASTER PLUMBERS ASSOCIATION to the State Meeting held at Richmond. There is no doubt that Richmond woke up when Charlie opened up with some of his oratory as we know he does when he takes the floor.

Good for the Fort Wayne Exchange when they call our attention to the necessity of apprentices in the trades. We must encourage young men to take hold of the work in the different crafts.

What about the day-light savings? It is about time we heard from our members as we would like to have their views in relation to this matter, as the time is approaching to discuss this question.

Our Board of Directors met the Hammond Board of Directors in joint session at the Chamber of Commerce rooms the 11th inst., to confer with the representatives of the Trades Council representing the different crafts regarding the question of arriving at some conclusion as to the possibility of stabilizing the wage scale for the Calumet District. After two hours of discussion, no conclusion was reached, except that the different crafts represented served notice upon the General Contractors represented by the Joint Board of Directors that they would demand an increase over the present wage scales. The Joint Board feels that the conditions of the building industry does not warrant an increase in the wage scale over one ($1.00) dollar per hour.

All members of this Exchange can greatly assist the Secretary in getting up the page by sending in any news items they may have to reach him not later than Saturday morning, as it will facilitate matters, assure a good page and make it more interesting for the readers, and possibly put more "pep" in the Exchange.

We regretted to note that South Bend failed to have a representative in our midst Monday evening. The new Exchange over there is making good headway and we should like to have had some of its members present to look over Gary's display of "pep." Remember, South Bend, the latch string is always out and we hope that some of you will be in a position next time to drop in to tell us what you all are doing along the organization line.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

Members of the Association please take notice that hereafter all official communications and notices relative to the Association will be found on this page each week.

NO CASUALTIES REPORTED

Our Master Plumbers are home from attending their state meeting at Richmond. They report a very successful meeting. However, they don't show any black eyes, broken limbs, etc., which is the best evidence of a successful plumbers' meeting.

IT'S ONLY NATURAL

It is surprising how busy contractors are when they have an association or executive board meeting to attend but just throw a big dinner or theater party and they don't have a thing to do.

All members must attend meeting Monday, March 22nd, as there is a rush of business to be disposed of.

Just a little sunshine and decent weather and everybody will get busy.

Outside of Common labor, we are going to have plenty of labor.

GOOD MOVE GAINS IMPETUS

The State Labor Committee is doing effective work in encouraging the matter of more apprentices. This is an important issue and we must all be interested and get busy along that line.

SOMEONE'S KIDDING CHARLEY

Some of us were down at the State House last week where we heard a rumor that Governor Goodrich has the proposition up with Governor Morrow of Kentucky to annex Evansville and some other southern Indiana territory to Kentucky. That is agreeable to us, but we don't like to lose Posey County.

The Anderson, Marion and Muncie A. B. C.'s will have a joint meeting in the near future.

Don't be worried about Anderson. It is only natural for them to be a couple of months behind time.

TO ALL MEMBERS

Resolved, That the members of this Association pay as dues at the rate of $1.25 on each thousand dollars to be based on the volume of business done, with a minimum fee of $1.00 per month, payable monthly in advance. Payment to be made to the secretary. This resolution changes Section Four of the By-Laws.

GAIN SHOWN

By February Building Permits in Indiana, But High Prices are Retarding

A forward movement is still noticeable in Indiana construction activities according to figures submitted by the Building Inspection Departments of the eight leading cities of the State. The returns show an increase over the estimated valuation for January, 1920, and a marked advance over the figures for February, 1919, both in the number of permits granted and the estimated valuation.

High prices of materials and the agitation of Labor to make increased wage demands this spring are both having a retarding effect on building. Reports from all over the State have shown a general rejection of bids submitted on contracts, due partly to material costs and to the inclination of contractors to figure safely as they are loath to load up on a lot of work without a margin of protection to provide against increased wages for craftsmen this season.

There is no doubt but what there is plenty of work in prospect as the architects are all busy, but, delivery of material is most uncertain owing to the inability of manufacturers to secure adequate labor to produce. The supply is away below the demand, consequently prices are up with little hope for any material decline in the near future. Brick and clay products are scarce and sales made are for delivery several months hence. Certain grades of essential lumber are hard to obtain, in some instances firms signifying their inability to quote. Unless there is a decided improvement in the material markets it will have a hindering effect on building operations in the immediate future.

ENGINEER

Makes Interesting Review As Regards Conditions Bearing on His Field

"There are so many phases of civil engineering that any general report would necessarily cover a wide territory to include the industrial, housing, industrial building situations and highway problems. Frankly, I shall epitomize some of the material, giving more attention to Indiana conditions and the phases of civil engineering with which I am familiar.

At the beginning of 1919 the country was just emerging from the throes of the most destructive war in the worlds' history. Then came the constructive problems of peace, as suddenly as came, four years before, the destructive problems of war. Little was it realized then how comparable were these problems of Peace to the problems of War.

During the War there were fearfully high prices, and abnormal wealth and poverty. Now we find ourselves confronted with higher prices and a greater divergence between wealth and poverty. It is a time when each of us should dedicate himself anew to the great tasks that confront us and that cry out on every hand for solution.

The industrial situation has been, and still is, acute, but there is now reason to confidently expect better things. It has been demonstrated that America stands for order, not anarchy. The vast majority believes in improving the present order of society rather than in destroying it.

HOUSING AND FACILITIES INADEQUATE

The housing situation is a very difficult one. With rents mounting higher and higher, due to the shortage of houses, the builder is urged to invest heavily but is at once confronted with the scarcity and high price of labor and the skyrocketing price of building materials. This shortage of housing necessarily is accompanied by a shortage of all the tributary urban facilities, such as water supply, sewerage, paving and street-railway transportation.

One of the greatest surprises is to be found in the industrial building situation. Many industrial building contractors in 1917 who were in a position to know conditions were dubious as to the future, feeling that the frenzied industrial building program during the War would put the country far ahead of all requirements for perhaps four or five years after the conclusion of the war. Contrary to expectations, there has been a tremendous amount of building work of this class, at least in many Indiana cities.

Turning to engineering as it mostly affects building and the people, we find that many public spirited men advocated large public work programs, in this way hoping to care for an excess of labor which was threatened by the return of the millions of soldiers to civil life. Highway, drainage, bridge, irrigation and such engineering projects were advocated and at the same time the tremendous financial outlays to be met by such programs were ignored. Of the programs advanced, the highway construction one is the only one that has materialized. This is no doubt due to the miserable condition of the roads after two years of heavy usage and total neglect during the War, and also because all the people use the roads all the time. There were also the features that, financing of the roads is in the hands of local committees either county or state, and that considerable amounts of Federal Aid money had accumulated during the non-construction period of the War. It seems probable that the years following the World Conflict will see a remarkable development in our highway transportation system. At least so far as the condition of our railroads and the temper of the people are concerned, the stage is beautifully set for just such a development.

ROAD CONSTRUCTION RETARDED

Unfortunately here in Indiana, there is likely to be a late start this season. The funds available to the State Highway Commission have been so reduced that it is doubtful whether any new contracts can be awarded, certainly not till later in the season. Then, too, the question of the validity of the County Unit Highway Law has delayed much preliminary work and the individual county work will be retarded to some extent.

Labor conditions as a factor in the lagging road construction program of 1919 reached beyond the supply of workmen to the supply of engineers and contractors. The shortage of workmen was in a large part overcome by a substitution of improved road construction improvement which offered the opportunity of awarding work in larger sections than had formerly been the custom.

One of the serious objections to the larger construction programs lies in the shortage of properly qualified highway engineers. The correction of this evil is all the more serious because 'The American people, while always willing to pay the price for the work they desire, have never been willing to pay the price of the proper supervision of it.'

EFFICIENT SPENDING MOST NEEDED

There are good roads associations, etc., all seeking to promote the construction of roads and urging the Nation, State and Counties to spend great sums on highways of all sorts and descriptions. The sole idea seems to be to get money and more money to build highways regardless of what kind or who builds them.

These are some of the problems confronting the engineers. They are the men who are aware of the conditions and it is up to them to seek to correct the evils —the other fellow won't do it.

In every forward movement, there are always a few have upstanding figures who can see clearly the ends to be accomplished who are willing to work and sacrifice and often to be ridiculed in order to progress a little nearer to those ends. Here and now is the opportunity for every engineer to help tote the burden that better conditions may be brought about.'' (Abstract of address delivered by Engineer W. J. Titus before the Indiana Engineering Society.)

OFFICIAL NOTICE

Members of the Association please take notice that hereafter all official communications and notices relative to the Association will be found on this page each week.

Master Plumbers meet every Wednesday evening at 7:30.

W. P. Spangler has received the contract for extensive improvements on the Merchants Nat'l Bank Bldg.

J. B. Snyder has considerable work south of the railroad. It reminds him of old times.

A. J. Glaser received contract for Big Four freight house. It is a nice job and we congratulate him on landing this work.

The latest dope is that everybody is for the building code.

They say the main reason for failure of the U. S. Senate and President Wilson to agree on the League of Nations was that Gary and the Calumet district wasn't considered.

When Judge Anderson gets through with the coal men, he had better look into the brick, tile, cement and lumber affairs.

Our assistant secretary wasn't quite as busy the last week as she usually is. We will have to start something to keep her busy.

There was only one plumber's strike last week.

ALL TOGETHER NOW!

We are going to start something ourselves with the aid of Marion and Anderson along the lines of uniform wage scales. A joint conference of directors from the three cities is to be held soon to thrash out a wage schedule that will stabilize scales, assure workmen for our district and protect the contracting interests.

TIME TO CONSIDER

Muncie building prospects are good, in fact, were never better, and contractors, labor and material men should do all in their power to work to a reasonable end that would guarantee its proceeding, thus meaning a good season for all rather than a lean one, which will be the result if pyramiding advances are not halted.

WHAT NEXT?

At the present time it looks like the teamsters were going to set the ball rolling. At a meeting on Friday evening the team owners made the teamsters an offer of a substantial increase above the present scale and more than is being paid in Chicago. The Union held a meeting on Sunday at which time the offer was rejected.

Rufus Danner is making rapid progress on the Gregory Theatre Building. Although delayed some by bad weather they have all except the rear wall story high.

NEW FINANCIAL DISTRICT

E. N. Bunnell has purchased the old Beal residence property of South Hohman Street and moved the building off and it is reported will erect a garage on the lot in the near future. South Hohman Street will soon be Automobile Row. This will make the eighth garage in two blocks.

J. J. Brehm has purchased a plat of ground along the Monon Railroad in the Old Packing House grounds and will build thereon a large, storage warehouse.

The Metal Refining Company at Hessville, one of the suburbs of Hammond, has plans prepared for a modern plant to take the place of the small plant they have in operation at the present time.

TURNING ON THE SEARCHLIGHTS

At the meeting Friday evening at the Chamber of Commerce composed of the contractors, labor representatives, bankers, real estate men, material men and merchants, if no other result was accomplished, let the people know what the real facts are that confront the building contractor.

In reporting the Prat Food Company's buildings last week, the cost should have been $250,000.00 instead of $150,000.00.

ROBINS ARE ON THE WAY

A little sunshine today after the blizzard. Small favors thankfully received and larger ones in proportion.

C. S. Rhoads is pushing the work on his fifteen bungalows in Kenwood Addition. They will make a very attractive appearance on Forest Avenue. They are of three classes, frame, brick and brick veneer, which will give the buyer room for a satisfactory selection.

Looks as if that Ft. Wayne crowd meant business from the way they are lining up new members. Go to it, Eph!

We'd like to hear from Evansville and how the new organization is working.

It was gratifying to see that the Indianapolis Contractors had entered the select circle and joined hands with the rest of us to boost the Recorder.

MEETINGS

Builders Association, Monday, March 29. Special called meeting to consider the new wage agreement.

BIG SUCCESS

Those who failed to attend the Quarterly Meeting of the Exchange on last Tuesday night were surely the losers—every fellow there said it was a wonderful get-together affair. A number of the members expressed the desire that the Executive Board should make every Quarterly Meeting a dinner meeting.

LIKE SPRING FLOWERS

With four months of good hard winter—Spring is here and we surely hope it will stay. The warm spring rains will bring some of the craftsmen, who like to work in the shops in the winter time, out in the sunshine—which means something for the Building Industry.

MOVE INTO THE CROWD

The man who persistently hangs in the rear of the crowd is not apt to be stung by any medicine the quack, who has drawn the crowd, hands out. But it is a fact that not all crowds are drawn by quacks, and therefore the man who is unreasonably "gun shy" not only misses being stung, but he also misses good things being handed out from time to time. During the early part of this winter great crowds of contractors and builders, the former without operations on their boards, the latter without definite plans for investing in building, have been interested in the possibilities of the future in building. The matter of price levels, the matter of surplus labor, the matter of wage scales, and investment money, each claimed their attention. But there was a great rush of the crowd to begin building. There were many who rushed to the outskirts. Later on when some contracts began to be placed they commenced to come back from the outskirts with the cry "Where is all this building they talked about?"

THINGS BEGINNING TO MOVE

It is a fact that a "good bit" of building is being done and the figures given out by the building department of the City are constantly increasing and the actual operations in the City have increased as of old, and surely if you look around it will gladden your eye.

NO TIME FOR TIMIDITY

Here is an apartment house going up, and out in the factory districts the brick walls of new factories are being laid. In the residence districts little groups of modest homes, and some larger ones, are springing into existence. It is a good time to forget statistics for a moment and look around. Now it is evident that not all the crowd was standing in the rear. So get to the front and do a little boosting of the building game—the more you boost the more you will see that things are going along. The labor problems are settling fast—the high prices are with us, so let us make the best of it. This year is going to be a year of action for men who will act, and dare. It has been decided that we are "Coming" and "Going." There is no justification for curtailment of activities, nor no time for timidity. Don't be "gun shy" but get to the front and buzz like a bee. You will have more in the end.

In some of the States there has been a trend of sentiment toward State control of material supplies in order to circumvent a shortage of construction materials. Such a scheme, however, tends to reduce the contractors' risk which, in turn, invites the less responsible contractors. Contracting interests have generally taken a decided stand against this practice.

How to Kill An Association.

First—Don't come to the annual meeting. If you do come, come late. If it is too wet or too dry, too hot or too cold, don't think of coming.

Second—Never bring a friend whom you think might join the association.

Third—Kick if you are appointed on a committee. If you are appointed, don't attend. Don't have anything to say when you are called upon.

Fourth—If you attend the meeting, find fault with the proceedings and the work done by other members.

Fifth—Hold back your dues or don't pay them at all.

Sixth—When a few members take off their coats and go to work, howl about the Association's being run by a clique.

Seventh—Don't do anything more than you can possibly help to further the Association's interests.

MEETING NIGHTS

General Contractors meet second and fourth Monday of each month.

Master Plasterers hold their meetings the 1st and 3rd Wednesday of each month.

Master Plumbers' Assn., meets first and third Thursday of each month at headquarters.

The Cement, Tile and Marble Contractors hold their meetings the first and last Tuesday of each month at 3:00 p. m.

STILL TUGGING AT THE TRACES

Wednesday afternoon the teamsters and excavators held a meeting at the Exchange rooms. Representatives from all the Calumet District participated. No decisive action was taken in regard to the demands of the Teamsters Union but a tentative working agreement was formulated in answer to the working agreement of the Teamsters Union. It was reported that they would come to some mutual agreement as to fixing the wage scale for 1920 that would be jointly agreed upon by both parties.

IMPORTANT TO GENERAL CONTRACTORS

The General Contractors Division which meets every second and last Monday in the month will hold their meeting, Monday, March 29th at 4:00 P. M. Important matters will be taken up for discussion, also the By-Laws and Constitution will be presented, and the application for a Charter, by the Secretary of the Builder's and Trader's Exchange, who was authorized at the last meeting to complete the same for the recommendation of the committee on organization and that committee will report on its work. The Contractors Association will take up the time for a few minutes, represented by Wm. J. Foster who will enlighten the contractors on the work that has been accomplished for payment of time in figuring contracts. We hope to have a full attendance of General Contractors at this meeting.

We were pleased to have a call from M. L. Maxon, the President of this Exchange, as he was passing through Gary from Akron, Ohio. He returned to Watertown, Wisconsin. He stated that he will be through with his work there in three weeks and hopes to be able to devote more time to Exchange affairs.

COMMERCIAL CLUB TAKES A HAND

A committee was appointed at the last meeting of the General Contractors Division to confer with the Commercial Club, the Real Estate Association and the financial interests represented by the Banks of Gary, to present to them the question of the increased demands of labor organizations over the present wage scale. The meeting was held at the Commercial Club Wednesday and during their conference a committee was appointed by the Commercial Club to call a general meeting for public discussion in relation to the increased cost of material and labor and to work out a solution to arouse and try if possible, to secure cooperation of all parties interested in the progress of Gary Building industry.

BRIXMENT

NO LIME—NO BOTHER—NO WASTE—NO SOAKING

SIMPLY MIX WITH SAND AND USE

Brixment— Is a slow-setting, plastic and smooth-working cement for masonry. It does not require soaking or any preliminary preparation. Simply mix with sand and use.

Brixment— Works long and buttery. Resembles lime putty in its working quality, yet has an initial set in about four hours. One part of BRIXMENT to three parts of clean, sharp sand makes a mortar which in a very short time exceeds common building brick in crushing strength.

Brixment— Costs no more than ordinary lime mortar in the Indiana market. In most cases it means a decided saving. A barrel of BRIXMENT is approximately four and one-half cubic feet. Mixed with one part Brixment to three parts sand, it gives five-eighths yards of excellent mortar—enough to lay one thousand bricks.

Brixment— Makes firm friends. A test in actual work is sufficient proof of its merits. The dealers listed below stock BRIXMENT. Any additional information desired may be secured by writing the manufacturers.
